GOVERNOR SHOCKED

20 More Denver Officers Charged In Crime Scandal

DENVER, COL. (AP) — Gov. Steve McNichols angrily announced Saturday "shocking and extensive criminal activities" involving 20 more members of the Denver Police Department.

At a news conference, McNichols called the situation "incredible criminal incest."

McNichols said three former policemen and two civilians also had been named in warrants charging burglary, receiving stolen property, thefts, gambling, prostitution or conspiracy.

It brought to 35 the number of policemen or former officers charged during the past 13 months.

Following McNichols' announcement, 16 officers were haled before Chief James E. Childers and suspended. They then were taken to the city jail and booked.

Childers called it "the most distasteful job I have ever had in 35 years on the force."

McNichols said 120 new offenses were involved. It is impossible, he said, to estimate how much money had been stolen. In one case, he said, $35,000 to $40,000 was stolen.

The state moved into the investigation several weeks ago at the request of Denver Mayor Dick Batterton.

Batterton said Saturday the crime ring dated back many years, perhaps as far back as 1947.

In most instances, McNichols said, "policemen together with their burglary tools were delivered and picked up with police cars and the police were uniformed police. Many locations were cased and surveyed in police cars, prior to the time the jobs were pulled."

"This incredible criminal incest," McNichols said, "was spawned some years ago and became operative in the South Denver area by a group of police men assigned there."

The governor said the gang later was split up because of transfers. "Immediately new cells of crooked cops were formed around these old hands at the criminal game and new members were recruited by the use of payoffs and loot splits."

Changes Due In Jetliner Hydraulics

FAA Chief Says Officials Agree On Alterations

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Federal Aviation Agency Administrator Najeeb Halaby said Saturday sweeping changes will be made in the hydraulic system of the DC8 jetliner.

Speaking to a symposium of the Society of Experimental Test Pilots, Halaby said the changes follow a "series of serious malfunctions in the hydraulic systems of the jetliner fleet."

PILOTS ALARMED

Only Saturday 600 Eastern Air Lines pilots served notice they would stop flying DC8 jets in three days if the FAA didn't assure them the plane's hydraulic system was safe.

And Friday night two United Airlines DC8 jetliners carrying 148 passengers altogether made safe emergency landings at Chicago and Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. One had what crewmen called a complete hydraulic failure. The other lost one of its four engines.

Halaby said the planes will not be grounded while the changes are being made unless something unforeseen occurs.

Spokesmen for Douglas Aircraft, manufacturer of the DC8, said all of the recommended changes would be made by the airlines' repair facilities.

Halaby said he had been working with Douglas officials for three days and the agreed on changes were the result.

The telegram sent to the FAA by ALPA Capt. John D. Payne, chairman of Council 13, asked Halaby bluntly: "I ask you is the airplane safe or not."

Halaby told the symposium: "We have always worked with the responsible elements of ALPA. There is a distinction between noise and effectiveness and while this gentleman was in one room sounding off with the DC8 ultimatum, we were in the other room working out this program of changes."

U.N., Katanga Agree On Plan For Evacuation

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—The Katanga government announced Saturday a series of agreements with the United Nations constituting a step in bringing the life of Katanga's war-torn capital nearer to normal.

A government communique said U.N. delegates on the cease-fire commission had agreed on gradual evacuation from strategic points they hold in the city, beginning with the Lido swimming pool and a downtown hospital. It added that U.N. technicians are repairing the central post office, which is now a United Nations fortress. It will be opened to the public once repairs are completed.

The agreement was reached at a meeting of the cease-fire commission Friday, the government said. It added it includes a provision for normal airline activity to resume at Elisabethville airport, another United Nations strong point, within a short time.

AT MURDER TRIAL

Jury Retracts Guilty Verdict

DANDRIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — An al-male jury, in a stunning and perhaps unprecedented action, retracted Saturday its verdict in a mude trial that stemmed from the slaying of three officers in a mountain feud.

The Cicuit Court jury reported it was withdawing its earlier ruling that two of the defendants were guilty and the other four innocent.

The development left the judge, prosecutor and defense attorneys stunned and confused. No one seemed exactly sure of what happens next.

CAN'T AGREE

The jury's reversal came after it had deliberated overnight in an effort to set maximum penalties for the two men it had convicted, one of second-degree murder and both of felonious assault.

The foreman reported to the court Saturday the jury was hopelessly deadlocked on the question and that it thereby retracted its earlier verdict.

Judge George R. Shepherd then declared the case a mistrial. The decision presented the explosive legal question as to whether a new trial would put the acquitted defendants in double jeopardy.

Defense attorney Chester Rainwater said it would do just that and added that he is preparing a petition for a writ of habeas corpus seeking the immediate release of the four.

Their acquittal, Rainwater said, is valid no matter what the jury may later decide.

However, the question may eventually have to be decided by the State Supreme Court.

The jury convicted Carl Myers, 38, of second-degree murder in the slaying of Sheriff's Deputies Lon Tyler and Alex Morris in a furious gun battle which erupted last April 22 in Sneedville. Myers and codefendant James Horton, 19, also were convicted of feloniously assaulting Sheriff Verlin Maxey in the fight.

But defendants George Myers, 57, father of Carl, and Carl's three brothers, Earl, 34, Dean, 24, and E. A. Myers, 31, were acquitted of all charges.

IN WEST BERLIN

Reds Fence Off Isolated Village

Berlin (UPI) — Communist police Saturday built a barbed wire circle around the village of Steinstuecken, separting it from the grassy field where an American helicopter flew seven refugees to safety in West Berlin last week.

Steinstuecken is in the American sector of West Berlin but is actually an enclave a mile inside the Soviet zone. Gen. Lucius D. Clay flew to that same grassy field to affirm American determination in West Berlin.

American helicopters landed frequently on the field to fly in supplies to a three-man U. S. army military police post set up there after Clay's visit. But there was no immediate indication the U.S military mission would challenge the latest Communist barrier.

BUILD NEW PAD

Towns people of Steinstuecken immediately began building a new helicopter landing pad. They felled trees and leveled out garden plots behind their homes to maintain their only link with the West.

Seven East Germans reached Steinstuecken last week and were flown to safety in West Berlin in a move that brought Communist charges of "kidnaping."

The Communists built their new fence right across the only road leading from West Berlin into Steinstuecken. However it has been years since an American vehicle was driven to the enclave. Clay's flight there was the first visit by an American official in ten years.

Cold, Snow Spread In Plains Area

By United Press International

Freezing temperatures and the first widespread snow of the infant fall season spread over the Northern and Central Plains Saturday.

The rapidly moving cold front which triggered the snow storms pushed eastward, carrying with it windy and rainy conditions that caused the weather bureau to issue special severe thunderstorm forecasts for a side area.

"A few severe thunderstorms with large hail and damaging winds" were expected in east-central Missouri, central and northeastern Illinois and northwestern Indiana until early Saturday evening.

Gale warnings were sounded for portions of the Great Lakes.

Snow began falling in Iowa shortly before noon Saturday, the first of the season.

The cold wave which plunged temperatures into the 20s in Montana and North Dakota was preceded by heavy rains and gusty winds which raked Oklahoma, Iowa and Wisconsin.

BLUEBLOODS BARRED

Mutts Have Their Day At Dog Mart

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) —It was a little bit of this, a little bit of that and a wagging tail on the end Saturday as mutts of every shape and size dragged their owners into town for the centuries old Fredericksburg Dog Mart.

There wasn't a blueblood in the crowd as dogs took over the city streets and packed the athletic field. But no dog owner picking up a fancy best-in-show trophy could ever be any prouder than Ellen Watson, 9, was when Missy, her tiny whatever-it-is, snagged the "ugliest mutt" title.

But Ellen's hopes of seeing Missy win a second blue ribbon went down the drain when the judges ruled the pup out of the next event, prettiest dog in the show.

It was an old-timey sort of day with thousands of people and hundreds of dogs congregating in a mass of tangled leashes to watch Indian dances and listen to the hog calling and foxhorn blowing. But the day was devoted to the dogs and the flea-bitten pooch, without a title to his name reigned supreme.

The whole idea of the dog mart started in 1698 when the Indians and the paleface settlers called off their almost constant warfare for one day to allow the redskins to barter furs and gold nuggets for the white man's hunting dogs. The one-day-a-year truce for haggling over the price of man's best friend continued until the Revolution, then died out until the local Isaac Walton League and Chamber of Commerce revived it in 1927.

Rusk, Soviet Halt Berlin Crisis Talks

Agreement Not Gained On Start Of Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko concluded their New York talks on the Berlin crisis Saturday without agreement to start formal negotations but with an understanding they will meet again in Washington next week.

Both men reported after a 4½-hour meeting that the discussions here have been "useful."

MAY SEE JFK

Gromyko, a United States spokesman said, will probably see President Kennedy as well as Rusk when he visits Washington. The day for his Washington trip is yet to be fixed.

The plan for continuing the talks in Washington offsets the fact that in approximately 13 hours of meetings here Rusk and Gromyko failed to arrive at a formula for detailed negotiations on a Berlin compromise settlement.

It is still possible, and Western officials clearly hope, that an acceptable basis for an East-West foreign ministers' conference may yet be developed next week.

In the course of the meetings, which began 10 days ago, Russ sought to impress on Gromyko that the Western powers are determined to defend their Berlin position, to keep their forces in Berlin, and to preserve their rights of access to the city even if that means using force.

Some top Western authorities here now believe that Soviet Premier Khrushchev is beginning to understand that if he pushes his Berlin demands too far he may precipitate a major war.

At the same time Rusk is understood to have emphasized to Gromyko that the United States and its allies are interested in a compromise settlement if a suitable formula for negotiations can be found.

New Tropical Storm Building In Caribbean

SAN JUAN, P. R. (UPI) — Weathermen ordered a hurricane watch for the Virgin and Leeward Islands Saturday after reconnaissance planes found tropical storm Frances fast gaining momentum on eastern fringe of the Caribbean Sea.

Whole gale warnings for winds up to 70 miles an hour were put into effect for the Leeward Islands north of Guadeloupe to the island of St. Martin and gale warnings south of Guadeloupe to Dominica.

The storm's strongest winds were 70 mph, but the San Juan, P. R., weather bureau said the season's sixth tropical storm would probably reach full hurricane intensity of 75 mph or better during the next 12 to 24 hours.

A 5 p. m. (est) advisory located the storm near latitude 16.3 north, longitude 60.3 west, or about 70 miles east of Guadeloupe in the French Antilles and 400 miles east-southeast of San Juan.

Funds Requested To Buy Acreage

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The Louisiana Board of Education Friday requested the state bond and building commission for an additional $400,000 to buy between 70 and 100 acres of land for further expansion at Northeast State College.

The board proposes to buy the land at about $3,000 per acre.

An option was filed last week on land adjacent to the college area. This action was evidenced in records filed at the Ouachita Parish courthouse.

SURVEY SLATED

Meanwhile, the board also moved to survey increased enrollment at state colleges to determine needs for the increased student loads.

The survey order came as a result of Southwestern's request for $60,000 in an emergency appropriation to handle increased freshmen enrollments.

Board member Leon Gary, of Houma and Mrs. Eleanore H. Meade of Gramercy objected to asking the state board of liquidation for the appropriation without a study.

"I think it's a little early to holler uncle," Gary said.

In other action, the board accepted a bid from the Barksdale Bros. Corp. of Baton Rouge to construct dormitories at Southwestern.

Louisiana Tech, at Ruston, was allowed to use a $100,000 appropriation for air conditioning and renovation.

Top Enrollment Reported For Northeast Term

With 2,977 students registered, an all-time high enrollment has been established this fall at Northeast Louisiana State College, the NLSC registrar's office has announced.

The increase is a total of 336 or approximately 12.7 per cent over the 2,641 enrolled last fall when the previous high was set.

This year's mark is almost five times as great as the 697 enrolled ten years ago and represents an increase of 2,280 or about 327 per cent in only ten years.

In 1956, 1,805 were enrolled. This fall's record - setting enrollment is an increase of 1,172 or about 65 per cent in only five years.

The current enrollment shows 1,695 men students and 1,282 women students. There are 1,259 freshmen, 600 sophomores, 459 juniors, 508 seniors, and 151 graduate students.

This fall's enrollment represents the largest freshman class in the hsitory of the College, with 735 men and 524 women students now registered.

NO SPACE AVAILABLE

Parents Pleading For Retarded Care

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Worried, sometimes desperate parents have built up a backlog of 1,300 pleas for institutional care of their retarded children.

But the extra space needed still isn't available.

The total of applications, State Hospital Director Charles Rosenblum said, is growing at the rate of about 30 a month.

"We believe there are at least 2,000 others who want to apply for help, but haven't done so because the parents feel it would just be useless," Rosenblum said.

A proposed $3 million center near Hammond is under court attack by a Jefferson Parish father, who claims the state should place the new institution in the New Orleans area to comply with the law involved. That court suit it still pending.

Rosenblum said squabbles over location should stop so all efforts could be pointed toward "developing the kind of facilities we need.

"For God's sake, we've got to get going with new facilities quickly—the children need them so badly."

He said Louisiana needs three additional centers for retarded children, in addition to the State Colony and Training School at Pineville. He mentioned the Hammond location, the New Orleans area and a third one elsewhere.

The Hammond institution, on a 10-acre tract donated by W. L. Billups, close friend of Gov. Jimmie Davis, would house a maximum 600 children, Rosenblum said.

"If we were to start construction right now," he emphasized,

New Tropical Storm Building In Caribbean

SAN JUAN, P. R. (UPI) — Weathermen ordered a hurricane watch for the Virgin and Leeward Islands Saturday after reconnaissance planes found tropical storm Frances fast gaining momentum on eastern fringe of the Caribbean Sea.

Whole gale warnings for winds up to 70 miles an hour were put into effect for the Leeward Islands north of Guadeloupe to the island of St. Martin and gale warnings south of Guadeloupe to Dominica.

The storm's strongest winds were 70 mph, but the San Juan, P. R., weather bureau said the season's sixth tropical storm would probably reach full hurricane intensity of 75 mph or better during the next 12 to 24 hours.

A 5 p. m. (est) advisory located the storm near latitude 16.3 north, longitude 60.3 west, or about 70 miles east of Guadeloupe in the French Antilles and 400 miles east-southeast of San Juan.

Quick Changes Mark Weather

The fall season has taken it's typical fashion of abrupt weather changes.

Partly cloudy skies are expected to blanket the skies over the Twin Cities with thundershowers threatening in the south portion. Cooler temperatures are seen in the north portion. High today is predicted to range between 78 and 88 degrees.

The weatherman yesterday bestowed cooler temperatures with the sun shining through partly cloudy skies. Saturday's high temperature was 89 degrees and the low, as reported by the Federal Aviation at Selman Field, was 64 degrees.

Funds Requested To Buy Acreage

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The Louisiana Board of Education Friday requested the state bond and building commission for an additional $400,000 to buy between 70 and 100 acres of land for further expansion at Northeast State College.

The board proposes to buy the land at about $3,000 per acre.

An option was filed last week on land adjacent to the college area. This action was evidenced in records filed at the Ouachita Parish courthouse.

SURVEY SLATED

Meanwhile, the board also moved to survey increased enrollment at state colleges to determine needs for the increased student loads.

The survey order came as a result of Southwestern's request for $60,000 in an emergency appropriation to handle increased freshmen enrollments.

Board member Leon Gary, of Houma and Mrs. Eleanore H. Meade of Gramercy objected to asking the state board of liquidation for the appropriation without a study.

"I think it's a little early to holler uncle," Gary said.

In other action, the board accepted a bid from the Barksdale Bros. Corp. of Baton Rouge to construct dormitories at Southwestern.

Louisiana Tech, at Ruston, was allowed to use a $100,000 appropriation for air conditioning and renovation.

Top Enrollment Reported For Northeast Term

Wth 2,977 students registered, an all-time high enrollment has been established this fall at Northeast Louisiana State College, the NLSC registrar's office has announced.

The increase is a total of 336 or approximately 12.7 per cent over the 2,641 enrolled last fall when the previous high was set.

This year's mark is almost five times as great as the 697 enrolled ten years ago and represents an increase of 2,280 or about 327 per cent in only ten years.

In 1956, 1,805 were enrolled. This fall's record - setting enrollment is an increase of 1,172 or about 65 per cent in only five years.

The current enrollment shows 1,695 men students and 1,282 women students. There are 1,259 freshmen, 600 sophomores, 459 juniors, 508 seniors, and 151 graduate students.

This fall's enrollment represents the largest freshman class in the hsitory of the College, with 735 men and 524 women students now registered.

BLUEBLOODS BARRED

Mutts Have Their Day At Dog Mart

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) —It was a little bit of this, a little bit of that and a wagging tail on the end Saturday as mutts of every shape and size dragged their owners into town for the centuries old Fredericksburg Dog Mart.

There wasn't a blueblood in the crowd as dogs took over the city streets and packed the athletic field. But no dog owner picking up a fancy best-in-show trophy could ever be any prouder than Ellen Watson, 9, was when Missy, her tiny whatever-it-is, snagged the "ugliest mutt" title.

But Ellen's hopes of seeing Missy win a second blue ribbon went down the drain when the judges ruled the pup out of the next event, prettiest dog in the show.

It was an old-timey sort of day with thousands of people and hundreds of dogs congregating in a mass of tangled leashes to watch Indian dances and listen to the hog calling and foxhorn blowing. But the day was devoted to the dogs and the flea-bitten pooch, without a title to his name reigned supreme.

The whole idea of the dog mart started in 1698 when the Indians and the paleface settlers called off their almost constant warfare for one day to allow the redskins to barter furs and gold nuggets for the white man's hunting dogs. The one-day-a-year truce for haggling over the price of man's best friend continued until the Revolution, then died out until the local Isaac Walton League and Chamber of Commerce revived it in 1927.

NO SPACE AVAILABLE

Parents Pleading For Retarded Care

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Worried, sometimes desperate parents have built up a backlog of 1,300 pleas for institutional care of their retarded children.

But the extra space needed still isn't available.

The total of applications, State Hospital Director Charles Rosenblum said, is growing at the rate of about 30 a month.

"We believe there are at least 2,000 others who want to apply for help, but haven't done so because the parents feel it would just be useless," Rosenblum said.

A proposed $3 million center near Hammond is under court attack by a Jefferson Parish father, who claims the state should place the new institution in the New Orleans area to comply with the law involved. That court suit it still pending.

Rosenblum said squabbles over location should stop so all efforts could be pointed toward "developing the kind of facilities we need.

"For God's sake, we've got to get going with new facilities quickly—the children need them so badly."

He said Louisiana needs three additional centers for retarded children, in addition to the State Colony and Training School at Pineville. He mentioned the Hammond location, the New Orleans area and a third one elsewhere.

The Hammond institution, on a 10-acre tract donated by W. L. Billups, close friend of Gov. Jimmie Davis, would house a maximum 600 children, Rosenblum said.

"If we were to start construction right now," he emphasized, thinking in terms of an East-West foreign ministers' meeting in November or December.

Khrushchev has declared he will sign a peace treaty with East Germany late this year to give that country sovereign control of Berlin's supply lines from West Germany.

Khrushchev also claims that once the treaty is in effect the Western powers must accept the fact that West Berlin itself is on Communist East German territory.

Rusk is understood to have emphasized to Gromyko that the Western powers have no intention of negotiating with East Germany on their rights to maintain troops in West Berlin.

Saturday's meeting was held in Rusk's suite at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Gromyko reached the 28th floor apartment promptly at 10:30 a.m. and left about 3 p.m. The two top diplomats and their advisers lunched together.

As he left the hotel, Gromyko was asked what had been gained from the talks and replied: "I hope some useful results."

Speaking for Rusk, Asst. Secretary of State Roger Tubby described the discussion as "cordial" and added: "We consider it to have been a useful one."

Rusk arranged to meet with Lord Home in the evening before their respective departures from New York—Rusk for Washington and Home for London.

"We expect there will be a continued exchange of views," Tubby said. "It is probable the next meeting will be held in Washington next week. No time for that meeting has been set.

Senate Probers Face Busy Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Notorious mobsters, respected government officials and figures from the business and labor fields will be called to testify in a variety of Senate investigations in the weeks and months ahead.

Several groups are planning hearings during the three months Congress will be in recess.

Agents for Sen. John L. McClellan's Senate Investigations subcommittee are at work setting the stage for exploration of gambling, narcotics and prostitution rackets.

The Arkansas Democratic senator also is looking into allegations of profiteering by some companies holding government contracts for the manufacture of missiles for space and military use.

A subcommittee headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss, has started preliminary work for public hearings on charges by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., that the Pentagon keeps military personnel from speaking out against communism. The hearings are expected to start in late November or early December.

The Teamsters Union headed by James R. Hoffa is booked for investigation by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss. The subcommittee is checking reports of Communist infiltration into this biggest of labor unions in the United States.

The now-defunct Senate Rackets Committee has contended that the Teamsters maintained alliances with the underworld and also used Communists at times for various purposes.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., has scheduled hearings for Nov. 8 and 9 to look into the Kennedy administration's space satellite communications program.

Long announced plans to summon the Federal Communications Commission, members of an industry advisory committee, members of the President's Space Advisory Council and Justice Department officials for quizzing.

Kennedy has announced he hopes private enterprise will put aloft a communications satellite system. He wants it made available to provide global television, radio and telephonic service better than anything now available, as a demonstration of this country's lead in peaceful use of outer space. Long demands precautions against monopolistic practice in developing the project.

Goulart Backer Removed From Military Post

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —The defiant general who backed João Goulart in Brazil's Presidential crisis has been removed.

Gen. Jose Machado Lopes was transferred from command of the 3rd Army, stationed in the south of Brazil, on orders of Prime Minister Tancredo Neves. The general was assigned to the post of Director of General Provisions in the War Ministry.

Machado Lopes defied his military chiefs last month when they moved to keep Joao Goulart from returning to Brazil to take over as president from Janio Quadros.

Goulart entered the country from the south and the 3rd Army braced for a fight against government troops to the north. Civil war threatened before Congress resolved the crisis.

It amended the constitution to make Goulart a figurehead president and create a powerful prime minister.

Parents Pleading For Retarded Care

"It couldn't be completed for another 18 months.

"The State Colony and Training School is taking care of approximately 1,800, when it has room for only 1,500."

Rosenblum described opposition to the Hammond location as "well intentioned," but added it was hampering efforts to help retarded children now.

He flipped through a pile of correspondence in his desk, just a fraction of parents' hopes that they will in some way find help.

From one lawmaker in the Monroe area, speaking for a family: "Mr. and Mrs. . . . . are the parents of twins, aged 15 months, mentally retarded from birth. Both babies are blind. The family is unable to care for them any longer. The mother . . . finally had to be taken away from her children before she had a nervous breakdown. Neighbors are taking turns keeping one of the twins."

A Shreveport father wrote: "We are now at our rope's end" because a small son must be placed in an institution and the door can't open yet.

From Metairie came an appeal from a father for admission of a four-year-old son who "cannot sit, walk, speak or do anything for himself. . . . until recently I had hope that he would improve . . . but now the doctors tell us he will never get better."

A Monroe mother, working in a drive in with six children to care for, wrote that she needed to send a retarded child to an institution because she was forced to keep a teen-age daughter out of school to care for the child.

In almost every case, the answer from the State Colony and Training School has been something like this:

"We are anxious to accept their child, but at the same time have no place for him . . . it is recognized that each parent's problem is the worst with which he is faced, regardless of what the situation might be in some other home."

Rep. Wollen Falgout's legislative committee, which watches over the retarded children question, recently urged "that everything be done to see that pending litigation be disposed of—for the benefit of all children."

The Senate Bond and Building Commission has earmarked $310,000 for a small new unit at Leesville, but it would be able to provide facilities for only 100 children.

Negro Assaults Freedom Rider In Dallas Hotel

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — A 22-year-old London, England woman who said she had been a freedom rider for the Congress of Racial Equality, told police Friday she was raped by a 260-pound Negro posing as a sympathizer for the organization.

Detectives L. D. Montgomery and Harvard Johnson said a physician examined her and reported she had been raped, and apparently had had no relations prior to the assault.

Police arrested the Negro and were holding him on investigation of forcible rape. They said he had admitted to "almost all" of the girl's story.

The green-eyed, brunette said she joined the CORE movement in New Orleans during the summer and was jailed at Jackson, Miss., for one month as a freedom rider. She said she was released after CORE posted her $500 bond three weeks ago.

The woman said she came to Dallas looking for a job. She said the NAACP fixed her up with a hotel room.

She said she met the Negro at a cafe near the hotel and that he identified himself as a "friend of the organization (CORE). He told her he owned the hotel and also was a newspaper publisher, she said.

The 40-year-old Negro later came to her hotel room, she said, and interviewed her "to determine how I could better serve CORE" and "he suggested I could help most as a model."

She said he took her measurements and told her how she would "have to get used to being handled and posed by photographers."

He then threw her on a bed and raped her, she said.

Syria, only the Communists will benefit.

The feeling was that Nasser's influence in Syria was a formidable bulwark against the Soviets in the Middle East and that there must be growth of Arab statesmanship to combat the dangers.

Cairo dispatches said demonstrators marched through the streets of the Egyptian capital Saturday denouncing the Syrian revolt and supporting the union of Egypt and Syria. There were shouts of "long live Nasser" and of "down with separatist reactionaries."

But Nasser's speech calling off a military invasion appeared to have ended for the moment any serious Egyptian effort to win Syria back into union.

The new civilian government which appears to have taken over from the military junta that carried out the Syrian revolution already has won recognitio nby Turkey and Jordan. Iran announced Saturday it planned to recognize the new government.

Syria Saturday opened its border with Lebanon and permitted diplomatic personnel and persons with special permits to leave the country. One of them, Yoshito Shimoba, Japanese Consul-General in Damascus, drove into Beirut Saturday.

He disclosed that he and other consul generals met last night with revolutionary Prime Minister Kuzbari and received permission to go to Beirut to send diplomatic dispatches. The American and British Consuls also met with Kuzbari.

Shimoba reported the situation in Damascus was calm but that tanks were stationed all over the capital. He said gunfire was heard in Damascus for 20 minutes during Thursday's revolt but there were no figures on the number of casualties.

During the revolt, he said, there were demonstrations both for and against the revolt but later the demonstrations become completely anti-Nasser. Since then the city has been under curfew, and demonstrations were forbidden.

Authoritative sources meanwhile disclosed that the Syrian government had released all political prisoners held by the Nasser regime while arresting Egyptian army officers stationed in Syria. Some 120 Egyptian paratroops captured at Latakia were freed, however.

One report received in Beirut said former U.A.R. Vice President Abdel Hamid Al Serraj had been arrested at his home in Damascus.

Kuzbari, in an earlier broadcast over Damascus Radio, ordered Syrian flags run up on all government buildings, the national Coat of Arms restored and the national anthem re-established.

The government broadcast a 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew for all of Syria except at Aleppo, where residents were told to keep off the streets from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. or be "liable to danger." Some fighting was reported at Aleppo during the revolt.

Another broadcast warned listeners that the Rebel command would "strike with an iron fist against anyone who may try to exploit or harm the movement of the Arab people."

It ordered all Egyptians, military or civilians, to surrender to local commanders Sunday for return to Egypt. Egyptian women were advised to stay indoors for "their own safety."

The transitional government has pledged a free press and free elections after four years. Saturday Damascus Radio reported a rise in the value of the Syrian Lira since the uprising and cited it as proof the Syrian economic life moving toward regaining its strength.

Mutts Have Their Day At Dog Mart

the mart was the big attraction Saturday. And a shrewd bidder could have his pick of the lot at prices ranging from 10 cents to a high of about $50.

The pedigreed and pampered canine aristocrats couldn't have been any more confused by the dog show than were some of the owners. One girl whose dog won a second-place ribbon in the terrier category complained that he really was a toy Manchester.

"I told them that," she said, "but they told me to put it in with the terriers because they weren't judging Manchesters."

Then she fingered the red ribbon and decided: "But I guess he does look a little like a terrier. He's kind of big for a Manchester."

"That's the way it works," sighed a mart official, watching a lumbering, St. Bernard-size dog being judged in the cocker spaniel class.

It was Jane Pope, 9, hugging her winning entry in the "miscellaneous" category that summed up the whole thing.

Asked what kind of dog the winner was, she answered: "I don't have any idea. I guess he's just all kinds."

During the revolt, he said, there were demonstrations both for and against the revolt but later the demonstrations become completely anti-Nasser. Since then the city has been under curfew and demonstrations were forbidden.

Authoritative sources meanwhile disclosed that the Syrian government had released all political prisoners held by the Nasser regime while arresting Egyptian army officers stationed in Syria. Some 120 Egyptian paratroops captured at Latakia were freed, however.

One report received in Beirut said former U.A.R. ice President Abdel Hamid Al-Serrai had been arrested at his home in Damascus.

Kuzbari, in an earlier broadcast over Damascus Radio, ordered Syrian flags run up on all government buildings, the national Coat of Arms restored and the national anthem re-established.

The government broadcast a a 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew for all of Syria except at Aleppo, where residents were told to keep off the streets from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. or be "liable to danger." Some fighting was reported at Aleppo during the revolt.

Another broadcast warned listeners that the Rebel command would "strike with an iron fist against anyone who may try to exploit or harm the movement of the Arab people."

It ordered all Egyptians, military or civilians, to surrender to local commanders Sunday for return to Egypt. Egyptian women were advised to stay indoors for "their own safety."

The transitional government has pledged a free press and free elections after four years. Saturday Damascus Radio reported a rise in the value of the Syrian Lira since the uprising and cited it as proof the Syrian economic life moving toward regaining its strength.

Mutts Have Their Day At Dog Mart

the mart was the big attraction Saturday. And a shrewd bidder could have his pick of the lot at prices ranging from 10 cents to a high of about $50.

The pedigreed and pampered canine aristocrats couldn't have been any more confused by the dog show than were some of the owners. One girl whose dog won a second-place ribbon in the terrier category complained that he really was a toy Manchester.

"I told them that," she said, "but they told me to put it in with the terriers because they weren't judging Manchesters."

Then she fingered the red ribbon and decided: "But I guess he does look a little like a terrier. He's kind of big for a Manchester."

"That's the way it works," sighed a mart official, watching a lumbering, St. Bernard-size dog being judged in the cocker spaniel class.

It was Jane Pope, 9, hugging her winning entry in the "miscellaneous" category that summed up the whole thing.

Asked what kind of dog the winner was, she answered: "I don't have any idea. I guess he's just all kinds."

Parents Pleading For Retarded Care

"it couldn't be completed for another 18 months.

"The State Colony and Training School is taking care of approximately 1,800, when it has room for only 1,500."

Rosenblum described opposition to the Hammond location as "well intentioned," but added it was hampering efforts to help retarded children now.

He flipped through a pile of correspondence in his desk, just a fraction of parents' hopes that they will in some way find help.

From one lawmaker in the Monroe area, speaking for a family: "Mr. and Mrs. ..... are the parents of twins, aged 15 months, mentally retarded from birth. Both babies are blind. The family is uable to care for them any longer. The mother ... finally had to be taken away from her children before she had a nervous breakdown. Neighbors are taking turns keeping one of the twins."

A Shreveport father wrote: "We are now at our rope's end" because a small son must be placed in an institution and the door can't open yet.

From Metairie came an appeal from a father for admission of a four-year-old son who "cannot sit, walk, speak or do anything for himself. . . . until recently I had hope that he would improve . . . but now the doctors tell us he will never get better."

A Monroe mother, working in a drive-in with six children to care for, wrote that she needed to send a retarded child to an institution because she was forced to keep a teen-age daughter out of school to care for the child.

In almost every case, the answer from the State Colony and Training School has been something like this:

"We are anxious to accept their child, but at the same time have no place for him . . . it is recognized that each parent's problem is the worst with which he is faced, regardless of what the situation might be in some other home."

Rep. Wollen Falgout's legislative committee, which watches over the retarded children question, recently urged "that everything be done to see that pending litigation be disposed of—for the benefit of all children."

The Senate Bond and Building Commission has earmarked $310,000 for a small new unit at Leesville, but it would be able to provide facilities for only 100 children.

Negro Assaults Freedom Rider In Dallas Hotel

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — A 22-year-old London, England woman who said she had been a freedom rider for the Congress of Racial Equality, told police Friday she was raped by a 260-pound Negro posing as a sympathizer for the organization.

Detectives L. D. Montgomery and Harvard Johnson said a physician examined her and reported she had been raped, and apparently had had no relations prior to the assault.

Police arrested the Negro and were holding him on investigation of forcible rape. They said he had admitted to "almost all" of the girl's story.

The green-eyed, brunette said she joined the CORE movement in New Orleans during the summer and was jailed at Jackson, Miss., for one month as a freedom rider. She said she was released after CORE posted her $500 bond three weeks ago.

The woman said she came to Dallas looking for a job. She said the NAACP fixed her up with a hotel room.

She said she met the Negro at a cafe near the hotel and that he identified himself as a "friend of the organization (CORE). He told her he owned the hotel and also was a newspaper publisher, she said.

The 40 - year - old Negro later came to her hotel room, she said, and interviewed her "to determine how I could better serve CORE" and "he suggested I could help most as a model."

She said he took her measurements and told her how she would "have to get used to being handled and posed by photographers."

He then threw her on a bed and raped her, she said.

GOP Hoping For Congress Gains In '62

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats may be bucking a long-range trend in the 1962 congressional elections but Republicans are shooting at reducing the present 64-36 Democratic margin in the Senate and picking up the net of 44 seats they would need to gain control of the House. The House now has 437 members, but in 1963 this will revert to 435, with 218 needed for a majority.

Republicans think they have working in their favor a trend that began in 1960 when they picked up 21 seats in the House and one in the Senate despit hir loss of the presidency. Traditionally the party in the minority gains in nonpresidential years.

But to keep this trend going, the GOP is going to have to fight some stiff battles, particularly in Senate races where nearly all their 18 members seeking re-election will have tough opposit on.

On the other hand, seven of the 21 Democratic senators running again next year are from the South and a half dozen others apsolidly entrenched in states where Republican opponents are given only an outside chance to upset them.

Chairman Vance Hartke, D-Ind. of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee has named eight Republicans, including Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, as prime targets in next year's campaign.

Others listed by Hartke included Sens. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, Prescott Bush of Connecticut, John M. Butler of Maryland, Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, Frances Case of South Dakota, Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky and Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.

Chairman Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., of the Republican Senat Campaign Committee, has a bead on Democratic Sens. A. Carroll of Colorado, F Church of Idaho, Joseph S. of Pennsylvania, Oren E. Hawaii, Benjamin A. Smith, Massachusetts and J. J. of Wyoming.

Republicans are not underr the efforts that will be ma unseat Dirksen and Morton, former national chairman.

WILLY LEY

Authority On Space Set By Concerts

The Northeast State Concerts Association will present Willy Ley, famous authority on space travel and rockets, on Oct 23, at 8:15 p.m. in Neville High School Auditorium to open the 1961-62 season which will offer at least eight outstanding programs, including "Music Man" Jose Greco and his dance company, and Imogene Coca, Arthur Treacher and King Donovan in "A Thurber Carnaval."

Season tickets may be reserved in the obby of the Francis Hotel, telephone FA 5-8873, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily Oct 2-7. Season memberships include tickets to all productions being offered by NSCA. Reserve tickets cost $11, non-reserve adult tickets cost $9, and student tickets cost $4, these prices are for season membership.

"The man in the moon will be meeting a man on the moon before the end of the century," predicts Willy Ley. Space exploration is progressing at such sputnik speed these days that within ten or twenty years space flight will be an almost everyday occurence," says the man who is considered by many to be the country's foremost writer on the newest and most exciting field of science—the conquest of space.

Ley's prognostications are based on a solid background. Born in Berlin in 1906, he studied at the Universities of Berlin and Konigsberg in East Prussia, concentrating on paleontology, astronomy and physics. He planned to be a geologist but read a book about rocket theory by Professor Hermann Oberth in 1925 and became interested in rockets and space travel. A year later, he published his own first book in Germany, "Trip Into Space," which was concerned with rockets.

Pilots Request Safety Ruling On DC-8 Jets

MIAMI (UPI) — A group of Eastern Air Lines' pilots said Saturday they would refuse to fly DC8 jets unless the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) confirms that the plane's hydraulic system is safe.

The pilots said they so advised the agency in a telegram sent Friday night to FAA director Najeeb Hallaby in Washington.

Capt. John D. Payne, chairman of the 600 - member Eastern Air Lines Miami Council of the Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA), spoke for the group.

"I ask you is the airplane safe or not," Payne wired Hallaby.

"Silence on this question will force us to suspend operation on DC8 aircraft, which is used on Eastern Air Lines, within three days," the message said.

Previously the FAA had sent pilots a questionnaire on theDC8 asking them to answer true or false to 10 questions concerning the hydraulic system, which has been blamed for at least one fatal crash and has caused several precautionary landings.

Eastern normally operates about 15 DC8 jets out of Miami daily, the pilots said.

Boards Approve Council Plan For Education

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The two boards governing Louisiana education approved a coordinating council for higher education Saturday.

At a joint meeting, the State Board of Education and the Louisiana State Sovereignty Board of Supervisors set a $50,000 budget ceiling on the council. The boards will supply the money on a 50-50 basis.

The council will serve in an advisory capacity to the boards, the governor, the legislature and other state officials.

A professional exectutive director will be hired. The council will select its own chairman for a one-day term, alternating the selection annually from the LSU board and the state board.

Members of the council will consist of three members from each of the two governing boards. Non-voting members will include the state education superintendent and the president of LSU.

All committees now serving under the boards were directed to report to the council hereafter. The council was given power to require state-supported colleges and universities to submit data on finances, enrollment and other matters pertaining to planning and coordination.

Functions of the council spelled out included: Review annual construction budgets of state education institutions, develop functional and construction plans, and make recommendations to the governing boards.

Mrs. Lavinia McNeely, supervisor of English and language arts with the State Department of Education. Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast, will welcome the delegates.

Teachers and officials from Ouachita, Morehouse, Richland, East Carroll, West Carroll, Madison, Tensas, Concordia, Catahoula, Franklin, LaSalle, Caldwell, Jackson, Winn, Lincoln and Union parishes have been invited to the conference.

Pearson Holds Slight Hopes On U.N. Post

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Lester B. Pearson would take the job of United Nations secretary general if it were offered, but believes the solution to the UN dilemma lies with the Afro-Asian nations.

Pearson, former Canadian foreign minister and onetime president of the UN General Assembly, told a news conference here Friday "I don't think any man would refuse a job like that."

He added, however, that he doubted if he would be any more acceptable to the Soviets now than when his name was proposed as the successor to Trygve Lie. The eventual choice then was Dag Hammarskjold, whose death brought on the present UN crisis.

Pearson cautioned the West to stand firm against the Soviet "troika" plan for a three-man secretary generalship, saying it would "mean the end of the UN as an effective world organization."

Pearson predicted that the Soviets would fight hard for troika, knowing they can't get it.

"Then they'll give in and get a lot more concessions than they are entitled to get. . .and probably some man they feel they can manage. This is the way the Russians work."

'Chacahoula' Has Arrived At Northeast

Enthusiasm reached a high peak when the 1961 Chacahoula, Notheast State yearbook arrived on the campus.

The publication, largest in the history of the college, is modernistic from all standpoints.

Henry Chriceol of Mangham edited the current edition, and Patsy Bearden, of Monroe, graduate student and former co-editor, held the associate editor position.

Originality and artistry are combined in the book's design, and photographs give a full pictorial account of the school year's events.

Gold in the title and date of the publication enrich the bright blue tone of the cover, which features an angular line running through the word Chacahoula to join 1961, cut into three strips.

The angular line and the three — strip design represented in pictures or colors form a unifying feature through the various sections of the publication. Yellow tint blocks add to the effectiveness of the layout.

Black and yellow are prominent in the introductory pages which carry out the foreword that emphasizes the expansion of Northeast and the institution's real significance to students.

Claiming particular prominence are two photographs in four-color work, a two-page spread illustrating an autumn day enjoyed by students, and a full page dovoted to Miss Diana Smith of Oak Ridge in her regal attire as Miss Northeast.

FIRST FAMILY

President George T. Walker and his family are shown in a two-page design reflecting numerous college activities in which they participate.

Generous use of departmental interests indicate the scope of course offerings and class work at Northeast.

But the pages extend beyond the academic phase of college. Life in residence halls, organizations and social affairs have definite places in the review. Photographs range from formal events to informal average-day activities on the campus, thus reflecting a healthy combination of seriousness and fun.

The beauty section is introduced by Miss Kathy Talton of Monroe, selected by off - campus judges to wear the title, Miss Chacahoula, top ranking beauty, who's portrayed in formal and casual dress. Each beauty is seen in a full page portrait made in the gardens of Miss Emy-Lou Biedenharn. Runners - up are presented in an effective two-page montage display.

Claiming a big share of attention are important events such as homecoming, Foster Parents' Day, the annual science fair, Mothers' Week End, Honors Day and stage productoins. A "first" feature in the Chacahoula is a section devoted to students selected for Who's Who in American UUnUiver sities and Colleges.

Last year's broad sports and health and physical education programs are given full coverage, with black modernistic designs and yellow tint blocks adding emphasis.

Chacahoula staff members besides Chriceol and Miss Bearden were Billy Caldwell of Collinston, advertising manager; Richard Greene, Davis Roane and Ben Bradford, all of Monroe, photographers; Toma Gross of Pioneer, class editor; Cloy Byrd of Ferriday, feature editor; Guy Coats of Monroe and Don Wattigny of New Orleans, sports assistants; Nancy Blake of Sterlington, Greek organization editor; and Glenda Thrower of New Orleans, typist.

Faculty adviser of the yearbook is Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, associate professor of journalism.

He was Carlo Spadini, 22, of Shaw, Miss., a student at Memphis State.

The driver, Alan Hensley, 18, received a possible concussion. He told officers he apparently went to sleep at the wheel.

Marlin Exploration Inc., apparently has assured an Adams County wildcat, the Haynes No. 1, sec. 31-6n-2w, as a producer. Reports indicated operators planned to install pumping equipment after the well tested 98 barrels of oil per day from perforations at 4,433-40 efet.

Testing operations were underway on the second well in the Summerland field in Jones and Covington counties. The No. 1 Ainsworth-Central, sec. 33-10n-14w drilled by Triad Oil and Gas Co., is on the covington County side.

Operators set seven inch casing to 12,250 feet and were reported ready to test two different zones.

Field drilling the past week brought two new oilers and two gas condensate wells completed.

Larco Drilling Co. completed the Coates No. 2, sec. 9-9n-13w, at 11,550-70 feet.

In the Sandy Hook field of Marion County, Humble Oil and Refining Co. completed two deep gas condensate wells.

The Sandy Hook unit No. 13-2, sec. 24-1n-18w flowed 2,589,000 cubic feet of gas and 16 barrels of condensate per day from a sand at 11,759-766 feet.

Woman, 111, Believes In 'Hard Work'

WAYNESVILLE, N. C., (AP)—Mrs. Matilda (Aunt Sis) Rogers, who will be 111 tomorrow, says her receipt for longevity is "plenty of hard work and don't worry."

"I used to go into the clearings and chop, grub, pile and burn — jut like a man," she recalls. "And oh, the days I've plowed in the corn and worked in the t'bakker—all such as that — the young gals this day wouldn't know anything about it."

Although Mrs. Rogers now is a bed patient in a Waynesville rest home, she reads without glasses, and her mind is alert.

For the past 10 years, since she reached the age of 100, Aunt Sis has received yearly birthday messages from the President of the United Statoes, two from President Truman and eight from President Eisenhower.

Last year she received messages from the president, vice president, the governor of North Carolina, members of Congress, and from people in each of he 50 states and many foreign countries.

Mrs. Rogers is the matriarch of a clan of 284 living descendants —five sons, four daughters, 65 grandchildren, 79 great-grand children, 125 great-great-grandchildren, and six new great-great-great-grand children born since she turned 110 last year.

U.S. To Survey Social Welfare Of Islanders

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—A government team is going to Okinawa next week to survey economic and social welfare problems in the Ryukyu Islands, President Kennedy's vacation White House said Saturday.

Carl Kaysen, a member of the President's White House staff, is chairman of the survey team.

The survey is an outgrowth of the President's talks last summer with Prime Minister Ikeda of Japan on the problems of the islands.

Other members of the team are Brig. Gen. Benjamin F. Evans Jr., of the Army; Kingdon W. Swayne, of the State Department; L. Albert Wilson of the Agency for International Development; James D. Hoover of the Department of Labor; Col. Edward G. Allen and Lt. Col. John B. Sitterson of the Army.

JFK Avoids Jolting Reds With All-Out Mobilization

WASHINGTON (AP)—One reason the Kennedy administration avoided all-out mobilization in the Berlin crisis was concern that such drastic action might jolt the Soviets into unleashing an attack, high officials said Saturday.

They indicated U.S. leaders felt there was a risk the Soviets might interpret an immediate, full-scale buildup as a sign the United States planned a stroke, and that the Soviets might then try to get in a first blow.

"We still have a great mobilization capability beyond what we have already," said one official who stipulated that he not be named.

This country has been undertaking a deliberately paced strengthening of its conventional military power the past two months. Administration officials have been grasping every opportunity to underscore U.S. intentions to stand firm in Berlin. At the same time, they have sought to avoid any show of belligerence.

Officials made it plain the buildup is not intended to be temporary —that U. S. armed forces are to be kept at a high level of readiness and strength for an indefinite period to cope with expected challenges elsewhere than in Berlin.

Some authorities are forecasting a major test in beleaguered South Viet Nam, where Communist bands have been increasingly active.

In explaining the reasons for less than all-out mobilization at this time, one official said "we are not expanding with the firm expectation of going to war over Berlin — at least not yet."

He said the government is looking beyond Berlin to "our basic contest with Communism."

Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr touched on this theme Friday in saying "the strong and balanced forces we are at present working so hard to build must be maintained for years to come."

"From the whole pattern of Soviet action over the past two decades," Stahr said, "we can only conclude that the Communist ambition for world conquest will persist."

A main purpose for expanding U. S. armed might, officials said, is to lend what they called impressive support to U.S. diplomats in negotiating with the Soviets. The aim is to leave no doubt in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's mind that this country means business.

Starting in August, the United States has stepped up the draft, ordered to active duty about 151,000 Army and Air Force National Guardsmen and reservists of all the armed services. It has acted to increase the combat fleet and sealift, to muster more tactical airpower and to boost airlift capabilities.

The military budget has been increased by about $6 billion over last year, to a total of nearly $47 billion. Orders are being let for more modern troop carriers, tanks, planes and other hardware.

The ranks of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines are being swelled toward a goal of 2,743,000 officers and men.

President Kennedy has been authorized to call up as many as 250,000 reservists and guardsmen for as much as a year of active duty. So far he has ordered up only somewhat more than half of this total, although another 75,000 have been alerted.

The vanguard of citizen soldiers have begun to report for service, and the rest will be donning uniforms over the next two weeks.

Two National Guard divisions are ticketed to enter federal service Oct. 15. One official said the Army is pointing to get these guard divisions, plus nearly 250 supporting reserve and Guard units, in combat shape by Jan. 1.

Further, he said, it is hoped that three regular Army divisions, converted from training duties, will be at top strength and in fighting trim by Dec. 1. Some 50,000 men are being funneled into these three divisions for this purpose.

About 18,000 men are beginning to move to Germany to fill out three regular infantry divisions there, while another 19,000 are going over in support elements to round out the combat potential of the three infantry and two armored divisions posted in the critical German sector.

Unconfirmed reports persist that perhaps two more Guard divisions will be mustered, and that several divisions will be moved to Europe, perhaps by Dec. 1.

U.S., Soviets Settle Rift On Exhibits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has agreed to two U.S. conditions and will go ahead with a medical exhibit in Chicago and Minneapolis, the State Department announced Saturday. A dispute had prevented its showing at the Oklahoma State Fair in Oklahoma City a week ago.

Similarly, a U.USU. transportat exhibit will be shown as scheduled in Kharkov and Stalingrad, U.S.S.R., but not in Moscow, where it was to have opened Sept. 23.

The dispute had threatened a major rupture of the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program under which the exhibits were arranged on a reciprocal basis.

But Francis W. Tully, State Department press officer, said the dispute has been settled and, "the department is pleased to announce that the exchange of exhibits has been resumed."

For one thing, the Russians agreed to let the State Department review the Soviet contract with the Ivel Construction Co. of Brooklyn, N.Y., for handling the Soviet exhibit.

State Department officials explained that sponsors of the U.S. exhibit in the Soviet Union were required to contract with the Soviet All-Union Chamber of Commerce under terms which they said included assignment of excess Soviet personnel. This added thousands of dollars to U. S. costs

The Soviet Union, on the other hand, was free to negtiate with private firms here for the lowest possible price, although the department demanded the right to review the contract before signing. This presumably would give the department some measure of control over costs charged to the American exhibit in the Soviet Unoin, through possible threat of retaliation.

The Soviet Union balked, but now has agreed to the review.

Tully said the Soviet exhibit will open in Chicago Oct. 13 for a 21-day showing and then move on to Minneapolis.

SESSION BEGINS MONDAY

Many Segregation Cases Dot High Court's Docket

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court convenes for its 1961-62 term Monday with attacks on racial segregation, including the hotly-contested "sit-in" issue, still prominent on its docket.

The court also is going to take another look at a matter of vital importance in state politics? A challenge to the present apportionment of state legislative districts. And there should be action on the latest American Communist party effort to avoid registering with the government.

The nine justices return to the bench facing a record 1,050 cases. After opening day formalities are disposed of they will tackle appeals from lower courts during the long summer adjournment.

On Oct. 9 the court will announce which of those petitions for review will be granted. Chief Justice Earl Warren will then call the first case for argument and the term will be in full swing.

The first case will be the reapportionment test. It comes from Tennessee. But the decision could affect many areas. Despite the big population shift from farm to city, many metropolitan districts have been allotted no additional state senators or representatives. The result has been a cry by city voters that their needs are ignored by legislatures dominated by rural interests.

In agreeing to examine the issue last term, the justices turned their backs on a doctrine enunciated in 1946 that such "political" matters are outside the court's jurisdiction.

The complaining Tennesseans contend that inequality in voting rights is a violation of the constitution's guarantee of "equal protection of the laws."

Another case from Michigan has been pending since last winter.

Scheduled to be heard the week of Oct. 16 are three appeals from sit - in demonstrators in Baton Rouge, La. they were filed by 16 students at Southern University. The students were convicted of disturbing the peace at the Greyhound bus station, the Kress Department store, and Sitman's Drug Store.

Louisiana law forbids all acts committed in a manner that will "unreasonably disturb or alarm the public." The students are represented by lawyers associated with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The appeals contend, among other things, that a state may not use its police power to enforce racial segregation in a place of business open to the general public.

Other sit-in type cases awaiting action stem from incidents in Glen Echo Amusement Park in Montgomery County, Md.; and in Gwwynn Oak Amusement Park, Baltimore; and from lunch counter demonstrations in Howard Johnson's Restaurant, Arlington County, Va.; Thalhimer's Department Store, Richmond, Va.; Jones Drug Store, Monroe, N.C.; McCrory-McLellan Store, Raleigh, N. C.; and Kress in Durham, N.C.

The cases bring state trespass laws into the picture.

In another appeal a Memphis Negro is fighting segregation of rest rooms and eating facilities at the municipal airport. He sued under the federal civil rights law.

School desegregation is before the court in the form of four appeals by Attorney General Jack P. F. Gremillion of Louisiana. Lower federal courts have ordered an end to segregation in the public schools of St. Helena and Baton Rouge and admission of Negroes to trade schools in a number of Louisiana cities. Another decision barred enforcement of two state laws entitled "bribery of parents of school children" and "intimidation and interference in the operation of schools."

Gremillion is appealing all these decisions.

Two National Guard divisions are ticketed to enter federal service Oct. 15. One official said the Army is pointing to get these guard divisions, plus nearly 250 supporting reserve and Guard units, in combat shape by Jan. 1.

Further, he said, it is hoped that three regular Army divisions, converted from training duties, will be at top strength and in fighting trim by Dec. 1. Some 50,000 men are being funneled into these three divisions for this purpose.

About 18,000 men are beginning to move to Germany to fill out three regular infantry divisions there, while another 19,000 are going over in support elements to round out the combat potential of the three infantry and two armored divisions posted in the critical German sector.

Unconfirmed reports persist that perhaps two more Guard divisions will be mustered, and that several divisions will be moved to Europe, perhaps by Dec. 1.

U.S., Soviets Settle Rift On Exhibits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has agreed to two U.S. conditions and will go ahead with a medical exhibit in Chicago and Minneapolis, the State Department announced Saturday. A dispute had prevented its showing at the Oklahoma State Fair in Oklahoma City a week ago.

Similarly, a U.USU. transportat exhibit will be shown as scheduled in Kharkov and Stalingrad, U.S.S.R., but not in Moscow, where it was to have opened Sept. 23.

The dispute had threatened a major rupture of the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program under which the exhibits were arranged on a reciprocal basis.

But Francis W. Tully, State Department press officer, said the dispute has been settled and, "the department is pleased to announce that the exchange of exhibits has been resumed."

For one thing, the Russians agreed to let the State Department review the Soviet contract with the Ivel Construction Co. of Brooklyn, N.Y., for handling the Soviet exhibit.

State Department officials explained that sponsors of the U.S. exhibit in the Soviet Union were required to contract with the Soviet All-Union Chamber of Commerce under terms which they said included assignment of excess Soviet personnel. This added thousands of dollars to U. S. costs

The Soviet Union, on the other hand, was free to negtiate with private firms here for the lowest possible price, although the department demanded the right to review the contract before signing. This presumably would give the department some measure of control over costs charged to the American exhibit in the Soviet Unoin, through possible threat of retaliation.

The Soviet Union talked, but now has agreed to the review.

Tully said the Soviet exhibit will open in Chicago Oct. 13 for a 21-day showing and then move on to Minneapolis.

SESSION BEGINS MONDAY

Many Segregation Cases Dot High Court's Docket

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court convenes for its 1961-62 term Monday with attacks on racial segregation, including the hotly-contested "sit-in" issue, still prominent on its docket.

The court also is going to take another look at a matter of vital importance in state politics? A challenge to the present apportionment of state legislative districts. And there should be action on the latest American Communist party effort to avoid registering with the government.

The nine justices return to the bench facing a record 1,050 cases. After opening day formalities are disposed of they will tackle appeals from lower courts during the long summer adjournment.

On Oct. 9 the court will announce which of those petitions for review will be granted. Chief Justice Earl Warren will then call the first case for argument and the term will be in full swing.

The first case will be the reapportionment test. It comes from Tennessee. But the decision could affect many areas. Despite the big population shift from farm to city, many metropolitan districts have been allotted no additional state senators or representatives. The result has been a cry by city voters that their needs are ignored by legislatures dominated by rural interests.

In agreeing to examine the issue last term, the justices turned their backs on a doctrine enunciated in 1946 that such "political" matters are outside the court's jurisdiction.

The complaining Tennesseans contend that inequality in voting rights is a violation of the constitution's guarantee of "equal protection of the laws."

Another case from Michigan has been pending since last winter.

Scheduled to be heard the week of Oct. 16 are three appeals from sit - in demonstrators in Baton Rouge, La. they were filed by 16 students at Southern University. The students were convicted of disturbing the peace at the Greyhound bus station, the Kress Department store, and Sitman's Drug Store.

Louisiana law forbids all acts committed in a manner that will "unreasonably disturb or alarm the public." The students are represented by lawyers associated with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The appeals contend, among other things, that a state may not use its police power to enforce racial segregation in a place of business open to the general public.

Other sit-in type cases awaiting action stem from incidents in Glen Echo Amusement Park in Montgomery County, Md.; and in Gwwynn Oak Amusement Park, Baltimore; and from lunch counter demonstrations in Howard Johnson's Restaurant, Arlington County, Va.; Thalhimer's Department Store, Richmond, Va.; Jones Drug Store, Monroe, N.C.; McCrory-McLellan Store, Raleigh, N. C.; and Kress in Durham, N.C.

The cases bring state trespass laws into the picture.

In another appeal a Memphis Negro is fighting segregation of rest rooms and eating facilities at the municipal airport. He sued under the federal civil rights law.

School desegregation is before the court in the form of four appeals by Attorney General Jack P. F. Gremillion of Louisiana. Lower federal courts have ordered an end to segregation in the public schools of St. Helena and Baton Rouge and admission of Negroes to trade schools in a number of Louisiana cities. Another decision barred enforcement of two state laws entitled "bribery of parents of school children" and "intimidation and interference in the operation of schools."

Gremillion is appealing all these decisions.

A different type of school was brought by the High Folk School, a racially integ adult facility near Mont Tenn. The state revoked the ter of the school, which cont it was penalized for challe Tennessee's segregationist tions. The Tennessee Su Court upheld the action on racial grounds.

Also before the court ar peals of two Negro minister victed of disorderly condu Birmingham for challengin regation on city buses.

On other race issues, a year-old ouster suit by Ala against the NAACP is back court again. In a petition during the summer, the a tion said it wants to get o the proceedings but state are not moving. Meantime ganization is barred from ties in the state.

The court agreed last te hear two other NAACP suits will be argued later. On appealed by the Rev. Th R. Gibson, convicted of co for refusing to bring NAAC ords to a Florida investi committee.

The other case tests a V law which the NAACP may destroy it in that stat statute has been interpret the state's highest court to the NAACP is "engaged unlawful solicitation of lega ness" for its attorneys in th segregation fight.

In the Communist party tration case, the court ruled last June that the party mu ister with the attorney gene a Soviet conspirator.

Magazine Says Soviet Missiles Issued Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Missiles and Rockets magazine said Saturday the Soviet Union has issued medium-range and tactical missiles to East German troops.

Dr. Albert Parry, a student of Soviet affairs who writes a column on that subject for the magazine, said the weapons are in addition to "a sizable number" of long-range missiles in the hands of Soviet occupation units in East Germany.

Parry, a professor at Colgate University, Hamilton, N.Y., recently visited West Berlin. His information came from a high source in the U.S.S.R. comman there, Parry said.

He said he asked his informant whether the Soviet Union could really trust its East German officers and soldiers with "those precious rockets."

The source replied that before World War II there was a strong Communsit party in Germany, and many of its adherents survived and are in East Germany.

"Their sons are now the smug and dangerous elite ordering the populace around," Parry said his informant told him.

"These young men, and some the top positions of the East Ger- who are not so young, are in the top positions of the East German governmental and party apparatus.

"They are also commanders of the East German troops, including the new rocket units.

"They love their power and privileges and mean to keep them. (Soviet Premier) Khrushchev can depend on these men, on their use of the weapons he has given them."

Soviet Nuclear Tests Fail To Show Any Major Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. scientists have completed preliminary analysis of about half the 15 Soviet nuclear explosions and have found no indication of a major scientific breakthrough.

Informed government quarters say studies suggest the Soviet weaponeers may be trying out such things as an improved trigger for multimegaton bombs, atomic warheads for anti-aircraft weapons and for antimissile missiles and tactical size ordnance for the battlefield.

However, experiments with triggers for thermonuclear explosives could have a connection with Premier Khrushchev's boast of a 100-megaton warhead.

Moreover, not all of the detected explosions have been analyzed —and there is the possibility that other undetected underground experiments have been going on.

The system for detecting nuclear explosions obviously has improved since the United States and the Soviet Union proclaimed a moratorium on bomb tests in late 1958. The details are closely guarded secrets.

Some of the improvements result from new equipment, others from refinement of long-known devices.

The occurrence of a nuclear blast may, in many cases, become known almost instantly, but estimating the precise force and composition of the explosion often requires time.

Explosions within the atmosphere and well above the surface apparently can be detected quickly, even though no shock wave may be transmitted through the earth, to be recorded as earthquakes are.

There are several possible methods. One is electromagnetic detection—the registering of radio frequency waves generated at the point of nuclear explosion that radiate to considerable distance.

There also have been suggestions that supersensitive barographs (the instrument used to register atmospheric pressure) may be utilized to detect sudden variations in pressure. These microbarographs, located near Communist territory, may sense the faint but detectable variations in air pressure as the blast's sound wave radiates outward. Dr. Ralph Lapp, a nuclear physicist, suggests this could be done "from Japan, for example, or wherever there is a friendly country peripheral to Soviet territory."

There also is the long-used technique of air sampling in which high flying planes and ground stations gather the radioactive ash released into the atmosphere from explosions on or above the surface. These debris particles tell scientists much about an explosion through radio-chemical analysis.

The United States also has under way, but still far from reality, a project aimed at ultimate use of spacecraft to augment the detection system through electronic and optical techniques. This method could be applied for detection of test shots at high altitude and out in space itself.

In theory, detection by satellite monitors would be possible. These might range from 3,000 miles for radar and electromagnetic detectors up to 300,000 miles for optical ones.

The major problem is detection of underground shots. Though the blasts set off under those conditions presumably would be relatively small, the underground method has numerous advantages. It probably provides opportunity to try out triggers for thermonuclear weapons, tactical-size atomic warheads and other similar equipment—and to do so without releasing debris into the atmosphere and with good chance of concealment of the test.

This country and its allies have made a start on a worldwide network of seismic stations intended to detect and identify underground tests. But there are several distinct handicaps.

One is that some shots might register merely as mild earth tremors, impossible to distinguish with certainty.

It also has been learned that it is entirely feasible to muffle and reduce the shock waves from an underground blast.

For at least several years it may not be possible to detect muffled shots of 100 kilotons or more detonated underground. Even unmuffled detonations of 20 kilotons or less may be undetected. A kiloton is the equivalent of energy released by 1,000 tons of TNT.

A nuclear charge, tamped into a hole in the ground, with rock making direct connection to the walls of the hole, will transmit a considerable amount of the energy released by the explosion into the earth's surface.

Magazine Says Soviet Missiles Issued Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Missiles and Rockets magazine said Saturday the Soviet Union has issued medium-range and tactical missiles to East German trooos.

Dr. Albert Parry, a student of Soviet affairs who wrties a column on that subject for the magazine, said the weapons are in addition to "a sizable number" of long-range missiles in the hands of Soviet occupation units in East Germany.

Parry, a professor at Colgate University, Hamilton, N.Y., recently visited West Berlin. His information came from a high source in the U.USU. comman there, Parry said.

He said he asked his informant whether the Soviet Union could really trust its East German officers and soldiers with "those precious rockets."

The source replied that before World War II there was a strong Communsit party in Germany, and many of its adherents survived and are in East Germany.

"Their sons are now the smug and dangerous elite ordering the populace around," Parry said his informant told him.

"These young men, and some the top positions of the East Ger- who are not so young, are in the top positions of the East German governmental and party apparatus.

"They are also commanders of the East German troops, ncluding the new rocket units.

"They love their power and privileges and mean to keep them. (Soviet Premier) Khrushchev can depend on these men, on their use of the weapons he has given them."

Soviet Nuclear Tests Fail To Show Any Major Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. scientists have completed preliminary analysis of about half the 15 Soviet nuclear explosions and have found no indication of a major scientific breakthrough.

Informed government quarters say studies suggest the Soviet weaponeers may be trying out such things as an improved trigger for multimegaton bombs, atomic warheads for anti-aircraft weapons and for antimissile missiles and tactical size ordnance for the battlefield.

However, experiments with triggers for thermonuclear explosives could have a connection with Premier Khrushchev's boast of a 100-megaton warhead.

Moreover, not all of the detected explosions have been analyzed —and there is the possibility that other undetected underground experiments have been going on.

The system for detecting nuclear explosions obviously has improved since the United States and the Soviet Union proclaimed a moratorium on bomb tests in late 1958. The details are closely guarded secrets.

Some of the improvements result from new equipment, others from refinement of long-known devices.

The occurrence of a nuclear blast may, in many cases, become known almost instantly, but estimating the precise force and composition of the explosion often requires time.

Explosions within the atmosphere and well above the surface apparently can be detected quickly, even though no shock wave may be transmitted through the earth, to be recorded as earthquakes are.

There are several possible methods. One is electromagnetic detection--the registering of radio frequency waves generated at the point of nuclear explosion that radiate to considerable distance.

There also have been suggestions that supersensitive barographs (the instrument used to register atmospheric pressure) may be utilized to detect sudden variations in pressure. These microbarographs, located near Communist territory, may sense the faint but detectable variations in air pressure as the blast's sound wave radiates outward. Dr. Ralph Lapp, a nuclear physicist, suggests this could be done "from Japan, for example, or wherever there is a friendly country peripheral to Soviet territory."

There also is the long-used technique of air sampling in which high flying planes and ground stations gather the radioactive ash released into the atmosphere from explosions on or above the surface. These debris particles tell scientists much about an explosion through radio-chemical analysis.

The United States also has under way, but still far from reality, a project aimed at ultimate use of spacecraft to augment the detection system through electronic and optical techniques. This method could be applied for detection of test shots at high altitude and out in space itself.

In theory, detection by satellite monitors would be possible. These might range from 3,000 miles for radar and electromagnetic detectors up to 300,000 miles for optical ones.

The major problem is detection of underground shots. Though the blasts set off under those conditions presumably would be relatively small, the underground method has numerous advantages. It probably provides opportunity to try out triggers for thermonuclear weapons, tactical-size atomic warheads and other similar equipment—and to do so without releasing debris into the atmosphere and with good chance of concealment of the test.

This country and its allies have made a start on a worldwide network of seismic stations intended to detect and identify underground tests. But there are several distinct handicaps.

One is that some shots might register merely as mild earth tremors, impossible to distinguish with certainty.

It also has been learned that it is entirely feasible to muffle and reduce the shock waves from an underground blast.

For at least several years it may not be possible to detect muffled shots of 100 kilotons or more detonated underground. Even unmuffled detonations of 20 kilotons or less may be undetected. A kiloton is the equivalent of energy released by 1,000 tons of TNT.

A nuclear charge, tamped into a hole in the ground, with rock making direct connection to the walls of the hole, will transmit a considerable amount of the energy released by the explosion into the earth's surface.

Trans Air Lines Opens State Service

Trans Air Lines has announced service is now available from Monroe to nine other Louisiana points.

The line started operation in April to give regular service to points in the state which were not served by airlines.

Service is available to Baton Rouge, Harvey, Houma, Morgan City, Lafayette, Grand Isle, Venice, Buras and Opelousas.

Trans Air Lines was organized by John L. Frieberg, president of Trans Air Corp. which was organized in 1955.

In 1958 Trans Air Corp. began a charter and lease service using amphibious craft. In 1960 plans were made to begin regular scheduled service in Louisiana.

Super Widgeons are used for landings on water and in communities where there are no airports. Aero Commanders are used for land routes.

The Widgeons carry 4-5 passengers and the Commanders carry from 5-7.

Flights leave Monroe for Baton Rouge at 7:20 a.m. daily except Sunday. Transfers from Baton Rouge to other points are also made.

CHARLES CHADBOURN III

Fraternity Recognizes Tech Student

RUSTON, Sept. 29 (Special)—Charles Chadbourn, III, Ruston, a Louisiana Tech student, has received a citation from Sigma Nu, national social fraternity, for "achievement of the year" among members of its 130 chapters.

At a conference in Lexington, Va., headquarters of the fraternity, Chadbourn was recognized with these words:

"Chadbourn was an outstanding leader in the recent efforts of Eta Zeta to become a part of the Sigma Nu fraternity. Chadbourn helped organize the Sigma Nu Colony at Louisiana Tech and served the group as its first president. He is a junior, majoring in pre-medicine, and has maintained a 3.6 average in a 4.0 system. He has been named to the scholarship honor roll each semester he has been at Tech."

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Chadbourn, Jr. His father is an associate professor of English at Tech.

Middleton reported there were 15,177 students enrolled this fall at LSU's various branches.

LSU To Accept Federal Loan

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors voted Saturday to accept a $2,735,000 federal loan for construction of dormitories and renovations or additions to other buildings.

LSU President Troy Middleton already had authority to sign final papers for the loan, but government officials indicated they wanted direct approval by the full board.

This Bridge Expert Uses Marked Decks

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—When you get into a bridge game with John Larsen of Bloomington, Minn., you have to play with his own marked decks.

The reason: Larsen, one of the approximately 1,500 persons competing in the mid-American-Canadian regional bridge tournament here, is blind.

He brought his own cards to the tournament—32 decks. The cards are marked in Braille so that he can read them.

They play duplicate bridge in tournaments—a system in which each deck of cards is dealt only once and the hands stay the same until all those competing have played them.

Larsen also brought 32 duplicate boards. Tournament officials arrange his cards in hands corresponding to those in the regular decks used in the tournament.

When it is his turn to play a given board, his partner reads off only once the cards in the dummy and Larsen takes it from there. He asks only that his opponents call out the cards as they play them.

His Braille-educated fingers and his memory enable him to play as swiftly and as smoothly as sighted players.

Larsen, 30, blinded by an accident when he was 18, took up contract and duplicate bridge when he was a student at the University of Minnesota.

The tournament here is the first he has entered outside his home state, but he has managed to amass 185 master points—15 short of what he needs to win ratings as an advanced senior master. He hopes eventually to win the 300 points necessary to become a life master.

In some ways, Larsen says, his blindness helps him in bridge play.

"I'm not distracted," he explains. "I can concentrate more and concentration is the most important thing we have in bridge."

Larsen is married and the father of three children. His wife doesn't play bridge.

"She hears enough bridge as it is, so she gardens," he says.

Spending Hike On Missisippi Projects Urged

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP) — State Public Works Director Claude Kirkpatrick Saturday called for stepped-up federal spending on Mississippi River flood control and navigation projects.

He made the request during a meeting of the Mississippi River Commission here during the commission's annual low-water inspection trip of the big river and its tributaries.

Kirkpatrick urged:

Placement of 15,000 feet of revetment a year along the Mississippi from Baton Rouge southward to stabilize the river's channel.

Accelerated construction of levees in the Atchafalaya Floodway.

Spending of $3 million a year, beginning in 1963, for deepening the Atchafalaya River Channel.

Construction and replacement of wave - wash protection devices along an extensive reach of the Mississippi to protect levees from wave damage caused by heavy ship traffic.

Big Money Bills Signed By JFK

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Kennedy spent a busy morning at his desk Saturday, signing appropriation bills for more than $9 billion. Then he took off on his daily vacation voyage aboard the yacht Honey Fitz.

The money bills include one for more than $4 billion, which included the $3.9 foreign aid appropriation, and funds for the Peace Corps and the Import-Export Bank and the Inter American Development Loan fund.

He signed a $3.8 billion bill for civil functions of the Army, the Atomic Energy Commission, the Tennessee Valley Authority and some other government operations, and a $1 billion plus supplemental appropriations act.

The President approved also a bill allowing football, baseball and other national sports leagues to sign up for package television contracts.

It was the supplemental appropriations bill which the House rammed through and sent to the Senate on a base of [illegible] basis that roused tempers in the adjournment [illegible] Wednesday morning.

President Kennedy asked for $4 [illegible] aid, but critics of [illegible] ing many [illegible] military [illegible] on.

The Peace Corps [illegible] $30 million, [illegible] $30 million less than the President asked for the agency, which is headed by his brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver.

White House sources said the President has no present plans to send a personal message to Soviet Premier Khrushchev in quest of more exact details on the Soviet attitude toward East-West negotiations on Berlin and West Germany. A published report described the President as likely to write such a letter. The same sources said there is no plan right now for the President to see Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Washington next week.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger announced the President, returning to Washington on Monday, will greet Sudan President Ibrahim Abboud when he arrives there Wednesday for a state visit. President Abboud will be the guest at a state dinner Wednesday night. Mrs. Kennedy is expected to be in Washington for the dinner.

Salinger disclosed that the little boy who has been Caroline Kennedy's playmate, on shore and aboard the yacht this week, is Ivan Steers, 4, the son of Mrs. Kennedy's half-sister, Nina Auchincloss Steers, of Bethesda, Md.

It was at the Steers home last summer that Caroline was rescued from a swimming pool when she went in over her head.

President Kennedy is to speak at a Tuesday luncheon in Washington in connection with the publication of the first four volumes of the John Adams Papers. He will lunch with a group of New Jersey publishers on Friday.

The White House announced temporary promotion of two Army officers. Both were previously nominated for the promotions, but the Senate failed to act on confirmation.

The promotees are those of Gen. Paul Dewart Adams, given an additional star to become a four star general, and Maj. Gen. Samuel L. Myers, stepping up to lieutenant general.

Adams has been approved by the President as commander in Chief of the unified command, Strategic Army Corps and Tactical Air Command.

Myers has been approved as deputy commander of the 8th U.S. Army now in Korea.

Mrs. Kennedy, who has been enjoying golfing, water skiing and other vacation pursuits, was out on the course at the Newport Country Club for a round with William Walton, a Washington artist friend of the Kennedys, before joining the President for an afternoon cruise.

Delhi AA Set To Observe Anniversary

Several prominent out-of-town and out-of-state speakers will address the Second anniversary meeting of the Delhi Group of Alcoholics Annonymous Sunday, October 8.

The meeting will be held at the Delhi Country Club between 2 and 4 p.m.

The Delhi group was formed with only two people two years ago. Today it has a membership of between 30 and 40 members.

The public is invited to attend the observance, which will feature a well-known attorney from Gulfport, Miss., as a speaker.

Others to speak will be from Monroe, Columbia and Shreveport.

Davis Warns Of Price Tag On U.S. Aid

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP)—Gov. Jimmie Davis said Saturday a real danger "is in the increasing dependence of our citizens on government."

The governor told a luncheon meeting at the Louisiana Sugar Cane Festival and Fair here: "Every benefit has its price tag and government assistance is no different.

"One price tag for government benevolence is, of course, increased taxes, because the government can't get anything for nothing any more than you can.

"But, if increased taxes were the only price to pay for more and higher public benefits, this would be cheap.

"The price becomes prohibitive if government assistance results in a steady erosion or whittling down of human initiative and an increaing dependence on the government to undertake projects that should and could be done more easly by the people themselves."

Such a role, he said, is especially alien to the people of Louisiana.

"As long as we in Louisiana keep uppermost in our minds the fact that we enjoy a cultural heritage few are so privileged to have," said Davis, "we will continue to prosper."

The state, he said, "is perhaps the gateway to the space age, and the first rocket to the moon could possibly bear the legend 'made in Louisiana.'"

The governor apparently referred to the fact the federal government is opening the Michoud plant at New Orleans for construction of Saturn moon-shot rockets.

Realty Board's Women's Council Holds Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Women's Council of Monroe-West Monroe Real Estate Board was held on Thursday in Bastrop at the home of Mrs. Adele Brown on Arcadia Drive.

After a patio dinner, an auction of gifts donated by members was held to raise funds for the association. Also all proceeds from the dinner donated by the hostess were contributed to the fund.

Plans were discussed for the coming State Convention of Realtors to be held in Alexandria in mid October.

Those attending were Mrs. Peggy Williams, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Breard, Mr. and Mrs. Walker Glen, Mrs. Freda Mickel Anderson, Mrs. Frances Williamson, Mrs. Paula Landry and the hostess, Mrs. Adele Brown.

Science For You

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: Explosions on the kitchen stove.
NEEDED: Popcorn, a covered skillet or popper, and a stove.
DO THIS: Pop the corn.
WHAT HAPPENS? Most substances when heated give off their moisture slowly. The water in a grain of popcorn, however, is enclosed in an air-tight sheath which does not explode until a rather great steam pressure is built up inside it.

As the sheath bursts, most of the cells inside it explode, too, from the steam pressure inside them. The expanding cells form the delicious white mass.

The pressure that builds up inside the popcorn before it pops has been estimated at from 15 to 100 pounds per square inch.

Nuclear Test Ban Goals Are Raised

By GEORGE J. MARDER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- The United States has raised its nuclear test suspension goal.

President Kennedy's proposal to the United Nations this week for an immediate start on disarmament was aimed among other things at preventing the so-called family of nuclear powers from growing.

This was an indirect goal of the ill-fated nuclear test suspension talks in Geneva.

The President made it a direct target.

The Geneva talks, carried on sporadically over three years, were aimed at an agreement among the United States, Russia and Britain—the only three nations which can be called atomic powers now though Britain is far behind the top two.

If the Big Three agreed, then they would attack the problem of getting the rest of the world, including France, Red China and Israel, to join in the test ban.

CONCERN OVER PROCEDURE

There was considerable concern over how this could be done.

Would the United States be able to work out a pact with Communist China which it has denied diplomatic recognition? What if Red China balked? Wouldn't that be a major loophole for test ban violations over which the United States would have no control?

In resuming Russian tests Sept. 1, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev cited France's "go-it-alone" testing in the Sahara Desert. He charged France was testing for the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization which stands guard against Russian aggression.

The President's proposal would undercut that claim. For he made clear that his call was aimed at all nations to sign a test ban treaty now.

He also proposed that the nuclear powers immediately pledge not to transfer any fissionable materials for use in weapons to a third power and that atomic weapons be withheld from any nation which does not know have them.

That would immediately freeze the family of nuclear nations to four, including France, and start cutting them down to size.

WOULD STOP PRODUCTION

One of the first steps would be for the nuclear powers to stop production of fissionable materials for use in weapons, then to destroy existing weapons or convert them to peaceful uses. This all would be under supervision and control of an international disarmament agency in which no nation could veto inspections.

If all the nations agreed to this the United States would be willing to call off its plans for underground tests even though Russia may have learned considerably more about new weapons in its 15 atmospheric tests since Sept. 1.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, addressing the United Nations in the wake of Kennedy's historic peace proposals, downgraded the President's nuclear plan as unfeasible. Instead he again propounded Khrushchev's demand that the nuclear problem be lumped into general disarmament discussions.

Sponsor Says Boycott Doesn't Include Parts

BATON ROUGE (AP) — A member of the East Baton Rouge Parish School Board who sponsored a boycott of Bell & Howell products says he did not intend to prevent the firm from supplying parts to equipment on hand.

Charles Davis issued a statement Friday night after the question was raised about parts for the Bell & Howell movie and audio-visual equipment the school board has in use.

The school board voted 10-1 at Davis' request to boycott the firm's products because of a special program the firm sponsored over the American Broadcasting Company television network. The show raised a wave of protests.

The State Board of Education and the Bossier Parish School Board have taken similar action calling for boycotts of Bell & Howell.

OVER $9 BILLION

Big Money Bills Signed By JFK

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Kennedy spent a busy morning at his desk Saturday, signing appropriation bills for more than $9 billion. Then he took off on his daily vacation voyage aboard the yacht Honey Fitz.

The money bills include one for more than $4 billion, which included the $3.9 foreign aid appropriation, and funds for the Peace Corps and the Import-Export Bank and the Inter American Development Loan fund.

He signed a $3.8 billion bill for civil functions of the Army, the Atomic Energy Commission, the Tennessee Valley Authority and some other government operations, and a $1 billion plus supplemental appropriations act.

The President approved also a bill allowing football, baseball and other national sports leagues to sign up for package television contracts.

It was the supplemental appropriations bill which the House rammed through and shot to the Senate on a take it or leave it basis that roused tempers in the adjournment drive Wednesday morning.

President Kennedy originally asked for $4.8 billion for foreign aid, but critics of overseas spending managed to cut economic and military aid programs to $3.9 billion.

The Peace Corps appropriation, at $30 million, is $10 million less than the President asked for that agency, which is headed by his brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver.

White House sources said the President has no present plan to send a peronal meage to Soviet Premier Khruhchev, in quest of more exact details on the Soviet attitude towards East-West negotiations on Berlin and West Germany. A published report described the President as likely to write such a letter. The same sources said there is no plan, right now, for the President to see Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Washington next week.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger announced the President, returning to Washington on Monday, will greet Sudan President Ibrahim Abboud when he arrives there Wednesday for a state visit. President Abboud will be the guest at a state dinner Wednesday night. Mrs. Kennedy is expected to be in Washington for the dinner.

Salinger disclosed that the little boy who has been Caroline Kennedy's playmate, on shore and aboard the yacht this week, is Ivan Steers, 4, the son of Mrs. Kennedy's half-sister, Nina Auchinclos Steers, of Bethesda, Md.

It was at the Steers home last summer that Caroline was rescued from a swimming pool when she went in over her head.

President Kennedy is to speak at a Tuesday luncheon in Washington in connection with the publication of the first four volumes of the John Adams Papers. He will lunch with a group of New Jersey publishers on Friday.

The White House announced temporary promotion of two Army officers. Both were previously nominated for the promotions, but the Senate failed to act on confirmation.

The promotions are those of Gen. Paul Dewitt Adams, given an additional star to become a four star general, and Maj. Gen. Samuel L. Myers, stepping up to lieutenant general.

Adams has been approved by the President as commander in chief of the unified command, Strategic Army Corps and Tactical Air Command.

Myers has been approved as deputy commander of the 8th U.S. Army, now in Korea.

Mrs. Kennedy, who has been busy golfing, water skiing and other vacation pursuits, was out on the course at the Newport Country Club for a round with William Walton, a Washington artist friend of the Kennedys, before joining the President for an afternoon cruise.

Delhi AA Set To Observe Anniversary

Several prominent out-of-town and out-of-state speakers will address the Second anniversary meeting of the Delhi Group of Alcoholics Annonymous Sunday, October 8.

The meeting will be held at the Delhi Country Club between 2 and 4 p.m.

The Delhi group was formed with only two people two years ago. Today it has a membership of between 30 and 40 members.

The public is invited to attend the observance, which will feature a well-known attorney from Gulfport, Miss., as a speaker.

Others to speak will be from Monroe, Columbia and Shreveport.

Davis Warns Of Price Tag On U.S. Aid

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP)—Gov. Jimmie Davis said Saturday a real danger "is in the increasing dependence of our citizens on government."

The governor told a luncheon meeting at the Louisiana Sugar Cane Festival and Fair here: "Every benefit has its price tag and government assistance is no different.

"One price tag for government benevolence is, of course, increased taxes, because the government can't get anything for nothing any more than you can.

"But, if increased taxes were the only price to pay for more and higher public benefits, this would be cheap.

"The price becomes prohibitive if government assistance results in a steady erosion or whittling down of human initiative and an increaing dependence on the government to undertake projects that should and could be done more easly by the people themselves."

Such a role, he said, is especially alien to the people of Louisiana.

"As long as we in Louisiana keep uppermost in our minds the fact that we enjoy a cultural heritage few are so privileged to have," said Davis, "we will continue to prosper."

The state, he said, "is perhaps the gateway to the space age, and the first rocket to the moon could possibly bear the legend 'made in Louisiana.'"

The governor apparently referred to the fact the federal government is opening the Michoud plant at New Orleans for construction of Saturn moon-shot rockets.

Realty Board's Women's Council Holds Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Women's Council of Monroe -West Monroe Real Estate Board was held on Thursday in Bastrop at the home of Mrs. Adele Brown on Arcadia Drive.

After a patio dinner, an auction of gifts donated by members was held to raise funds for the association. Also all proceeds from the dinner donated by the hostess were contributed to the fund.

Plans were discussed for the coming State Convention of Realtors to be held in Alexandria in mid October.

Those attending were Mrs. Peggy Williams, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Breard, Mr. and Mrs. Walker Glen, Mrs. Freda Mickel Anderson, Mrs. Frances Williamson, Mrs. Paula Landry and the hostess, Mrs. Adele Brown.

Science For You

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: Explosions on the kitchen stove.
NEEDED: Popcorn, a covered skillet or popper, and a stove.
DO THIS: Pop the corn.
WHAT HAPPENS? Most substances when heated give off their moisture slowly. The water in a grain of popcorn, however, is enclosed in an air-tight sheath which does not explode until a rather great steam pressure is built up inside it.

As the sheath bursts, most of the cells inside it explode. too, from the steam pressure inside them. The expanding cells form the delicious white mass.

The pressure that builds up inside the popcorn before it pops has been estimated at from 15 to 100 pounds per square inch.

Nuclear Test Ban Goals Are Raised

By GEORGE J. MARDER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has raised its nuclear test suspension goal.

President Kennedy's proposal to the United Nations this week for an immediate start on disarmament was aimed among other things at preventing the so-called family of nuclear powers from growing.

This was an indirect goal of the ill-fated nuclear test suspension talks in Geneva.

The President made it a direct target.

The Geneva talks, carried on sporadically over three years, were aimed at an agreement among the United States, Russia and Britain—the only three nations which can be called atomic powers now though Britain is far behind the top two.

If the Big Three agreed, then they would attack the problem of getting the rest of the world, including France, Red China and Israel, to join in the test ban.

CONCERN OVER PROCEDURE

There was considerable concern over how this could be done.

Would the United States be able to work out a pact with Communist China which it has denied diplomatic recognition? What if Red China balked? Wouldn't that be a major loophole for test ban violations over which the United States would have no control?

In resuming Russian tests Sept. 1, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev cited France's "go-it-alone" testing in the Sahara Desert. He charged France was testing for the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization which stands guard against Russian aggression.

The President's proposal would undercut that claim. For he made clear that his call was aimed at all nations to sign a test ban treaty now.

DUE TO CASTRO PLOT

Argentina May End Cuban Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Publication of documents linking Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime with a plot to overthrow the government of Argentina was seen likely Saturday to swing an 11th hemisphere nation into a break in relations with Havana.

That would be a majority of the 21-nation Organization of American States, which already has accused the Communist-aligned Castro government of bringing a foreign ideology into the Americas.

Latin-American diplomats here said it appeared certain Argentina would break relations and if it does not, that one of the six other hemisphere nations still maintaining normal diplomatic missions in Cuba would do so.

The documents were stolen from the Cuban Embassy in Buenos Aires by a Cuban diplomat who said he could not stand any longer what he termed increasing communization of his homeland. Officials here say the documents are authentic. They were leaked to some newspapers last Monday, and shown to a news conference in Miami by Cuban exile leaders Friday.

Publication of the documents was regarded by Latin Americans here as a severe blow to the Castro regime. They said it established, despite all protests to the contrary by Castro, that Cuba is indeed plotting against other hemisphere nations.

President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina, already under criticism from Argentine military leaders for not taking a firmer stand against the Castro government, declined to comment on the documents in New York, after a four-day visit there this week. It was indicated he wishes to check further into authenticity of the papers.

Frondizi, Latin-American experts here said, unquestionably is opposed to regimes such as that of Castro's but had hoped to avoid an open break in an effort to unify the people of Argentina. The Juan Peron dictatorship had left bitter feelings there among factions of the right, middle and left.

Of the 21 American republics, eight have broken relations with Havana outright—the Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Peru, the United States, Salvador, Honduras and Costa Rica. Two others, Paraguay and Haiti, have pulled all embassy personnel out of Cuba. Three others, Colombia, Uruguay and Veiela, have withdrawn their ambassadors — normally a strong sign of disapproval.

Seven have normal relations: Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Ecuador, Mexico and Panama.

A GOLDEN WEDDING anniversary was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Parsons at their home, 2110 Gordon Ave., last Sunday. Approximately two hundred guests attended between the receiving hours to extend congratulations.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Inda will send six Canberra planes to the U.N. Command in the Congo, informed sources said.

Escapee Says Life Dreary In Red China

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — An escapee from Red China said Saturday the people's communes are so poorly run that life for average people behind the Bamboo Curtain "is indescribably miserable."

He said farm products decrease year after year, land is devastated, malnutrition is rampant and children fight for scraps of food.

This grim picture came from Shao Hsi-yen, 29, a pilot who fled the mainland for freedom in a civilian plane Sept. 15.

He told a news conference that food doled out by the Peiping government is so inadequate that the forces and bodies of many Chinese, particularly infants and the aged, are swollen from malnutrition.

VARIED ACTIVITIES

'Y' Fall Program Will Start Monday

The local Young Men's Christian Association is scheduled to begin its special fall program Monday, Oct. 2.

A wide variety of activities are slated to give both adults and children instruction and training in various fields.

Swimming lessons in the new heated pool will be taught throughout the fall and winter. However, swimming is only one of the many activities offered by the YMCA for the coming season.

Gymnastics, badminton, volleyball, basketball, tennis, weight lifting, trampoline, scuba diving and judo are also listed on the fall program.

Informal classes for adults will be held in the following subjects: chess, public speaking, ceramics, spanish, photography, bridge, visual-aids, art, square dancing, speed reading, sketching and painting, golf, handwriting analysis, commercial art, vocabulary building, and voice and diction. Information concerning the starting dates and costs of the courses can be obtained from the YMCA, 1809 Glenmar.

A. W. Calhoun will be the instructor for judo clssses. He is a holder of the brown belt in judo.

Scuba diving in the pool will be under the direction of Rex Dillingham who will also teach proper operation of various types of diving equipment.

The purpose of the comprehensive physical program of the "Y" is to allow people in the Twin Cities to take an active part in the fitness activities called for by President Kennedy, according to W. A. Robinson, general secretary of the local YMCA.

"We offer organized activities with proper instruction to those who are unable to take part in school or other supervised play," he said.

Most of the activities will carry no charges for the participants except that of membership. However, some of the classes will require instructor fees.

Army Admits 'Goofing' On Private's Pay

DETROIT (AP)—Pvt. Jon Floeter, 25, serving in the Army in Korea, is back on Uncle Sam's payroll. And his wife, 24, who lives in East Detroit, can keep a $91.30 allotment and will get $182.60 shortly due as back allotments.

Col. Clovis B. Norris, chief of the Army Finance Center's Collection Division in Indianapolis, put it this way: "We goofed."

Norris explained, "We have 30,000 cases here and these things happen."

Norris, answering a query from the Detroit News, said that after Floeter joined the Army some question came up about whether his enlistment was valid. Pending an investigation, his pay and $91.30 monthly allotment checks were held up. Floeter was at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. at the time.

Then the Army put him back on full pay and sent him to Korea. The only trouble, said Norris, was that nobody in the Army notified the finance center, which does the paying.

So the center wrote Mrs. Floeter and demanded return of $91.30 it said she had been overpaid, claiming her husband was discharged last June.

"What's more, Floeter wasn't getting paid in Korea, either," said Norris.

SPLITS ARAB NATIONS

Revolt By Syria Is Far-Reaching

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Whatever the final result of the Syrian revolt, it already has caused splits in the Arab world that will be a long time healing.

The revolt may also ease the isolation into which Iraq was forced after the unsuccessful attempt by Premier Abdel Karim Kassem to annex Kuwait last summer.

As Arab nations choose up sides for and against the Syrians, Kassem may find new allies.

The likeliest ally is Jordan, which announced in the name of King Hussein its best wishes for the success of the revolution.

This move is almost certain to focus the wrath of Cairo's radio again on the young king, who may then look with more favor on Iraq' anti-Nasser regime.

Another delicate problem is that of newly independent Mauretania, which is claimed by Morocco. Morocco was quick to voice support of Nasser and in payment would evidently like Egypt to keep backing Morocco's Mauretanian claims.

Such nations as Lebanon and Saudi Arabia have been notably reluctant thus far to express themselves about the Syrian crisis. While such restraint is possibly diplomatically wise, it can hardly endear them to either side.

The Syrian revolt has heightened strains in the Arab League and this may be reflected in such places as the Asian-African bloc in the United Nations.

Until now, Nasser has been generally recognized, however, reluctantly by some, as the general spokesman for the Arab world.

Nasser retains a federation treaty with Yemen, a backward Red Sea kingdom ruled by the autocratic Imam Ahmed. But this has become largely a paper alliance.

The imam was at the heighth of his popularity when he decided to make overtures to Nasser in 1958 after Syria and Egypt merged. He sought ways to quiet younger Yemenites dissatisfied with their country's primitive conditions.

At the same time, the imam wanted to keep absolute powers and was unwilling to enter into a merger with Egypt. He sent his son, Crown Prince Mohammed al Badr, to Cairo to work out a formula.

A loose federation was arranged. Aside from formal aspects, however, the treaty never was made a working proposition.

At one time, a closer union appeared likely. The imam left for medical treatment in Europe and the crown prince set about instituting reforms in his father's absence. Several hundred Egyptian technicians were asked for and sent to Yemen.

These reforms were well under way when the ailing imam got wind of them in Europe. He hastened home, ousted the technicians, reprimanded his son and took back control in his own hands.

East Germany Cargo Unloaded In New Orleans

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) —William Irwin Jr., judge advocate of the first district Veterans of Foreign Wars, New Orleans, charged Saturday that a cargo of bicycle parts made in East Germany was recently unloaded in New Orleans because New York longshoremen would have refused.

Irwin said in a letter to the Shreveport Journal that 213 cases of bicycle parts were unloaded Sept. 21, and each was stamped "Made in Germany-Soviet Occupied."

He said he learned the shipment went to New Orleans because longshoremen in New York would not have unloaded goods. He said the parts were probably shipped by rail to their destination in New York.

Oleg Cassini Visits With First Lady

By MERRIMAN SMITH

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House:

The presence of dress designer Oleg Cassini at the late summer White House here last Wednesday while President Kennedy was selecting a new director for the Central Intelligence Agency may have been hard for some people to understand.

Actually the whereabouts of one of Mrs. Kennedy's favorite fashion creators represented a certain amount of compassion and sympathetic understanding on the part of the First Lady.

Apparently what happened was this: Cassini's mother died last Monday. The Kennedy's were in New York when the First Lady heard about it and invited Cassini to come to Newport for a few days.

On Tuesday afternoon when the President and Mrs. Kennedy left New York for Newport, Cassini was aboard their aircraft, along with an attractive lady friend, whose name escaped the attention of the White House staff.

The Honey Fitz is no stranger to Newport waters. She was here three summers as the Barbara Anne, a 92-foot naval vessel at the disposal of the President. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower used the yacht (the White House, regardless of administration, claims it is a boat, not a yacht) to change clothes between the golf course and his quarters at the Coasters Harbor Island naval station. This led the New York Times to dub the Barbara Anne a "floating locker room."

In luxury service again as the Honey Fitz, no such appelation has been applied—yet. Men and women of the New Frontier apparently prefer to regard the Honey Fitz as sort of a spruced up work-boat.

Some Schools Have 35 Pupils In Classroom

WASHINGTON (AP) — One elementary school classroom out of five in this country has 35 or more pupils.

More than 60 per cent of all public elementary school children are in classes of 30 or more.

And this, virtually all classroom teachers agree, is too many pupils for effective teaching.

These figures and opinions were gathered by the research division of the National Education Association and reported Saturday in the NEA Journal.

A sampling of classroom teachers across the nation showed 53.7 per cent believe 10-24 pupils is the best class size, 31.2 per cent believe it should be 25-29, 12.5 per cent believe it should be fewer than 20, and only 2.6 per cent believe it should be 30 or more.

The teachers were asked to report the number of pupils actually enrolled in their classes.

Six per cent said they had 40 or more, 15 per cent said 35-39, 31 per cent said 30-34, 28.4 per cent said 25-29.

Eisenhower used the yacht (the White House, regardless of administration, claims it is a boat, not a yacht) to change clothes between the golf course and his quarters at the Coasters Harbor Island naval station. This led the New York Times to dub the Barbara Anne a "floating locker room."

In luxury service again as the Honey Fitz, no such appelation has been applied—yet. Men and women of the New Frontier apparently prefer to regard the Honey Fitz as sort of a spruced up work-boat.

Some Schools Have 35 Pupils In Classroom

WASHINGTON (AP) — One elementary school classroom out of five in this country has 35 or more pupils.

More than 60 per cent of all public elementary school children are in classes of 30 or more.

And this, virtually all classroom teachers agree, is too many pupils for effective teaching.

These figures and opinions were gathered by the research division of the National Education Association and reported Saturday in the NEA Journal.

A sampling of classroom teachers across the nation showed 53.7 per cent believe 10-24 pupils is the best class size, 31.2 per cent believe it should be 25-29, 12.5 per cent believe it should be fewer than 20, and only 2.6 per cent believe it should be 30 or more.

The teachers were asked to report the number of pupils actually enrolled in their classes.

Six per cent said they had 40 or more, 15 per cent said 35-39, 31 per cent said 30-34, 28.4 per cent said 25-29.

Framework of boat in backyard at Alfred Decker's home. (Photos By Ezra Adams)

LONG RANGE PROJECT

Home Shipyard

BY EZRA ADAMS

"No, I've never worked in a shipyard, but I think it'll float all right. Alfred Decker, dairyman-farmer - turned -shipbuilder commented.

And what we saw there in his back yard-turned-shipyard was a surprise to visitors. It was a full-fledged ocean-going type ship, needing only the finishing touches and launching to be ready for service.

ONCE MACHINIST

Two years ago Decker, once a machinist in Kansas, was living happily on a farm nine miles south of DeRidder and milking about 14 cows in his dairy. Then his brother-in-law, John Palmer, who also lives near DeRidder and was employed as operator of a boat plying the Gulf of Mexico, got him to see what he could do about building an ocean - going vessel in his own backyard.

Palmer was to finance the project, which ended with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Palmer, also financially interested in the ship.

They would use the boat, with Palmer as operator, to haul crews and supplies for offshore oil operations.

So Decker began work on the all-metal, 77-foot boat in January, 1960. He sandblasted sheet metal and welded the steel frame together with use of home and farm equipment, not buying special equipment for the job.

PLANS CHANGE

As the boat neared completion the two men changed their plans for it. They would insulate the ship's hold and transport refrigerated seafoods from the Yucatan to Morgan City.

Six inches of cork insulation was placed around the hold.

Construction took 14 months of actual work on the project and mostly used sheet metal was put on the outside above the water line with $1,300 worth of new sheet metal going below the water line and in the area to be refrigerated.

BOAT READY

Finally, in July this year, Decker declared his boat was ready for launching, having also b the superstructure, or pilot's c in, in his back yard and had waiting until after launching installation.

The boat's hull, all metal, weighing about 40 tons, was on a low-boy trailer and hau down Highway 171 to Moss B near Lake Charles and launc into the Calcasieu River.

There the superstructure, hauled down on a low-boy tr er, was set on the hull. The was then tugged down river docks on Contraband Bayou Lake Charles where Decker his helpers continued work outfitting it with two 671 dl engines, a power plant and o equipment.

When we visited him ther week after the launching, Dec said he hoped to have the ready for tryouts soon.

The completed ship is 77 long, 20 feet wide, 13 feet d and is estimated to weigh a 70 tons.

Decker explained that he be the ship's maintenance and Palmer will be its opera

'LAKE OF BLACK WATER'

Waste Land In Useful Role

By JIMMIE KENTON
Correspondent

When last only a thin trickle of water gurgled through the brake culvert. The five anxious men on the dam were thinking: "You will have to beat that, or it will be a long time before we get enough water to do any good."

The scene was the mouth of an old cypress brake on Beouf River in the lower end of the 7th Ward of Richland Parish. The men were J. U. Douciere, Urban Douciere, Leo Cheek, Bubby Jones and J. C. Kenton. This was their "baby" . . . the creation of a new lake from the waste land surrounding DeMora Island.

When Kenton bought the island he had a vision. Why couldn't the brake be converted into a lake which would give both pleasure and profit to the community? Upon contacting the other men who owned property lying within the boscage, he found their interest high. Hours of talking, planning and computing water levels followed.

WAITING BEGINS

Two years later the dozer moved in. It whimpered and whined daily, creating a dam. Culverts were installed. Then began the waiting period for the water to rise.

Looking northeast from the top of the dam, one could see a wide expanse of tall, moss-clad cypress trees, interspersed with underbrush. Fallen trees reclined in the shade and stumps dotted the ground.

Walking along the channel one occasionally found small clearings, some a few feet in diameter, others about one-half acre in size, indicating that at some time in the past alligators dug holes to retain water for the dry seasons.

There were signs of squirrel, o'possum and mink. A deer track could be spied in the soft mud, and if one were lucky, he might catch a glimpse of a doe and a fawn . . . or a fat raccoon fishing in the stagnant pool where a mother skunk and her babies had been seen to drink.

Wandering along, you would come upon crumbling brick pillars on the south side of the brake. Legend has it that this is the remains of an old dwelling. Gnarled sycamore and china-berry trees guard the spot, but no one can recall anything about the occupants and the brake keeps the secret.

As you near the Mangham-Columbia highway, the woods seems to decide that it is getting too far from the river and turns west. It rambles along for about six and one half miles before touching the river again.

From the appearance of the land, it seems possible that this might have once been the river bed, before some ancient upheaval caused Beouf to change its course . . . but this, too, is a secret which the old brake keeps.

When the five men on the dam saw the trickle of water through the culvert and surveyed the wide expanse of their lake bed, they agreed that Beouf was going to really have to put out, before the bass would strike!

GAVE OF BOUNTY

Days passed and heavy rains brought Beouf to its crest. The muddy water began to gush through the culvert and mighty Beouf gave of its bounty to fill another man-made lake.

Beouf River, which begins in Arkansas and meanders around through north Louisiana, paying "social calls" to the farms and towns along its journey, seems to slow down as it makes its way through the old French Settlement near Hebert. It leisurely winds along past the homes of families named Douciere, (pronounced Do seer); Girod (called Jerro); Oliveaux (Olive o); Douchesne (do shan); Landerneau (Lan n o); Etier and Hebert.

The muddy water offers a sanctuary for the big catfish lying in hollow logs waiting for a tempting tidbit to swim past. Bass drouse in the shade of the cypress and specs frolic in the sunken treetops in the deep holes.

It serves as a motel for the mallards on their vacation from the north to the marshes and wild geese drop in and "set a spell" on its surface before returning home. Squirrel frisk along the bank, and occasionally a deer family slips quietly down to drink.

SHARING

Beouf River bathes the willows and reflects the moss-draped cypress as it supplies the farmrs along the way with irrigation water for their parched fields and provides swimming holes for the youngsters. Now it is sharing its bounty with the new lake.

The men responsible for the project hope that the approximately 150 acres of water will soon abound with the finny tribe and entice the migratory birds in winter.

Already it is the roosting place for hundreds of wood ducks. The men know that it will supply drinking water for their cattle in the pastures touching the lake and it could be used for irrigation purposes should the need arise.

The lake was full at last, Beouf receded and we set out one afternoon to explore the fishing spot.

A few feet from the dam we entered a miniature Okefenokee Swamp. The land of the "black water and trembling earth" was brought vividly to mind as we paddled, pushed and poled our way along.

After being assured by my husband that "all woods spiders are harmless"; "wasps that nest in trees wouldn't hurt if they sting"; "snakes won't bite in the month of August"; and "You're much too fat to sink should a hanging limb rake you out of the boat" . . . I closed my mind to the perils of the journey and basked in the beauty of the scenery.

The logs which had covered the ground, now float and are covered with vegetation several feet high. Weeds, blackberry vines and wild flowers floated out of our way when we pushed aside a log to make a path for the boat. The air was filled with the pungent fragrance of the button willow blossoms . . . a wee, furry flower shading from ivory through pastel pink and lavender. Every limb was in flower.

A cricket escaped the bait box and swam rapidly toward a clump of floating brush. As he neared safety, the water exploded, and we saw the green back of a tremendous bass before the water settled down.

WILD CREATURES

As the bull frogs gave out with their "Quinine! Quinine! Double the dose!", a squirrel chattered overhead and a wood duck, with her two babies, headed for cover at the sound of our boat.

The swish of traffic on the Mangham-Columbia highway, and the mutter and moan of the train on its way from Monroe to Columbia were the only indications that we were anywhere near civilization.

The water was still and black, about 12 feet deep in the channel and about 250 yards wide. We heard the bream popping near the bank and saw the swirl of the water as the specs chased the minnows.

RESISTED URGE

We resisted the urge to drop in a hook. The men who own the lake want to allow the fish to spawn and get a head start. The lake was privately stocked with game fish and by next season should be a real fisherman's paradise.

Seeking a name for the new lake, it seems fitting to select a letter from the name of each man responsible. Because of its location, it should have a good old French flavor. Taking the names, J. U. Douciere; Urban Douciere; J. C. Kenton; A. W. Jones and Leo Cheek; and we come up with Lac DeL'eau Noir . . . . meaning, in French, Lake of Black Water.

This writer wonders how many more acres of waste land there are in our area, which, with a little imagination, and some work, could be converted into lakes which could be used for both profit and pleasure for the community.

Profession Of Cruelty

EDITOR'S NOTE — One of the oldest and cruelest professions is medical quackery. Preying pitilessly on pain and ignorance, quacks have left behind a long trail of filked, injured and even dead. If you think they have disappeared since the last patent medicine man and his wagon were chased out of town, you'd best read on.

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was this fellow, a mail-order promoter, who had a device he said would make short people taller. It stretched them on a rack, or was supposed to.

When postal inspectors brought him in on charges of fraud, he could have served as an exhibit for the prosecution. He was exactly 5-feet-2.

Then there was this phony healer who had a big business going in a remedy for "sufferers of sinus trouble." He guaranteed that these people, if they used his concoction, would never need surgery.

RECUPERATING

When the law caught up with him, he was in a hospital, recuperating from a sinus operation.

Such cases as these—lie behind a 1961 agreement to organize the nation's first "National Congress on Medical Quackery."

This conference, a teaming-up of government and private enterprise, will be held here Friday and Saturday, Oct. 6-7. Cosponsors are the American Medical Association and the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

"A springboard for a vigorous, multifaceted attack on medical quackery," the AMA called the conference in advance.

Cancer quacks stand out as a principal target.

The AMA cites the case of a California operator of a few years ago by the name of H. F. Bell.

Bell sold electric blankets as a cure for cancer. "He did this by the charming practice of buying up used electric blankets for $5 to $10 from survivors of patients who had died, reconditioning them, and selling them at $185 each," the AMA said.

Bell, got off with a suspended sentence of three years because of his age, 77.

FALSE CLAIMS

Also due for close attention at the quackery conference are false claims for vitamins and minerals and "cures" for arthritis and rheumatism. Phony massage and vibrating devices, desperately bought by men and women racked by arthritic pain, will get a going-over.

It is estimated that quacks rob the American people of around a billion dollars a year.

The many-sided attack to be forged at the conference will include forces from the Federal Trade Commission, the Department of Justice, the American Cancer Society, the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation and the National Better Business Bureau, in addition to the AMA and the FDA.

Representatives from most of the states and large metropolitan medical societies will be on hand too.

The idea for the conference originated with the FDA and an arm of the AMA, called the Department of Investigation, which has been battling quackery since 1906.

The department started with a campaign against widely promoted patent medicines, and has branched out since.

EXPOSED

In 1936, for example, it exposed one "Doc" John R. Brinkley, who claimed to rejuvenate old men with goat glands.

"More recently," the AMA noted, "the department has aided federal authorities in closing several of the 'Hoxsey Clinics' for the 'treatment' of cancer."

Private and government agencies agree that the principal victims of modern medical pirates are old folks, frequently poor people who are prevailed on to spend life savings on nostrums or ridiculous, worthless gadgets.

However, Jack Kaplan wrote in an article in the AMA magazine Today's Health: "Authorities emphasize lately (that) many intelligent, middle-class people have been conned by preposterous device panaceas." For instance the "magic spike," a glass tube about the size of a pencil, filled with barium chloride worth less than a penny.

It was sold for $306 by a Chicago firm which claimed: "Hang this around your neck or attach it to other parts of your anatomy, and its rays will cure any disease you have."

SEIZED

In one month, FDA agents seized such other devices as:

A magic charm bracelet purported to cure arthritis and cancer.

An electric machine claimed to be beneficial in treating headaches, ulcers and high blood pressure.

A $40 sun lamp alleged to supply "sunshine vitamins."

An air purifier offered as a treatment for virus infections and allergies.

Illinois officials reported finding vibrator chairs which were sold for $239, and were offered for the treatment and cure of impure blood, arthritis, heart trouble, circulatory diseases and Cancer. They cost 70 to 80 to manufacture.

A concoction offered as a diabetes remedy was found to h been made by boiling broomst in water. It sold for $5 a bo

Earlier this year the brought seizure actions in states against what Commissi George P. Larrick called "a tionwide sea water swindle."

Larrick said the sea water ually sold for $1.69 a pint was represented to be effectiv the treatment or prevention cancer, diabetes, leukemia, tiple sclerosis, myasthenia gr sterility, Parkinson's disease, thritis, goiter, deficiency ailm and dental decay.

Actually, FDA said, there no health benefits to be ga by adding sea water to the Larrick, noting that quac has been described as the wo second oldest profession, plained its persistence: "We ever with us the powerful in tives in human nature which count for the continued exist of quackery.

INCENTIVES

"The desire for health; the of pain, disease, and death; desire to make easy money, the desire to save money, ev the risk of health, are som these incentives.

"There are two sides to problem. Just as it takes tw make a quarrel it takes tw make a swindle—the swindle the victim.

"Dishonesty, greed, and times ignorance are characte of the criminal in this field. M ing them, we have fear, gull and ignorance on the part of who are taken in.

"You will note that the co denominator is ignorance."

The most widespread qua is in the field of nutrition, opinion of Wallace F. Janne rector of the FDA's divis public information.

Knighted Americans 'Mister' Not 'Sir'

LONDON (AP) — More than 90 living Americans — including Dwight D. Eisenhower, J. Edgar Hoover and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. —have been knighted by British monarchs.

But hold on—they do not and cannot call themselves "Sir."

In Britain, of course, any man who has been knighted automatically receives the title of "Sir."

The wives of the knighted Americans who are, of course ladies, cannot and do not call themselves "Lady" with a capital L.

HONORARY TITLES

The American knights have honorary titles only.

Nearly all of them were made knights during or just after the two world wars.

"It's all part of the vast interchange of decorations and honors that takes place because of the wars," explained British Gen. Cyril Colquhoun, secretary of the Central Chancellory of the Orders of Knighthood.

This is the organization that keeps official books on who's who in chivalry. There are a lot of books to be kept because knighthood and other honors go back for centuries.

Ex-President Eisenhower is a knight grand cross of the Bath.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz is one and so is Gen. James H. Doolittle.

Hoover is a knight commander of the British Empire.

So is Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

In precedence, they are outranked by the knights grand cross of the Bath.

The Order of the Bath is believed to have been established by King Henry IV at his coronation in 1399.

In 1725, it was remodeled and became a military order.

The late Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, Eisenhower's chief of staff in World War II, was twice knighted.

SEVERAL

He was a knight grand cross of the Bath and a knight commander of the Bath.

When he became ambassador to the Soviet Union—and a British correspondent asked him how he should be addressed—he replied: "Just call me Beetle."

Some American-born citizens have become real knights, however.

The sculptor, the late Jacob Epstein was one.

Born on the Bowery in New York, Epstein emigrated to Britain and became a naturalized British subject.

After he was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II, he had every legal right to call himself "sir," and that is what he did.

American-born T. S. Eliot, the poet, has never been knighted, but he has been given the Order of Merit.

A naturalized British subject, he puts O. M. after his name.

Most of the knighted Americans received their decorations from monarch's accolade.

In Buckingham Palace at an impressive ceremony, she touches you with a sword on each shoulder and proclaims you.

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is an outstanding example of an American who received his honor directly from the sovereign.

Long a friend of the royal family, the 52-year-old son of the silent films actor, Douglas Fairbanks Sr., received his honor from King George VI, personally but informally.

KING'S FRIEND

Fairbanks was a friend of the late king just as he is of the king's daughter, Queen Elizabeth II, and her husband, Prince Philip.

There are, of course, numerous American women who have married British peers and are called by fancy titles over here.

The Marchioness of Lansdowne is the former Barbara Chase, of Santa Barbara, Calif. Her husband is the Marquess of Lansdowne.

The former Virginia Fortune Ryan, of Newport, R.I., is married to Lord Ogilvy. Here she is known as Lady Ogilvy.

When her husband succeeds to his father's title and becomes the Earl of Airlie, the girl from Rhode Island will be known as the Countess of Airlie.

Americans could — if they wanted to—be British lords. There is no British law against any American becoming a peer.

He would not be allowed to sit in the House of Lords, however, unless he gave up his American citizenship.

According to Sir George Bellew, the Garter King of Arms, it is quite possible for an American to succeed to a British peerage.

'MISTER'

"If he continued to retain his American citizenship," said Sir George, "he would continue to call himself 'mister.'"

'LAKE OF BLACK WATER'

Waste Land In Useful Role

By JIMMIE KENTON
Correspondent

At first only a thin trickle of water gurgled through the huge culvert. The five anxious men on the dam were thinking: "You will have to beat that, or it will be a long time before we get enough water to do any good."

The scene was the mouth of an old cypress brake on Beouf River in the lower end of the 7th Ward of Richland Parish. The men were J. U. Douciere; Urbin Douciere; Leo Cheek; Buddy Jones and J. C. Kenton. This was their "baby" . . . . the creation of a new lake from the waste land surrounding DeMora Island.

When Kenton bought the island, he had a vision. Why couldn't the brake be converted into a lake which would give both pleasure and profit to the community? Upon contacting the other men who owned property lying within the boscage, he found their interest high. Hours of talking, planning and computing water levels followed.

WAITING BEGINS

Two years later the dozer moved in. It whimpered and whined daily, creating a dam. Culverts were installed. Then began the waiting period for the water to rise.

Looking northeast from the top of the dam, one could see a wide expanse of tall, moss-clad cypress trees, interspersed with underbrush. Fallen trees reclined in the shade and stumps dotted the ground.

Walking along the channel one occasionally found small clearings, some a few feet in diameter, others about one-half acre in size, indicating that at some time in the past alligators dug holes to retain water for the dry seasons.

There were signs of squirrel, o'possum and mink. A deer track could be spied in the soft mud, and if one were lucky, he might catch a glimpse of a doe and a fawn . . . or a fat raccoon fishing in the stagnant pool where a mother skunk and her babies had been seen to drink.

Wandering along, you would come upon crumbling brick pillars on the south side of the brake. Legend has it that this is the remains of an old dwelling. Gnarled sycamore and china-berry trees guard the spot, but no one can recall anything about the occupants and the brake keeps the secret.

As you near the Mangham-Columbia highway, the woods seems to decide that it is getting too far from the river and turns west. It rambles along for about one and one half miles before touching the river again.

From the appearance of the land, it seems possible that this might have once been the river bed, before some ancient upheavel caused Beouf to change its course . . . but this, too, is a secret which the old brake keeps.

When the five men on the dam saw the trickle of water through the culvert and surveyed the wide expanse of their lake bed, they agreed that Beouf was going to really have to put out, before the bass would strike!

GAVE OF BOUNTY

Days passed and heavy rains brought Beouf to its crest. The muddy water began to gush through the culvert and mighty Beouf gave of its bounty to fill another man-made lake.

Beouf River, which begins in Arkansas and meanders around through north Louisiana, paying "social calls" to the farms and towns along its journey, seems to slow down as it makes its way through the old French Settlement near Hebert. It leisurely winds along past the homes of families named Douciere, (pronounced Do seer); Girod (called Jerro); Oliveaux (Olive o); Douchesne (do shan); Landerneau (Lan n o); Etier and Hebert.

The muddy water offers a sanctuary for the big catfish lying in hollow logs waiting for a tempting tidbit to swim past. Bass drouse in the shade of the cypress and specs frolic in the sunken treetops in the deep holes.

It serves as a motel for the mallards on their vacation from the north to the marshes and wild geese drop in and "set a spell" on its surface before returning home. Squirrel frisk along the bank, and occasionally a deer family slips quietly down to drink.

SHARING

Beouf River bathes the willows and reflects the moss-draped cypress as it supplies the farmrs along the way with irrigation water for their parched fields and provides swimming holes for the youngsters. Now it is sharing its bounty with the new lake.

The men responsible for the project hope that the approximately 150 acres of water will soon abound with the finny tribe and entice the migratory birds in winter.

Already it is the roosting place for hundreds of wood ducks. The men know that it will supply drinking water for their cattle in the pastures touching the lake and it could be used for irrigation purposes should the need arise.

The lake was full at last, Beouf receded and we set out one afternoon to explore the fishing spot.

A few feet from the dam we entered a miniature Okefenokee Swamp. The land of the "black water and trembling earth" was brought vividly to mind as we paddled, pushed and poled our way along.

After being assured by my husband that "all woods spiders are harmless"; "wasps that nest in trees wouldn't hurt if they sting"; "snakes won't bite in the month of August"; and "You're much too fat to sink should a hanging limb rake you out of the boat" . . . I closed my mind to the perils of the journey and basked in the beauty of the scenery.

The logs which had covered the ground, now float and are covered with vegetation several feet high. Weeds, blackberry vines and wild flowers floated out of our way when we pushed aside a log to make a path for the boat. The air was filled with the pungent fragrance of the button willow blossoms . . . a wee, furry flower shading from ivory through pastel pink and lavender. Every limb was in flower.

A cricket escaped the bait box and swam rapidly toward a clump of floating brush. As he neared safety, the water exploded, and we saw the green back of a tremendous bass before the water settled down.

WILD CREATURES

As the bull frogs gave out with their "Quinine! Quinine! Double the dose!", a squirrel chattered overhead and a wood duck, with her two babies, headed for cover at the sound of our boat.

The swish of traffic on the Mangham-Columbia highway, and the mutter and moan of the train on its way from Monroe to Columbia were the only indications that we were anywhere near civilization.

The water was still and black, about 12 feet deep in the channel and about 250 yards wide. We heard the bream popping near the bank and saw the swirl of the water as the specs chased the minnows.

RESISTED URGE

We resisted the urge to drop in a hook. The men who own the lake want to allow the fish to spawn and get a head start. The lake was privately stocked with game fish and by next season should be a real fisherman's paradise.

Seeking a name for the new lake, it seems fitting to select a letter from the name of each man responsible. Because of its location, it should have a good old French flavor. Taking the names, J. U. Douciere; Urban Douciere; J. C. Kenton; A. W. Jones and Leo Cheek; and we come up with Lac DeL'eau Noir . . . . meaning, in French, Lake of Black Water.

This writer wonders how many more acres of waste land there are in our area, which, with a little imagination, and some work, could be converted into lakes which could be used for both profit and pleasure for the community.

Profession Of Cruelty

EDITOR'S NOTE — One of the oldest and cruelest professions is medical quackery. Preying pitilessly on pain and ignorance, quacks have left behind a long trail of bilked, injured and even dead. If you think they have disappeared since the last patent medicine man and his wagon were chased out of town, you'd best read on.

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was this fellow, a mail-order promoter, who had a device he said would make short people taller. It stretched them on a rack, or was supposed to.

When postal inspectors brought him in on charges of fraud, he could have served as an exhibit for the prosecution. He was exactly 5-feet-2.

Then there was this phony healer who had a big business going in a remedy for "sufferers of sinus trouble." He guaranteed that these people, if they used his concoction, would never need surgery.

RECUPERATING

When the law caught up with him, he was in a hospital, recuperating from a sinus operation.

Such cases as these—lie behind a 1961 agreement to organize the nation's first "National Congress on Medical Quackery."

This conference, a teaming-up of government and private enterprise, will be held here Friday and Saturday, Oct. 6-7. Cosponsors are the American Medical Association and the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

"A springboard for a vigorous, multifaceted attack on medical quackery," the AMA called the conference in advance.

Cancer quacks stand out as a principal target.

The AMA cites the case of a California operator of a few years ago by the name of H. F. Bell. Bell sold electric blankets as a cure for cancer. "He did this by the charming practice of buying up used electric blankets for $5 to $10 from survivors of patients who had died, reconditioning them, and selling them at $185 each," the AMA said.

Bell, got off with a suspended sentence of three years because of his age, 77.

FALSE CLAIMS

Also due for close attention at the quackery conference are false claims for vitamins and minerals and "cures" for arthritis and rheumatism. Phony massage and vibrating devices, desperately bought by men and women racked by arthritic pain, will get a going-over.

It is estimated that quacks rob the American people of around a billion dollars a year.

The many-sided attack to be forged at the conference will include forces from the Federal Trade Commission, the Department of Justice, the American Cancer Society, the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation and the National Better Business Bureau, in addition to the AMA and the FDA.

Representatives from most of the states and large metropolitan medical societies will be on hand too.

The idea for the conference originated with the FDA and an arm of the AMA, called the Department of Investigation, which has been battling quackery since 1906.

The department started with a campaign against widely promoted patent medicines, and has branched out since.

EXPOSED

In 1936, for example, it exposed one "Doc" John R. Brinkley, who claimed to rejuvenate old men with goat glands.

"More recently," the AMA noted, "the department has aided federal authorities in closing several of the 'Hoxsey Clinics' for the 'treatment' of cancer."

Private and government agencies agree that the principal victims of modern medical pirates are old folks, frequently poor people who are prevailed on to spend life savings on nostrums or ridiculous, worthless gadgets.

However, Jack Kaplan wrote in an article in the AMA magazine Today's Health: "Authorities emphasize lately (that) many intelligent, middle-class people have been conned by preposterous device panaceas." For instance the "magic spike," a glass tube about the size of a pencil, filled with barium chloride worth less than a penny.

It was sold for $306 by a Chicago firm which claimed: "Hang this around your neck or attach it to other parts of your anatomy, and its rays will cure any disease you have."

SEIZED

In one month, FDA agents seized such other devices as:

A magic charm bracelet purported to cure arthritis and cancer.

An electric machine claimed to be beneficial in treating headaches, ulcers and high blood pressure.

A $40 sun lamp alleged to supply "sunshine vitamins."

An air purifier offered as a treatment for virus infections and allergies.

Illinois officials reported finding vibrator chairs which were sold for $239, and were offered for the treatment and cure of impure blood, arthritis, heart trouble, circulatory diseases and Cancer. They cost 70 to 80 to manufacture.

A concoction offered as a diabetes remedy was found to h been made by boiling broomst in water. It sold for $5 a bo

Earlier this year the F brought seizure actions in states against what Commissi George P. Larrick called "a tionwide sea water swindle."

Larrick said the sea water ually sold for $1.69 a pint was represented to be effectiv the treatment or prevention cancer, diabetes, leukemia, tiple sclerosis, myasthenia gra sterility, Parkinson's disease, thritis, goiter, deficiency ailm and dental decay.

Actually, FDA said, there no health benefits to be ga by adding sea water to the Larrick, noting that quac has been described as the wo second oldest profession, plained its persistence: "We ever with us the powerful in tives in human nature which count for the continued exist of quackery.

INCENTIVES

"The desire for health; the of pain, disease, and death; desire to make easy money, the desire to save money, eve the risk of health, are som these incentives.

"There are two sides to problem. Just as it takes tw make a quarrel it takes tw make a swindle—the swinder the victim.

"Dishonesty, greed, and s times ignorance are characte of the criminal in this field. M ing them, we have fear, gullib and ignorance on the part of t who are taken in.

"You will note that the com denominator is ignorance."

The most widespread quac is in the field of nutrition, i opinion of Wallace F. Janssen rector of the FDA's divisio public information.

"More people seem to be more bunk about food and n tion than about any other s topic in the health field—and haps any other field," he s

MYTHS

All sorts of myths and su stitions about food are use faddist promoters, the FDA p ed out, adding: "Such notion the old idea that fish and c are 'brain foods,' or that oy increase fertility, are harm but when garlic pills are prom for high blood pressure, or gr for the treatmen of ulcer cancer, the price of ignor may come high."

Ignorance and guillibility be overcome with education the combined view of public private health specialists, and week's conference is part of effort.

Knighted Americans 'Mister' Not 'Sir'

LONDON (AP) — More than 90 living Americans — including Dwight D. Eisenhower, J. Edgar Hoover and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. —have been knighted by British monarchs.

But hold on—they do not and cannot call themselves "Sir."

In Britain, of course, any man who has been knighted automatically receives the title of "Sir."

The wives of the knighted Americans who are, of course ladies, cannot and do not call themselves "Lady" with a capital L.

HONORARY TITLES

The American knights have honorary titles only.

Nearly all of them were made knights during or just after the two world wars.

"It's all part of the vast interchange of decorations and honors that takes place because of the wars," explained British Gen. Cyril Colquhoun, secretary of the Central Chancellory of the Orders of Knighthood.

This is the organization that keeps official books on who's who in chivalry. There are a lot of books to be kept because knighthood and other honors go back for centuries.

Ex-President Eisenhower is a knight grand cross of the Bath.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz is one and so is Gen. James H. Doolittle.

Hoover is a knight commander of the British Empire.

So is Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

In precedence, they are outranked by the knights grand cross of the Bath.

The Order of the Bath is believed to have been established by King Henry IV at his coronation in 1399.

In 1725, it was remodeled and became a military order.

The late Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, Eisenhower's chief of staff in World War II, was twice knighted.

SEVERAL

He was a knight grand cross of the Bath and a knight commander of the Bath.

When he became ambassador to the Soviet Union—and a British correspondent asked him how he should be addressed—he replied: "Just call me Beetle."

Some American-born citizens have become real knights, however.

The sculptor, the late Jacob Epstein was one.

Born on the Bowery in New York, Epstein emigrated to Britain and became a naturalized British subject.

After he was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II, he had every legal right to call himself "sir," and that is what he did.

American-born T. S. Eliot, the poet, has never been knighted, but he has been given the Order of Merit.

A naturalized British subject, he puts O. M. after his name.

Most of the knighted Americans received their decorations from monarch's accolade.

In Buckingham Palace at an impressive ceremony, she touches you with a sword on each shoulder and proclaims you.

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is an outstanding example of an American who received his honor directly from the sovereign.

Long a friend of the royal family, the 52-year-old son of the silent films actor, Douglas Fairbanks Sr., received his honor from King George VI, personally but informally.

KING'S FRIEND

Fairbanks was a friend of the late king just as he is of the king's daughter, Queen Elizabeth II, and her husband, Prince Philip.

There are, of course, numerous American women who have married British peers and are called by fancy titles over here.

The Marchioness of Lansdowne is the former Barbara Chase, of Santa Barbara, Calif. Her husband is the Marquess of Lansdowne.

The former Virginia Fortune Ryan, of Newport, R.I., is married to Lord Ogilvy. Here she is known as Lady Ogilvy.

When her husband succeeds to his father's title and becomes the Earl of Airlie, the girl from Rhode Island will be known as the Countess of Airlie.

Americans could — if they wanted to—be British lords. There is no British law against any American becoming a peer.

He would not be allowed to sit in the House of Lords, however, unless he gave up his American citizenship.

According to Sir George Bellew, the Garter King of Arms, it is quite possible for an American to succeed to a British peerage.

'MISTER'

"If he continued to retain his American citizenship," said Sir George, "he would continue to call himself 'mister.'"

This Oil Lease Deal

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fishes Commission has before it a posed title settlement of 16,000 es of land in Vermillion Parish ich has been described by some "right on top of what may be of the most productive oil fields South Louisiana."

The proposed settlement by he wildlife commission in behalf of the state and drawn up y "a panel of lawyers" which arries some tinges of political election, could cost the State f Louisiana millions of dollars n mineral bonuses and royaties for the sake of an estimated $2,000,000 granted in the settlement and to be spread payment over five years.

he land was donated to the state years ago. Oil discoveries nearled to a contest of validity of State's title which has stood since the middle 1950s.

he Wildlife Board called a meeseveral weeks ago to approve proposed settlement. The meetsuddenly was called off 48 hours ore its scheduled time. Strong osition to the proposed settleit had developed. This settlebefore the Wildlife mission is similar to one that in effect, twice been discarded State Legislatures in two adistrations because of charges he Legislature that "the whole g stinks." The inference was somebody was going to make t of money which should go State of Louisiana.

The World [illegible] is [illegible] ld be great [illegible] now be approached on lines rejected by the Legture under Earl Long in 1958 under Jimmie Davis in 1960. have had too many mineral e scandals in this state to rise ther one now.

The title dispute now is in ederal court. The proper step to push [illegible] lly as possible. If the State's tle is valid, [illegible] ettled [illegible] icians. If the State does ave title—which is the question of facts of those who ated the land to the state 50 ears ago—let that be determined in court.

his case, going back half a cen, is so complicated that it would e a book to cover its ramifications. But, at stake are millions of ars for the people of Louisiana. at has happened, with [illegible] h detail, is this:

n 1911, Charles Wills Ward, President of New York Oil Edward Averill McIlhenny, ia Parish—one of the original ry Island McIlhennys—bought roximately 16,000 acres of what nomically was wild waste land Vermillion Parish for about 50 s an acre and donated it to the e as a wildlife preserve. The life agency of the State at that e accepted the donation. The e has operated and demonstrated wnership of the land ever since, as built fences, buildings, leasrapping rights and carried on undisputed and uncontested er of the property.

ow, it is contended that the e does not have a clear title he land because the donation not accepted by an Act of Legure.

any other legal angles are ined but they can be bypassed .

he deed which gave the land to state specifically said that it d be used only for wildlife preation purposes. Mr. Ward and McIlhenny reserved to themes and their heirs the mineral ts. Mineral rights at that time e not of especial importance, this preservation seemingly is ject to nullification through the e case of Frost Johnson Lumber pany vs. Salling Heirs, etc al, o. 207, in which the Supreme rt of Louisiana held that mineral reservations expire at the end 0 years where there is non-use he rights.

long the way in the present , a company known as Mawa Oil Corporation (with headquarters in New Orleans) was organized and obtained a minerals rights lease from present heirs of Mr. Ward and Mr. McIlhenny. One Jim Mary is the ramrod of Mawa, although the only reference to him in the settlement resolution before the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission is a single sentence concerning preservation of rights of "Mr. Mary." Several persons of prominence in various parts of the state are reported as stockholders in Mawa.

The resolution covering the proposed settlement points out that Mawa has made a sub-lease with what is described as "a major oil company" but no identification is given and few details of the lease are included.

It is stated in the resolution, however, that this sub-lease to the [illegible] company provides that "[illegible] . . . for payment of the sum of $500,000 to said lessee (Mawa) or its assigns for the right and privilege of conducting geophysical surveys on the lands covered by said lease, with the privilege being reserved by said major oil company to select for mineral development 3,000 acres of the total acreage (16,000) involved; that said contract further provides that said major oil company shall have the right and privilege of selecting additional acreage upon the payment to said lessee (Mawa) or its assigns of a bonus of $100 per acre."

In other words, this "masked" oil company which holds a sub-lease from Mawa would pay $500,000 [illegible] 3,000 acres to be developed and [illegible] additional acreage at a bonus of $100 per acre—plus of course various royalties. In this the State of Louisiana would share through the title settlement with Mawa and the McIlhenny heirs.

It is worth noting that in 1957 [illegible] American Oil Company, [illegible] paid $[illegible] for [illegible] acres [illegible] $555,000 [illegible] 27 [illegible] Vermillion Parish [illegible] dispute. Near [illegible] Wildlife preserve [illegible] producing wells.

While the resolution now before the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission refers several times to "one-half of the minerals rights" going to the State of Louisiana through the title settlement proposed, with the other half to Mawa [illegible] Ward-McIlhenny heirs through their own agreement, a prominent South Louisiana lawyer who has followed this case closely for some years informed The World yesterday that, in his opinion, the state would be settling—through the proposed Wildlife Commission agreement—for one half of one-eighth of minerals royalties plus some [illegible] in other payments in comparison with what has been paid for various types of mineral-rights in nearby oil producing territories.

The World believes that the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission should take no action binding the state concerning mineral rights on this property at this time.

The proposed resolution would authorize appointed members of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission to make a final settlement on behalf of the State of Louisiana which bears indications of being extremely costly to the State itself—which means to the people of Louisiana.

Since the State Legislature itself, under two administrations, twice has rejected legislation intended to lead to virtually the same type of settlement now proposed, it is almost impossible to understand why an appointive State agency — the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission — would assume to itself authority in a matter twice turned down by the Legislature and on which there certainly is reasonable question as to the soundness of the new proposed settlement.

The very best step that could be taken in this case would be to continue with federal court litigation and let the matter of title be decided there.

If for some reason, which is not now before us, continuing court action is not advisable, then the best step would be to have an absolutely independent panel of recognized non-political authorities in petroleum law bring in a recommendation—a panel representing various geographical parts of the state and selected through some source entirely independent of political influence, such as the Bar Association.

The State of Louisiana—meaning its people—has lost too much in bad minerals deals in the past without risking start of a new cycle now.

Our Stars And Stripes

MONROE, LA.

To the Editor:

I am wondering how many of our children really know how to pledge allegiance to the flag. Do they know how to pledge their faith and all their hopes to the preservation and defense of what the flag represents? Does the flag of our country represent to them only a collection of stars and a number of stripes put together in a certain design or does it represent a symbol of creative expression born out of the [illegible] freedom.

George Washington once said "we take the star from Heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from our mother country, and the white stripes shall go down in posterity representing liberty."

For so many, many years the stars and stripes have stood for the American way of life, and such has been the sacrifice in [illegible] and blood anguish [illegible] waves over the land [illegible] and the [illegible] of the [illegible].

Never does it [illegible] represent the symbol of all our hopes, but also represents the love in our hearts and the devotion we have for all that America holds dear and sacred, such as its free way of life and its free institutions.

This silent symbol of the Stars and Stripes waves over a free land, and wherever it goes, across the seas or into distant lands, its mission is the same — to unloose the chains of slavery, establish freedom and to proclaim liberty as the one hope for enduring peace.

Next to our worship of God and our devotion to home, our loyalty and love should be for our country and for the flag which is its symbol of hope and the happiness of its people.

How beautiful is this flag as it waves so proudly in the clean air of freedom. No flag in all the world means so much or inspires so much as does the American flag. Within its folds and planted among its stars and stripes are the invisible names of thousands of its defenders — gone to their eternal freedom. Are they proud of you and me?

To really love this flag of ours it is essential that each one of us understand all for which it stands. A free country, under a constitution worked out by lovers of freedom, and protecting a form of government that gives to all, rich or poor, equal justice and the right to live out his life in full freedom conscience and opportunity.

Free men will never become slaves. And with the spirit that Nathan Hale had when he said: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country," we can assure the invincibility of America, among all of those now engaged in the service of defending the American flag against all aggression and attack.

Thus may it wave forever and may it be a continuous inspiration for each liberty - loving person on all the earth.

Wrong Road Views

MONROE, LA.

To the Editor:

Your August 28 editorial, "Wrong Road", very thoughtfully discussed a problem of deep public interest in connection with legislation which is pending to further regulate the marketing of prescription drug products.

None of the 140 drug producing firms who are members of our association wishes to see ineffective drugs made available for prescribing by physicians.

The kind of objective discussion of the problem which you have presented is most helpful, compared with some of the violent, distorted and unwarranted critical statements that have been made in recent months, to those of us who are deeply interested in protection of the public health.

Inciting To Violence

LONGVIEW, Tex.

To the Editor:

Only a few years ago there was a law against inciting violence and an honest effort was made to "nip in the bud" any mob action that might be contemplated. In those days we did not nurse and foster mob action. But times have changed. The South has become the most forbearant and patient section of our country. Flagrant efforts are being made in the Southern states to stir up strife and promote mob violence.

I give the South full credit for having endured what has been real torture to a proud people, rather than strike back. The so-called "resistance, "mis-named," "non - violence," which has characterized the invasion of property and business rights in the South would have long ago reached the limits of endurance anywhere on earth than in the patient South.

The effort to bring conditions to the Southern states that approach, if they do not match what is happening in South Africa is most deplorable. Some sane heads and true American hearts have held the fort, however, and the fury of the mob has been prevented. God grant that southern patience and endurance may prevail.

It seems to me that if the Kennedys are at all intelligent they would realize that they are sitting on a potential powder keg.

The Rev. King of Alabama is one of the favorites of the Kennedy brothers. The Rev. King makes friendly comment on the advantages of Communism as compared with capitalism.

Practically every appointment that the Kennedys have made since taking office there has been grave doubts as to their true American character to say the least. Stevenson, Bowls, Weaver, Soapy Williams, Paul Corbin. . . The usual excuse is: He was active in the Kennedy Presidential primary campaign in 1960.

New Red Request

Supreme Court Expected To Act Soon On Plea For Rehearing

Presumably the Supreme Court at its session beginning Monday will act promptly on the petition of the Communists' party in the United States for a rehearing on the court's decision upholding the Constitutionality of the Internal Security Act of 1950. It would seem that this tool of Moscow party had had its day in court and that a rehearing is extremely unlikely.

The Internal Security Act defined as "Communist action" groups those controlled from abroad by the world Communist movement. It directed such organizations, as well as "Communist front" groups to register with the Department of Justice, and list their officers and members and furnish financial reports.

The Subversive Activities Control Board, created by the law, held long hearings and found on April 20, 1953, that the Communist party is a Communist-action organization and ordered it to register. The Communist party took the case to court on the ground that the First Amendment to the United States Constitution prohibits Congress from requiring it to register and furnish information.

Eight years and more than five months after the SACB finding and order the case is still in court. Twice before reaching a decision the Supreme Court chose not to act on the constitutionality of the Internal Security law. The case was remanded by the court in 1956. And in 1960 argument was delayed until the subsequent term of the court.

But on June 5 of this year the Supreme Court in a 5 to 4 decision upheld the constitutionality of the law which created the Subversive Activities Board eleven years ago. Justices Felix Frankfurter, Tom C. Clark, John Marshall Harlan, Charles E. Whittaker and Potter Stewart spoke for the majority. In dissent were Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr.

After the court adjourned Justice Frankfurter stayed the effectiveness of the decision until a petition by the Communist party for rehearing could be considered at the session opening Monday. In speaking of the freedoms of expression and association guaranteed by the First Amendment Justice Frankfurter, for the majority, said.

"The Communist party would have us hold that the First Amendment prohibits Congress from requiring the registration and filing of information, including membership lists, by organizations substantially dominated or controlled by the foreign powers controlling the world Communist movement and which operate primarily to advance the objectives of that movement: the overthrow of existing government by any means necessary and the establishment in its place of a Communist totalitarian dictatorship. We cannot find such prohibition in the First Amendment.

Three of the dissenters from the majority opinion — Chief Justice Warren and Justices Douglas and Brennan agreed with the majority in finding no First Amendment violation. These took the position that individuals could not be made to register because they would by doing so subject themselves to prosecution under the Smith Act, which the court also has upheld as constitutional. The Smith Act labels it to be a crime to be a Communist party member who advocates violent overthrow of the United States government. Only Justice Black dissented on First Amendment grounds.

Our Intervention

United States Pokes Nose Into Other Countries' Business

Intervention has too long been the policy of the State Department. It has been a costly policy for the United States and has won us no friends in the world. In the topsy-turvy linguistics of our era intervention is called non-intervention, but nobody is mistaken as to what the process is.

Let me state it this way: the United States believes in certain, specific ideals of government and of human rights. The Declaration of Independence sets down in the clearest language our philosophy of government; the Constitution, including its numerous amendments, reduces the philosophic statement of government by choice to a workable system which provides us with a representative republic with numerous and specific limitations upon government and with a detailed statement of the rights of man. This form of government we regard as good and we strive to maintain it although sometimes it is very difficult.

Other peoples do not particularly care for our form of government. They find it confusing, almost to the degree of being anarchic. They prefer order; we prefer freedom. They look upon our freedom as disorderly, as lacking in manners and propriety. Some peoples prefer the despotism of dictatorship or the rule of an oligarchy. This, we do not understand. In fact, many of our people do not believe that any people can possibly prefer order to freedom. When we hear of such countries, we wonder what kind of people those are.

The Dominican Republic was well-governed under the dictatorship of Trujillo. He called himself the benefactor and enriched himself, his family and his friends. But he produced an improved way of life for his people. Compared with other Latin American countries, the Dominican Republic was superior from every standpoint except one. The one exception was that Trujillo was a dictator. The State Department does not tolerate dictators. But which government in Latin America has what we call a democracy?

Therefore the State Department intervened in the affairs of the Dominican Republic. The intervention went so far that we cut off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic. Trujillo was assassinated and an orderly country was thrown into chaos.

It will be protested that I falsely connect our cutting off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic and the assassination of Trujillo. I maintain that the two events are connected in the sense that the assassins must have assumed that they were pleasing the United States and would be duly rewarded when they set up a regime of their own. It is to be noted that Trujillo was assassinated after the United States cut off diplomatic relations.

As a result, the orderly, prosperous Dominican Republic has been thrown into chaos. A country that consistently supported American policy in the United Nations is no longer friendly to the United States. Unless our government changes its policy toward the Dominican Republic, the Communists, in a month or two, will take the place without the slightest resistance.

We intervened in Cuba and got rid of the dictator, Batista. We did everything possible to support Castro. Herbert Matthews' book on Cuba, intended to be critical of State Department policy because it rejected his ideas, is nevertheless an explanation and defense of the State Department policy of intervention. In Cuba, this policy produced the anti-American regime of Fidel Castro.

The current policy of intervention is based on the assumption that it is possible in Washington to determine for every country in the world which is a good and which is a bad government. The defense against such an arbitrary intervention in the affairs of other countries is for them to become anti-American. This, in varying degrees, is now a universal pattern.

The only cure for the almost universal anti-Americanism is for this country to adopt one of two policies. Either we recognize that our conduct since 1948 has generally been an error, or we lay it down as an absolute yardstick that we disregard the internal affairs of any country and we measure our relationships to them solely on the line that this conduct benefits the United States to the degree that we may regard them as allies. By such a yardstick, we would recognize the present successor government of the Dominican Republic and assist it to stabilize itself.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER

U. S. Senator

This session of Congress has been long, tedious and in many ways extremely exasperating. We started out on a high note with the bold words of President Kennedy — ask not what the government can do for you, ask what you can do for the government.

There was to be a resolute stand for freedom in Laos. No more concessions were to be made to Castro. You remember the President's words during the campaign, when he asked how Dick Nixon could deal with Khrushchev when he couldn't even deal with Castro?

I think most members of the Democrat Party, and many Republicans, believed at the beginning of this session that our new vigorous, youthful President would somehow breathe life and vitality into the nation. All of us who are concerned with the future of this nation were hopeful that Mr. Kennedy's administration would be successful.

The New Frontier press agents and a few of my colleagues on the other side of the aisle still cherish the illusions they held in January. But the people I've talked to across this land are judging the Kennedy administration on performance, not promises.

There was the back down in Laos which was excused as being an untenable position inherited by this administration. Then there was the Cuban fiasco, with Kennedy's Secretary of the Interior attempting to lay the blame on former President Eisenhower. The administration first denied, and when the denial was useless, finally admitted its responsibility for the invasion.

Now that our shameful action in the Cuban affair has been revealed to the general public, in the September issue of Fortune magazine, those of us who are briefed on some but not all of the details of the Cuban invasion are free to voice our opinions.

The timidity, the indecision, the inability of this government to make a decision and back up that decision is responsible for the defeat of the Cuban invaders. It is no wonder that Mr. Kennedy sponsored the tractors for freedom exchange.

Then we had the spring meeting with Khrushchev — a summit, attended by the young President who during the campaign assured us he didn't believe in summitry because it was not productive.

All during this session of Congress we were subjected to pressure from the White House and the New Frontiersmen at every level, to increase governmental spending, to enlarge governmental bureaucracy, to accept deficit financing.

In one field Mr. Kennedy has been extremely successful. As a political President he has used the power of the White House to increase the executive authority and to impose the executive will upon the Congress.

The packing of the House Rules Committee received considerable attention in the nation's press. But escaping notice were the daily pressures, the daily offers of reward, the suggestions of possible punishment. A number of my colleagues in both the Senate and the House, men with long experience, have told me that never before have they been subjected to such a constant program.

Outside the necessary increase in military spending, we have approved legislation which will cost future generations a staggering amount of money. Even the Treasury experts are unable to agree on an accurate estimate of what the newly - enacted domestic programs will ultimately cost. The lowest prediction is six or eight-billion dollars. I have heard some responsible men say that what we've done will cost this nation ultimately 30 to 40 - billion dollars. In the final weary days a number of bills were passed because the members of Congress were too tired to continue their resistance.

I hope before the next session convenes all Americans will find the time to consult with their representatives in Congress. We desperately need to know what you are thinking. We need your advice and we need your support.

How do you stand, sir?

This Oil Lease Deal

The Louisiana Wildlife and Fishes Commission has before it a posed title settlement of 16,000 es of land in Vermillion Parish ich has been described by some "right on top of what may be of the most productive oil fields South Louisiana."

The proposed settlement by he wildlife commission in behalf of the state and drawn up y "a panel of lawyers" which arries some tinges of political election, could cost the State f Louisiana millions of dollars n mineral bonuses and royalies for the sake of an estimatd $2,000,000 granted in the ttlement and to be spread out n payment over five years.

he land was donated to the state years ago. Oil discoveries nearled to a contest of validity of State's title which has dragged since the middle 1950s.

he Wildlife Board called a meetseveral weeks ago to approve proposed settlement. The meetsuddenly was called off 48 hours ore its scheduled time. Strong osition to the proposed settlet had developed. This settlet - now before the Wildlife mission - is similar to one that in effect, twice been discarded State Legislatures in two adistrations because of charges he Legislature that "the whole g stinks." The inference was somebody was going to make t of money which should go to State of Louisiana.

The World cannot say whether is true, but clearly there uld be great caution in any ac now by an appointive State rd on lines rejected by the Legture under Earl Long in 1958 under Jimmie Davis in 1960. have had too many mineral e scandals in this state to risk ther one now.

The title dispute now is in deral court. The proper step to push action there as raply as possible. If the State's tle is valid, let that fact be ttled in court and not by policians. If the State does not ve title-which is the contenon of heirs of those who doated the land to the state 50 ears ago—let that be deterined in court.

his case, going back half a cen, is so complicated that it would a book to cover its ramificas. But, at stake are millions of ars for the people of Louisiana. at has happened, without too h detail, is this:

1911, Charles Willis Ward, a l resident of New York City, Edward Avery McIlhenny of ia Parish — one of the original ry Island McIlhennys—bought roximately 16,000 acres of what nomically was wild waste land ermillion Parish for about 50 s an acre and donated it to the e as a wildlife preserve. The life agency of the State at that accepted the donation. The e has operated and demonstratwership of the land ever since. as built fences, buildings, leasrapping rights and carried on undisputed and uncontested er of the property.

ow, it is contended that the e does not have a clear title he land because the donation not accepted by an Act of Legure.

any other legal angles are ined but they can be bypassed .

he deed which gave the land to state specifically said that it d be used only for wildlife preation purposes. Mr. Ward and McIlhenny reserved to themes and their heirs the mineral ts. Mineral rights at that time e not of especial importance, this preservation seemingly is ject to nullification through the case of Frost Johnson Lumber pany vs. Salling Heirs, etc al, o. 207, in which the Supreme rt of Louisiana held that minreservations expire at the end 0 years where there is non-use he rights.

long the way in the present , a company known as Mawa Oil Corporation (with headquarters in New Orleans) was organized and obtained a minerals rights lease from present heirs of Mr. Ward and Mr. McIlhenny. One Jim Mary is the ramrod of Mawa, although the only reference to him in the settlement resolution before the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission is a single sentence concerning preservation of rights of "Mr. Mary." Several persons of prominence in various parts of the state are reported as stockholders in Mawa.

The resolution covering the proposed settlement points out that Mawa has made a sub-lease with what is described as "a major oil company," but no identification is given and few details of the lease are included.

It is stated in the resolution, however, that this sub-lease to the undisclosed major oil company provides in part". . . for payment of the sum of $500,000 to said lessee (Mawa) or its assigns for the right and privilege of conducting geophysical surveys on the lands covered by said lease, with the privilege being reserved by said major oil company to select for mineral development 3,000 acres of the total acreage (16,000) involved: that said contract further provides that said major oil company shall have the right and privilege of selecting additional acreage upon the payment to said lessee (Mawa) or its assigns of a bonus of $100 per acre."

In other words, this "masked" oil company which holds a sub-lease from Mawa would pay $500,000 to select 3,000 of the 16,000 acres for development and could take any additional acreage at a bonus of $100 per acre—plus of course various royalties. In this the State of Louisiana would share through the title settlement with Mawa and the McIlhenny heirs.

It is worth noting that in 1957 Pan - American Oil Company, through state lease 3304, paid $1,116,500 bonus plus rental of $558,278 per year for 2700 acres just one mile from the 16,000 acres of wildlife preserve now in dispute. Near the 16,000 acres of wildlife preserve are excellent producing wells.

While the resolution now before the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission refers several times to "one-half of the minerals rights" going to the State of Louisiana through the title settlement proposed, with the other half to Mawa and the Ward-McIlhenny heirs through their own agreement, a prominent South Louisiana lawyer who has followed this case closely for some years informed The World yesterday that, in his opinion, the state would be settling—through this proposed Wildlife Commission agreement—for one half of one-eighth of minerals royalties plus mere pittances in other payments by comparison with what has been paid for various types of minerals rights in nearby oil producing territory.

The World believes that the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission should take no action binding the state concerning mineral rights on this property at this time.

The proposed resolution would authorize appointed members of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission to make a final settlement on behalf of the State of Louisiana which bears indications of being extremely costly to the State itself—which means to the people of Louisiana.

Since the State Legislature itself, under two administrations, twice has rejected legislation intended to lead to virtually the same type of settlement now proposed, it is almost impossible to understand why an appointive State agency — the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission — would assume to itself authority in a matter twice turned down by the Legislature and on which there certainly is reasonable question as to the soundness of the new proposed settlement.

The very best step that could be taken in this case would be to continue with federal court litigation and let the matter of title be decided there.

If for some reason, which is not now before us, continuing court action is not advisable, then the best step would be to have an absolutely independent panel of recognized non-political authorities in petroleum law bring in a recommendation—a panel representing various geographical parts of the state and selected through some source entirely independent of political influence, such as the Bar Association.

The State of Louisiana—meaning its people—has lost too much in bad minerals deals in the past without risking start of a new cycle now.

Views Of Our Readers

Our Stars And Stripes

MONROE, LA.

To the Editor:

I am wondering how many of our children really know how to pledge allegiance to the flag. Do they know how to pledge their faith and all their hopes to the preservation and defense of what the flag represents? Does the flag of our country represent to them only a collection of stars and a number of stripes put together in a colorful design or does it represent a symbol of creative expression born out of the hunger for freedom?

George Washington once said "we take the star from Heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from our mother country, and the white stripes shall go down in posterity representing liberty."

For so many, many years the stars and stripes have stood for the American way of life, and such has been the sacrifice in blood, tears and untold anguish. Yet, it still waves "over the land of the free and the home of the brave."

Not only does this flag represent the symbol of all our hopes, but it also represents the love in our hearts, and the devotion we have for all that America holds dear and sacred, such as its free way of life and its free institutions.

This silent symbol of the Stars and Stripes waves over a free land, and wherever it goes, across the seas or into distant lands, its mission is the same — to unloose the chains of slavery, establish freedom and to proclaim liberty as the one hope for enduring peace.

Next to our worship of God and our devotion to home, our loyalty and love should be for our country and for the flag which is its symbol of hope and the happiness of its people.

How beautiful is this flag as it waves so proudly in the clean air of freedom. No flag in all the world means so much or inspires so much as does the American flag. Within its folds and planted among its stars and stripes are the invisible names of thousands of its defenders — gone to their eternal freedom. Are they proud of you and me?

To really love this flag of ours it is essential that each one of us understand all for which it stands: A free country, under a constitution worked out by lovers of freedom, and protecting a form of government that gives to all, rich or poor, equal justice and the right to live out his life in full freedom conscience and opportunity.

Free men will never become slaves. And with the spirit that Nathan Hale had when he said: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country," we can assure the invincibility of America, among all of those now engaged in the service of defending the American flag against all aggression and attack.

Thus may it wave forever and may it be a continuous inspiration for each liberty - loving person on all the earth.

Wrong Road Views

MONROE, LA.

To the Editor:

Your August 28 editorial, "Wrong Road", very thoughtfully discussed a problem of deep public interest in connection with legislation which is pending to further regulate the marketing of prescription drug products.

None of the 140 drug producing firms who are members of our association wishes to see ineffective drugs made available for prescribing by physicians.

The kind of objective discussion of the problem which you have presented is most helpful, compared with some of the violent, distorted and unwarranted critical statements that have been made in recent months, to those of us who are deeply interested in protection of the public health.

Inciting To Violence

LONGVIEW, Tex.

To the Editor:

Only a few years ago there was a law against inciting violence and an honest effort was made to "nip in the bud" any mob action that might be contemplated. In those days we did not nurse and foster mob action. But times have changed. The South has become the most forbearant and patient section of our country. Flagrant efforts are being made in the Southern states to stir up strife and promote mob violence.

I give the South full credit for having endured what has been real torture to a proud people, rather than strike back. The so-called "resistance, "mis-named," "non - violence," which has characterized the invasion of property and business rights in the South would have long ago reached the limits of endurance anywhere on earth than in the patient South.

The effort to bring conditions to the Southern states that approach, if they do not match what is happening in South Africa is most deplorable. Some sane heads and true American hearts have held the fort, however, and the fury of the mob has been prevented. God grant that southern patience and endurance may prevail.

It seems to me that if the Kennedys are at all intelligent they would realize that they are sitting on a potential powder keg.

The Rev. King of Alabama is one of the favorites of the Kennedy brothers. The Rev. King makes friendly comment on the advantages of Communism as compared with capitalism.

Practically every appointment that the Kennedys have made since taking office there has been grave doubts as to their true American character to say the least. Stevenson, Bowls, Weaver, Soapy Williams, Paul Corbin. . . The usual excuse is: He was active in the Kennedy Presidential primary campaign in 1960.

New Red Request

Supreme Court Expected To Act Soon On Plea For Rehearing

Presumably the Supreme Court in its session beginning Monday will act promptly on the petition of the Communist party in the United States for a rehearing on the court's decision upholding the Constitutionality of the Internal Security Act of 1950. It would seem that this tool of Moscow party had had its day in court and that a rehearing is extremely unlikely.

The Internal Security Act defined as "Communist action" groups those controlled from abroad by the world Communist movement. It directed such organizations, as well as "Communist front" groups to register with the Department of Justice, and list their officers and members and furnish financial reports.

The Subversive Activities Control Board, created by the law, held long hearings and found on April 20, 1953, that the Communist party is a Communist-action organization and ordered it to register. The Communist party took the case to court on the ground that the First Amendment to the United States Constitution prohibits Congress from requiring it to register and furnish information.

Eight years and more than five months after the SACB finding and order the case is still in court. Twice before reaching a decision the Supreme Court chose not to act on the constitutionality of the Internal Security law. The case was remanded by the court in 1956. And in 1960 argument was delayed until the subsequent term of the court.

But on June 5 of this year the Supreme Court in a 5 to 4 decision upheld the constitutionality of the law which created the Subversive Activities Board eleven years ago. Justices Felix Frankfurter, Tom C. Clark, John Marshall Harlan, Charles E. Whittaker and Potter Stewart spoke for the majority. In dissent were Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr.

After the court adjourned Justice Frankfurter stayed the effectiveness of the decision until a petition by the Communist party for rehearing could be considered at the session opening Monday. In speaking of the freedoms of expression and association guaranteed by the First Amendment Justice Frankfurter, for the majority, said.

"The Communist party would have us hold that the First Amendment prohibits Congress from requiring the registration and filing of information, including membership lists, by organizations substantially dominated or controlled by the foreign powers controlling the world Communist movement and which operate primarily to advance the objectives of that movement: the overthrow of existing government by any means necessary and the establishment in its place of a Communist totalitarian dictatorship. We cannot find such prohibition in the First Amendment.

Three of the dissenters from the majority opinion — Chief Justice Warren and Justices Douglas and Brennan agreed with the majority in finding no First Amendment violation. These took the position that individuals could not be made to register because they would by doing so subject themselves to prosecution under the Smith Act, which the court also has upheld as constitutional. The Smith Act labels it to be a crime to be a Communist party member who advocates violent overthrow of the United States government. Only Justice Black dissented on First Amendment grounds.

Our Intervention

United States Pokes Nose Into Other Countries' Business

Intervention has too long been the policy of the State Department. It has been a costly policy for the United States and has won us no friends in the world. In the topsy-turvy linguistics of our era intervention is called non-intervention, but nobody is mistaken as to what the process is.

Let me state it this way: the United States believes in certain, specific ideals of government and of human rights. The Declaration of Independence sets down in the clearest language our philosophy of government; the Constitution, including its numerous amendments, reduces the philosophic statement of government by choice to a workable system which provides us with a representative republic with numerous and specific limitations upon government and with a detailed statement of the rights of man. This form of government we regard as good and we strive to maintain it although sometimes it is very difficult.

Other peoples do not particularly care for our form of government. They find it confusing, almost to the degree of being anarchic. They prefer order; we prefer freedom. They look upon our freedom as disorderly, as lacking in manners and propriety. Some peoples prefer the despotism of dictatorship or the rule of an oligarchy. This, we do not understand. In fact, many of our people do not believe that any people can possibly prefer order to freedom. When we hear of such countries, we wonder what kind of people those are.

But he produced an improved way of life for his people. Compared with other Latin American countries, the Dominican Republic was superior from every standpoint except one. The one exception was that Trujillo was a dictator. The State Department does not tolerate dictators. But which government in Latin America has what we call a democracy?

Therefore the State Department intervened in the affairs of the Dominican Republic. The intervention went so far that we cut off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic. Trujillo was assassinated and an orderly country was thrown into chaos.

It will be protested that I falsely connect our cutting off diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic and the assassination of Trujillo. I maintain that the two events are connected in the sense that the assassins must have assumed that they were pleasing the United States and would be duly rewarded when they set up a regime of their own. It is to be noted that Trujillo was assassinated after the United States cut off diplomatic relations.

As a result, the orderly, prosperous Dominican Republic has been thrown into chaos. A country that consistently supported American policy in the United Nations is no longer friendly to the United States. Unless our government changes its policy toward the Dominican Republic, the Communists, in a month or two, will take the place without the slightest resistance.

We intervened in Cuba and got rid of the dictator, Batista. We did everything possible to support Castro. Herbert Matthews' book on Cuba, intended to be critical of State Department policy because it rejected his ideas, is nevertheless an explanation and defense of the State Department policy of intervention. In Cuba, this policy produced the anti-American regime of Fidel Castro.

The current policy of intervention is based on the assumption that it is possible in Washington to determine for every country in the world which is a good and which is a bad government. The defense against such an arbitrary intervention in the affairs of other countries is for them to become anti-American. This, in varying degrees, is now a universal pattern.

DOPE — 10 CENTS A SHOT

That word, in its worst form, is and should be the most hated in the English language. And the people who sell it illegally are just about the lowest form of life imaginable.

In it is wrapped up crime, bad health, tragedy and death when it is used incorrectly and illegally.

The deadly menace of the dope traffic is pointed up rather sharply in a pamphlet put out by the Narcotic Educational Foundation of America, formerly the Anti-Narcotic League of America.

The discussion is hard - hitting and should make all Americans take a closer look around home. In this particular pamphlet, passed on to us by Monroe Chief of Police James C. Kelly Jr., the foundation takes only one phase of the dope traffic, a relatively new one, and shows what is going on. Under the heading "Warning to Parents — Amphetamine — Death in Small Doses," the phamphlet should be of vital interest to parents of this area because it deals with the effect of this dope on young people — and how easy it is to obtain.

Said the foundation:

"Here is a frightening fact which every parent concerned with the welfare of our young people must face: A new and insidious drug habit is spreading among our teen-agers. "Bennies," amphetamine, at 10 cents a pill, is within range of any boy's pocketbook and can ruin any teen-ager's life.

"Rings of youthful amphetamine users have cropped up in widely scattered areas, ranging from Anchorage, Alaska to Miami, Florida. But because of easy supplies, inadequate laws and pitifully few enforcement officers, this blight is largely uncontrolled."

Just how do "lift pills" affect the user?

"The pills are worse than marijuana," a teen-age user recently told police officers in another section of the country, "because after you take them you are ready to do anything. A lot of fights start that way. You feel like you can lick anybody."

Commissioner George P. Larrick of the Food and Drug administration, the agency charged with the policing of this drug, says, "These pills produce a sense of exhilaration, a feeling of well-being, and perhaps a bolstering of courage to the point that juveniles may indulge in anti-social activities ranging from theft to the most degraded sex conduct.

"There is a definite relationship between the illegal sale of these drugs and juvenile delinquency," he said. "They are to be sold only on a doctor's prescription, but in every big U.S. city, there is at least one source that willingly violates the law. For example, investigation of a complaint made to us by police in southwestern Missouri led to an interview with a 16-year-old girl who stated that she was seduced and rendered pregnant while in a semi-conscious state as a consequence of of taking amphetamines and beer.

The foundation, in pointing up the horrors of the drug, charged that millions of "thrill pills" are sold without prescription — which is in violation of the law. It said that the recent, abrupt rise in the use of amphetamines is reflected in the statistics kept by the U. S. Tariff Commission. In 1949, drug manufacturers produced 15,500 pounds of amphetamine, which was converted into a billion and a half pills. Latest figures show that they are turning out 52,000 pounds annually for a total of 5,200,000,000 pills, or, to put it another way, 33 pills for every man, woman and child in this country.

What's more, the foundation said, this figure represents only the amphetamines produced by reputable drug companies. It does not include the large quantities turned out in makeshift labs in basements and out - of - the - way places.

A few months ago, at a hearing in Los Angeles before a U. S. Senate subcommittee investigating juvenile crime, police officers described how amphetamine was being bootlegged to teen-agers along the West Coast. For example, it was brought out, one girl alone was sold 1300 tablets because she said she was going on a vacation and needed them for her diet.

"Of course, what she really needed them for was a wild teen party that developed into a sex orgy — two of those young girls became pregnant," authorities said.

The foundation pointed out that the ultimate danger of teen-age addiction to lift pills is that they lead the young users into dead-end heroin and morphine traps.

In case you are not familiar with it, amphetamine, when properly prescribed by a doctor, has several useful functions. It is used in connection with dieting, since it allays hunger, and many psychiatrists use it as a temporary aid while treating patients suffering from severe depressions. It is also important in the treatment of alcoholics.

But taken indiscriminately by growing boys and girls, it can do only harm. Harry J. Anslinger, Commissioner of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, said that "amphetamines stimulate the central nervous system and cause the body to burn up energy that should be kept in reserve. A recent medical journal report pointed out that the amphetamines "are capable of producing toxic delirium in which the individual sees imaginary figures and shapes. However, amphetamines are not addictive in the same sense as heroin, for example. You can stop them and suffer no physical harm, while it is different with heroin.

Authorities also point out that the lift - pill habit is not confined to teen-agers. Federal officers are concerned over the widespread use of these pills by long - distance truck drivers who have smashed their trucks on straightaway stretches with no other car in sight. These drivers (the ones who survived) often report that they swerved to avoid oncoming cars, but investigating officers know the answer when they find a couple of the telltale pills among the cab's wreckage.

Perhaps the most notorious user of amphetamines was Carl Hall, the brutal kidnaper - murderer of little Bobby Greenlease. He admitted to the police that he had been under the influence of pills at the time of the kidnaping and was averaging about eight pills a day.

Oklahoma Senate committee investigators found wide use of the pill in that state. Representative Robert O. Cunningham, chairman of the committee, personally went on 76 raids with crime bureau men. The raids were made on amphetamine - beer parties.

"Most of the kids came from the better class of homes," he said. "We found the participants, who ranged in age from 13 to 18, often in the nude."

Cunningham said they found a druggist who admitted that he had sold 130,000 lift pills during the preceding year, all to teen-agers who had no prescription for them.

It was pointed out that most of the states have either very weak statutes regarding these drugs or drugs can be secured by anyone with comparative ease.

In Louisiana no form of narcotics can be sold without a doctor's prescription and no prescription which contains any form of narcotics can be refilled without the doctor ordering it. Any druggist who sells amphetamine pills without a prescription or who refills a prescription without a doctors orders are violating the law and are aiding the dope traffic. Most druggists keep a close watch on this sort of thing and will not allow it to exist. Even the person who asked that such a prescription be refilled is violating the law.

The Twin City area, it should be pointed out, is relatively free of this type of stuff — primarily through the rigid and good law enforcement here and the cooperation of all peoples concerned.

About Monroe, Chief Kelly had this to say:

"We're fortunate in not having dope traffic in Monroe. We have had the occasion to investigate in some instances the use of morphine, marijuana, barbituates and the selling of medicine involving narcotics without prescriptions but these instances have been on rare occasions.

"We also have made several cases during past years concerning narcotics but as a general rule, there are no organized dope rings or organized rackets dealing in dope in the city, and we can be thankful for that."

It is good that no major dope threat exists here. We can keep it that way. And parents can particularly help. If you see anything suspicious in your own children—or among young people with whom they associate, have law enforcement officers check it out.

You should keep in mind, they are not out to prosecute the young people who use it, but to help cure them and to catch the guilty who are making it possible for them to get narcotics. With parents and law enforcement working together, we don't believe the dope traffic can ever flourish.

HERE AND THERE

Is the present Berlin situation similar to the situation that existed in 1939 when British Prime Minister Chamberlain went to Munich and negotiated with Hitler. Experts say this one factor probably caused World War II — or at least caused it to break out quicker than it did.

It now appears that the Kennedy administration leans toward the same sort of appeasement on Berlin as Chamberlain did on another piece of European land. There are reports that the president and his advisers both in and out of the State Department are inclined toward diluting our "firmness" on the Berlin question, but fear a popular reaction if the appeasement becomes clear to the people. There is nothing to negotiate on Berlin. We should emphasize that and quit talking about negotiating. When we say we are willing to negotiate we are admitting there is something illegal about our being there. Let's forget the word negotiate . . .

The United States is definitely wrong again in backing United Nations forces in its efforts to seize the rich Katanga province in the Congo for the central government. In case you are not aware of it, the new central Congolese government is leaning toward the Soviets. In fact, Moscow sees the group as being in the Communist pocket. The Katanga government favors us — and yet we are backing a move to place them under communist domination and away from us. How stupid can we get? . . .

After trying out the president's famous rocking chair during a visit to the White House, Congressman Robert R. Barry (R-N. Y.) described it as a perfect symbol for the New Frontier. "You get the feeling of motion," he said, "without really getting anywhere." . . .

Thomas Jefferson said: "I am for a government that is rigorously frugal and simple, and not for one that multiplies offices to make partisans, that is, to get votes, and by every device increase the public debt under the guise of being a public benefit." One thing is for sure, if Jefferson had lived in our day, he wouldn't have even been elected a dog catcher . . .

Jumping to conclusions — and how many do you agree with?:

1. A pretty woman who is nearsighted is more physically alluring to most men than a really lovely woman with 20-20 eyesight . . .

2. The best possible wife for a man over 30 is an ex-nurse who also has worked for at least five years as an airline hostess . . .

3. People who keep German shepherd dogs as pets are more likely to have hidden inferiority complexes than those who favor dachshunds . . .

4. There are more good teen-agers in America today than ever before in our history . . .

5. Beware of the man whose fingernails are always neatly trimmed and whose shoes are always brightly polished . . .

6. It is always easier to get a raise in salary from a boss who inherited his firm than from an ex-office boy who had to claw his way to the top . . .

7. The most troublesome wife is a former secretary who was strong enough in the office to boss her boss . . .

Another Top Long Novel By Robert Wilder

PLOUGH THE SEA By Robert Wilder (Putnam, $4.95).

Just about any book written by Robert Wilder is interesting and exciting. And Plough The Sea is no different.

The setting is the Caribbean — an area of deceptive beauty. It is here that men have long contested for power and wealth and for the bodies and minds of those they subjugated.

For centuries pirates, slavers and adventurers have ravaged it. Revolution has stained the white beaches crimson. It has been pillaged by black and white alike and torn by the conflict of color and prejudice, greed and ambition.

In this emotionally and explosive novel, Wilder has caught the magic of the islands which lie along the Winward Passage and stretch northeastward to the Bahama Banks.

As timely as tomorrow's headlines, as charged with violence and danger as the hurricanes which are brewed there, the novel is the story of Jorge Ojeda and Ferris Dessaling; the one created in the image of the pirates who sailed the Spanish Main; the other a girl reared in the tradition in which wealth, position and social prejudices are not only taken for granted but form an indisputable way of life.

For Ojeda, ex-Marine and son of a Tampa cigar maker, the Island of San Rafael was the citadel, the pinnacle upon which he could stand alone and unapproachable, beyond the reach of those who once had spoken his name with contempt. To San Rafael he brought a mystical conviction of his destiny and the belief that nothing he could do would swerve his life from its predestined course, and there he was surrounded by those who spelled his hope — or his downfall.

Plough The Sea is a novel of tremendous power and sincerity, of love and conflict and an unforgettable central character driven by forces which he does not quite understand but accepts unquestioningly.

Camera Notes

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

The "1962 Photography Annual" (Ziff-Davis, $1.25) is a visual smorgasbord, a potpourri of great pictures served up to suit every photographic taste at a popular price.

The volume contains many photos of great beauty and simplicity. Others are reflections of life's realities from pleasant memories to grim reminders. And there are some that are carefully contrived either with artistic ability or from a knowledge of photographic techniques.

Following a formula of previous years, the annual presents capsule portfolios of outstanding photographers' work (eight this year), a selection of top advertising and illustrative photography, an enlarged international cross - section and some of the prize - winning photos and photographic books of the year.

In addition, there is the helpful "Notes on the Pictures" section which describes how each picture was made or gives some pertinent information about it. This feature is of such universal interest that it has been translated into appropriate foreign languages for insertion in 100,000 copies earmarked for Europe, Japan and Latin America.

Digging into the mine of informative material about the pictures at the rear of the book, I was impressed with the ingenuity used to create some of the startling effects.

RUNNING THE SCALES

Monroe Trumpeter Sounds Long Horn

By JOHN CALE

"Who can play an 'Aida' trumpet?"

This was the call issued to members of the 3rd Armored Division of the U. S. Army stationed near Frankfurt, Germany, several weeks ago.

One of those answering the call was Staff Sergeant Clyde Hammett whose home address is 4001 Gerald Street, Monroe. Did the sergeant know what he was letting himself in for? Apparently so. He and three other musicians of the division's band were selected to perform on the six - foot long, single valve trumpets at the Frankfort City Theatre's presentation of the Verdi opera, "Aida."

The occasion came about when the theatre manager found there were no German musicians available in the area who could play the area who could play the long-stemmed instruments. An appeal to the Frankfurt Amerika Haus brought in the military musicians.

And the deal is on the typical U. S. overseas aid plan of all give and no take. For their extra duty heralding Aida's triumphant march in the final act of that opera, Sergeant Hammett and his co - trumpeters will receive 50 Deutsche Marks per performance.

Back in northeast Louisiana, the date for the Caldwell Parish Art Festival has been set for October 14. This event has grown over the past six years into the largest rural art display in the state.

In this area, it is recognized as a friendly, open competition aimed at stimulating a wide range of artistic media. The event is sponsored by the Caldwell Parish library board.

Eight lectures and concerts have been scheduled by the Northeast State College concerts association for the 1961 - 62 season. Ballard singer Earl Spencer will start things moving again on January 15, and the annual concert of the Twin City Symphony Orchestra featuring the 1962 winners of the organization's piano concerto contest will follow on February 15.

Meredith Wilson's broadway musical, "The Music Man," with a cast of 50 — many from the original production — will hit town March 7. Spanish dancer Jose Greco and his company of 25 will follow on March 13.

Imogene Coca, Arthur Treacher and King Donovan with supporting cast will appear in "A Thurber Carnival," slated for April 14. According to Dr. Harry Lemert, chairman of the Northeast series, at least one additional attraction will be announced when arrangements are completed.

Target date for the opening of "Teahouse of the August Moon," Playhouse calendar for October 20. This first production of Little Theatre's 1961 regular season is a comedy based on East meeting West on Okinawa in the Pacific.

The Curse Of Jezebel One You Must Read

THE CURSE OF JEZEBEL By Frank G. Slaughter (Doubleday, $3.95).

One of the most dramatic episodes of the Old Testament is that of Jezebel and her husband, Ahab, King of Israel.

In retelling this violent story of intrigue, love and evil, Slaughter has captured all of the vivid color of its era, as well as the character of the woman whose name has since become a synonym for lust and treachery.

The light of fear never showed in Jezebel's eyes — not when she embraced a man for the sole purpose of sinking a dagger into his back, not when she bought a vineyard for the price of murder, not when she held the heir to the throne of Israel as a hostage. She was a woman who used anyone or anything to further her ambition — and a woman who dispassionately believed no man could resist her beauty.

One man, among many, who came under her spell was Prince Michael of Judah. Handsome and virile, Michael was loved and respected on the battlefield and in the palace.

Michael's true love was the beautiful lady Miriam, who he had rescued when her caravan was attacked by robbers. But his devotion to Miriam was threatened by the hypnotic attraction of the bewitching Queen of Evil — an attraction he was powerless to resist.

In this great novel, Slaughter has brought all his characters remarkably to life — the good King Ahab, bewildered and embittered by his fiendish wife; the old Prophet Elijah, steadfast in his belief in the will of his God; the worshipers of Baal, who leered at the lascivious dance to their goddess, and the soldiers on foot, horse, and chariot, who raced to battle when the clear blast of a ram's horn signaled attack.

The novel weaves the pandemonium of battles, the intrigues of nations rising and falling.

He Butled For Three Presidents

MY 21 YEARS IN THE WHITE HOUSE. By Alonzo Fields. Coward-McCann. $4.

The White House's former chief butler reveals nothing very profound in this volume, as it is written mainly from the cup and saucer viewpoint among the pageantry of historical figures.

But it is interesting to learn that he found the Hoovers very stiff and formal, and that the maids would hide in a broom closet to escape being seen; that the Roosevelts were informal and unpredictable, but magnetic; and that the Trumans were Fields' favorite family. He felt that Truman was more basically democratic and more genuinely human than any of the others.

Of the many distinguished guests Fields saw from 1931 to 1953, by far the most colorful was Winston Churchill, and there is an amusing chapter on a secret visit Churchill made here early in the war.

Fields' book provides a backstage footnote to some action - packed years at the center of many historical events.

DOPE — 10 CENTS A SHOT

That word, in its worst form, is and should be the most hated in the English language. And the people who sell it illegally are just about the lowest form of life imaginable.

In it is wrapped up crime, bad health, tragedy and death when it is used incorrectly and illegally.

The deadly menace of the dope traffic is pointed up rather sharply in a pamphlet put out by the Narcotic Educational Foundation of America, formerly the Anti-Narcotic League of America.

The discussion is hard - hitting and should make all Americans take a closer look around home. In this particular pamphlet, passed on to us by Monroe Chief of Police James C. Kelly Jr., the foundation takes only one phase of the dope traffic, a relatively new one, and shows what is going on. Under the heading "Warning to Parents — Amphetamine — Death in Small Doses," the pamphlet should be of vital interest to parents of this area because it deals with the effect of this dope on young people — and how easy it is to obtain.

Said the foundation:

"Here is a frightening fact which every parent concerned with the welfare of our young people must face: A new and insidious drug habit is spreading among our teen-agers. "Bennies," amphetamine, at 10 cents a pill, is within range of any boy's pocketbook and can ruin any teen-ager's life.

"Rings of youthful amphetamine users have cropped up in widely scattered areas, ranging from Anchorage, Alaska to Miami, Florida. But because of easy supplies, inadequate laws and pitifully few enforcement officers, this blight is largely uncontrolled."

Just how do "lift pills" affect the user?

"The pills are worse than marijuana," a teen-age user recently told police officers in another section of the country, "because after you take them you are ready to do anything. A lot of fights start that way. You feel like you can lick anybody."

Commissioner George P. Larrick of the Food and Drug administration, the agency charged with the policing of this drug, says, "These pills produce a sense of exhilaration, a feeling of well-being, and perhaps a bolstering of courage to the point that juveniles may indulge in anti-social activities ranging from theft to the most degraded sex conduct. "There is a definite relationship between the illegal sale of these drugs and juvenile delinquency," he said. "They are to be sold only on a doctor's prescription, but in every big U.S. city, there is at least one source that willingly violates the law. For example, investigation of a complaint made to us by police in southwestern Missouri led to an interview with a 16-year-old girl who stated that she was seduced and rendered pregnant while in a semi-conscious state as a consequence of of taking amphetamines and beer.

The foundation, in pointing up the horrors of the drug, charged that millions of "thrill pills" are sold without prescription — which is in violation of the law. It said that the recent, abrupt rise in the use of amphetamines is reflected in the statistics kept by the U. S. Tariff Commission. In 1949, drug manufacturers produced 15,500 pounds of amphetamine, which was converted into a billion and a half pills. Latest figures show that they are turning out 52,000 pounds annually for a total of 5,200,000,000 pills, or, to put it another way, 33 pills for every man, woman and child in this country.

What's more, the foundation said, this figure represents only the amphetamines produced by reputable drug companies. It does not include the large quantities turned out in makeshift labs in basements and out - of - the - way places.

A few months ago, at a hearing in Los Angeles before a U. S. Senate subcommittee investigating juvenile crime, police officers described how amphetamine was being bootlegged to teen-agers along the West Coast. For example, it was brought out, one girl alone was sold 1300 tablets because she said she was going on a vacation and needed them for her diet.

"Of course, what she really needed them for was a wild teen party that developed into a sex orgy — two of those young girls became pregnant," authorities said.

The foundation pointed out that the ultimate danger of teen-age addiction to lift pills is that they lead the young users into dead-end heroin and morphine traps.

In case you are not familiar with it, amphetamine, when properly prescribed by a doctor, has several useful functions. It is used in connection with dieting, since it allays hunger, and many psychiatrists use it as a temporary aid while treating patients suffering from severe depressions. It is also important in the treatment of alcoholics.

But taken indiscriminately by growing boys and girls, it can do only harm. Harry J. Anslinger, Commissioner of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, said that "amphetamines stimulate the central nervous system and cause the body to burn up energy that should be kept in reserve. A recent medical journal report pointed out that the amphetamines "are capable of producing toxic delirium in which the individual sees imaginary figures and shapes. However, amphetamines are not addictive in the same sense as heroin, for example. You can stop them and suffer no physical harm, while it is different with heroin.

Authorities also point out that the lift - pill habit is not confined to teen-agers. Federal officers are concerned over the widespread use of these pills by long - distance truck drivers who have smashed their trucks on straightaway stretches with no other car in sight. These drivers (the ones who survived) often report that they swerved to avoid oncoming cars, but investigating officers know the answer when they find a couple of the telltale pills among the cab's wreckage.

Perhaps the most notorious user of amphetamines was Carl Hall, the brutal kidnaper - murderer of little Bobby Greenlease. He admitted to the police that he had been under the influence of pills at the time of the kidnaping and was averaging about eight pills a day.

Oklahoma Senate committee investigators found wide use of the pill in that state. Representative Robert O. Cunningham, chairman of the committee, personally went on 76 raids with crime bureau men. The raids were made on amphetamine - beer parties.

"Most of the kids came from the better class of homes," he said. "We found the participants, who ranged in age from 13 to 18, often in the nude."

Cunningham said they found a druggist who admitted that he had sold 130,000 lift pills during the preceding year, all to teen-agers who had no prescription for them.

It was pointed out that most of the states have either very weak statutes regarding these drugs or drugs can be secured by anyone with comparative ease.

In Louisiana no form of narcotics can be sold without a doctor's prescription and no prescription which contains any form of narcotics can be refilled without the doctor ordering it. Any druggist who sells amphetamine pills without a prescription or who refills a prescription without a doctors orders are violating the law and are aiding the dope traffic. Most druggists keep a close watch on this sort of thing and will not allow it to exist. Even the person who asked that such a prescription be refilled is violating the law.

The Twin City area, it should be pointed out, is relatively free of this type of stuff — primarily through the rigid and good law enforcement here and the cooperation of all peoples concerned.

About Monroe, Chief Kelly had this to say:

"We're fortunate in not having dope traffic in Monroe. We have had the occasion to investigate in some instances the use of morphine, marijuana, barbituates and the selling of medicine involving narcotics without prescriptions but these instances have been on rare occasions.

"We also have made several cases during past years concerning narcotics but as a general rule, there are no organized dope rings or organized rackets dealing in dope in the city, and we can be thankful for that."

It is good that no major dope threat exists here. We can keep it that way. And parents can particularly help. If you see anything suspicious in your own children— or among young people with whom they associate, have law enforcement officers check it out.

You should keep in mind, they are not out to prosecute the young people who use it, but to help cure them and to catch the guilty who are making it possible for them to get narcotics. With parents and law enforcement working together, we don't believe the dope traffic can ever flourish.

HERE AND THERE

Is the present Berlin situation similar to the situation that existed in 1939 when British Prime Minister Chamberlain went to Munich and negotiated with Hitler. Experts say this one factor probably caused World War II — or at least caused it to break out quicker than it did.

It now appears that the Kennedy administration leans toward the same sort of appeasement on Berlin as Chamberlain did on another piece of European land. There are reports that the president and his advisers both in and out of the State Department are inclined toward diluting our "firmness" on the Berlin question, but fear a popular reaction if the appeasement becomes clear to the people. There is nothing to negotiate on Berlin. We should emphasize that and quit talking about negotiating. When we say we are willing to negotiate we are admitting there is something illegal about our being there. Let's forget the word negotiate . . .

The United States is definitely wrong again in backing United Nations forces in its efforts to seize the rich Katanga province in the Congo for the central government. In case you are not aware of it, the new central Congolese government is leaning toward the Soviets. In fact, Moscow sees the group as being in the Communist pocket. The Katanga government favors us — and yet we are backing a move to place them under communist domination and away from us. How stupid can we get? . . .

After trying out the president's famous rocking chair during a visit to the White House, Congressman Robert R. Barry (R-N. Y.) described it as a perfect symbol for the New Frontier. "You get the feeling of motion," he said, "without really getting anywhere." . . .

Thomas Jefferson said: "I am for a government that is rigorously frugal and simple, and not for one that multiplies offices to make partisans, that is, to get votes, and by every device increase the public debt under the guise of being a public benefit." One thing is for sure, if Jefferson had lived in our day, he wouldn't have even been elected a dog catcher . . .

Jumping to conclusions — and how many do you agree with?:

1. A pretty woman who is nearsighted is more physically alluring to most men than a really lovely woman with 20-20 eyesight . . .

2. The best possible wife for a man over 30 is an ex-nurse who also has worked for at least five years as an airline hostess . . .

3. People who keep German shepherd dogs as pets are more likely to have hidden inferiority complexes than those who favor dachshunds . . .

4. There are more good teen-agers in America today than ever before in our history . . .

5. Beware of the man whose fingernails are always neatly trimmed and whose shoes are always brightly polished . . .

6. It is always easier to get a raise in salary from a boss who inherited his firm than from an ex-office boy who had to claw his way to the top . . .

7. The most troublesome wife is a former secretary who was strong enough in the office to boss her boss . . .

Another Top Long Novel By Robert Wilder

PLOUGH THE SEA By Robert Wilder (Putnam, $4.95).

Just about any book written by Robert Wilder is interesting and exciting. And Plough The Sea is no different.

The setting is the Caribbean — an area of deceptive beauty. It is here that men have long contested for power and wealth and for the bodies and minds of those they subjugated.

For centuries pirates, slavers and adventurers have ravaged it. Revolution has stained the white beaches crimson. It has been pillaged by black and white alike and torn by the conflict of color and prejudice, greed and ambition.

In this emotionally and explosive novel, Wilder has caught the magic of the islands which lie along the Winward Passage and stretch northeastward to the Bahama Banks.

As timely as tomorrow's headlines, as charged with violence and danger as the hurricanes which are brewed there, the novel is the story of Jorge Ojeda and Ferris Dessaling; the one created in the image of the pirates who sailed the Spanish Main; the other a girl reared in the tradition in which wealth, position and social prejudices are not only taken for granted but form an indisputable way of life.

For Ojeda, ex-Marine and son of a Tampa cigar maker, the Island of San Rafael was the citadel, the pinnacle upon which he could stand alone and unapproachable, beyond the reach of those who once had spoken his name with contempt. To San Rafael he brought a mystical conviction of his destiny and the belief that nothing he could do would swerve his life from its predestined course, and there he was surrounded by those who spelled his hope — or his downfall.

Plough The Sea is a novel of tremendous power and sincerity, of love and conflict and an unforgettable central character driven by forces which he does not quite understand but accepts unquestioningly.

Camera Notes

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

The "1962 Photography Annual" (Ziff-Davis, $1.25) is a visual smorgasbord, a potpourri of great pictures served up to suit every photographic taste at a popular price.

The volume contains many photos of great beauty and simplicity. Others are reflections of life's realities from pleasant memories to grim reminders. And there are some that are carefully contrived either with artistic ability or from a knowledge of photographic techniques.

Following a formula of previous years, the annual presents capsule portfolios of outstanding photographers' work (eight this year), a selection of top advertising and illustrative photography, an enlarged international cross - section and some of the prize - winning photos and photographic books of the year.

In addition, there is the helpful "Notes on the Pictures" section which describes how each picture was made or gives some pertinent information about it. This feature is of such universal interest that it has been translated into appropriate foreign languages for insertion in 100,000 copies earmarked for Europe, Japan and Latin America.

Digging into the mine of informative material about the pictures at the rear of the book, I was impressed with the ingenuity used to create some of the startling effects.

RUNNING THE SCALES

Monroe Trumpeter Sounds Long Horn

By JOHN CALE

"Who can play an 'Aida' trumpet?"

This was the call issued to members of the 3rd Armored Division of the U. S. Army stationed near Frankfurt, Germany, several weeks ago.

One of those answering the call was Staff Sergeant Clyde Hammett whose home address is 4001 Gerald Street, Monroe. Did the sergeant know what he was letting himself in for? Apparently so. He and three other musicians of the division's band were selected to perform on the six - foot long, single valve trumpets at the Frankfort City Theatre's presentation of the Verdi opera, "Aida."

The occasion came about when the theatre manager found there were no German musicians available in the area who could play the area who could play the long-stemmed instruments. An appeal to the Frankfurt Amerika Haus brought in the military musicians.

And the deal is on the typical U. S. overseas aid plan of all give and no take. For their extra duty heralding Aida's triumphant march in the final act of that opera, Sergeant Hammett and his co - trumpeters will receive 50 Deutsche Marks per performance.

Meredith Wilson's broadway musical, "The Music Man," with a cast of 50 — many from the original production — will hit town March 7. Spanish dancer Jose Greco and his company of 25 will follow on March 13.

Imogene Coca, Arthur Treacher and King Donovan with supporting cast will appear in "A Thurber Carnival," slated for April 14. According to Dr. Harry Lemert, chairman of the Northeast series, at least one additional attraction will be announced when arrangements are completed.

The Curse Of Jezebel One You Must Read

THE CURSE OF JEZEBEL By Frank G. Slaughter (Doubleday, $3.95).

One of the most dramatic episodes of the Old Testament is that of Jezebel and her husband, Ahab, King of Israel.

In retelling this violent story of intrigue, love and evil, Slaughter has captured all of the vivid color of its era, as well as the character of the woman whose name has since become a synonym for lust and treachery.

The light of fear never showed in Jezebel's eyes — not when she embraced a man for the sole purpose of sinking a dagger into his back, not when she bought a vineyard for the price of murder, not when she held the heir to the throne of Israel as a hostage. She was a woman who used anyone or anything to further her ambition — and a woman who dispassionately believed no man could resist her beauty.

One man, among many, who came under her spell was Prince Michael of Judah. Handsome and virile, Michael was loved and respected on the battlefield and in the palace.

Michael's true love was the beautiful lady Miriam, who he had rescued when her caravan was attacked by robbers. But his devotion to Miriam was threatened by the hypnotic attraction of the bewitching Queen of Evil — an attraction he was powerless to resist.

In this great novel, Slaughter has brought all his characters remarkably to life — the good King Ahab, bewildered and embittered by his fiendish wife; the old Prophet Elijah, steadfast in his belief in the will of his God; the worshipers of Baal, who leered at the lascivious dance to their goddess, and the soldiers on foot, horse, and chariot, who raced to battle when the clear blast of a ram's horn signaled attack.

The novel weaves the pandemonium of battles, the intrigues of nations rising and falling.

He Butled For Three Presidents

MY 21 YEARS IN THE WHITE HOUSE. By Alonzo Fields. Coward-McCann. $4.

The White House's former chief butler reveals nothing very profound in this volume, as it is written mainly from the cup and saucer viewpoint among the pageantry of historical figures.

But it is interesting to learn that he found the Hoovers very stiff and formal, and that the maids would hide in a broom closet to escape being seen; that the Roosevelts were informal and unpredictable, but magnetic; and that the Trumans were Fields' favorite family. He felt that Truman was more basically democratic and more genuinely human than any of the others.

Of the many distinguished guests Fields saw from 1931 to 1953, by far the most colorful was Winston Churchill, and there is an amusing chapter on a secret visit Churchill made here early in the war.

Fields' book provides a backstage footnote to some action - packed years at the center of many historical events.

Answers To Big Questions Are Found

NEW YORK AP — Prices and the cost of living dominated business development's this week.

Some answers to the big question—are prices going up or down for all—appeared. They were favorable to the buyer. But the whole picture has yet to develop.

The cost of living dipped, primarily because of an abundance of fresh foods at lower cost.

Automakers, introducing their 1962 models, shaved some prices. They held the line on others and increased a few.

With final assembly work partially resumed at General Motors and Ford working overtime, passenger car production this week exceeded 100,000 for the first time in more than two months.

Mart Takes Slight Loss In September

Foreign, Domestic Worries Cause Dip For Past Month

NEW YORK AP — Bothered by worries, foreign and domestic, the stock market took a moderate loss in September.

The suspenseful labor negotiations with General Motors, accompanied by widespread strikes at various plants, foreign tensions accentuated by the death of United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, price cuts in some industries and prssure from the White House on the steel industry to hold the price line—these provided background music for September's decline in stocks.

The market declined for three straight weeks after Labor Day, the traditional milestone for business and the stock market. Prices ended this week higher on average, due to technical rallies from what analysts called an "oversold" condition.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at 252.40—down 3.10 from their level at the end of August but up 1.20 this week.

The Dow Jones industrial averages dropped 37 this week, closing at 701.21.

The week began with an old-fashioned "blue Monday" as stocks took their worst daily loss in three months. The Dow industrials fell 9.71 to 691.86, breaking their summer support level. As the Dow pierced this support, chart followers sold apprehensively that day.

President Kennedy's speech to the United Nations, in which he on Monday, but it was not credited with the stee decline. More important were the spreading price cuts in aluminum and the feeling that Kennedy's pressure on the steel industry would succeed in keeping steel prices down, leading to what some critics called "profitless prosperity."

A new strike deadline this time against Ford Motor, gave Wall Street something else to worry about. But in spite of this the market managed to mount a sharp technical rebound, particularly strong on Wednesday when the Army announced contract awards of $71.8 million for continued development of the Nike-Zeus antimissile weapon.

Volume was 16,556,424 shares compared with 15,915,210 the week before. Of 1,452 issues traded, 727 declined and 583 advanced.

In the bond market, corporates shook off summertime lethary and were propelled to higher ground. Government bonds also pushed generally higher for a second straight week. Corporate volume for the week was $30.2 million as compared with $28.012 [illegible] for the preceding week.

HOW A FRIEND'S ADVICE GOT ME $12,000

By a Wall Street Journal Subscriber

One day I went to see a banker friend about a loan. He asked a lot of questions about my job.

"Do they pay you weekly?" he asked.

"Very weakly!" I replied, trying to smile.

Well, I didn't get the loan, but I got some advice. Among other things, he told me to read The Wall Street Journal. He said that it should help me get ahead in my job.

That was two years ago. I've been following his advice ever since. I earned the money I needed, instead of borrowing. Last year my income was $12,000.

The other day I dropped in to see my friend at the bank. This time he was ready to give me a loan. "I don't need it," I said. "I just wanted to thank you for your advice, and open an account."

Cotton Weakens During Week; Closes Lower

NEW YORK AP — Cotton [illegible] weakened this week and closed mostly lower on the New York Cotton Exchange with [illegible] 20 cents a bale higher to a bale lower.

The only gain was registered [illegible] distant December contract. [illegible] selling pressure was prompted [illegible] continued favorable weather [illegible] cotton belt, some agitation for [illegible] farmers to plant many more acres next year than the minimum allotment specified by law, [illegible] a prolonged circulation of notice of intent to deliver cotton on [illegible] upcoming October contracts [illegible] due. A limited amount of [illegible] selling also depressed [illegible]

The lateness of the current crop was emphasized by the Census Bureau ginning report showing the smallest figure on record for the first half of September. The total of 428,000 bales from Sept. 1 to 16 compared with 1,099,000 last year and the five-year average of 1,123,000 bales.

Exports in the week ended Friday were estimated by the Foreign service bureau at 94,000 bales vs. 48,000 a week ago and 120,000 a year ago. Exports for the season through Sept. 26 were put at 231,000 bales vs. 279,000 a year earlier.

AUTO OWNER'S DREAM

Search For Economy Fuel Is Continuing

EDITOR'S NOTE — The motorist's fondest dream has been of an automobile that could ignore gas pumps and run on water or air. But the advice is that you don't hold your breath waiting for the dream to turn into a reality.

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT AP — Even [illegible] of engines or some standard [illegible] fuels for automobiles [illegible] drivers were dreaming of using water for fuel.

The steamers tried and failed, although a small cult still talks of their revival. Charlatans got rich quick on magic pills which supposedly turned tap water into gasoline.

But behind it all has been a solid basis of scientific fact—the fuel cell. This is usually defined as an electrochemical device in which the chemical energy of conventional fuels is converted directly into low voltage electrical energy.

Science has known the fuel cell principle since the early 1800s. Over an dover it has been proved sound. But as yet it has not been proved practical, especially for automobiles.

In a paper presented to the American Petroleum Institute's Division of Refining last spring, W. J. Sweeney and C. E. Heath of the Esso Research and Engineering Co. of Linden, N.J., noted that 100 research laboritories the world over are studying fuel cells.

"The hope is that some day a practical fuel cell will be developed which will have twice the efficiency of the best present day thermal power plant—say 80 per cent," the report said. "The surface [illegible] about the fuel cell is that the theoretical concept is sound." This fact has tickled the imagination of everyone from laboratory boy to banker. They seem to say, 'You scientists tell us it's possible, why don't you go and make one,' or 'Someone is going to do it, why not us.'"

The dream car would be powered by electricity. Now it would have to use storage batteries. But unlike conventional batteries, which deliver only the electricity previously stored, a fuel cell generates current as long as fuel is provided.

Ideally, this electricity would come from fuels costing next to nothing.

Before you decide to wait for such a car, consider the opinion of Manuel Shaw, head of electrochemical research, including fuel cells, at the Autolite Co. in Toledo.

Dr. Shaw says, "If you are counting on a fuel cell to take dollars out of you car expense and add only pennies to your water bill—don't."

He says the major problem is cost.

Sweeney and Heath elaborated on this point: "From the standpoint of simplicity, pure hydrogen and pure oxygen are a relatively easy fuel and oxidizer combination around which to develop a fuel cell.

"However, hydrogen is several times as expensive as natural gas, oil or coal. And since one needs eight pounds of pure oxygen for every pound of hydrogen, the oxygen in turn could cost as much as or more than the hydrogen. In the case of natural gas, petroleum or coal, the oxygen required could cost several times more than the fuel."

The Esso scientists say the economics of the fuel cell will depend on how important fuel costs are. In Cases where efficiency is the prime aim, the fuel cell may become the answer.

But they point out the first cost of a complete fuel cell system for an automobile, including controls and motors "is likely to be considerably higher than the first cost of a gasoline engine giving the same top performance."

Since this top performance, meaning maximum horsepower, is almost never used "it is difficult to justify the higher fuel cost of the fuel cell system by the greater fuel economy."

Sweeney and Heath foresee the possible application of the fuel cell to buses, trucks and ships, and to large stationary power plants.

They are confident that because so many are interested in fuel cells and the concept is both attractive and scientifically sound, eventual success is assured.

Just when this will come no one seems willing to predict.

For those car owners who can't wait and who are determined to run their car on water Dr. Shaw has a suggestion — the Stanley Steamer.

Prices, Living Costs Dominant During Week

Oil Industry Needs To Win New Friends

Executive Says Fight In Congress Requires Allies

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — An oil executive bluntly told the industry this week it must win friends in consumer states if it is to win its battles with Congress.

William Kenney, chairman of the public affairs committee of the American Petroleum Institute (API), said all arguments on such vital issues as depletion allowance ultimately must be addressed to Congressmen from consumer areas.

"I think we are too inclined to rely on the comfortable assumption senators and representatives from the oil producing states exist in Congress in sufficient number to take care of the repeated attacks on depletion," said the Shell Oil Co. general counsel.

"Both these ideas are, in my opinion, false and self-deluding," he said. "What we must understand is that the balance of political power is in the consuming states."

Kenney cited Illinois as an example.

"Illinois is a substantial oil producer whose senior senator is one of depletion's long-time foes," he said.

Senator Paul Douglas, D-Ill., has been one of the leaders in recent efforts on the Senate floor to reduce the oil industry's controversial 27½ per cent depletion allowance.

"Many traditional oil states are more consumer oriented than oil industry oriented," Kenney said. "Where the public meets the oil industry is at the gasoline pump and to a surprising degree this is even true of an oil state like Texas. It is here that public sentiment of the industry is formed."

Kenney said percentage depletion fortunately has not become a party issue.

He said a Republican senator from Iowa or a Democratic senator from New Jersey may be sympathetic over the risks involved in wildcat oil and gas operations, but is not particularly interested in whether a Texas producer has an 8 or 12-day production allowable.

"There are a lot more consumers than oil men and a lot more senators and congressmen who are interested in their constituents as consumers than as oil men," he said.

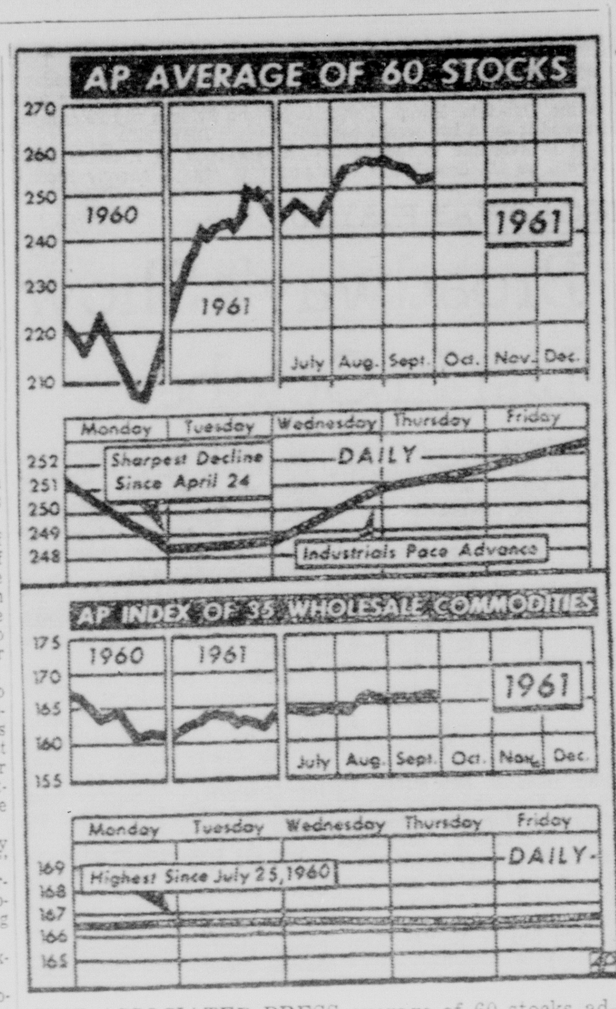
The API represents all segments of the domestic oil and gas industry.

Kenney's public affairs committee has the responsibility of implementing API policies outside the industry and soliciting support.

Kenney said that until comparatively recently the API had failed to accept its share of responsibility for facing up to and doing something about national public and governmental relations problems of importance to the industry.

"This I must admit, but today we are certainly trying to do something about them," he said. "In the past year the API board has formulated policy statements on depletion, highways and gasoline taxes, a national fuels policy, water, the oil industry and the conservation of wild life.

"Other equally important subjects are under study," Kenney said.



THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks advanced for the first time in four weeks, closing today at 252.4 from 251.2 a week ago. The Commodity Index declined slightly this week, closing at 166.4 from 166.5 a week earlier. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Answers To Big Questions Are Found

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— Prices and the cost of living dominated business developments this week.

Some answers to the big question—are prices going up or down this fall—appeared. They were favorable to the buyer. But the whole picture has yet to develop.

The cost of living dipped, principally because of an abundance of fresh foods at lower cost.

Automakers, introducing their 1962 models, shaved some prices. They held the line on others and increased a few.

General Motors snipped $2 to $12 from costs of Chevrolets. Chrysler lowered the prices of Plymouths and Valiants 1.88 per cent and of Dodge 1.75 per cent. American Motors reduced its dealer discount, which could have the effect of a price dip. Studebaker-Packard raised prices an average of $.4 per cent on most models. Ford cut some prices, raised others and left some unchanged.

Major aluminum producers made sweeping price reductions which included ingots, billets and finished mill products.

This was expected to have some influence on the prospect of increases in the steel industry because competition between the two metals is becoming increasingly keen.

The last of the steel company executives to reply to President Kennedy's request that steel prices not be boosted despite a wage hike effective Friday shed no light on their intentions.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. said it does not expect tire prices to increase during the balance of this year.

Consumers, whose reluctance to buy has kept retail trade lagging behind the general business recovery, are still cautious, the Department of Commerce reported. However, a survey of more than 1,000 dealers showed that August sales of appliances, radio and television sets exceeded a year ago.

The University of Michigan's consumer survey indicated that consumers' intention to buy improved somewhat between June and August.

The cost of living drop in August amounted to only one-tenth of one per cent but contrasted with a gain of nearly one-half of one per cent in July.

The Department of Labor said consumer prices advanced one-half of one per cent in the first eight months of this year, less than in any comparable period since 1955.

But the department expected a rise for September due to higher prices of used cars and introduction of fall clothing.

General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union signed a new three-year contract that brought an end to local level strikes and put the biggest carmaker back into operation after a shutdown of nearly two weeks.

The UAW went into stepped up negotiations with Ford, which offered about the same terms as those on which GM settled. The UAW held out for a better contract and set a strike deadline for Tuesday if no agreement has been reached.

With final assembly work partially resumed at General Motors, and Ford working overtime, passenger car production this week exceeded 100,000 for the first time in more than two months.

Mart Takes Slight Loss In September

Foreign, Domestic Worries Cause Dip For Past Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Bothered by worries, foreign and domestic, the stock market took a moderate loss in September.

The suspenseful labor negotiations with General Motors, accompanied by widespread strikes at various plants, foreign tensions accentuated by the death of United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, price cuts in some industries and prssure from the White House on the steel industry to hold the price line—these prvoided background music for September's decline in stocks.

The market declined for three straight weeks after Labor Day, the traditional milestone for business and the stock market. Prices ended this week higher on average, due to technical rallies from what analysts called an "oversold" condition.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at 252.40—down 3.10 from their level at the end of August but up 1.20 this week.

The Dow Jones industrial averages dropped .57 this week, closing at 701.21.

The week began with an old-fashioned "blue Monday" as stocks took their worst daily loss in three months. The Dow industrials fell 9.71 to 691.86, breaking their summer support level. As the Dow pierced this support, chart followers sold apprehensively that day.

President Kennedy's speech to the United Nations, in which he on Monday, but it was not credited with the stee decline. More important were the spreading price cuts in aluminum and the feeling that Kennedy's pressure on the steel industry would succeed in keeping steel prices down, leading to what some critics called "profitless prosperity."

A new strike deadline, this time against Ford Motor, gave Wall Street something else to worry about. But in spite of this the market managed to mount a sharp technical rebound, particularly strong on Wednesday when the Army announced contract awards of $171.8 million for continued development of the Nike-Zeus anti-missile weapon.

Volume was 16,556,424 shares compared with 15,915,210 the week before. Of 1,452 issues traded, 727 declined and 583 advanced.

In the bond market, corporates shook off summertime lethary and were propelled to higher ground. Government bonds also pushed generally higher for a second straight week. Corporate volume for the week was $30.2 million as compared with $28,012,000 for the preceding week.

District's Gas And Oil Activity Drops Slightly

Activity in the 14-parish Monroe Oil & Gas District fell moderately during the past five-day period with a total of 21 new locations being announced by Manager Duncan S. Cook, down only from 24 on the preceding week.

HOW A FRIEND'S ADVICE GOT ME $12,000

By a Wall Street Journal Subscriber

One day I went to see a banker friend about a loan. He asked a lot of questions about my job.

"Do they pay you weekly?" he asked.

"Very weakly!" I replied, trying to smile.

Well, I didn't get the loan, but I got some advice. Among other things, he told me to read The Wall Street Journal. He said that it should help me get ahead in my job.

That was two years ago. I've been following his advice ever since. I earned the money I needed, instead of borrowing. Last year my income was $12,000.

The other day I dropped in to see my friend at the bank. This time he was ready to give me a loan. "I don't need it," I said. "I just wanted to thank you for your advice, and open an account."

PRICES GIVE GROUND

Losses In Grain Deep During Week

CHICAGO (AP) — Losses ran rather deep in the grain futures market last week as prices yielded ground almost daily on liquidation and short selling.

All commodities were down a cent or more in spots with feed grains and soybeans leading the declines on setbacks running to more than two cents generally. Some oats deliveries were off three cents.

Every day this week at least some corn contracts dropped to their lowest levels of the season and on two days oats also hit bottom for one or more contracts.

The retreat mre than cancelled out the previous week's fairly general higher trend. Oats, the only loser last week, was hardest hit. In three successive weeks of weakness, the December delivery has skidded about seven cents a bushel.

Rye, the big gainer for several days earlier this month, apparently rejoined other grains under pressure of liquidation. Brokers said it lost its speculative glamor when West Germany, in need of heavy importations this year, bought about two million bushels from Russia.

Speculators who had been heavy rye buyers on the prospect that the United States and Canada would get all or nearly all the German business moved quickly to cash profits. The drive was almost constant.

Government sales of surplus stocks again was the major bearish factor in the corn pit. Dealers said they could see no letup in government offerings of the grain before spring.

Although export business in wheat was brisk at times, it had little or no durable effect in the pit, despite continued meager sales by producers into commercial channels. With each surge of export demand, the impact was blunted by hedge selling or profit taking.

Soybeans still were up against harvest time pressure and the outlook for a yield far in excess of usage for the crop year. Although advices indicated a tendency among producers to withhold the crop, there still was enough movement apparently to meet immediate processor needs.

At the end of the week, wheat was 1¼-2 cents a bushel lower, December $2.04⅝-¾; corn 2⅛-2⅞ lower, December $1.09¼; oats 2½-3 cents lower, December 69¼-⅝; rye ¼-1 cent lower, December $1.33½-34; soybeans 1⅝-2⅝ lower, November $2.36⅜-⅝.

TO RECEIVE DEGREE

FREDERICTON, N.B. (AP) — V. K. Krishna Menon, India's defense minister, will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree and deliver the convocation address at University of New Brunswick exercises Thursday.

Cotton Weakens During Week; Closes Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures weakened this week and closed mostly lower on the New York Cotton Exchange with final prices 20 cents a bale higher to 10 cents a bale lower.

The only gain was registered by the distant December contract.

Selling pressure was brought on by continued favorable weather in the cotton belt, some agitation for farmers to plant many more acres next year than the minimum allotment specified by law, and a prolonged circulation of notices of intent to deliver cotton on upcoming October contracts soon to be due. A limited amount of switch selling also depressed prices.

The lateness of the current crop was emphasized by the Census Bureau ginning report showing the smallest figure on record for the first half of September. The total of 428,000 bales from Sept. 1 to Sept. 16 compared with 1,099,000 a year ago and the five-year average of 1,123,000 bales.

Exports in the week ended Thursday were estimated by the cotton exchange service bureau at 94,000 bales vs. 48,000 a week ago and 220,000 a year ago. Exports for the season through Sept. 26 were put at 231,000 bales vs. 279,000 a year earlier.

NEW YORK (AP)—New Yorkers were reminded Saturday that winter is on the way.

AUTO OWNER'S DREAM

Search For Economy Fuel Is Continuing

EDITOR'S NOTE — The motorist's fondest dream has been of an automobile that could ignore gas pumps and run on water or air. But the advise that you don't hold your breath waiting for the chance to buy such a vehicle.

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Even before gasoline engines became standard power plants for automobiles, scientists were dreaming of using water for fuel.

The steamers tried and failed, although a small cult still talks of their revival. Charlatans got rich quick on magic pills which supposedly turned tap water into gasoline.

But behind it all has been a solid basis of scientific fact—the fuel cell. This is usually defined as an electrochemical device in which the chemical energy of conventional fuel is converted directly into low voltage electrical energy.

Science has known the fuel cell principle since the early 1800s. Over an dover it has been proved sound. But as yet it has not been proved practical, especially for automobiles.

In a paper presented to the American Petroleum Institute's Division of Refining last spring, W. J. Sweeney and C. E. Heath of the Esso Research and Engineering Co. of Linden, N.J., noted that 100 research laboritories the world over are studying fuel cells.

"The hope is that some day a practical fuel cell will be developed which will have twice the efficiency of the best present day thermal power plant—say 80 per cent," the report said. "The surest thing about the fuel cell is that the theoretical concept is sound! This fact has tickled the imagination of everyone from laboratory boy to banker. They seem to say, 'You scientists tell us it is possible, why don't you go and make one,' or 'Someone is going to do it, why not us:' "

The dream car would be powered by electricity. Now it would have to use storage batteries. But unlike conventional batteries, which deliver only the electricity previously stored, a fuel cell generates current as long as fuel is provided.

Ideally, this electricity would come from fuels costing next to nothing.

Before you decide to wait for such a car; consider the opinion of Manuel Shaw, head of electrochemical research, including fuel cells, at the Autolite Co. in Toledo.

Dr. Shaw says, "If you are counting on a fuel cell to take dollars out of you car expense and add only pennies to your water bill—don't."

He says the major problem is cost.

Sweeney and Heath elaborated on this point: "From the standpoint of simplicity, pure hydrogen and pure oxygen are a relatively easy fuel and oxidizer combination around which to develop a fuel cell.

"However, hydrogen is several times as expensive as natural gas, oil or coal. And since one needs eight pounds of pure oxygen for every pound of hydrogen, the oxygen in turn could cost as much as or more than the hydrogen. In the case of natural gas, petroleum or coal, the oxygen required could cost several times more than the fuel."

The Esso scientists say the economics of the fuel cell will depend on how important fuel costs are. In Cases where efficiency is the prime aim, the fuel cell may become the answer.

But they point out the first cost of a complete fuel cell system for an automobile, including controls and motors "is likely to be considerably higher than the first cost of a gasoline engine giving the same top performance."

Since this top performance, meaning maximum horsepower, is almost never used "it is difficult to justify the higher fuel cost of the fuel cell system by the greater fuel economy."

Sweeney and Heath foresee the possible application of the fuel cell to buses, trucks and ships, and to large stationary power plants.

They are confident that because so many are interested in fuel cells and the concept is both attractive and scientifically sound, eventual success is assured.

Just when this will come no one seems willing to predict.

For those car owners who can't wait and who are determined to run their car on water Dr. Shaw has a suggestion — the Stanley Steamer.

Ouachita Parish Road Work Progress

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
World Staff Writer

"A road is like a man. No sooner is it born than it also begins to die: as soon as traffic hits it, the wearing-out process begins," Wayne Huckaby, Ouachita parish highway engineer commented.

The parish has had a lot of "births" as far as highways are concerned, since Huckaby was hired on June 1.

During the past week, the 15-man surfacing crew has laid four and one-half miles of finished roads.

"With good working conditions, we're now organized," said Huckaby, "so that we can easily lay a mile per day."

Like all other road builders throughout the south, the highway department was plagued by an excessive rainy season this summer.

During that time, they concentrated on putting down base and preparing roads for the blacktopping process which needs hot dry days and cool nights.

Asphalt surfacing began on Thursday, Sept. 21. If the weather holds, the November target date for completion will be met . . . and all roads west of the Ouachita River will be complete by next Friday, October 6.

The Watson School Road, an escape route for families when the river floods in Ward nine's western Ouachita River valley, is 90 per cent complete.

"It won't go under water now," said Huckaby, "we've built it two feet higher than the record flood level of 1958."

ROADWORK BEGINS here in the gravel pits. Dragline operator dumps a huge scoop-full of gravel-filled dirt into tandem trailer truck that will haul material to highway crewmen. (Staff Photos by Ben Bradford Jr.)

BIGGEST USE for gravel is in maintaining parish gravel roads and as base for improved blacktop roads. Bulldozer operator, left, backs off as dragline loads truck. During last week, fuor and one-half miles of gravel-based asphalt roads have been completed in Ouachita.

UNDER WATER

A school bus and mail route, the road, a scant quarter mile from the river, had gone under water each time the Ouachita reached flood stage.

From time to time it was raised slightly. Elevated again a year ago, the road subsided during the winter and summer months, shrinkage occurred, and as a result it wasn't safe for traffic.

The highway department went in this summer and completely reconstructed .8 of a mile, "high, wide and strong enough so it will be able to withstand the high waters."

A continuation of the Philpot Road, it connects with the River Road and comes out on the Vixen Road, a state highway.

One and one - half miles of blacktopping on the Philpott Road were completed Friday. It connects with the Jonesboro Road.

"A few days ago, this was a rough, dusty gravel road," said Huckaby of the Ward eight Philpott Road during a tour over parish highways Friday.

It contrasts starkly with a section of the road to be blacktopped at some future date — rutted, hole - pocked and sandy.

During the past few months, blacktopping also has been completed on sections of Old Sterlington Road and Bayou Bank Road in ward one.

Gourd Bayou Road and Peters Lane, ward three.

Henderson Road, ward five.

Two miles of roads in ward seven.

Worley Hill — Mt. Olive church road and the Redcut Road in ward nine.

Martin Street, a total of 1.01 miles in Bawcomville, ward five, should be completed tomorrow.

The highway department is preparing base in ward six on the Owens Road.

TO WARD 7

From there, crews will move to ward seven, to complete work west of the river.

"Then our next asphalt job will be in Ward 10, on Bon Aire Drive," said the engineer.

After that, work will proceed to ward one: Frenchman's Road out of Fairbanks and a number of roads near Sterlington. Crews are putting base on these roads now, and asphalt will be laid.

Rowland Drive in ward two comes next. Base for asphalt is being prepared there now.

The parish will close out the season in ward four, and have a complete year's blacktopping program.

"Routine housekeeping" of resurfacing is carried out on a number of other roads at the same time that the asphalt projects are underway.

"Highway department personnel, as a whole, are experienced and willing workers," said Huckaby. "The parish is fortunate in having a number of highly skilled machine operators."

Roads being worked on this summer are old gravel routes, being re-conditioned. This in itself is quite a job.

New construction, which starts with clearing land and removing timber, hasn't been tackled because funds available from June 1 to next January 1 wouldn't permit it.

The blacktopping program has gone ahead full force, with dedicated funds from the blacktopping tax.

It's a modern program — but with plenty of historical significance which ties Ouachita to the Biblical era.

Asphalt has been around a long time. Streets of Babylon were paved with it. Excavations have uncovered them.

Asphalt was the "pitch used to waterproof Noah's Ark. It lined the basket in which Moses was concealed in the bullrushes.

King Tut's tomb in the Egypt of the Pharoahs was sealed with asphalt, and thus made air-tight and waterproof.

Open pits of asphalt are scattered throughout the world. Early peoples collected it in baskets and used it in their work.

Archeologists have discovered complete fossils of huge mammals, such as subre - tooth tigers, which fell into the pits and couldn't get loose.

Asphalt used in present - day blacktopping is a crude oil by-product of commercial oil refineries.

That used in the parish comes mostly from refineries near Minden and El Dorado, Ark.

"Danger — Slick oil." The primer coat of oil on mile - long Martin Street in Bawcomville was hardly an hour old when it was viewed Friday.

By tomorrow, it should be dry and ready for the asphalt treatment.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

A through street, Martin carries heavy traffic from the Jonesboro Road to the Cheniere Dam Road (Washington Street).

"The minute you improve a road," said Huckaby, "it brings on an increase in traffic, especially if you change over from gravel to paving."

Three layers of asphalt and washed gravel will be placed on Martin tomorrow, ranging from ¾ of an inch gravel in the first coat to "pea gravel," about a quarter - inch in size, for the top layer.

Then it will be broomed smooth, rolled with heavy steel wheel packing rollers for a finished surface.

Heat and traffic will 'put the icing on the cake'

Through the "inverted penetration" method, heat and traffic brings the asphalt to the surface, fully blending it with the gravel.

This may take up to two weeks, depending on traffic and temperatures.

"Hot sunshine helps bring the roads to a finish," said the engineer.

Gravel comes from pits leased from private owners. The parish pays them a royalty of 30 cents per cubic yard.

Average output is 350 cubic yards of gravel per day, parish-wide. "This could be greater," said Huckaby, "but it's a question of how many trucks we have to haul it and how far to haul the gravel."

Gravel production and hauling has increased by 59 per cent in the last four months.

Production of asphalt, per man hour, shows an equal increase.

M. W. Montgomery, police jury president, comments:

"We are doing a good job on the roads. Despite the rainy weather we have had this summer, we hope to be through around Nov. 20. We were lucky to get an experienced man like Mr. Huckaby at a time when needed one so badly."

IMPROVED SECTION of Philpott Road in ward eight was finished last week. One and one-half miles of new blacktop ends just ahead, in stark contrast to rutted dirt road. Parish highway department will complete a comprehensive road program west of the River this week, then move to the east side.

College Sets Celebration

PINEVILLE (Special) — Louisiana College will celebrate its 55th anniversary Monday with the annual Founders' Day program scheduled for 9:20 a.m. in the Alexandria Hall auditorium.

Featured speaker for the occasion will be Rev. J. D. Carroll, L. C. alumnus and retired Baptist minister who recently celebrated his 50th year in the professions.

Dr. G. Earl Guinn, college president, who will serve as master of ceremonies, will offer a welcome address. Special music will be provided by the L.C. music department, under the direction of Dr. Carroll D. Carruth, department chairman.

The speaker of the morning, who graduated from both the Louisiana College Academy and the college proper (class of '[illegible]) is expected to include L.C. reminiscenses in his talk.

Rev. Carroll has served as pastor of several churches in Louisiana including Temple Baptist, Ruston, Coliseum Place Baptist, New Orleans, and First Baptist, Franklinton. He spent more than 25 years as pastor of the Judson Baptist Church of Walker.

A prominent denomination magazine named him "Rural Pastor of the Year" several years ago.

French Troops Fire On Mob; Four Are Slain

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — French troops fired on a mob of Moslem demonstrators in the Algeria seaport of Philippeville Friday, killing four and wounding 12, police said.

The incident was the bloodiest single clash between demonstrators and the "forces of order" during a week in which settler secret army demonstrations have plagued Algiers and other major cities.

Most Moslems have laid low during the trouble week of settler agitation against President Charles de Gaulle's policy of independence for Algeria.

But in Philippeville Friday afternoon, a mob of more than 1,000 persons marched through the streets behind the coffin of a Moslem killed by a terrorist grenade Thursday. The mob carried a green-and-white rebel flag.

The official reports said agitators in the crowd fired shots at soldiers as they passed a downtown barracks. The soldiers returned the fire, causing casualties.

The Arab mob dispersed quickly.

Prices, Living Costs Dominant During Week

Oil Industry Needs To Win New Friends

Executive Says Fight In Congress Requires Allies

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — An oil executive bluntly told the industry this week it must win friends in consumer states if it is to win its battles with Congress.

William Kenney, chairman of the public affairs committee of the American Petroleum Institute (API), said all arguments on such vital issues as depletion allowance ultimately must be addressed to congressmen from consumer states.

"I think we are too inclined to rely on the comfortable assumption senators and representatives from the oil producing states exist in Congress in sufficient number to take care of the repeated attacks on depletion," said the Shell Oil Co. general counsel.

"Both these ideas are, in my opinion, false and self-defeating," he said. "What we must understand is that the balance of political power is in the consuming states."

Kenney cited Illinois as an example.

"Illinois is a substantial oil producer whose senior senator is one of depletion's long-time foes," he said.

Senator Paul Douglas, D-Ill., has been one of the leaders in recent efforts on the Senate floor to reduce the oil industry's controversial 27½ per cent depletion allowance.

"Many traditional oil states are more consumer oriented than oil industry oriented," Kenney said. "It is here that the public meets the oil industry as at the gasoline pump and to a surprising degree this is even true of an oil state like Texas. It is here that public support of the industry is formed."

Kenney said percentage depletion "fortunately has not become a party issue."

He said a Republican senator from Iowa or a Democratic senator from New Jersey may be sympathetic over the risks involved in wildcat oil and gas operations, but is not particularly interested in whether a Texas producer has an 8 or 12 day production allowable.

"There are a lot more consumers than oil men and a lot more senators and congressmen who are interested in their constituents as consumers than as oil men," he said.

The API represents all segments of the domestic oil and gas industry.

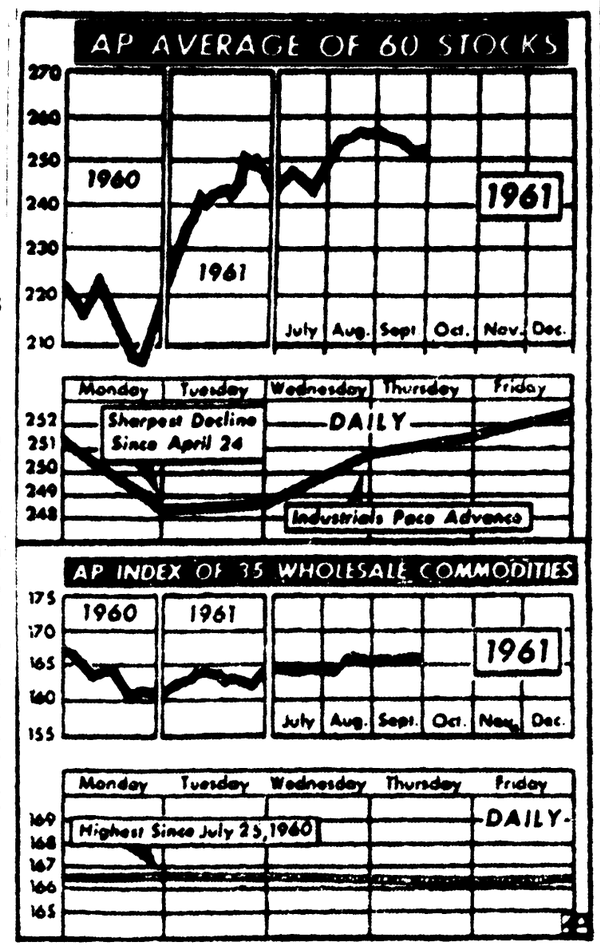
Kenney's public affairs committee has the responsibility of implementing API policies on behalf of the industry and soliciting support.

Kenney said that until comparatively recently the API had failed to accept its share of responsibility in facing up to and doing something about national public and governmental relations problems of importance to the industry.

"This I must admit, but today we are certainly trying to do something about them," he said.

In the past year the API board has formulated policy statements on depletion, highways and gasoline taxes, a national fuels policy, "the oil industry and the conservation of wild life.

"Other equally important subjects are under study," Kenney said.



THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks advanced for the first time in four weeks, closing today at 252.4 from 251.2 a week ago. The Commodity Index declined slightly this week, closing at 166.4 from 166.5 a week earlier. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Answers To Big Questions Are Found

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— Prices and the cost of living dominated business developments this week.

Some answers to the big question—are prices going up or down this fall—appeared. They were favorable to the buyer. But the whole picture has yet to develop.

The cost of living dipped, principally because of an abundance of fresh foods at lower cost.

Automakers, introducing their 1962 models, shaved some prices. They held the line on others and increased a few.

General Motors snipped $2 to $12 from costs of Chevrolets. Chrysler lowered the prices of Plymouths and Valiants 1.88 per cent and of Dodge 1.75 per cent. American Motors reduced its dealer discount, which could have the effect of a price dip. Studebaker-Packard raised prices an average of $4 per cent on most models. Ford cut some prices, raised others and left some unchanged.

Major aluminum producers made sweeping price reductions which included ingots, billets and finished mill products.

This was expected to have some influence on the prospect of increases in the steel industry because competition between the two metals is becoming increasingly keen.

The last of the steel company executives to reply to President Kennedy's request that steel prices not be boosted despite a wage hike effective Friday shed no light on their intentions.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. said it does not expect tire prices to increase during the balance of this year.

Consumers, whose reluctance to buy has kept retail trade lagging behind the general business recovery, are still cautious, the Department of Commerce reported. However, a survey of more than 1,000 dealers showed that August sales of appliances, radio and television sets exceeded a year ago.

The University of Michigan's consumer survey indicated that consumers' intention to buy improved somewhat between June and August.

The cost of living drop in August amounted to only one-tenth of one per cent but contrasted with a gain of nearly one-half of one per cent in July.

The Department of Labor said consumer prices advanced one-half of one per cent in the first eight months of this year, less than in any comparable period since 1955.

But the department expected a rise for September due to higher prices of used cars and introduction of fall clothing.

General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union signed a new three-year contract that brought an end to local level strikes and put the biggest carmaker back into operation after a shutdown of nearly two weeks.

The UAW went into stepped up negotiations with Ford, which offered about the same terms as those on which GM settled. The UAW held out for a better contract and set a strike deadline for Tuesday if no agreement has been reached.

With final assembly work partially resumed at General Motors, and Ford working overtime, passenger car production this week exceeded 100,000 for the first time in more than two months.

Mart Takes Slight Loss In September

Foreign, Domestic Worries Cause Dip For Past Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Bothered by worries, foreign and domestic, the stock market took a moderate loss in September.

The suspenseful labor negotiations with General Motors, accompanied by widespread strikes at various plants, foreign tensions accentuated by the death of United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, price cuts in some industries and prssure from the White House on the steel industry to hold the price line—these prvoided background music for September's decline in stocks.

The market declined for three straight weeks after Labor Day, the traditional milestone for business and the stock market. Prices ended this week higher on average, due to technical rallies from what analysts called an "oversold" condition.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at 252.40—down 3.10 from their level at the end of August but up 1.20 this week.

The Dow Jones industrial averages dropped .57 this week, closing at 701.21.

The week began with an old-fashioned "blue Monday" as stocks took their worst daily loss in three months. The Dow industrials fell 9.71 to 691.86, breaking their summer support level. As the Dow pierced this support, chart followers sold apprehensively that day.

President Kennedy's speech to the United Nations, in which he on Monday, but it was not credited with the stee decline. More important were the spreading price cuts in alumiaum and the feeling that Kennedy's pressure on the steel industry would succeed in keeping steel prices down, leading to what some critics called "profitless prosperity."

A new strike deadline, this time against Ford Motor, gave Wall Street something else to worry about. But in spite of this the market managed to mount a sharp technical rebound, particularly strong on Wednesday when the Army announced contract awards of $171.8 million for continued development of the Nike-Zeus anti-missile weapon.

Volume was 16,556,424 shares compared with 15,915,210 the week before. Of 1,452 issues traded, 727 declined and 583 advanced.

In the bond market, corporates shook off summertime lethary and were propelled to higher ground. Government bonds also pushed generally higher for a second straight week. Corporate volume for the week was $30.2 million as compared with $28,012,000 for the preceding week.

PRICES GIVE GROUND

Losses In Grain Deep During Week

CHICAGO (AP) — Losses ran rather deep in the grain futures market last week as prices yielded ground almost daily on liquidation and short selling.

All commodities were down a cent or more in spots with feed grains and soybeans leading the declines on setbacks running to little or no durable effect in the more than two cents generally, despite continued meager sales by producers into commercial channels. With each surge of export demand the impact was offset by hedge selling or profit taking.

Government sales of surplus stocks again was the major bearish factor in the corn pit. Dealers said they could see no letup in Government offerings of the grain before spring.

Although export business in wheat was brisk at times, it had little or no durable effect in the market.

Soybeans still were up against harvest time pressure and the outlook for a yield far in excess of those for the crop year. Although advices indicated a tendency among producers to withhold the crop, there still was enough movement apparently to meet immediate processor needs.

At the end of the week, wheat was 1½-2 cents a bushel lower, December $2.04⅝-¾; corn 2¼-2⅞ lower, December $1.09¼; oats 2-2⅜ cents lower, December 69¼-½; rye ¼-1 cent lower, December $1.33⅞-34; soybeans 1⅜-2⅞ lower, November $2.36⅜-⅝.

Hills Named President Of Sulphur Firm

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — Robert C. Hills, a native of New Orleans, has been elected president of Freeport Sulphur Co., it was announced Friday by Langbourne M. Williams, chariman of the board.

He succeeds Charles A. Wight, who became vice chairman of the board.

Hills has been a director and executive vice president of Freeport since 1955. He joined the company in 1934 as an assistant chemist at Freeport's Grande Ecaille mine, about 50 miles south of New Orleans, after receiving his Bachelor of Science Degree from Tulane in 1932 and a master of Science Degree at Cornell in 1934. He was named assistant to the President in 1947 and was elected a vice president in 1950.

As Executive Vice President, Hills has been in charge of Freeport's present five sulphur-producing properties and was responsible for the construction and start-up in 1960 of the world's first offshore sulphur mine at Grand Isle.

He is also president of Freeport Nickel Co., a subsidiary which created a revolutionary metallurgical process to extract nickel and cobalt from Cuban ores and had successfully begun production when its Cuban properties were seized by the Castro government.

Hills, now a resident of New York City, is a member of the New Orleans Academy of Sciences; The American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers; the American Chemical Society; and the American Mining and Metallurgical Society.

He is married to the former Dorothy Fleury of New Orleans. They have three children, John, Anne and Thomas.

State Income Increase Noted

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A survey by a national business magazine showed Saturday personal income in Louisiana during last July totaled $465,400,000, an increase of 1.8 per cent over the same month last year.

Total personal income in Louisiana for the first seven months of the year was $3,234,000,000, an increase of 1.4 per cent over the same period of 1960.

DURING PAST WEEK

District's Gas And Oil Activity Drops Slightly

Activity in the 14-parish Monroe Oil & Gas District fell moderately during the past five-day period with a total of 21 new locations being announced by Manager Duncan S. Cook, down only from 24 on the preceding week.

Concordia Parish, staked with a total of seven new rigs, led the district in new activity, followed closest by Catahoula Parish with five.

A brisk total of 11 new completions were anounced however, representing wells gauged during the past week or placed into production after earlier completions.

Duncan listed more than 50 locations overall throughout the 14-parish area. Twenty-one rigs were actively engaged in drilling or testing and there was one recompletion.

HOW A FRIEND'S ADVICE GOT ME $12,000

By a Wall Street Journal Subscriber

One day I went to see a banker friend about a loan. He asked a lot of questions about my job.

"Do they pay you weekly?" he asked.

"Very weakly!" I replied, trying to smile.

Well, I didn't get the loan, but I got some advice. Among other things, he told me to read The Wall Street Journal. He said that it should help me get ahead in my job.

That was two years ago. I've been following his advice ever since. I earned the money I needed, instead of borrowing. Last year my income was $12,000.

The other day I dropped in to see my friend at the bank. This time he was ready to give me a loan. "I don't need it," I said. "I just wanted to thank you for your advice, and open an account."

Cotton Weakens During Week; Loses Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures weakened this week and closed mostly lower on the New York Cotton Exchange with final prices 20 cents a bale higher to 10 a bale lower.

The only gain was registered by the distant December contract.

Selling pressure was brought on by continued favorable weather in the cotton belt, some agitation for farmers to plant many more acres next year than the minimum allotment specified by law, and a prolonged circulation of notices of intent to deliver cotton on upcoming October contracts are due. A limited amount of the selling also depressed prices.

The lateness of the current crop was emphasized by the Census Bureau ginning report showing the smallest figure on record for the first half of September. The total of 428,000 bales from Sept. 1 to 16 compared with 1,099,000 last year and the five-year average of 1,123,000 bales.

Exports in the week ended today were estimated by the Foreign service bureau at 94,000 bales vs. 48,000 a week ago and 220 a year ago. Exports for the season through Sept. 26 were put at 1,031,000 bales vs. 279,000 a year earlier.

REMINDED OF WINTERF

NEW YORK (AP)—New Yorkers were reminded Saturday that winter is on the way.

Rockefeller Center opened its outdoor ice skating rink for its 31st consecutive season. The temperature was in the 60's.

AUTO OWNER'S DREAM

Search For Economy Fuel Is Continuing

EDITOR'S NOTE — The motorist's fondest dream has been of an automobile that could ignore gas pumps and run on water or air. But the advice that you don't hold your breath waiting for the chance to buy such a vehicle.

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Even before gasoline engines became standard power plants for automobiles scientists were dreaming of using water for fuel.

The steamers tried and failed, although a small cult still talks of their revival. Charlatans got rich quick on magic pills which supposedly turned tap water into gasoline.

But behind it all has been a solid basis of scientific fact—the fuel cell. This is usually defined as an electrochemical device in which the chemical energy of conventional fuel is converted directly into low voltage electrical energy.

Science has known the fuel cell principle since the early 1800s. Over an dover it has been proved sound. But as yet it has not been proved practical, especially for automobiles.

In a paper presented to the American Petroleum Institute's Division of Refining last spring, W. J. Sweeney and C. E. Heath of the Esso Research and Engineering Co. of Linden, N.J., noted that 100 research laboritories the world over are studying fuel cells.

"The hope is that some day a practical fuel cell will be developed which will have twice the efficiency of the best present day thermal power plant—say 80 per cent," the report said. "The surest thing about the fuel cell is that the theoretical concept is sound! This fact has tickled the imagination of everyone from laboratory boy to banker. They seem to say, 'You scientists tell us it's possible, why don't you go and make one,' or 'Someone is going to do it, why not us!'"

The dream car would be powered by electricity. Now it would have to use storage batteries. But unlike conventional batteries, which deliver only the electricity previously stored, a fuel cell generates current as long as fuel is provided.

Ideally, this electricity would come from fuels costing next to nothing.

Before you decide to wait for such a car, consider the opinion of Manuel Shaw, head of electrochemical research, including fuel cells, at the Autolite Co. in Toledo.

Dr. Shaw says, "If you are counting on a fuel cell to take dollars out of you car expense and add only pennies to your water bill—don't."

He says the major problem is cost.

Sweeney and Heath elaborated on this point: "From the standpoint of simplicity, pure hydrogen and pure oxygen are a relatively easy fuel and oxidizer combination around which to develop a fuel cell.

"However, hydrogen is several times as expensive as natural gas, oil or coal. And since one needs eight pounds of pure oxygen for every pound of hydrogen, the oxygen in turn could cost as much as or more than the hydrogen. In the case of natural gas, petroleum or coal, the oxygen required could cost several times more than the fuel."

The Esso scientists say the economics of the fuel cell will depend on how important fuel costs are. In Cases where efficiency is the prime aim, the fuel cell may become the answer.

But they point out the first cost of a complete fuel cell system for an automobile, including controls and motors "is likely to be considerably higher than the first cost of a gasoline engine giving the same top performance."

Since this top performance, meaning maximum horsepower, is almost never used "it is difficult to justify the higher fuel cost of the fuel cell system by the greater fuel economy."

Sweeney and Heath foresee the possible application of the fuel cell to buses, trucks and ships, and to large stationary power plants.

They are confident that because so many are interested in fuel cells and the concept is both attractive and scientifically sound, eventual success is assured.

Just when this will come no one seems willing to predict.

For those car owners who can't wait and who are determined to run their car on water Dr. Shaw has a suggestion — the Stanley Steamer.

Oil Industry Needs To Win New Friends

Executive Says Fight In Congress Requires Allies

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — An oil executive bluntly told the industry this week it must win friends in consumer states if it is to win its battles with Congress.

William Kenney, chairman of the public affairs committee of the American Petroleum Institute (API), said all arguments on such oil issues as depletion allowance ultimately must be addressed to Congressmen from consumer areas.

"I think we are too inclined to rely on the comfortable assumption senators and representatives from the oil producing states exist in Congress in sufficient number to take care of the repeated attacks on depletion," said the Shell Oil Co. general counsel.

"Both these ideas are, in my opinion, false and self-deluding," he said. "What we must understand is that the balance of political power is in the consuming states."

Kenney cited Illinois as an example.

"Illinois is a substantial oil producer whose senior senator is one of depletion's long-time foes," he said.

Senator Paul Douglas, D-Ill., has been one of the leaders in recent efforts on the Senate floor to reduce the oil industry's controversial 27½ per cent depletion allowance.

"Many traditional oil states are more consumer oriented than oil industry oriented," Kenney said. "Where the public meets the oil industry is at the gasoline pump and to a surprising degree this is even true of an oil state like Texas. It is here that public sentiment of the industry is formed."

Kenney said percentage depletion unfortunately has not become a party issue.

"It said a Republican senator from Iowa or a Democratic senator from New Jersey may be sympathetic over the risks involved in wildcat oil and gas operations, but is not particularly interested in whether a Texas producer has an 8 or 12-day production allowable.

"There are a lot more consumers than oil men and a lot more senators and congressmen who are interested in their constituents as consumers than as oil men," he said.

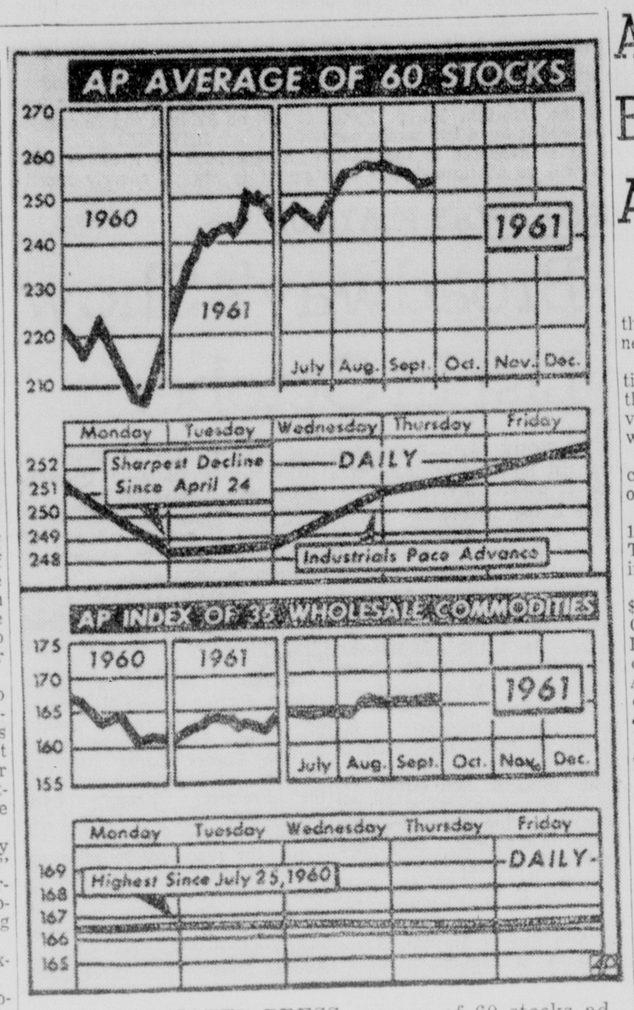
The API represents all segments of the domestic oil and gas industry.

Kenney's public affairs committee has the responsibility of implementing API policies outside the industry and soliciting support.

Kenney said that until comparatively recently the API had failed to accept its share of responsibility in facing up to and doing something about national public and governmental relations problems of importance to the industry.

"This I must admit, but today we are certainly trying to do something about them," he said. "In the past year the API board has formulated policy statements on depletion, highways and gasoline taxes, a national fuels policy, on the oil industry and the conservation of wild life.

"Other equally important subjects are under study," Kenney said.



THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks advanced for the first time in four weeks, closing today at 252.4 from 251.2 a week ago. The Commodity Index declined slightly this week, closing at 166.4 from 166.5 a week earlier. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Answers To Big Questions Are Found

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— Prices and the cost of living dominated business developments this week.

Some answers to the big question—are prices going up or down this fall—appeared. They were favorable to the buyer. But the whole picture has yet to develop.

The cost of living dipped, principally because of an abundance of fresh foods at lower cost.

Automakers, introducing their 1962 models, shaved some prices. They held the line on others and increased a few.

General Motors snipped $2 to $12 from costs of Chevrolets. Chrysler lowered the prices of Plymouths and Valiants 1.88 per cent and of Dodge 1.75 per cent. American Motors reduced its dealer discount, which could have the effect of a price dip. Studebaker-Packard raised prices an average of $.4 per cent on most models. Ford cut some prices, raised others and left some unchanged.

Major aluminum producers made sweeping price reductions which included ingots, billets and finished mill products.

This was expected to have some influence on the prospect of increases in the steel industry because competition between the two metals is becoming increasingly keen.

The last of the steel company executives to reply to President Kennedy's request that steel prices not be boosted despite a wage hike effective Friday shed no light on their intentions.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. said it does not expect tire prices to increase during the balance of this year.

Consumers, whose reluctance to buy has kept retail trade lagging behind the general business recovery, are still cautious, the Department of Commerce reported. However, a survey of more than 1,000 dealers showed that August sales of appliances, radio and television sets exceeded a year ago.

The University of Michigan's consumer survey indicated that consumers' intention to buy improved somewhat between June and August.

The cost of living drop in August amounted to only one-tenth of one per cent but contrasted with a gain of nearly one-half of one per cent in July.

The Department of Labor said consumer prices advanced one-half of one per cent in the first eight months of this year, less than in any comparable period since 1955.

But the department expected a rise for September due to higher prices of used cars and introduction of fall clothing.

General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union signed a new three-year contract that brought an end to local level strikes and put the biggest carmaker back into operation after a shutdown of nearly two weeks.

The UAW went into stepped up negotiations with Ford, which offered about the same terms as those on which GM settled. The UAW held out for a better contract and set a strike deadline for Tuesday if no agreement has been reached.

With final assembly work partially resumed at General Motors, and Ford working overtime, passenger car production this week exceeded 100,000 for the first time in more than two months.

Mart Takes Slight Loss In September

Foreign, Domestic Worries Cause Dip For Past Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Bothered by worries, foreign and domestic, the stock market took a moderate loss in September.

The suspenseful labor negotiations with General Motors, accompanied by widespread strikes at various plants, foreign tensions accentuated by the death of United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, price cuts in some industries and prssure from the White House on the steel industry to hold the price line—these prvoided background music for September's decline in stocks.

The market declined for three straight weeks after Labor Day, the traditional milestone for business and the stock market. Prices ended this week higher on average, due to technical rallies from what analysts called an "oversold" condition.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at 252.40—down 3.10 from their level at the end of August but up 1.20 this week.

The Dow Jones industrial averages dropped .57 this week, closing at 701.21.

The week began with an old-fashioned "blue Monday" as stocks took their worst daily loss in three months. The Dow industrials fell 9.71 to 691.86, breaking their summer support level. As the Dow pierced this support, chart followers sold apprehensively that day.

President Kennedy's speech to the United Nations, in which he on Monday, but it was not credited with the stee decline. More important were the spreading price cuts in aluminum and the feeling that Kennedy's pressure on the steel industry would succeed in keeping steel prices down, leading to what some critics called "profitless prosperity."

A new strike deadline, this time against Ford Motor, gave Wall Street something else to worry about. But in spite of this the market managed to mount a sharp technical rebound, particularly strong on Wednesday when the Army announced contract awards of $171.8 million for continued development of the Nike-Zeus anti-missile weapon.

Volume was 16,556,424 shares compared with 15,915,210 the week before. Of 1,452 issues traded, 727 declined and 583 advanced.

In the bond market, corporates shook off summertime lethary and were propelled to higher ground. Government bonds also pushed generally higher for a second straight week. Corporate volume for the week was $30.2 million as compared with $28,012,000 for the preceding week.

PRICES GIVE GROUND

Losses In Grain Deep During Week

CHICAGO (AP) — Losses ran rather deep in the grain futures market last week as prices yielded ground almost daily on liquidation and short selling.

All commodities were down a cent or more in spots with feed grains and soybeans leading the declines on setbacks running to more than two cents generally. Some oats deliveries were off three cents.

Every day this week at least some corn contracts dropped to their lowest levels of the season and on two days oats also hit bottom for one or more contracts.

The retreat mre than cancelled out the previous week's fairly general higher trend. Oats, the only loser last week, was hardest hit. In three successive weeks of weakness, the December delivery has skidded about seven cents a bushel.

Rye, the big gainer for several days earlier this month, apparently rejoined other grains under pressure of liquidation. Brokers said it lost its speculative glamor when West Germany, in need of heavy importations this year, bought about two million bushels from Russia.

Speculators who had been heavy rye buyers on the prospect that the United States and Canada would get all or nearly all the German business moved quickly to cash profits. The drive was almost constant.

Government sales of surplus stocks again was the major bearish factor in the corn pit. Dealers said they could see no letup in government offerings of the grain before spring.

Although export business in wheat was brisk at times, it had little or no durable effect in the pit, despite continued meager sales by producers into commercial channels. With each surge of export demand, the impact was blunted by hedge selling or profit taking.

Soybeans still were up against harvest time pressure and the outlook for a yield far in excess of usage for the crop year. Although advices indicated a tendency among producers to withhold the crop, there still was enough movement apparently to meet immediate processor needs.

At the end of the week, wheat was 1⅛-2 cents a bushel lower, December $2.04⅝-¾; corn 2⅛-2⅞ lower, December $1.09¼; oats 2½-3 cents lower, December 69¼-⅜; rye ¼-1 cent lower, December $1.33½-34; soybeans 1⅝-2⅝ lower, November $2.36⅜-⅝.

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — Robert C. Hills, a native of New Orleans, has been elected president of Freeport Sulphur Co., it was announced Friday by Langbourne M. Williams, chariman of the board.

He succeeds Charles A. Wight, who became vice chairman of the board.

Hills has been a director and executive vice president of Freeport since 1955. He joined the company in 1934 as an assistant chemist at Freeport's Grande Ecaille mine, about 50 miles south of New Orleans, after receiving his Bachelor of Science Degree from Tulane in 1932 and a master of Science Degree at Cornell in 1934. He was named assistant to the President in 1947 and was elected a vice president in 1950.

As Executive Vice President, Hills has been in charge of Freeport's present five sulphur-producing properties and was responsible for the construction and start-up in 1960 of the world's first offshore sulphur mine at Grand Isle.

He is also president of Freeport Nickel Co., a subsidiary which created a revolutionary metallurgical process to extract nickel and cobalt from Cuban ores and had successfully begun production when its Cuban properties were seized by the Castro government.

Hills, now a resident of New York City, is a member of the New Orleans Academy of Sciences; The American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers; the American Chemical Society; and the American Mining and Metallurgical Society.

He is married to the former Dorothy Fleury of New Orleans. They have three children, John, Anne and Thomas.

HOW A FRIEND'S ADVICE GOT ME $12,000

By a Wall Street Journal Subscriber

One day I went to see a banker friend about a loan. He asked a lot of questions about my job.

"Do they pay you weekly?" he asked.

"Very weakly!" I replied, trying to smile.

Well, I didn't get the loan, but I got some advice. Among other things, he told me to read The Wall Street Journal. He said that it should help me get ahead in my job.

That was two years ago. I've been following his advice ever since. I earned the money I needed, instead of borrowing. Last year my income was $12,000.

The other day I dropped in to see my friend at the bank. This time he was ready to give me a loan. "I don't need it," I said. "I just wanted to thank you for your advice, and open an account."

Cotton Weakens During Week; Closes Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures weakened this week and closed mostly lower on the New York Cotton Exchange with final prices 20 cents a bale higher to 10 cents a bale lower.

The only gain was registered by the distant December contract.

Selling pressure was brought on by continued favorable weather in the cotton belt, some agitation for farmers to plant many more acres next year than the minimum allotment specified by law, and a prolonged circulation of notices of intent to deliver cotton on upcoming October contracts are due. A limited amount of actual selling also depressed prices.

The lateness of the current crop was emphasized by the Census Bureau ginning report showing the smallest figure on record for the first half of September. The total of 428,000 bales from Sept. 1 to 16 compared with 1,099,000 last year and the five-year average of 1,123,000 bales.

Exports in the week ended Thursday were estimated by the Foreign Service bureau at 94,000 bales vs. 48,000 a week ago and 220 a year ago. Exports for the season through Sept. 26 were put at 331,000 bales vs. 279,000 a year earlier.

REMINDED OF WINTERF

NEW YORK (AP)—New Yorkers were reminded Saturday that winter is on the way.

Rockefeller Center opened its outdoor ice skating rink for its 30th consecutive season. The temperature was in the 60's.

AUTO OWNER'S DREAM

Search For Economy Fuel Is Continuing

EDITOR'S NOTE — The motorist's fondest dream has been of an automobile that could ignore gas pumps and run on water or air. But the advise that you don't hold your breath waiting for the chance to buy such a vehicle.

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Even before gasoline engines became standard power plants for automobiles, scientists were dreaming of using water for fuel.

The steamers tried and failed, although a small cult still talks of their revival. Charlatans got rich quick on magic pills which supposedly turned tap water into gasoline.

But behind it all has been a solid basis of scientific fact—the fuel cell. This is usually defined as an electrochemical device in which the chemical energy of conventional fuel is converted directly into low voltage electrical energy.

Science has known the fuel cell principle since the early 1800s. Over an dover it has been proved sound. But as yet it has not been proved practical, especially for automobiles.

In a paper presented to the American Petroleum Institute's Division of Refining last spring, W. J. Sweeney and C. E. Heath of the Esso Research and Engineering Co. of Linden, N.J., noted that 100 research laboritories the world over are studying fuel cells.

"The hope is that some day a practical fuel cell will be developed which will have twice the efficiency of the best present day thermal power plant—say 80 per cent," the report said. "The surest thing about the fuel cell is that the theoretical concept is sound! This fact has tickled the imagination of everyone from laboratory boy to banker. They seem to say, 'You scientists tell us it is possible, why don't you go and make one,' or 'Someone is going to do it, why not us:' "

The dream car would be powered by electricity. Now it would have to use storage batteries. But unlike conventional batteries, which deliver only the electricity previously stored, a fuel cell generates current as long as fuel is provided.

Ideally, this electricity would come from fuels costing next to nothing.

Before you decide to wait for such a car, consider the opinion of Manuel Shaw, head of electrochemical research, including fuel cells, at the Autolite Co. in Toledo.

Dr. Shaw says, "If you are counting on a fuel cell to take dollars out of you car expense and add only pennies to your water bill—don't."

He says the major problem is cost.

Sweeney and Heath elaborated on this point: "From the standpoint of simplicity, pure hydrogen and pure oxygen are a relatively easy fuel and oxidizer combination around which to develop a fuel cell.

"However, hydrogen is several times as expensive as natural gas, oil or coal. And since one needs eight pounds of pure oxygen for every pound of hydrogen, the oxygen in turn could cost as much as or more than the hydrogen. In the case of natural gas, petroleum or coal, the oxygen required could cost several times more than the fuel."

The Esso scientists say the economics of the fuel cell will depend on how important fuel costs are. In Cases where efficiency is the prime aim, the fuel cell may become the answer.

But they point out the first cost of a complete fuel cell system for an automobile, including controls and motors "is likely to be considerably higher than the first cost of a gasoline engine giving the same top performance."

Since this top performance, meaning maximum horsepower, is almost never used "it is difficult to justify the higher fuel cost of the fuel cell system by the greater fuel economy."

Sweeney and Heath foresee the possible application of the fuel cell to buses, trucks and ships, and to large stationary power plants.

They are confident that because so many are interested in fuel cells and the concept is both attractive and scientifically sound, eventual success is assured.

Just when this will come no one seems willing to predict.

Ouachita Parish Road Work Progress

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
World Staff Writer

"A road is like a man. No sooner is it born than it also begins to die: as soon as traffic hits it, the wearing-out process begins," Wayne Huckaby, Ouachita parish highway engineer commented.

The parish has had a lot of "births" as far as highways are concerned, since Huckaby was hired on June 1.

During the past week, the 15-man surfacing crew has laid four and one-half miles of finished roads.

"With good working conditions, we're now organized," said Huckaby, "so that we can easily lay a mile per day."

Like all other road builders throughout the south, the highway department was plagued by an excessive rainy season this summer.

During that time, they concentrated on putting down base and preparing roads for the blacktopping process which needs hot dry days and cool nights.

Asphalt surfacing began on Thursday, Sept. 21. If the weather holds, the November target date for completion will be met . . . and all roads west of the Ouachita River will be complete by next Friday, October 6.

The Watson School Road, an escape route for families when the river floods in Ward nine's western Ouachita River valley, is 90 per cent complete.

"It won't go under water now," said Huckaby, "we've built it two feet higher than the record flood level of 1958."

UNDER WATER

A school bus and mail route, the road, a scant quarter mile from the river, had gone under water each time the Ouachita reached flood stage.

From time to time it was raised slightly. Elevated again a year ago, the road subsided during the winter and summer months, shrinkage occurred, and as a result it wasn't safe for traffic.

The highway department went in this summer and completely reconstructed .8 of a mile, "high, wide and strong enough so it will be able to withstand the high waters."

A continuation of the Philpot Road, it connects with the River Road and comes out on the Vixen Road, a state highway.

One and one - half miles of blacktopping on the Philpott Road were completed Friday. It connects with the Jonesboro Road.

"A few days ago, this was a rough, dusty gravel road," said Huckaby of the Ward eight Philpott Road during a tour over parish highways Friday.

It contrasts starkly with a section of the road to be blacktopped at some future date — rutted, hole - pocked and sandy.

During the past few months, blacktopping also has been completed on sections of:

Old Sterlington Road and Bayou Bank Road in ward one.

Gourd Bayou Road and Peters Lane, ward three.

Henderson Road, ward five

Two miles of roads in ward seven.

Worley Hill — Mt. Olive church road and the Redcut Road in ward nine.

Martin Street, a total of 1.01 miles in Bawcomville, ward five, should be completed tomorrow.

The highway department is preparing base in ward six on the Owens Road.

TO WARD 7

From there, crews will move to ward seven, to complete work west of the river.

"Then our next asphalt job will be in Ward 10, on Bon Aire Drive," said the engineer.

After that, work will proceed to ward one: Frenchman's Road out of Fairbanks and a number of roads near Sterlington. Crews are putting base on these roads now, and asphalt will be laid.

Rowland Drive in ward two comes next. Base for asphalt is being prepared there now.

The parish will close out the season in ward four, and have a complete year's blacktopping program.

"Routine housekeeping" of resurfacing is carried out on a number of other roads at the same time that the asphalt projects are underway.

"Highway department personnel, as a whole, are experienced and willing workers," said Huckaby. "The parish is fortunate in having a number of highly skilled machine operators."

Roads being worked on this summer are old gravel routes, being re-conditioned. This in itself is quite a job.

New construction, which starts with clearing land and removing timber, hasn't been tackled because funds available from June 1 to next January 1 wouldn't permit it.

The blacktopping program has gone ahead full force, with dedicated funds from the blacktopping tax.

It's a modern program -- but with plenty of historical significance which ties Ouachita to the Biblical era.

Asphalt has been around a long time. Streets of Babylon were paved with it. Excavations have uncovered them.

Asphalt was the "pitch used to waterproof Noah's Ark. It lined the basket in which Moses was concealed in the bullrushes.

King Tut's tomb in the Egypt of the Pharoahs was sealed with asphalt, and thus made air-tight and waterproof.

Open pits of asphalt are scattered throughout the world. Early peoples collected it in baskets and used it in their work.

Archeologists have discovered complete fossils of huge mammals, such as subre - tooth tigers, which fell into the pits and couldn't get loose.

Asphalt used in present - day blacktopping is a crude oil by-product of commercial oil refineries.

That used in the parish comes mostly from refineries near Minden and El Dorado, Ark.

"Danger - slick oil." The primer coat of oil on mile - long Martin Street in Bawcomville was hardly an hour old when it was viewed Friday.

By tomorrow, it should be dry and ready for the asphalt treatment.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

A through street, Martin carries heavy traffic from the Jonesboro Road to the Cheniere Dam Road (Washington Street).

"The minute you improve a road," said Huckaby, "it brings on an increase in traffic, especially if you change over from gravel to paving."

Three layers of asphalt and washed gravel will be placed on Martin tomorrow, ranging from ¾ of an inch gravel in the first coat to "pea gravel," about a quarter - inch in size, for the top layer.

Then it will be broomed smooth, rolled with heavy steel wheel packing rollers for a finished surface.

Heat and traffic will 'put the icing on the cake'

Through the "inverted penetration" method, heat and traffic brings the asphalt to the surface, fully blending it with the gravel.

This may take up to two weeks, depending on traffic and temperatures.

"Hot sunshine helps bring the roads to a finish," said the engineer.

Gravel comes from pits leased from private owners. The parish pays them a royalty of 30 cents per cubic yard.

Average output is 350 cubic yards of gravel per day, parish-wide. "This could be greater," said Huckaby, "but it's a question of how many trucks we have to haul it and how far to haul the gravel."

Gravel production and hauling has increased by 59 per cent in the last four months.

Production of asphalt, per man hour, shows an equal increase.

M. W. Montgomery, police jury president, comments:

"We are doing a good job on the roads. Despite the rainy weather we have had this summer, we hope to be through around Nov. 20. We were lucky to get an experienced man like Mr. Huckaby at a time when we needed one so badly."

ROADWORK BEGINS here in the gravel pits. Dragline operator dumps a huge scoop-full of gravel-filled dirt into tandem trailer truck that will haul material to highway crewmen. (Staff Photos by Ben Bradford Jr.)

BIGGEST USE for gravel is in maintaining parish gravel roads and as base for improved blacktop roads. Bulldozer operator, left, backs off as dragline loads truck. During last week, fuor and one-half miles of gravel-based asphalt roads have been completed in Ouachita.

IMPROVED SECTION of Philpott Road in ward eight was finished last week. One and one-half miles of new blacktop ends just ahead, in stark contrast to rutted dirt road. Parish highway department will complete a comprehensive road program west of the River this week, then move to the east side.

College Sets Celebration

PINEVILLE (Special) — Louisiana College will celebrate its 55th anniversary Monday with the annual Founders' Day program scheduled for 9:20 a.m. in the Alexandria Hall auditorium.

Featured speaker for the session will be Rev. J. D. Carroll, L. C. alumnus and retired Baptist minister who recently celebrated his 50th year in the professions.

Dr. G. Earl Guinn, college president, who will serve as master of ceremonies, will offer a welcome address. Special music will be provided by the L.C. music department, under the direction of Dr. Carroll D. Carruth, department chairman.

The speaker of the morning, who graduated from both the old Louisiana College Academy and the college proper (class of '3[illegible]), is expected to include L.C. reminiscenses in his talk.

Rev. Carroll has served as pastor of several churches in Louisiana including Temple Baptist, Ruston, Coliseum Place Baptist, New Orleans, and First Baptist, Franklinton. He spent more than 25 years as pastor of the Judson Baptist Church of Walker.

A prominent denominational magazine named him "Rural Pastor of the Year" several years ago.

French Troops Fire On Mob; Four Are Slain

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — French troops fired on a mob of Moslem demonstrators in the Algeria seaport of Philippeville Friday, killing four and wounding 12, police said.

The incident was the bloodiest single clash between demonstrators and the "forces of order" during a week in which settler secret army demonstrations have plagued Algiers and other major cities.

Most Moslems have laid low during the trouble week of settler agitation against President Charles de Gaulle's policy of self-dependence for Algeria.

But in Philippeville Friday afternoon, a mob of more than 1,000 persons marched through the streets behind the coffin of a Moslem killed by a terrorist grenade Thursday. The mob carried a green-and-white rebel flag.

The official reports said agitators in the crowd fired shots at soldiers as they passed a downtown barracks. The soldiers returned the fire, causing casualties.

The Arab mob dispersed quickly.

FBI Director Warns About Reds' Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Saturday U. S. Communist party members are being advised to destroy documents which might be used by the government to prosecute them.

He said that Gus Hall, general secretary of the Communist party, U.S.A., has cautioned the party members with a catchy admonition: "It is not what you know, but what you show."

In an editorial in the October issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover said:

"Party leader Hall has been on a whirlwind, whistlestop tour of our country trying to stir up support for the party's opposition to the Internal Security Act of 1950. Hall, with his catchy phrase, was setting the 'line' for the party in its maneuvers to thwart the law."

In a decision last June, the Supreme Court upheld the 1950 law which would compel the Communist party to register with the Justice Department as a foreign-dominated and foreign-financed group and disclose its financing and membership rolls. The party has appealed to the Supreme Court for a rehearing, and a decision on that is pending.

Hoover said that Hall's phrase was more than just an admonition.

"It is also a devastating description of all the elements of the current Communist party line," Hoover said, "for the party knows that the real purposes of its line must be deceitfully covered up with what it 'shows' the American people."

Hoover renewed his advice about Communist party lines.

Basically, he said, communism pretends to offer all things to all men, like a shorter workday, aid to farmers and higher teacher salaries.

Negroes Booked In Battery Case

Two Chatham Negroes were booked for aggravated battery after allegedly being involved in a ruckus Friday night at a cafe just outside West Monroe.

The Ouachita Parish sheriff's department identified them as Billy Moss, 20, and Shirley Moffett, 34, both of Chatham.

According to reports, the pair were allegedly responsible for the hospitalization of Negro Sam Hines of West Monroe.

Hines was at Maybell's Cafe on Ridge Drive Friday night when he was struck with a bottle. He staggered to the door but before he could get out, was hit in the head with a board approximately four feet long.

He was reported to be in poor condition at E. A. Conway hospital where he was taken for treatment.

FBI Director Warns About Reds' Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Saturday U. S. Communist party members are being advised to destroy documents which might be used by the government to prosecute them.

He said that Gus Hall, general secretary of the Communist party, U.S.A., has cautioned the party members with a catchy admonition: "It is not what you know, but what you show."

In an editorial in the October issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover said:

"Party leader Hall has been on a whirlwind, whistlestop tour of our country trying to stir up support for the party's opposition to the Internal Security Act of 1950. Hall, with his catchy phrase, was setting the 'line' for the party in its maneuvers to thwart the law."

In a decision last June, the Supreme Court upheld the 1950 law which would compel the Communist party to register with the Justice Department as a foreign-dominated and foreign-financed group and disclose its financing and membership rolls. The party has appealed to the Supreme Court for a rehearing, and a decision on that is pending.

Hoover said that Hall's phrase was more than just an admonition.

"It is also a devastating description of all the elements of the current Communist party line," Hoover said, "for the party knows that the real purposes of its line must be deceitfully covered up with what it 'shows' the American people."

Hoover renewed his advice about Communist party lines.

Basically, he said, communism pretends to offer all things to all men, like a shorter workday, aid to farmers and higher teacher salaries.

Negroes Booked In Battery Case

Two Chatham Negroes were booked for aggravated battery after allegedly being involved in a ruckus Friday night at a cafe just outside West Monroe.

The Ouachita Parish sheriff's department identified them as Billy Moss, 20, and Shirley Moffett, 34, both of Chatham.

According to reports, the pair were allegedly responsible for the hospitalization of Negro Sam Hines of West Monroe.

Hines was at Maybell's Cafe on Ridge Drive Friday night when he was struck with a bottle. He staggered to the door but before he could get out, was hit in the head with a board approximately four feet long.

He was reported to be in poor condition at E. A. Conway hospital where he was taken for treatment.

...xon Calls For Better Candidates

...N VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — ...ard M. Nixon in his new role ...e state office seeker called ...day night for a crusade to ...ll the level of candidates ...s the country.

California Republican who ...st became president touched ...s own bid for his state's gov...ship in a speech prepared ...elivery before the Western ...blican Conference.

...iding any mention of his ...e with former Gov. Goodwin ...night of California for the ... nomination, Nixon said:

...obody knows better than I ... anyone who enters the (po...l) arena will subject himself ...e most vicious and unprin...d attacks.

...t if for this reason our best ...fied people refuse to run for ...e they will leave the positions ...e public service to hacks and ...d raters whose primary interest is personal gain and power, rather than public service."

Nixon termed it imperative for Republicans to increase their strength at the statehouse and courthouse level if they expect to elect the next president.

He said he has no patience whatsoever with those who say they cannot run for public office or take a position in government because of the sacrifice involved.

"No man is too big for any job in public service," the former congressman, senator and vice president said.

"We need better candidates for office not only for the House, Senate and governorships, but particularly for state legislatures and for officials of our cities and counties."

Nixon said that one of the major factors behind his decision to run for governor was the number of candidates for other office who said they would run if he entered the race.

"I hope my announcement will encourage men and women all over the nation to offer themselves for public office," he said.

Turning to Washington problems, Nixon declared that Soviet Premier Khrushchev "could make no greater mistake than to assume that because in Laos and Cuba we did not back up our strongs words with strong actions the same pattern will be followed now on Berlin.

U.S. Postpones Fleet Visit Due To Syria Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said Saturday the visit of ships of the U.S. 6th Fleet to Beirut, Lebanon, has been postponed because of the Syrian situation.

Elements of the 6th Fleet were scheduled to call on Beirut next Tuesday, but the State Department requested that the visit be postponed, department press officer Francis W. Tully announced.

Tully refused to say directly that the State Department request was made because of the anti-Nasser revolt in Syria, but he said, "It is clear the situation arisen in Syria was a factor in the decision."

Authoritative officials said the reason for the State Department's request was to avoid giving any impress that the United States entertains any idea of interfering with events in Syria.

The United States, these sources stressed, regards the split of the United Arab Republic as an internal Arab affair.

The 6th Fleet is based in the Mediterranean. The visit to Beirut was scheduled several months ago.

Election Slated

FERRIDAY (Special) —Officers to serve for the ensuing year for the newly organized Ferriday Junior Chamber of Commerce will be elected at the Tuesday night meeting of the new group at the City Hall, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Pair In Tower Blasts Facing Other Charges

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Bernard Brous and Dale Jensen, scheduled for trial Nov. 1 on sabotage charges for destroying telephone microwave towers, were indicted on three lesser charges Friday.

Brous, 51, formerly of Long Island, N.Y., and Jensen, 23, of Reno, were charged by tthe Grand jury with conspiracy, injuring and destroying communications and obstructing communications.

U.US. Atty. Howard Babcock tol newsmen the sabotage indictment would not be dropped, but he declined to say why the less serious charges were made.

Three microwave towers in the Nevada-Utah desert were blown up last May. Brous and Jensen later were arrested on an armed yacht in Mexico.

The men said they had their own National Republican Army and blew up the towers to arouse support for their army, dedicated, they said, to fight big business monopolies and telephone cartels.

Both said they were confident a trial would vindicate them.

Thirty years in prison is the maximum penalty on the sabotage charges. The reduced indictment could mean 11 years in prison and a $5,000 fine for each man, if convicted.

U.S. Postpones Fleet Visit Due To Syria Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said Saturday the visit of ships of the U.S. 6th Fleet to Beirut, Lebanon, has been postponed because of the Syrian situation.

Elements of the 6th Fleet were scheduled to call on Beirut next Tuesday, but the State Department requested that the visit be postponed, department press officer Francis W. Tully announced.

Tully refused to say directly that the State Department request was made because of the anti-Nasser revolt in Syria, but he said, "It is clear the situation arisen in Syria was a factor in the decision."

Authoritative officials said the reason for the State Department's request was to avoid giving any impress that the United States entertains any idea of interfering with events in Syria.

The United States, these sources stressed, regards the split of the United Arab Republic as an internal Arab affair.

The 6th Fleet is based in the Mediterranean. The visit to Beirut was scheduled several months ago.

Election Slated

Pair In Tower Blasts Facing Other Charges

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Bernard Brous and Dale Jensen, scheduled for trial Nov. 1 on sabotage charges for destroying telephone microwave towers, were indicted on three lesser charges Friday.

Brous, 51, formerly of Long Island, N.Y., and Jensen, 23, of Reno, were charged by tthe Grand jury with conspiracy, injuring and destroying communications and obstructing communications.

U.US. Atty. Howard Babcock tol newsmen the sabotage indictment would not be dropped, but he declined to say why the less serious charges were made.

Three microwave towers in the Nevada-Utah desert were blown up last May. Brous and Jensen later were arrested on an armed yacht in Mexico.

The men said they had their own National Republican Army and blew up the towers to arouse support for their army, dedicated, they said, to fight big business monopolies and telephone cartels.

Both said they were confident a trial would vindicate them.

Thirty years in prison is the maximum penalty on the sabotage charges. The reduced indictment could mean 11 years in prison and a $5,000 fine for each man, if convicted.

LSU Wilts Texas A&M 16-7 In Fourth Period

Harris Goes 62 Yards For 1st Tiger TD

By JACK GATES
News-Star—World
Executive Editor

BATON ROUGE La. — Louisiana State University played one hour and 49 minutes of flustrating football this season before it scored a touchdown, then scored two within a three minute period for a 16-7 victory over Texas A and M last night before 64,000 fans.

Right halfback Wendell Harris broke the long wait with four minutes gone in the fourth period. He gathered in a Aggie punt on his own 38 yard line, cut to the sideline and scampered 62 thrilling yards to score. End Gene Sykes threw the Key block on Aggie safety man Babe Craig on the 20.

Three minutes later fullback Earl Gross crashed over from three yards out for the second touchdown after an Aggie fumble had set it up on the 31. Harris booted both extra points.

Earlier the Tigers had scored a safety when they blocked a Craig punt. It came after A and M had scored a brilliantly executed touchdown on a 34-yard pass from quarterback John Erickson to halfback Travis Reagan, which came in the first period.

Prior to tonight's touchdown spurt, LSU hadn't crossed an opponents goal line. Against Rice a week ago, the closest the Tigers came was the eight-yard line, and until the first one last night they hadn't come even close.

For three long quarters against the Aggies, it appeare dthe Tigers, picked as one of the nation's top teams before the season opened, would go touchdownless again.

On the opening kickoff, they looked like an also ran. Halfback Jerry Stovall of West Monroe took in the kickoff on his 11 yard line, broke into the clear and swept to the 50 yard line where he fumbled and guard Wayne Freiling fell on it for the Aggies.

After holding the Aggies and forcing them to punt, Harris then moved into the picture and fumbled, with Freilingo again recovering on the LSU 16. However, the Tigers, with big Roy Winston leading the charge, held the Aggies on the seven yard line. A and M, on a fourthdown try, had needed only a foot, but when the whistle blew they still needed eight inches.

Five minutes later, however, the Aggies came back to score. Taking the ball on the LSU 37, Erickson first hit halfback Jim Linnstaedter with a seven - yard Toss. Two plays later, he faked to the left, then swung right and passed to Reagan who took it in on the LSU 15 and went over untouched for the score. End Daryle Keelinog converted to put the Aggies ahead 7 to 0.

After the kickoff, LSU fought back in an effort to get back in the ballgame. With Gross carrying the load, the Tigers moved to the Aggie 47 with a yard needed on third down for a first down, they failed by a foot, the first of three such situations for them in the game. On the series end Jack Gates dropped a perfect pass down the middle from quarterback Lynn Amedee.

A few minutes later in the second period, the LSU Go team, with fullback Charles Cranford of Homer and Bo Campbell of Shreveport crashing through the line, swept to the Aggie 21. From that point and on third down, Amedee faded back and aimed a pass at Sykes, but center Jerry Jenkins, who played a terrific defensive game for the Aggies, moved in front and intercepted to end the threat.

With 11 minutes gone in the second period, the Aggies were stalled on their own 28. As Craig attempted to punt, Winston rushed in and blocked it, chased it into the end zone but failed to gain possession of it before it rolled out of bounds. Instead of a touchdown, the Tigers ended up with a safety.

The only other thrill of the first half came just before the intermission when Amedee hit Gates with a 14-yarder, moving LSU to the Aggie 37. It appeared for a minute as if he might break free and go all the way. But Erickson nailed him with a shoe-string tackle.

It was in the third period that frustration for LSU really set in. After stopping the Aggies at the Tiger 40, LSU started a slow drive, with Stovall anod Harris and Gross pounding out yardage on off-tackle slants. In this manner, LSU moved to the Aggie 36. With fourth down staring them in the face and only a foot to go, the Tigers gambled and failed to make the necessary yardage. The same thing happened to them again early in the fourth period. With Amedee guiding the offense, the Tigers moved to the Aggie 21. With fourth down and a yard to go, Stovall got the nod. He crashed into the right side of the touch Aggie line, but the referee said he lacked two inches of making the yardage.

The Aggies left tackle Wayland Simmons, a defensive thorn in the LSU sputtering offense all night, was credited with stopping Stovall short of the mark.

After failing to move the Aggie punted, Craig lfited a long lazy floater downfield. Harris grabbed it on the LSU 38, started upfield then cut to the side. He broke through at the Aggie 40, with only Craig standing in the way of a touchdown. It was then that Sykes moved to the rescue and threw the key block that sent Harris sailing into the end zone with LSU's first touchdown.

On the next series of plays, Aggie fullback Jerry Rogers fumbled on his own 31 and center Dennis Gaubatz pounced on it for the Tigers. Amedee, on a sweep, moved the ball to the 28, then Harris and Stovall on successive plays carried it to the Aggie seven yard line.

Again, with fourth down coming up, the Tigers needed a yard. Gross leaped over a pile of players and landed on the three for the three for the first down. On the next play, he carried it into the end zone for the Tigers' second touchdown.

That was the game, although the Aggies, with Erickson doing the passing, attempted to come back. But the Tigers stiffened defensively and killed his threats time and time again.

Overall, LSU picked up 12 first downs to five for the Aggies and 158 yards rushing to 54 for A and M. In total offense it was 172 for LSU and 115 for A and M.

Gros was the leading ground gainer of the game, picking up 64 yards in 18 attempts. Harris got 33 yards in seven tries, while Stovall picked up 24 yards in nine efforts. Cranford got 27.

LSU Coach Paul Dietzel, who had been roundly criticized after the Rice defeat and several times during last night's game, said he was "Extremely proud of the way our boys pulled it out in the fourth period.

"I have never seen a better come - from - behind team effort," he said. "I believe our boys grew up a little tonight. Harris' run was tremendous. I thought Texas A and M. was a tough, well - coached team and they really got after us."

Coach Meyers of the Aggies said:

"It was a terrific game. The breaks in the kicking game is what hurt. It was a good, clean aggressive game. I believe Craig had time to kick, but LSU had the rush on. The punt return by LSU was the result of a low kick and good blocking."

NORTHEAST HALFBACK Ken Newton plows over for the Indian's first touchdown with seven minutes left in the first quarter. Helping on the attempted stop is Carol Lokey (53) East Texas State center. Hard Defense, Quarterbacks Cause Victory

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Writer

The rampaging Northeast State Indians turned loose a bevy of hard running backs, led by the twin dynamo quarter-backs, Ronnie Myrick and Don Wattigny, plus a bone crushing defense to completely demoralize the East Texas Lions 36-0 here last night before a near capacity "Parent's Day" crowd at Brown Stadium.

The Indians, scored in every quarter getting seven in the first, 14 in the second, seven in the third, and eight in the fourth to rack up the lopsided win.

There were plenty of stars for the Tribe, but extra credit has to be given to Myrick and Wattigny for their heady signal calling, fine running and pin-point passing.

Myrick scored one touchdown, completed four passes, and time after time made spectacular runs to keep scoring drives going.

Wattigny played one of his most outstanding games as he ran and passed the Indians to two second quarter touchdowns. His scoring passes were to end Gene Harbert for 15 yards, and to Halfback Ken Thornhill for 16.

Northeast's first touchdown came on a three yard buck by halfback Ken Newton. It was the final play in Northeast's first drive which covered 39 yards in 11 plays. The drive was set up when end Jimmy Love pounced on a Lion fumble on the visitors end of the field.

Myrick's touchdown came with 9:00 minutes left in the third quarter, and gave Northeast a 28-0 lead at the time.

The Indians had received the kickoff opening the second half, and promptly started the scoring drive which consumed 14 plays. Myrick deserved the score as he ate up much of the yardage himself on his pet boot leg and option plays.

As the saying goes, "save the best for last" and that's exactly what Northeast did as far as the touchdowns went. Their last TD was a beauty, and one of those kind which couldn't have worked better if had been planned, and it came at a most opportune time. East Texas was knocking on the door early in the fourth quarter as they had the ball on the Indians 21-yard line. Lion quarterback James Williams attempted a pass on third down and Northeast defensive halfback Don Blackwelder picked it off on the 10-yard line, picked up magnificent blocking down the sideline, and raced 90 yards for the Indian's final TD.

Not to be overlooked as one of the games most outstanding performers is fullback Willie Ragan who has become the Indian's automatic extra point maker. All the 180 pound Sophomore did was to kick four straight extra points, to run his total to nine out of 10 attempts, and besides that, turn his last try of the night into a two pointer when the snap from center went astray. Instead of turning on the panic button when the snap went wild, Ragan calmly picked up the ball and out ran every body to end the scoring for the night and leave the big scoreboard reading: Northeast 36-East Texas 0.

Sputtering Alabama Edges Stubborn Green Wave, 9-0

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's sputtering Crimson Tide defeated Tulane's stubborn Greenies 9-0 Saturday night on breaks. The Tide failed to add to its national stature in the luckluster contest.

Both 'Bama scores came after Tulane fumbles early in the first quarter and late in the third.

The Tide scored on a 44-yard, 8-play drive in the opening stanza following Butch Wilson's recovery of a fumble by the Greenies' George Oechsner.

The Tide's veteran quarterback, Pat Trammell, passed to end Tommy Brooker for the score.

Late in the third quarter, a quick kick by the Tide's Bobby Richardson was touched by a Tulane sophomore, Ronad Thornton, and guard Al Lewis recovered for 'Bama on the Greenie 15.

Fullback Mike Fracchia got to the Tulane eight. On fourth down, Ken Davis booted a field goal from the 25.

A heavy dew made ball handling difficult and the two teams fumbled a total of 11 times. 'Bama bobbled six times and lost the ball on three. The alert Tiders recovered four of Tulane's fumbles.

Markoff Leads Navy By William And Mary, 44-6

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—An 80-yard touchdown run by Navy fullback Nick Markoff with an intercepted pass stunned William and Mary Saturday, and quarterback Ron Klemick's passes did the rest as the Middies rolled to an easy football victory.

Markoff's electrifying run came as the Indians, trailing 7-0, sought desperately to even the game with only three seconds left in the first half. The Middie sophomore picked off a pass by Dan Henning at the Navy 20 and boomed straight down the sidelines, while the gun ending the half went off.

Navy had scored earlier in the quarter on a spectacular 56-yard pass play from Klemick to flanker back Jim Stewart, and Markoff's run took out what steam William and Mary had left.

William and Mary's lone score came midway in the fourth quarter on an 86-yard pass play from Henning to halfback Walt Scott, with Navy leading 35-0.

San Diego Edges Buffalo 19-11 In AFL Football

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—San Diego defeated Buffalo 19-11 in an American Football League game Saturday night as expected but ran into unexpected opposition from the stubborn Eastern Division cellar-dwellers.

The league's only unbeaten club could generate only one touchdown drive, relaying on a pass interception for its other touchdown and a pair of field goals by George Blair.

Southern Wins

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Quarterbacks Don Fuell and Billy Coleman guided Mississippi Southern to a 22-6 football victory over stubborn Southwestern Louisiana Saturday night.

Fuell engineered the Southerners to an early 7-0 lead, taking the opening kickoff and moving the Mississippians 77 yards. Halfback John Sklopan scored from the three.

But USUL's defensive unit, headed by center George Ballard, held the Southerners to a 7-0 halftime lead.

It was late in the third period before Southern, with Coach Thad (Pie) Vann shaking up his club, was able to move easily.

Lehigh Wins 22-17

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Two fourth period touchdowns gave Lehigh a 22-17 victory over Harvard, which had dominated the game until then.

Harris Goes 62 Yards For 1st Tiger TD

By JACK GATES
News-Star—World
Executive Editor

BATON ROUGE La. — Louisiana State University played one hour and 49 minutes of flustrating football this season before it scored a touchdown, then scored two within a three minute period for a 16-7 victory over Texas A and M last night before 64,000 fans.

Right halfback Wendell Harris broke the long wait with four minutes gone in the fourth period. He gathered in a Aggie punt on his own 38 yard line, cut to the sideline and scampered 62 thrilling yards to score. End Gene Sykes threw the Key block on Aggie safety man Babe Craig on the 20.

Three minutes later fullback Earl Gross crashed over from three yards out for the second touchdown after an Aggie fumble had set it up on the 31. Harris booted both extra points.

Earlier the Tigers had scored a safety when they blocked a Craig punt. It came after A and M had scored a brilliantly executed touchdown on a 34-yard pass from quarterback John Erickson to halfback Travis Reagan, which came in the first period.

Prior to tonight's touchdown spurt, LSU hadn't crossed an opponents goal line. Against Rice a week ago, the closest the Tigers came was the eight-yard line, and until the first one last night they hadn't come even close.

For three long quarters against the Aggies, it appeare dthe Tigers, picked as one of the nation's top teams before the season opened, would go touchdownless again.

On the opening kickoff, they looked like an also ran. Halfback Jerry Stovall of West Monroe took in the kickoff on his 11 yard line, broke into the clear and swept to the 50 yard line where he fumbled and guard Wayne Freiling fell on it for the Aggies.

After holding the Aggies and forcing them to punt, Harris then moved into the picture and fumbled, with Freilingo again recovering on the LSU 16. However, the Tigers, with big Roy Winston leading the charge, held the Aggies on the seven yard line. A and M, on a fourthdown try, had needed only a foot, but when the whistle blew they still needed eight inches.

Five minutes later, however, the Aggies came back to score. Taking the ball on the LSU 37, Erickson first hit halfback Jim Linnstaedter with a seven - yard Toss. Two plays later, he faked to the left, then swung right and passed to Reagan who took it in on the LSU 15 and went over untouched for the score. End Daryle Keelinog converted to put the Aggies ahead 7 to 0.

After the kickoff, LSU fought back in an effort to get back in the ballgame. With Gross carrying the load, the Tigers moved to the Aggie 47 with a yard needed on third down for a first down, they failed by a foot, the first of three such situations for them in the game. On the series end Jack Gates dropped a perfect pass down the middle from quarterback Lynn Amedee.

A few minutes later in the second period, the LSU Go team, with fullback Charles Cranford of Homer and Bo Campbell of Shreveport crashing through the line, swept to the Aggie 21. From that point and on third down, Amedee faded back and aimed a pass at Sykes, but center Jerry Jenkins, who played a terrific defensive game for the Aggies, moved in front and intercepted to end the threat.

With 11 minutes gone in the second period, the Aggies were stalled on their own 28. As Craig attempted to punt, Winston rushed in and blocked it, chased it into the end zone but failed to gain possession of it before it rolled out of bounds. Instead of a touchdown, the Tigers ended up with a safety.

The only other thrill of the first half came just before the intermission when Amedee hit Gates with a 14-yarder, moving LSU to the Aggie 37. It appeared for a minute as if he might break free and go all the way. But Erickson nailed him with a shoe-string tackle.

It was in the third period that frustration for LSU really set in. After stopping the Aggies at the Tiger 40, LSU started a slow drive, with Stovall anod Harris and Gross pounding out yardage on off-tackle slants. In this manner, LSU moved to the Aggie 36. With fourth down staring them in the face and only a foot to go, the Tigers gambled and failed to make the necessary yardage. The same thing happened to them again early in the fourth period. With Amedee guiding the offense, the Tigers moved to the Aggie 21. With fourth down and a yard to go, Stovall got the nod. He crashed into the right side of the touch Aggie line, but the referee said he lacked two inches of making in the yardage.

The Aggies left tackle Wayland Simmons, a defensive thorn in the LSU sputtering offense all night, was credited with stopping Stovall short of the mark.

After failing to move the Aggie punted. Craig lfited a long lazy floater downfield. Harris grabbed it on the LSU 38, started upfield then cut to the side. He broke through at the Aggie 40, with only Craig standing in the way of a touchdown. It was then that Sykes moved to the rescue and threw the key block that sent Harris sailing into the end zone with LSU's first touchdown.

On the next series of plays, Aggie fullback Jerry Rogers fumbled on his own 31 and center Dennis Gaubatz pounced on it for the Tigers. Amedee, on a sweep, moved the ball to the 28, then Harris and Stovall on successive plays carried it to the Aggie seven yard line.

Again, with fourth down coming up, the Tigers needed a yard. Gross leaped over a pile of players and landed on the three for the three for the first down. On the next play, he carried it into the end zone for the Tigers' second touchdown.

That was the game, although the Aggies, with Erickson doing the passing, attempted to come back. But the Tigers stiffened defensively and killed his threats time and time again.

Overall, LSU picked up 12 first downs to five for the Aggies and 158 yards rushing to 54 for A and M. In total offense it was 172 for LSU and 115 for A and M.

Gros was the leading ground gainer of the game, picking up 64 yards in 18 attempts. Harris got 33 yards in seven tries, while Stovall picked up 24 yards in nine efforts. Cranford got 27.

LSU Coach Paul Dietzel, who had been roundly criticized after the Rice defeat and several times during last night's game, said he was "Extremely proud of the way our boys pulled it out in the fourth period.

"I have never seen a better come - from - behind team effort," he said. "I believe our boys grew up a little tonight. Harris' run was tremendous. I thought Texas A and M. was a tough, well - coached team and they really got after us."

Coach Meyers of the Aggies said:

"It was a terrific game. The breaks in the kicking game is what hurt. It was a good, clean aggressive game. I believe Craig had time to kick, but LSU had the rush on. The punt return by LSU was the result of a low kick and good blocking."

Hard Defense, Quarterbacks Cause Victory

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Writer

The rampaging Northeast State Indians turned loose a bevy of hard running backs, led by the twin dynamo quarter-backs, Ronnie Myrick and Don Wattigny, plus a bone crushing defense to completely demoralize the East Texas Lions 36-0 here last night before a near capacity "Parent's Day" crowd at Brown Stadium.

The Indians, scored in every quarter getting seven in the first, 14 in the second, seven in the third, and eight in the fourth to rack up the lopsided win.

There were plenty of stars for the Tribe, but extra credit has to be given to Myrick and Wattigny for their heady signal calling, fine running and pin-point passing.

Myrick scored one touchdown, completed four passes, and time after time made spectacular runs to keep scoring drives going.

Wattigny played one of his most outstanding games as he ran and passed the Indians to two second quarter touchdowns. His scoring passes were to end Gene Harbert for 15 yards, and to Halfback Ken Thornhill for 16.

Northeast's first touchdown came on a three yard buck by halfback Ken Newton. It was the final play in Northeast's first drive which covered 39 yards in 11 plays. The drive was set in motion when end Jimmy Love pounced on a Lion fumble on the visitors end of the field.

Myrick's touchdown came with 9:00 minutes left in the third quarter, and gave Northeast a 28-0 lead at the time.

The Indians had received the kickoff opening the second half, and promptly started the scoring drive which consumed 14 plays. Myrick deserved the score as he ate up much of the yardage himself on his pet boot leg and option plays.

As the saying goes, "save the best for last" and that's exactly what Northeast did as far as the touchdowns went. Their last TD was a beauty, and one of those kind which couldn't have worked better if had been planned, and it came at a most opportune time. East Texas was knocking on the door early in the fourth quarter as they had the ball on the Indians 21-yard line. Lion quarterback James Williams attempted a pass on third down and Northeast defensive halfback Don Blackwelder picked it off on the 10-yard line, picked up magnificent blocking down the sideline, and raced 90 yards for the Indian's final TD.

Not to be overlooked as one of the games most outstanding performers is fullback Willie Ragan who has become the Indian's automatic extra point maker. All the 180 pound Sophomore did was to kick four straight extra points, to run his total to nine out of 10 attempts, and besides that, turn his last try of the night into a two pointer when the snap from center went astray. Instead of turning on the panic button when the snap went wild, Ragan calmly picked up the ball and out ran every body to end the scoring for the night and leave the big scoreboard reading: Northeast 36-East Texas 0.

Michigan State In 20-0 Victory Over Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Michigan State unveiled a swift striking ground attack powered by a bruising line and threw up a stubborn defense in routing Wisconsin 20-0 Saturday in a Big Ten football opener.

The Spartans launched their 1961 campaign by marching 55 yards for a touchdown the first time they had the ball and then sending fullback George Saimes on scoring jaunts in the second and third periods.

The huge Michigan State line, averaging near 225 pounds per man, wore down the Wisconsin defenders and sent Saimes and running mates Sherman Lewis, Dewey Lincoln, Gary Ballman, Carl Charon and Ron Hatcher on

Sputtering Alabama Edges Stubborn Green Wave, 9-0

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's sputtering Crimson Tide defeated Tulane's stubborn Greenies 9-0 Saturday night on breaks. The Tide failed to add to its national stature in the luckluster contest.

Both 'Bama scores came after Tulane fumbles early in the first quarter and late in the third.

The Tide scored on a 44-yard, 8-play drive in the opening stanza following Butch Wilson's recovery of a fumble by the Greenies' George Oechsner.

The Tide's veteran quarterback, Pat Trammell, passed to end Tommy Brooker for the score.

Late in the third quarter, a quick kick by the Tide's Bobby Richardson was touched by a Tulane sophomore, Ronad Thornton, and guard Al Lewis recovered for 'Bama on the Greenie 15.

Fullback Mike Fracchia got it to the Tulane eight. On fourth down, Ken Davis booted a field goal from the 25.

A heavy dew made ball handling difficult and the two teams fumbled a total of 11 times. 'Bama bobbled six times and lost the ball on three. The alert Tiders recovered four of Tulane's fumbles.

Markoff Leads Navy By William And Mary, 44-6

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—An 80-yard touchdown run by Navy fullback Nick Markoff with an intercepted pass stunned William and Mary Saturday, and quarterback Ron Klemick's passes did the rest as the Middies rolled to an easy football victory.

Markoff's electrifying run came as the Indians, trailing 7-0, sought desperately to even the game with only three seconds left in the first half. The Middie sophomore picked off a pass by Dan Henning at the Navy 20 and boomed straight down the sidelines, while the gun ending the half went off.

Navy had scored earlier in the quarter on a spectacular 56-yard pass play from Klemick to flanker back Jim Stewart, and Markoff's run took out what steam William and Mary had left.

William and Mary's lone score came midway in the fourth quarter on an 86-yard pass play from Henning to halfback Walt Scott, with Navy leading 35-0.

Razorbacks Slip Over Tulsa, 6-0

By DARRELL MACK

FAYETTEVILE, Ark. (UPI) — Arkansas' water soaked offense sputtered out a 53-yard touchdown march in the third quarter to edge Tulsa 6-0 in an intersectional game here Saturday.

George McKinney, Arkansas quarterback, playing every offensive down, scored the game's only touchdown from three yards out with 9:24 remaining in the third quarter. Jim Grizzle's conversion was short and to the right.

It was the only time the Razorbacks, who were 18 point favorites, dented the Tulsa 20 yard line.

Tulsa's deepest penetration was to the Arkansas 31 in the second quarter. The Hurricane, losing their second game in three starts, did not cross midfield in the second half.

Rain which fell most of the morning and was still falling midway in the first half kept both teams from using their dangerous passing attack and made the turf slippery for the speedy backs, including Arkansas' Lance Alworth.

Alworth was contained from scrimmage, but returned punts for 42 and 50 yards for the most explosive action of the game. Each time the last Tulsa defender stopped him.

The scoring drive was on sheer power with fullback Billy Joe Moody and Jesse Branch bulling up the middle on six of the 10 plays. Moody made 18 yards in four tries and Branch picked up 11 in two carries.

After sending Moody through the center McKinney then faked to his fullback and kept around left end to score.

The Razorbacks, defending Southwest Conference champions, were not impressive in winning their first game. They had a statistical edge of 15-5 in first downs and 236-83 in total yardage.

Johnny Pott Takes Lead In SE Open

OCEAN SPRINGS, Miss. (AP) —Young Johnny Pott backed into the $5,500 Southeasern PGA open golf tournament lead Saturday when two-day leader Fred Haas of New Orleans soared to a 4-over par 76.

Pott, of Shreveport, La., was one of only four golfers to better par. His 71 gave him a three-round total of 70-69-71-210.

Haas was tied at 211 with Tennesseans' Joe Campbell and Mason Rudolph.

The 45-year-old Haas, a teaching pro who enters very few tournaments a year, found the going rough beginning at the par five No. 4 hole at Gulf Hills Dude Ranch and Country Club 6,204-8 yard course after 37 perfect holes.

Pott tied Haas on the No. 8 then he birdied the par 3 hole. Haas drove to the green and three-putted.

Haas went back into the lead on No. 10 when Pott double-bogeyed. But the Shreveporter played golf the rest of the way, except for a birdie on 13.

At the time Haas bogied 11, double-bogied 16 after pulling his second shot deep into the woods, and then birdied 18 to keep from falling back two strokes.

Campbell, of Knoxville, and Rudolph, of Clarksville, fired 71 and 70 respectively to continue their sub-par rounds.

After the second four, however, the score falls back to Pat Abbott, Memphis, Tenn., with 216.

Burt Burdick of Baton Rouge, La., leads amateurs with a 77-70-75-222, but Jim Waldrup of Gulfport, was right behind with 223.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Northwestern unveiled sophomore Bill Swingle, who ran for three touchdowns, including a 96-yard jaunt from scrimmage, and pounded out a 45-0 victory over Boston College in its season debut Saturday.

Swingle, 19-year-old fullback from Grand Haven, Mich., scored all his touchdowns in the first half and set up another in the third quarter, when he bolted for 17 yards and then lateraled to Bob Snider, who went over from the 5-yard line.

CONFERENCE OPENER

Saxton Sparks Longhorns To 42-14 Win Over Tech

By PAT CONWAY

AUSTIN (UPI)— The Texas Longhorns, inspired by James Saxton's breakaway antics and Jerry Cook's power drives, outclassed Texas Tech Saturday night 42-14.

Saxton, a jittery phantom halfback, churned 78 yards for one touchdown and added another on a two-yard dive as the Longhorns took their Southwest Conference opener before a crowd of 43,500.

Cook, a 201-pound junor powerrunner, smashed over from five yards out in the first period and added a second period touchdown with a 23-yard blast off tackle.

The Longhorn infantry ground out 391 yards. The Red Raiders looked good only against Texas' fourth team sophomores.

Texas, which usually sticks close to the ground on offense, displayed a balanced passing game tonight. Quarterback Mike Cotten passed 33 yards to fullback Ray Poage for the first Texas score. Texas gained 157 yards in the air.

Roger Gill, a third team halfback, rambled 9 yards for Tech's first touchdown to cap an 80-yard march in the second quarter. Halfback Bake Turner ended another 80-yard drive in the third period with a 2-yard touchdown blast. H. L. Daniels added both ponts from placement.

Texas final touchdown came wth 1:28 left in the game when quarterback Johnny Genung slipped around right end to cap a 56-yard drive

Cotten's passing was the major weapon in Texas' first touchdown drive—a 70-yard push capped by the 33-yard toss to Poage. Five minutes later, the Longhorns had their second score as they drove 63 yards in nine plays with Cook picking up his first score from five yards out.

Saxton got both of his touchdowns in the second period. His 78-yard scamper started as a slant over left tackle. Halfback Jack Collins tossed the block that set him free. There was 3:50 left in the period when he climaxed an 80-yard drive with the 2-yard dive over left tackle.

Auburn Is Victor Over Tennessee

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Auburn stormed back from a 14-point deficit Saturday and whipped Tennessee 24-21 on the passing of quarterback Bobby Hunt and a 22-yard field goal by Woody Woodall.

The Southeastern Conference teams virtually tossed aside their defenses and gave a sunbaked crowd of 44,600 a great offensive show.

Tennessee scored all its points in an explosive first quarter with tailback Glenn Glass directing three scoring drives after the alert Vols had pounced on three Auburn fumbles.

Auburn's huge Tigers battled back for two toucheowns of their own in the second period to knot the count at 21-all.

Larry Rawson, a brilliant sophomore fullback, and halfback Jimmy Burson ripped through Tennessee's line for repeated gains. And on the critical plays when a pass was needed to keep a drive going, Hunt and his stand-in, sophomore Mailon Kent, connected.

Ole Miss Bumps Kentucky 20-6 As Elmore Stands Ou

By DONALD F. BOLLES

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) —Mississippi's mighty Rebels powered their way past Kentucky 20-6 Saturday night as senior quarterback Doug Elmore directed a wide open passing attack.

Mississippi, defending Southeastern Conference champion, entered the game ranked second nationally. Its hard fought victory was the sixth in a row over Kentucky.

Junior halfback Chuck Morris of Gulfport, Miss., broke the game open with six minutes gone in the third period. He grabbed an errant Kentucky pass and galloped 69 yards for a touchdown.

Morris' speedy dash put Mississippi ahead 14-6, after the tetams had played on nearly even terms during a 7-6 first half.

Elmore then went on to add to the Mississippi margin as the third period ran out. He executed four successful passes, the last one for a touchdown to senior end Ralph Smith.

Jerry Woolum, Kentucky's junior quarterback, conected to all-SEC end Tom Hutchsinson for a half dozen crowd pleasing catches. But he wasn't able to nudge the ball over for a touchdown as the heavy Mississippi line dug in each time the goal was threatened.

Both squads tried to mount scoring drives in the final quarter but saw them stopped by interceptions and tight defenses.

Kentucky almost hit paydirt with a minute to go in the game as Woolum moved his team 80 yards by passes. But the drive ended as a Woolum pas wa incomplete to Dave Chapman in the end zone.

Mississippi's first touchdown came just before the first quarter ended, on a 60yard pass play from alternate quarterback Glynn Griffing to junior end Wes Sullivan. Sullivan caught the pass on the 20, shook off a tackler, and scored.

The Rebels now meet two nonconference foes before again defending their SEC title. They fending their SEC title. They play Florida State at home next Saturday while Kentucky runs into Auburn, which beat Tennessee 24-21 Saturday.

Kentucky rolled up 18 downs to the Rebels' 13, and an edge in both the passing rushing departments.

Woolum was the indiv standout in yards gained pa —166. Elmore picked up 42 y on the ground and 59 in the

Razorbacks Slip Over Tulsa, 6-0

By DARRELL MACK

FAYETTEVILE, Ark. (UPI) — Arkansas' water soaked offense sputtered out a 53-yard touchdown march in the third quarter to edge Tulsa 6-0 in an intersectional game here Saturday.

George McKinney, Arkansas quarterback, playing every offensive down, scored the game's only touchdown from three yards out with 3:24 remaining in the third quarter. Jim Grizzle's conversion was short and to the right.

It was the only time the Razorbacks, who were 18 point favorites, dented the Tulsa 20 yard line.

Tulsa's deepest penetration was to the Arkansas 31 in the second quarter. The Hurricane, losing their second game in three starts, did not cross midfield in the second half.

Rain which fell most of the morning and was still falling midway in the first half kept both teams from using their dangerous passing attack and made the turf slippery for the speedy backs, including Arkansas' Lance Alworth.

Alworth was contained from scrimmage, but returned punts for 42 and 50 yards for the most explosive action of the game. Each time the last Tulsa defender stopped him.

The scoring drive was on sheer power with fullback Billy Joe Moody and Jesse Branch bulling up the middle on six of the 10 plays. Moody made 19 yards in four tries and Branch picked up 11 in two carries.

After sending Moody through the center McKinney then faked to his fullback and kept around left end to score.

The Razorbacks, defending Southwest Conference champions, were not impressive in winning their first game. They had a statistical edge of 15-5 in first downs and 236-83 in total yardage.

Johnny Pott Takes Lead In SE Open

OCEAN SPRINGS, Miss. (AP) —Young Johnny Pott backed into the $5,500 Southeasern PGA open golf tournament lead Saturday when two-day leader Fred Haas of New Orleans soared to a 4-over par 76.

Pott, of Shreveport, La., was one of only four golfers to better par. His 71 gave him a three-round total of 70-69-71-210.

Haas was tied at 211 with Tennesseans' Joe Campbell and Mason Rudolph.

The 45-year-old Haas, a teaching pro who enters very few tournaments a year, found the going rough beginning at the par five No. 4 hole at Gulf Hills Dude Ranch and Country Club 6,204-8 yard course after 37 perfect holes.

Pott tied Haas on the No. 8 then he birdied the par 3 hole. Haas drove to the green and three-putted.

Haas went back into the lead on No. 10 when Pott double-botyed. But the Shreveporter played golf the rest of the way, except for a birdie on 13.

At the time Haas bogied 11, bouble-bogied 16 after pulling his second shot deep into the woods, and then birdied 18 to keep from falling back two strokes.

Campbell, of Knoxville, and Rudolph, of Clarksville, fired 71 and 70 respectively to continue their sub-par rounds.

After the second four, however, the score falls back to Pat Abbott, Memphis, Tenn., with 216.

Burt Burdick of Baton Rouge, La., leads amateurs with a 77-70-75-222, but Jim Waldrup of Gulfport, was right behind with 223.

By JOE MOOSHIL

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Northwestern unveiled sophomore Bill Swingle, who ran for three touchdowns, including a 95-yard jaunt from scrimmage, and pounded out a 45-0 victory over Boston College in its season debut Saturday.

Swindle, 19-year-old fullback from Grand Haven, Mich., scored all his touchdowns in the first half and set up another in the third quarter, when he bolted for 17 yards and then lateraled to Bob Snider, who went over from the 5-yard line.

CONFERENCE OPENER

Saxton Sparks Longhorns To 42-14 Win Over Tech

By PAT CONWAY

AUSTIN (UPI)— The Texas Longhorns, inspired by James Saxton's breakaway antics and Jerry Cook's power drives, outclassed Texas Tech Saturday night 42-14.

Saxton, a jittery phantom halfback, churned 78 yards for one touchdown and added another on a two-yard dive as the Longhorns took their Southwest Conference opener before a crowd of 43,500.

Cook, a 201-pound junor powerrunner, smashed over from five yards out in the first period and added a second period touchdown with a 23-yard blast off tackle.

The Longhorn infantry ground out 391 yards. The Red Raiders looked good only against Texas' fourth team sophomores.

Texas, which usually sticks close to the ground on offense, displayed a balanced passing game tonight. Quarterback Mike Cotten passed 33 yards to fullback Ray Poage for the first Texas score. Texas gained 157 yards in the air.

Roger Gill, a third team halfback, rambled 9 yards for Tech's first touchdown to cap an 80-yard march in the second quarter. Halfback Bake Turner ended another 80-yard drive in the third period with a 2-yard touchdown blast. H. L. Daniels added both ponts from placement.

Texas final touchdown came wth 1:28 left in the game when quarterback Johnny Genung slipped around right end to cap a 56-yard drive.

Cotten's passing was the major weapon in Texas' first touchdown drive—a 70-yard push capped by the 33-yard toss to Poage. Five minutes later, the Longhorns had their second score as they drove 63 yards in nine plays with Cook picking up his first score from five yards out.

Saxton got both of his touchdowns in the second period. His 78-yard scamper started as a slant over left tackle. Halfback Jack Collins tossed the block that set him free. There was 3:50 left in the period when he climaxed an 80-yard drive with the 2-yard dive over left tackle.

The Southeastern Conference teams virtually tossed aside their defenses and gave a sunbaked crowd of 44,600 a great offensive show.

Tennessee scored all its points in an explosive first quarter with tailback Glenn Glass directing three scoring drives after the alert Vols had pounced on three Auburn fumbles.

Auburn's huge Tigers battled back for two toucheowns of their own in the second period to knot the count at 21-all.

Larry Rawson, a brilliant sophomore fullback, and halfback Jimmy Burson ripped through Tennessee's line for repeated gains. And on the critical plays when a pass was needed to keep a drive going, Hunt and his stand-in, sophomore Mailon Kent, connected.

SEC OPENER IN LEXINGTON

Ole Miss Bumps Kentucky 20-6 As Elmore Stands Out

By DONALD F. BOLLES

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) —Mississippi's mighty Rebels powered their way past Kentucky 20-6 Saturday night as senior quarterback Doug Elmore directed a wide open passing attack.

Mississippi, defending Southeastern Conference champion, entered the game ranked second nationally. Its hard fought victory was the sixth in a row over Kentucky.

Junior halfback Chuck Morris of Gulfport, Miss., broke the game open with six minutes gone in the third period. He grabbed an errant Kentucky pass and galloped 69 yards for a touchdown.

Morris' speedy dash put Mississippi ahead 14-6, after the tetams had played on nearly even terms during a 7-6 first half.

Elmore then went on to add to the Mississippi margin as the third period ran out. He executed four successful passes, the last one for a touchdown to senior end Ralph Smith.

Jerry Woolum, Kentucky's junior quarterback, conected to all-SEC end Tom Hutchsinson for a half dozen crowd pleasing catches. But he wasn't able to nudge the ball over for a touchdown as the heavy Mississippi line dug in each time the goal was threatened.

Both squads tried to mount scoring drives in the final quarter but saw them stopped by interceptions and tight defenses.

Kentucky almost hit paydirt with a minute to go in the game as Woolum moved his team 80 yards by passes. But the drive ended as a Woolum pas wa incomplete to Dave Chapman in the end zone.

Mississippi's first touchdown came just before the first quarter ended, on a 60yard pass play from alternate quarterback Glynn Griffing to junior end Wes Sullivan. Sullivan caught the pass on the 20, shook off a tackler, and scored.

The Rebels now meet two nonconference foes before again defending their SEC title. They fending their SEC title. They play Florida State at home next Saturday while Kentucky runs into Auburn, which beat Tennessee 24-21 Saturday.

Kentucky rolled up 18 downs to the Rebels' 13, and an edge in both the passing rushing departments.

Woolum was the indivi standout in yards gained pas —166. Elmore picked up 42 y on the ground and 59 in the

The game started out like an Ohio State rout, the Bucs taking the kickoff and marching 56 yards in 18 plays to score on a pass from quarterback Bill Mrukowski to end Chuck Bryant at 6:05 in the period. Dick Van Raaphorst kicked the extra point and Ohio was away to a 7-0 lead.

But the Horned Frogs, aiming for their second consecutive major upset of the young season, stopped bull-like fullback Bob Ferguson and the Buckeyes' "four yards and a cloud of dust" offense. 21-0 OVER GEORGIA

Vanderbilt Wins As Lesene Stars

By ROSS M. HAGEN

ATHENS, GA. (AP) — Triple threat quarterback Hank Lesesne guided the Vanderbilt Commodores to a 21-0 victory over punchless Georgia in a Southeastern Conference football game Saturday.

Time and again the light but rugged Vanderbilt line forced Georgia backs to fumble at crucial moments.

A 15-yard penalty stopped a Vanderbilt drive on the Georgia 6 in the first quarter which ended 0-0. About mdiway in the second quarter Vanderbilt end Bruce Hammer pounced on a Georgia fumble on the Georgia 37. Seven plays later Lesesne zeroed in on Hammer standing in the end zone for a 10-yard touchdown pass.

Soon after the second half began, Vandy mounted its second touchdown drive. With Lesesne at the throttle, the Commoores rolled steadily downfield. Lesesne whipped a 16-yard touchdown pass to halfback Jeff Starling. Starling evaded two Georgia tacklers and leaped into the end zone. Grady Wade, who missed three field goal attempts earlier, kicked his second point after touchdown.

Jake Saye and Dale Williams alternated at quarterback for the Bulldogs.

Lesesne was the decisive factor for the Commodores, who failed to register a conference win last year.

Providence, R.I. (AP)—Speedy Columbia, considered to have its best football team in several years, struck for 22 points in the first quarter Saturday in hustling to a full 50-0 Ivy League rout of Brown.

Columbia got all the games few breaks and took full advantage of every one of them. For example early in that 22-point first period with the ball on the Brown 22, the Bruins Ray Barry punted.

Orange Wins 29-14 Against West Virginia

SYRACUSUE, N.Y. (AP) — A highly-rated Syracuse football team pounded out a 29-14 victory Saturday over surprisingly strong West Virginia.

Quarterback Dave Sarette threw three passes on which Ken Ericson, Dick Easterly and Ernie Davis scored for the Orange.

One of Sarette's passes was intercepted, however, by Mountaineer halfback Jim Moss, who ran it back a brilliant 87 yards for a touchdown.

Heartened by that play in the second period, the Mountaineers stiffened their defenses, holding Syracuse scoreless in the next quarter.

Bill Schoonover, alternate-team sophomore, galloped 44 yards for a Syracuse touchdown in the first 40 seconds of the second period. He handled that maneuver in two plays from the 50.

West Virginia dominated the final period until Syracuse sophomore John Snider intercepted a pass by Fred Colvard and set up Davis for the final touchdown of the game.

Maris Doesn't Connect But Yankees Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris failed to hit a home run again Saturday and had to settle for a single in New York's 3-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Maris has one more game in which to try to set a new all-time total by hitting his 61st homer. The Yanks finish their regular season Sunday against BOSTON.

The Yankee outfielder, who hit his 60th homer Tuesday night and then took a day off, went hitless Friday night. In Saturday's game Maris was walked in the first inning, grounded out in the third and fifth and singled in the eighth against rookie Don Schwall. He was replaced in center field by Jack Reed in the ninth.

Ralph Terry, warming up for a start in the second or third World Series game against Cincinnati, pitched the first six innings, wining hs 16th. He allowed five hits and the lone Boston run in the fifth on singles by Pete Runels and Pumpsie Green and a double by Schwall.

Florida State Ties Favored Florida, 3-3

GAINESVILLE, Fla., (AP) — Roy Bickford, a "wild card" defensive specialist for Florida State, blocked a punt and set up a field goal that heavily favored Florida could barely match Saturday and the state rivals played a 3-3 tie.

Another great play by Bickford late in the game almost gave the Florida State Seminoles an upset over the bigger state rival they never have beaten.

He intercepted a Bobby Dodd pass and ran it to the Florida 28. But a penalty for an illegal substitution deprived FSU of a good scoring opportunity.

After Bickford, a defensive safety man, blocked a kick by Don Ringgold, and tackled him on the Florida 17, sophomore John Harlee booted his first college field goal for 29 yards.

Florida's points came on a second quarter field goal of 28 yards by Bill Cash.

SHOCKER IN ATLANTA

Gann Leadds Georgia Tech To 24-0 Upset Over Rice

By VERNON BUTLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Stubby Stan Gann passed, ran and faked Rice into a state of utter futility Saturday as he directed Georgia Tech to a shocking 24-0 football rout of the nationally ranked Owls.

The Tech quarterback, having his finest day in two seasons, hurled passes good for 54 yards in the first scoring drive and tallied the touchdown on a five-yard bust through befuddled Rice defenders.

He shrugged off a crippling penalty in the second quarter and guided the Yellow Jackets to another score, and he ran and passed for most of the yardage as Tech poured it on for a third touchdown and a 21-0 halftime lead.

Fullback Mike McNames, a punishing runner and blocker, scored the second touchdown, and halfback Chick Graning the third. Sophomore Billy Lothridge kicked a 35-yard field goal in the fourth quarter, his third of the season.

Rice, ranked No. 7 nationally in The Associated Press poll and a 16-3 conqueror of LSU in the season opener, took a bad beating from Tech's massive line, and the Owls were never a threat. They moved to the Tech 23 in the third quarter but stalled when Tech broke up two passes.

Baylor Edges Pitt 16-13 On Passing

By MURRAY CHASS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Quarterback Ronnie Stanley tossed two fourth-down touchdown passes, the second a 12-yarded to sophomore Jim Ingram in the final period, and Baylor downed Pitt 16-13 Saturday in their first football meeting.

Stanley's second scoring heave climaxed a 92-yard march and brought Baylor from behind with 8:46 remaining. He threw 3 yards to Bob Lane in the third period for Baylor's first touchdown.

All of Pitt's scoring came in the second quarter following two Baylor miscues.

Sophomore Al Grigaliunas intercepted a Stanley pass on the Baylor 40 and raced over the goal line untouched.

Less than three minutes later, Fred Cox took a pitchout and went 16 yards around left end for a touchdown. Cox kicked the first conversion but missed the second.

The Panthers' second score followed ophomore Glenn Lehner's recovery of Bert Tate' fumble.

In the waning moments of the game, Pitt drove 55 yards to Baylor's nine but a fourth-down pass from the 12 by Jim Trafficant into the end zone was incomplete.

The Bears, now undefeated in two games, stayed on the ground most of the time but hit on passes at key times. Pitt is now 1-1.

started by fullback Ronnie Bull's 39-yard dash from his own seven. With third down and 11 to go on Pitt's 31, Stanley hit Tate for 13 yards and a first down.

Four plays later Stanley, back to pass, found himself trapped. He managed to get away and flip a pass into the end zone where Ingram made a lunging catch. Carl Choate, who kicked a 26-yard field goal in the second quarter, booted the conversion.

Baylor's first touchdown drive covered 31 yards in ine plays. Ronnie Goodwin was the workhorse, carrying the ball five times. Lane made a one-handed grab of Stanley's pass on fourth down for the score. A pass attempt for the conversion failed.

Missouri Gets By Minnesota Despite Snow

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Missouri overcame Minnesota snow, rain and cold plus the Gophers' vaunted defense to slap the defending national champions, 6-0, in an intersectional clash.

Missouri, ranked No. 4 in the final 1960 UPI poll, notched it's lone score early in the second period. It came on a one-yard blast by halfback Bill Tobin after the Tigers' lone pass completion of the game. The aerial from Mike Hunter to Carl Crawford covered 24 yards.

Both teams chose to play defense as 22 punts were recorded, 13 by the winners.

The game opened with the temperature at 44 and a driving rail falling in Memorial Stadium. The wind was blowing at 20 miles an hour from the northwest. Before the contest ended the temperature sagged to 38 and snow was mixed with a heavy rain, making the field almost impossible for running.

A crowd of 58,840 braved the weather to watch the Minnesota opener. The slushy, muddy turf kept action to a minimum through most of the game.

Missouri's Mack Gilchrist and Andy Russell, a pair of fast starting fullbacks, recorded the game's longest runs on dashes of 20 and 19 yards respectively in the waning minutes.

Their running moved Missouri to the Minnesota three when the final gun sounded. Tiger Coach Danny Devine, rather than taking a chance on a fumble, chose to let time run out although nearly a full minute was left for a Tiger touchdown try.

Detroit Defeats Twins 6-4 In Shortened Tiff

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) —The Detroit Tigers defeated the Minnesota Twins 6-4 Saturday in an American League game shortened to five innings by a chilly downpour.

Tiger rookie Howard Koplitz survived a four-run Twins uprising in the first that wiped out a 3-0 Tiger lead to chalk up his second major league victory.

Villanova Wins 20-6

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Unbeaten Villanova shook off adversity and made two fierce goal line stands for a 20-6 football victory over Holy Cross Saturday.

Quarterbacks Richie Richman and Ted Aceto marched the superbly blocking Wildcats to a pair of first period touchdowns after a pass interception led to the first score Villanova has yielded in three games.

As time ran out at halftime with the score 12-6, Villanova twice stubbornly refused to bend a foot from its goal as the Crusader best—halfback Tom Hennessey and quarterback Pat McCarthy—tried to crack through.

Hank Cutting's fumble and the recovery by Villanova end Jack Clifford on the Holy Cross 25 in the third period set up the clinching score for the powerful visitors.

Major League Averages

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Detroit's Norm Cash is making rapid headway in his bid to score a clear-cut victory in the American League batting race.

Cash, who trailed Elston Howard most of this month, moved eight points in front of the New York catcher Friday by collecting four hits in five tries. Cash is batting .359 and Howard .351.

Howard, with 473 total appearances through Friday's games, will not compile the 502 total appearances necessary for championship consideration. The season ends Sunday. The total appearance rule has been subject to criticism by Yankee manager Ralph Houk among others.

In the National League, Vada Pinson of Cincinnati has moved to within six points of batting leader Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh. Clemente, sidelined with a pulled muscle most of this week, is hitting .351. Pinson is at .345.

SHOCKER IN ATLANTA

Gann Leadds Georgia Tech To 24-0 Upset Over Rice

By VERNON BUTLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Stubby Stan Gann passed, ran and faked Rice into a state of utter futility Saturday as he directed Georgia Tech to a shocking 24-0 football rout of the nationally ranked Owls.

The Tech quarterback, having his finest day in two seasons, hurled passes good for 54 yards in the first scoring drive and tallied the touchdown on a five-yard bust through befuddled Rice defenders.

He shrugged off a crippling penalty in the second quarter and guided the Yellow Jackets to another score, and he ran and passed for most of the yardage as Tech poured it on for a third touchdown and a 21-0 halftime lead.

Fullback Mike McNames, a punishing runner and blocker, scored the second touchdown, and halfback Chick Graning the third. Sophomore Billy Lothridge kicked a 35-yard field goal in the fourth quarter, his third of the season.

Rice, ranked No. 7 nationally in The Associated Press poll and a 16-3 conqueror of LSU in the season opener, took a bad beating from Tech's massive line, and the Owls were never a threat. They moved to the Tech 23 in the third quarter but stalled when Tech broke up two passes.

Baylor Edges Pitt 16-13 On Passing

By MURRAY CHASS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Quarterback Ronnie Stanley tossed two fourth-down touchdown passes, the second a 12-yarded to sophomore Jim Ingram in the final period, and Baylor downed Pitt 16-13 Saturday in their first football meeting.

Stanley's second scoring heave climaxed a 92-yard march and brought Baylor from behind with 8:46 remaining. He threw 3 yards to Bob Lane in the third period for Baylor's first touchdown.

All of Pitt's scoring came in the second quarter following two Baylor miscues.

Sophomore Al Grigaliunas intercepted a Stanley pass on the Baylor 40 and raced over the goal line untouched.

Less than three minutes later, Fred Cox took a pitchout and went 16 yards around left end for a touchdown. Cox kicked the first conversion but missed the second.

The Panthers' second score followed ophomore Glenn Lehner's recovery of Bert Tate' fumble.

In the waning moments of the game, Pitt drove 55 yards to Baylor's nine but a fourth-down pass from the 12 by Jim Traficant into the end zone was incomplete.

The Bears, now undefeated in two games, stayed on the ground most of the time but hit on passes at key times. Pitt is now 1-1. started by fullback Ronnie Bull's 39-yard dash from his own seven. With third down and 11 to go on Pitt's 31, Stanley hit Tate for 13 yards and a first down.

Four plays later Stanley, back to pass, found himself trapped. He managed to get away and flip a pass into the end zone where Ingram made a lunging catch. Carl Choate, who kicked a 26-yard field goal in the second quarter, booted the conversion.

Baylor's first touchdown drive covered 31 yards in ine plays. Ronnie Goodwin was the workhorse, carrying the ball five times. Lane made a one-handed grab of Stanley's pass on fourth down for the score. A pass attempt for the conversion failed.

Missouri Gets By Minnesota Despite Snow

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Missouri overcame Minnesota snow, rain and cold plus the Gophers' vaunted defense to slap the defending national champions, 6-0, in an intersectional clash.

Missouri, ranked No. 4 in the final 1960 UPI poll, notched its lone score early in the second period. It came on a one-yard blast by halfback Bill Tobin after the Tigers' lone pass completion of the game. The aerial from Mike Hunter to Carl Crawford covered 24 yards.

Both teams chose to play defense as 22 punts were recorded, 13 by the winners.

The game opened with the temperature at 44 and a driving rail falling in Memorial Stadium. The wind was blowing at 20 miles an hour from the northwest. Before the contest ended the temperature sagged to 38 and snow was mixed with a heavy rain, making the field almost impossible for running.

A crowd of 58,840 braved the weather to watch the Minnesota opener. The slushy, muddy turf kept action to a minimum through most of the game.

Missouri's Mack Gilchrist and Andy Russell, a pair of fast starting fullbacks, recorded the game's longest runs on dashes of 20 and 19 yards respectively in the waning minutes.

Their running moved Missouri to the Minnesota three when the final gun sounded. Tiger Coach Danny Devine, rather than taking a chance on a fumble, chose to let time run out although nearly a full minute was left for a Tiger touchdown try.

Detroit Defeats Twins 6-4 In Shortened Tiff

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) —The Detroit Tigers defeated the Minnesota Twins 6-4 Saturday in an American League game shortened to five innings by a chilly downpour.

Tiger rookie Howard Koplitz survived a four-run Twins uprising in the first that wiped out a 3-0 Tiger lead to chalk up his second major league victory.

Villanova Wins 20-6

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Unbeaten Villanova shook off adversity and made two fierce goal line stands for a 20-6 football victory over Holy Cross Saturday.

Quarterbacks Richie Richman and Ted Aceto marched the superbly blocking Wildcats to a pair of first period touchdowns after a pass interception led to the first score Villanova has yielded in three games.

As time ran out at halftime with the score 12-6, Villanova twice stubbornly refused to bend a foot from its goal as the Crusader best—halfback Tom Hennessey and quarterback Pat McCarthy—tried to crack through.

Hank Cutting's fumble and the recovery by Villanova end Jack Clifford on the Holy Cross 25 in the third period set up the clinching score for the powerful visitors.

Iowa Crushes California In 28-7 Decision

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Ambitious Iowa wasted several scoring opportunities Saturday but whipped stubborn California 28-7 with a crushing running attack which the Hawkeyes hope will carry them to the national football championship.

Quarterback Wilburn Hollis led the Hawkeyes with a pair of touchdowns. Sophomore halfback Paul Krause scored another after he replaced starting halfback Larry Ferguson, lost in the second quarter with a leg injury. Lonnie Rogers, another sophomore halfback, burst over from the 4 with 34 seconds left to wrap up the scoring.

California's hard-hitting Bears forced three Iowa fumbles and stopped two Hawkeye bids deep in Cal territory.

But except for a second quarter drive capped by a bizarre scoring play, the Bears were unable to organize an offense without quarterback Randy Gold, sidelined by a knee injury.

Fullback George Pierovich touched off Cal's only drive with a dazzling 44-yard return of an Iowa kickoff. The Bears drove to the Iowa 4 in 11 plays where halfback Rudy Carvajal took a pitchout, dropped the ball and then dove on it in the end zone for a touchdown.

Jorgensen Leads Huskies To 20-7 Win Over Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Senior quarterback Kermit Jorgensen cranked up touchdown drives of 54 and 72 yards, and speedster Charlie Mitchell raced 66 yards to score in the last four minutes to give Washington a 20-7 victory over Illinois Saturday.

The Rose Bowl football champions of the last two years, who opened their season a week ago by losing to Purdue 13-7 in Seattle, stayed on the ground as a strong wind swept the field and drove to touchdowns in the first and second quarters.

The Huskies held a 14-7 lead at halftime after Illinois winged 80 yards in 15 plays to score 25 seconds before the second period ended.

Duke Passes To 42-0 Stampede Over Virginia U

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Duke's Blue Devils, after going one period without a first down, found Virginia's weakness on pass defense and cruhed the 42-0 Saturday in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game.

The Cavaliers, who a week ago ended a national record-tying losing streak of 28 games by whipping William and Mary, stalled the Bluet Devils for 15 minutes—then found out in a hurry you can't win 'em all.

Telesh Leads Cornell

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — George Telesh, senior halfback, scored three touchdowns and fullback Ken Kavensky two Saturday as Cornell counted in every period and romped to a 34-0 triumph over Colgate in Coach Tom Harp's debut as the Big Red mentor.

Cornell dominated throughout and stopped the only Colgate threat. That was in the second period and the march was halted on the 9 when Kavensky intercepted a Rader pass. Colgate had snagged a Cornell aerial to start its drive.

Saturday's triumph ended Cornell's losing streak at six games. Although Cornell clearly dominated from the very start, the Big Red was ahead by only 14-0 at the half.

But Telesh crushed what hopes Colgate might have had by his 27-yard romp for a marker early in the third period. From then on it was all Cornell, on the scoreboard as well as on the field.

Dartmouth, 28-3

HANOVER, N.H. (AP)—Sophomore halfback Tom Spangenb lifted Dartmouth to its straight football victory over N Hampshire, 28-3, after a bumb start in the Green's 80th sea opener Saturday.

The 19-year-old Darien, Co rookie scored twice and broke pattern of tight New Hamps defenses with two fine catches and a 53-yard run.

Major League Averages

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Detroit's Norm Cash is making rapid headway in his bid to score a clear-cut victory in the American League batting race.

Cash, who trailed Elston Howard most of this month, moved eight points in front of the New York catcher Friday by collecting four hits in five tries. Cash is batting .359 and Howard .351.

Howard, with 473 total appearances through Friday's games, will not compile the 502 total appearances necessary for championship consideration. The season ends Sunday. The total appearance rule has been subject to criticism by Yankee manager Ralph Houk among others.

In the National League, Vada Pinson of Cincinnati has moved to within six points of batting leader Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh. Clemente, sidelined with a pulled muscle most of this week, is hitting .351. Pinson is at .345.

FOCUS ON FALL FASHIONS

Monroe Morning World

October, 1

At left: Ready for a dramatic entrance for late-day and after-dark occasions, is Mrs. Benton Wakefield Jr., whose choice of costume for the autumn social season, is a dazzling gold and black brocade which defines the opulent look. The glamorous one-piece model features a wide square collar and covered buttons enclosing the front. Long black kid gloves complement the bracelet length sleeves.

Ideal for brisk fall days that invite travel, is the nubby wool suit worn by Mrs. Thomas C. Holmes Jr. In glowing cinnamon, one of fall's preferred colors, the suit jacket has a demi-fit air and shorter-than-usual sleeves. Her veiled black velvet pillbox matches the large velvet bag with cut out handle of brown tortoise.

With the change of seasons comes a yearning for something new—such as dashing fashions to spice your wardrobes and Fall '61 proves especially exciting in its mood of fashion flattery and classic good taste. Color, cued to fall, ranges from earthy tones to vivid hues, with black, the fashion indispensable appearing ultra-elegant in the fall scene. On this page we present a group of local women in fashions for around the clock wear.

At left: A versatile suit that boasts one of fall's favorite fashion points—a skirt swirling with pleats, will take Mrs. Hayden Cutler Jr., from football stadium to dinner during the coming autumn week ends. Her costume of harvest green wool is complemented with a mink pillbox hat to match her mink stole. The semi-fitted jacket buttons high to be worn without a blouse.

Fashions for the jet-age mode of travel spark the fall wardrobes of four Monroe residents, Mrs. Eugene Flournoy, Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Mrs. Mabel Ratliff and Mrs. Jack Taylor, who left Friday, September 29 for a month's vacation abroad. The foursome plans to visit London, Paris, and Rome with several days stop over in New York en route. In photo at left, Mrs. Flournoy is wearing a navy crepe with cowl collar framing the scoop neckline, while Mrs. Slagle's black crepe is styled with keyhole neckline and a flat sash forming a panel to the hem. Both are fashioned of wrinkle-resistant silk crepe. Pictured right, Mrs. Ratliff, seated, is wearing a travel costume of black double-knit wool, consisting of dress with matching full length coat. For dinner and the theatre, Mrs. Taylor selected a blouson sheath of uncrushable black matelasse.

Jolene Buttitta Becomes Bride Of Mr. Holdiness

Jesus the Good Shepherd Church was scene of the wedding of Miss Jolene Buttitta and Henry Thomas Holdiness, which was solemnized at 10 a.m. Saturday, September 16. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Erline K. Buttitta, 1500 Forsythe and Joseph P. Buttitta of Mobile, Ala., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Holdiness, 2327 Sauvelle.

Vases of large white chrysanthemums and fern graced the altar where Nuptial Mass was performed by Father William Provosky following the double ring exchange of vows.

Mrs. Sam Lasuzzo Jr., organist and Mrs. Waymon Etier, soloist, presented a program of nuptial music which included Ave Maria, Panis Angelicus, Jesus, Thou Art Coming and Jesus, Come To Me.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, E. F. Kenny. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace with full length skirt over hoops. An illusion yoke insert featured the scalloped lace neckline and ruffles of Chantilly lace and nylon net formed alternating tiers in the back. Her waistlength veil of illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and iridescent white sequins and her bouquet was a yellow throated white orchid encircled with stephanotis.

(Helen was here to lecture on food and cooking under the auspices of St. Francis Hospital auxiliary.) . . . The Wallace home on Island drive was particularly festive with flowers in every room. Tiny purple floribunda roses, used with miniature ivy and white buds of the butterfly lily, decorated the entrance hall.

In the living room, roses in shades of pale to deep salmon were arranged with celosia in the same colors. Charlotte Armstrong roses were used with grey eucalyptus in the den; and in the bedroom were spider lilies, tree ivy, and pittorsporum berries.

Supper was served in the dining room and in the family room. Gardenias, red roses and Baker fern centered the dining table. In the family room, a pottery container in earth tones held Chinese snapdragons, yellow and rust coleus and green pyracantha berries. On a side table, a tall brown vase was filled with zinnias, asters, chrysanthemums, and celosia in shades of yellow.

On the menu were chicken pie, green beans, pickled peaches, green salad, and cracker torte for dessert, with coffee. There were sixteen guests.

When the DEAN SPRADLINGS entertained at a buffet last Saturday night, honor guests were MR. and MRS. JAMES MEYERS of Alexandria. Pink roses decorated the living room of the Spradling home on Spencer street. Spider lilies were used with red and green calladium leaves on the buffet and to center the dining table. Included on the menu served to sixteen guests were shrimp cocktail, ham and cheeses, and assorted dips.

A beach party was the choice of FRANCES DEAN HERR for her tenth birthday party. Following boat rides, surf board and skiing, grilled hamburgers were served along with birthday cake for dessert. Mrs. M. M. Funderburk assisted Mrs. Herr in serving ten guests.

And now, dear readers, an announcement which we have waited years to make: Your reporter, even as you read, is en route to Europe for a fall vacation. We plan to send our copy back — like a real foreign correspondent! And so, beginning October 15, On Dit will see what is to be seen in capitals abroad.

In lieu of a poem, this week we present some lines which express the lure of the road to those bitten by the travel bug:

From "The Wind in the Willows" by Kenneth Grahame: "Take the adventure, heed the call, now ere the irrevocable moment passes. 'Tis but the banging of the door behind you, a blithesome step forward, and you are out of the old life and into the new! Then some day, some long day hence, jog home if you will, when the cup has been drained and the play has been played, and sit down by your quiet river with a store of goodly memories for company.

Lawrence Sterne in "A Sentimental Journey" says: "What a large volume of adventures may be grasped within this little span of life by him who interests his heart in everything, and who, having eyes to see what time and chance are perpetually holding out to him as he journeyeth on his way, misses nothing he can fairly lay his hands on."

And Rudyard Kipling, in "Barrack Room Ballads":

For to admire and for to see
For to behold this world so wide—
It never done no good to me,
But I can't drop it if I tried!

And these lines by Kay Nelson:

As soon as word got around that our family was planning a trip to Europe, we were bombarded with questions to which there were two answers — both of them wrong.

QUESTION: "Are you flying?"
ANSWER NO 1: "No; we're making reservations on the Queen Mary."
( )"too bad. Getting there is half the fun. The other half is coming back.")
QUESTION: "Are you going on a package tour?"
ANSWER No. 1: "No; we thought we'd poke around on our own."
("On your first trip over? Wow, have you got a nerve!")
ANSWER No. 2: "Yes; we've signed up for a nice tour."
("You're making a big mistake. Those tour directors rush you around until your tongue's hanging out and your ears flap.")
QUESTION: "Are you taking a movie camera?"
ANSWER No. 1: "No; we prefer color transparencies."
("What? No movies? You might as well stay home.")
ANSWER No. 2: "Sure."
("What? No slides?")

To one last question, there was just one reply, which seemed to satisfy everybody.

QUESTION: "Are you taking enough money?"
ANSWER: "I doubt it."

ENTERTAINED INFORMALLY during their weekend visit in Monroe were Dr. and Mrs. John H. Packer of Lansing, Michigan, who were guests in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Worthen, 2111 Pargoud Blvd. The Packers accompanied the Worthens to New Orleans Sunday where they will spend the week while attending a professional meeting.

Miss Jane Parker registered guests as they entered the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie, fashioned with scoop neckline, encircled with appliques of lace, embroidered with seed pearls. The pearl applique motifs were repeated on the bouffant skirt which formed deep folds in the back, accented by an overlapping sash. For ornamentation the bride wore a diamond pendant a gift of her parents and for something old, an heirloom pin, giving her by her great grandmother. Her veil of illusion fell from a cap encrusted with pearls and her bouquet was of feathered chrysanthemums and a purple orchid.

Her headdress was a wreath of pink flowers over a short net veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink fuji chrysanthemums. Bridesmaids, dressed identically to the honor attendant, were Miss Barbara Biggs, Miss Carol Baker and Mrs. Garland Webb. They also wore short white gloves and white lustre shoes.

Gil Martin acted as ring bearer.

Big News Afoot This Fall Is Heel, Toe Types

There's big news a-foot this autumn season, 1961! Not only are fall dress shoes better-looking than ever . . . they're full of fascinating silhouette changes.

For instance: the square route to fashion, via new square toes! The captivating crescent toe, rounder, prettier, feminine as all get-out! Sophisticated pointed toes remain in the picture, too. There's a toe-type for everyone, every costume, this season.

Heels make news. Important trend for autumn: little heels with dashing "flare" styling. Elegant wineglass heel are definitely "in." Stacked heels are often preferred for daytime wear.

You'll discover many "contrasts" this fall . . . contrast of color, contrast of texture. In the former category, look for tan paired with black; subtle ombre effects; black with otter, the new grayed-brown hue. Crushed and smooth leathers are often seen in the same shoe.

As for color itself: black still leads the autumn list. But not far behind comes the rich brown family . . . including otter, wild honey, vat 60 and dark brown. Greens and grays are good, and red will be featured in an off-beat spectrum ranging from mulberry to wine.

A hallmark of fall shoe fashon is devastating cobra trim. You'll find this sleek reptile in green, mulberry, otter or gray—often merely suggesting richness at the toe.

There are some unlined styles, but the major emphasis is on softly - lined dress shoes, which offer that walking-on-clouds feeling.

To sum it up: New toes, new heel types, repeated contrasts of color and texture—these are the fashion points to look for in shoes, fall 1961.

Silhouettes are many — slim-column sheaths with back-interesting panels, stoles and pouffs; gowns with a burst of fullness or flare below the hips; gowns with sweeping, full - length skirts; slim gowns with top blousing.

New Water Repellent Leaves Clothes Soft.

Women will especially appreciate a new water repellent called "Soft-n-Dry" because it leaves clothes so soft, according to Don Weil of Weil Cleaners.

"Soft-n-Dry", Weil explained, makes dry-cleaned garments water repellent while at the same time leaving them "without stiffness and with a pleasing finish."

The new water repellent is a product of the Sanitone Division of Emery Industries, Inc., of Cincinnati, Ohio. It is a liquid process applied after regular Sanitone dry cleaning.

Another outstanding feature of the new product is that it can be used on nearly every kind of fabric, said Weil.

Treated garments are also easier to press and leave a built in finish to hold the shape, he added. Weil said the "Soft-n-Dry" treatment now is available at his plant, Weil Cleaners.—Adv.

Alexandria Church Scene Of Grigg-Willis Nuptials

The Homewood Baptist church in Alexandria, was the setting Saturday, September 23 for the wedding of Miss Joan Marie Willis of Alexandria and Ausie Browder Grigg Jr., of Hebert. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Willis, Alexandria and Mr. and Mrs. Ausie Browder Grigg of Hebert.

Vows were exchanged before the altar, which was banked with mass arrangements and pedestal baskets of white gladioli and carnations interspersed with branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers. White tapers and garlands of ivy adorned the windows.

The Rev. Bertrant N. Simmons officiated at the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m. following a program of nuptial music by Mrs. Neal Fisackerly, organist, and Ed Grigg of Winnfield, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a traditional gown of white slipper satin. The fitted bodice, overlaid with white Chantilly lace formed points at the front and back waistline and featured long sleeves that tapered to petal points over the hands. The floor length full skirt extended into a slight train, and her veil of illusion fell from a jeweled tiara. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses entwined with English ivy and centered by a white orchid.

Miss Linda Carol Walker of Alexandria attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of pink sliper satin and tulle and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and ivy. Bridesmaids, who were dressed identically to the honor attendant, included Miss Emma Jean Mott of Hebert; Miss Barbara Gayle Alderman of Winnfield, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Dianne Lynn Hebert of Hebert, cousin of the bridegroom.

Flower girl was Miss Dannie Hebert, cousin of the bridegroom, also of Hebert, who wore a miniature model of the bridesmaids' gowns. She carried a pink tulle and ribbon bedecked white basket filled with flowers.

Candlelighters were Miss Nellwynne Nichols and Miss Dianne Rigney, both of Alexandria.

Edward J. Mullett of New Orleans, served as best man and groomsmen were Sherman Louis Carroll of Columbia; Leonard Willis, also a brother of the bride. Serving as ushers were O. C. Hebert, cousin of the bridegroom of Hebert; Neal Fisackerly and Ralph Williams both of Alexandria.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Willis selected a brown and black silk organza sheath with matching brown accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Grigg, chose a gown of blue semi - sheer crepe with black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the social room of the church. The bride's table, covered in pale blue, overlaid with a white crocheted cloth was centered with the bouquets of the bride and her attendants. Miss Sandra Russell and Miss Margaret Fisackerly served the tiered wedding cake and Miss Wilma Cox and Miss Kathy Spurlock alternated at the punch bowl. Miss Dorothy Sanson registered guests at a table, also decorated in blue.

Mrs. Lester R. Reid, Mrs. Richard Hawk, and Mrs. Clyde Spurlock assisted in the courtesies and distributed pink and blue lace bags.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip to Memphis and other points in Tennessee, the bride was wearing a tailored suit of black and white houndstooth with a close fitting black velvet and feathered hat and black suede bag and shoes, with the white orchid from her bouquet. Upon their return the couple will establish a home on Lake Lafourche near Hebert.

The bride was graduated from Bolton high school in Alexandria in May of this year. Mr. Grigg is a graduate of Columbia high school and Louisiana State University, where he was a member of Alpha Zeta. He completed Reserve Officers Training Corps at LSU and has served six months with the army at Fort Benning, Georgia and Fort Jackson, S. C. He is presently a Lieutenant in Co. F, 2nd Battalion, 95th Regiment of the United States Army Reserves and is engaged in farming in Hebert.

STENO'S VITAL

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the science race with the Soviets, one good secretary is worth at least two good researches, claims Robert Sommer, reporting in a recent issue of the Worm Runner's Digest, an informal journal on the University of Michigan Department of Psychology's Planaria (flatworm) Research Group.

"It is axiomatic that a lab can produce only as fast as its secretary can type," Sommer said. "The lab with one scientist and four secretaries is in a more favorable position than the lab with four scientists and one secretary."

MR. AND MRS. DWAIN JOHNSON

Miss Painich Is Bride Of Dwain Johnson

Miss Kathryn Painich, daughter of Mrs. Hazel Bailey of West Monroe, and the late Rudolph A. Painich, became the bride of Dwain Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Johnson, also of West Monroe, on Saturday, September 23.

A basket of white chrysanthemums, flanked by branched candelabra, entwined with magnolia foliage and holding white tapers formed an improvised altar for the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, 410 Travis. Rev. Fred D. Wall read the vows at 7:30 p.m. in the presence of the families and close friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, Price Martin, wore a street - length dress of white peau de soie. Her elbow length veil fell from a pearl tiara and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with a white orchid.

Miss Gay Owen, maid of honor, wore a dress of blue peau de soie and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Dwain Johnston acted as best man.

Following the ceremony guests were invited into the dining room for a reception. Pink roses and pink tapers formed the central decor for the bride's table with the tiered wedding cake and punch bowl at opposite ends. Mrs. Fae Everett and Mrs. Jewel Kampouris presided at the table.

Mrs. Bailey chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of mauve lace with a corsage of Charlotte Armstrong roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a dark fall ensemble and a corsage of roses.

A memory candle, encircled with pink roses and ivy graced the table where the bride's book was attended by Mrs. Lecolian Arrant.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Snowden and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Williams.

The couple has established a home in West Monroe.

STENO'S VITAL

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the science race with the Soviets, one good secretary is worth at least two good researches, claims Robert Sommer, reporting in a recent issue of the Worm Funner's Digest, an informal journal on the University of Michigan Department of Psychology's Planaria (flatworm) Research Group.

"It is axiomatic that a lab can produce only as fast as its secretary can type," Sommer said. "The lab with one scientist and four secretaries is in a more favorable position than the lab with four scientists and one secretary."

MR. AND MRS. DWAIN JOHNSON

Miss Painich Is Bride Of Dwain Johnson

Miss Kathryn Painich, daughter of Mrs. Hazel Bailey of West Monroe, and the late Rudolph A. Painich, became the bride of Dwain Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Johnson, also of West Monroe, on Saturday, September 23.

A basket of white chrysanthemums, flanked by branched candelabra, entwined with magnolia foliage and holding white tapers formed an improvised altar for the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, 410 Travis. Rev. Fred D. Wall read the vows at 7:30 p.m. in the presence of the families and close friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, Price Martin, wore a street - length dress of white peau de soie. Her elbow length veil fell from a pearl tiara and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with a white orchid.

Miss Gay Owen, maid of honor, wore a dress of blue peau de soie and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Dwain Johnston acted as best man.

Following the ceremony guests were invited into the dining room for a reception. Pink roses and pink tapers formed the central decor for the bride's table with the tiered wedding cake and punch bowl at opposite ends. Mrs. Fae Everett and Mrs. Jewel Kampouris presided at the table.

Mrs. Bailey chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of mauve lace with a corsage of Charlotte Armstrong roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a dark fall ensemble and a corsage of roses.

A memory candle, encircled with pink roses and ivy graced the table where the bride's book was attended by Mrs. Lecolian Arrant.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Snowden and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Williams.

The couple has established a home in West Monroe.

Given in marrige by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk taffeta and embroidered Alencon lace. The basque bodice featured a scalloped Sabrina neckline, outlined in lace, and three-quarter sleeves. The embroidered lace motif was repeated in a scroll design on the full skirt, which was accented by a self bow in back. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of white pompons surrounding a white orchid.

Miss Reta Mae Zumo attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Mae Peoples and Miss Patricia Ann Colby. Their dresses of gold, violet and green, respectively, were styled with three-quarter sleeves, round necklines and cummerbunds encircling the waist. They wore pillbox hats with short veils to match their dresses and carried cascade bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Vibrant Or Muted Hues Spin Fall Color Wheel

The color wheel turns two ways in fall fashion. One direction is toward the well - established, still booming interest in bold, vibrant colors. The other is toward new developments in "no colors" — moss, mushroom and many muted hues of green, gold and rust.

On the lively side are colors grouped under the name, "magenta" — which actually covers, as well, fuchsia, wine and a diversity of other blued reds. This group bids fair to take the fashion place held last spring by pink, and last fall by purple.

Bright, bluish greens such as jade and emerald; darker forest greens; deep or bright reds and blues, teal tones; orange and russet enliven colorful new fashions.

Allied with the no - colors, which are neutral in inclination but not quite neutral in hue, are the neutrals themselves. Fog and smoke greys and earth tones earn fashion attention.

Browns, blackened or reddened, gain prominence and are the inpiration for a family of spice colors, such as pimiento. Black, the fashion indispensable, looks ultra - elegant in its fall '61 appearance.

Color combinations call forth plaids, and more plaids, from discreet glens to big, bold and bright versions. Richly colored stripes, distinctive checks and a variety of interesting prints contribute to the colorful or no - colorful look of fall.

Harmony Topic For Arrangers Circle Study

Mrs. W. D. Clark was hostess to members of the Arrangers Circle at her home, 1301 Parnell in West Monroe. The group gathered on the patio where Mrs. John Lewis conducted a discussion on arrangements brought by the members.

Monochromatic harmony was the assignment and the instructor offered timely suggestions.

It was announced that the assignment for the next meeting will be complimentary harmony, with members to again display arrangements using the theme.

Mrs. Oscar Harrell, president, conducted a brief business session after which Mrs. Clark conducted the group on a tour of her garden with colorful seasonal flowers and waterfalls the center of interest.

Coffee was served to Mrs. W. C. Feazel, Mrs. Colbert Camp, Mrs. R. L. Gibson, Mrs. Harold Roberts, Mrs. W. E. Kramer, Mrs. R. B. Archibald, Mrs. J. M. Bell, Mrs. Rex Furlow, Mrs. Lyda Tolbird, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Louise Kendall, Mrs. S. H. Humphries, Mrs. W. A. Coats, Mrs. Tim Ford, Mrs. George Screpetis, Mrs. A. R. Play Features Lenwil School PTA Program

A play depicting the parent and teacher of a sixth grade pupil was presented at the regular meeting of Lenwil Parent-Teacher Association September 21 in the school cafeteria. Mrs. R. E. Waldrip was moderator, for the skit, which revealed how home problems affect the learning capacity of a pupil with the teacher acting mediator by extra understanding through a working day.

Projects adopted by the P.-T.A. for the coming year include an October Carnival; a January chicken-spaghetti supper and a May ballgame. Proceeds will be used to purchase books, maps and paper cups for Lenwil school. Games, music and refreshments at each event will be under supervision of Mrs. J. O. Boyd.

The devotion by Rev. Cook stressed the importance of parents in furthering the incentive of teachers to remain in the education field.

Arrangements of green ivy with name cards at each table served to introduce the parent and teacher. Registration revealed a high percentage of mothers in attendance.

MISS MURRELL JEAN WILLIAMS

Miss Williams, Fiance Plan October Vows

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Williams, Route 2, El Dorado, Arkansas, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Murrell Jean Williams to Jerry Wayne Farrar. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Farrar, Route 2, Lillie, La.

The wedding will be an event of October 28 in the Lockhart Church of Christ at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Williams is a graduate of Junction City high school and is employed in El Dorado.

Mr. Farrar is a graduate of Bernice high school and Louisiana Tech at Ruston. He is presently with the Wildlife and Fisheries commission in New Orleans, where the couple plans to establish a home following a wedding trip to Biloxi.

Season Offers Milady Glamour In Millinery

Furs, fake furs and feathers deck all both daytime - casual and evening - elegant hats for topping the fluid lines of fall's flattering fashions.

Beautiful beavers, velours and velvets are exciting grace notes of deep pile, long - napped or softly - shaggy surfaces to give an elegant look of height and a dignified bulk a-head.

A more hat look is most complimentary to the fluid lines of fashions. Colors too, add a subtle sophistication to the scene in mutes, misty or jewel shades.

Tall toque types, turbans and low - look, high - crowned hats give balance to the new movement at the hemlines. High crowns are draped, bloused and prettily manipulated in countless ways. Brims may be arched, curved or snapped to provide a flattering, most feminine frame for the face.

Hats take on discreet trimmings in bows, cocardes, feathers and bands; there are all types of binding accents, and jewels — never brazenly bold — restrained in mood but importantly complementary for fall's gentle air of fashion.

Fall's millinery roundup corrals a fascinating variety of furs and many new pelts (real and make-believe) challenge the supremacy of mink and more traditional fur favorites. Among these newcomers are zebra, otter and almost the entire wild "cat" family.

Many fur or illusion fur hats take on a rakish cossack styling. Formal fabrics give a sophistication that's somewhat unusual to classic, yet casual, styles.

Hats for the night scene go all out in elegance; they employ jewels, feathers, rings of fur, gentle veils and glitter notes as well as rich, luxurious fabric.

All in all — hats are hattier and it's a more hat season. All the new fashions invite that extra flourish of a flattering hat to complete the costume and add the touch that says "there is a smartly - dressed woman."

The bride is a graduate of Redemptionist High School and the bridegroom attended Columbia and Natchitoches high schools.

Among guests were Mrs. Mary Zumo and Mrs. May Unbehagen, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs. Hattie Pevy of Jonesboro, grandmother of the bridegroom.

NOVEMBER 3 is the date chosen for their wedding by Miss Sarah Allen Wright and David Ray Speir, whose engagement is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. Wright of Swartz. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Speir, also of Swartz. The wedding will take place at 7:30 p.m. in Swartz Baptist Church with the Rev. H. M. Roach officiating.

Vibrant Or Muted Hues Spin Fall Color Wheel

The color wheel turns two ways in fall fashion. One direction is toward the well - established, still booming interest in bold, vibrant colors. The other is toward new developments in "no colors" — moss, mushroom and many muted hues of green, gold and rust.

On the lively side are colors grouped under the name, "magenta" — which actually covers, as well, fuchsia, wine and a diversity of other blued reds. This group bids fair to take the fashion place held last spring by pink, and last fall by purple.

Bright, bluish greens such as jade and emerald; darker forest greens; deep or bright reds and blues; teal tones; orange and russet enliven colorful new fashions.

Allied with the no - colors, which are neutral in inclination but not quite neutral in hue, are the neutrals themselves. Fog and smoke greys and earth tones earn fashion attention.

Browns, blackened or reddened, gain prominence and are the inpiration for a family of spice colors, such as pimiento. Black, the fashion indispensable, looks ultra - elegant in its fall '61 appearance.

Color combinations call forth plaids, and more plaids, from discreet glens to big, bold and bright versions. Richly colored stripes, distinctive checks and a variety of interesting prints contribute to the colorful or no - colorful look of fall.

Harmony Topic For Arrangers Circle Study

Mrs. W. D. Clark was hostess to members of the Arrangers Circle at her home, 1301 Parnell in West Monroe. The group gathered on the patio where Mrs. John Lewis conducted a discussion on arrangements brought by the members.

Monochromatic harmony was the assignment and the instructor offered timely suggestions.

It was announced that the assignment for the next meeting will be complimentary harmony, with members to again display arrangements using the theme.

Mrs. Oscar Harrell, president, conducted a brief business session after which Mrs. Clark conducted the group on a tour of her garden with colorful seasonal flowers and waterfalls the center of interest.

Coffee was served to Mrs. W. C. Feazel, Mrs. Colbert Camp, Mrs. R. L. Gibson, Mrs. Harold Roberts, Mrs. W. E. Kramer, Mrs. R. B. Archibald, Mrs. J. M. Bell, Mrs. Rex Furlow, Mrs. Lyda Tolbird, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Louise Kendall, Mrs. S. H. Humphries, Mrs. W. A. Coats, Mrs. Tim Ford, Mrs. George Screpetis, Mrs. A. R. Robinson, and Mrs. Oscar Harrell.

Mrs. Roach Is New Member Of Claiborne HDC

Mrs. Wiley E. Roach was welcomed as a new member of Claiborne Home Demonstration Club when it met Wednesday, September 20 in the home of Mrs. W. J. Dunn, on Farmerville Road. Mrs. Monk Salley was co - hostess.

Mrs. Dunn conducted the business session during which Mrs. H. O. Eley gave a report on the July 28 meeting of the Ouachita Council. The program was introduced by Mrs. C. A. Nenney and included a report on food preservation by Mrs. Charles Magown and on gardening by Mrs. I. D. Spharler. A demonstration entitled, "Wise Credit Buying" was given by Mrs. Audrey Dawson, agent.

After a recreational period the meeting was adjourned with the fair committee remaining for a covered dish luncheon and to map plans for a booth at Ouachita Valley Fair.

Members present were Mrs. J. R. Frantom, Mrs. J. D. Cannon, Mrs. Charles Magown, Mrs. Salley, Mrs. Nenney, Mrs. H. O. Eley, Mrs. E. C. Gaskins, Mrs. L. E. McCurrey, Mrs. Charles Glover, Mrs. C. E. Crawford, Mrs. L. M. Bayne, Mrs. Jasper Jones, Mrs. David Bryan, Mrs. Spharler, Mrs. E. H. Event, Mrs. R. H. Hearne, Mrs. James Perkins, Mrs. C. D. Henderson, Mrs. Roach and Mrs. Dunn.

The next meeting on October 18 will be with Mrs. Bayne, Highway 80, West Monroe, at 9:30 a.m.

Georgia Tucker PTA Sets Date For Carnival

A "get acquainted" meeting was held by Georgia Tucker Parent-Teacher Association in the school Setember 21 with Mrs. A. C. Breckenridge Jr., in charge.

A report of the board meeting was read by Mrs. W. H. McKalvey Jr., and Mrs. E. B. Williams announced the carnival had been scheduled for October 10 as the P-TA's only project for the year.

Mrs. Mabel S. Lippmin, principal, introduced the teachers for the year as room count was taken. They are Mrs. C. B. Littleton, Mrs. Elvin Kilatrick, Mrs. Cascio, Mrs. Lamar Rogers, Mrs. Elbert Miller, Miss Verna LaBlanc, Mrs. Frank Simpson, Mrs. T. C. Starnes, Mrs. William Stewart, Miss Gertrude Hart and Mrs. L. F. Unglesby.

Following the meeting parents visited their childrens' classrooms for discussions of general topics of interest to the respective class.

Play Features Lenwil School PTA Program

A play depicting the parent and teacher of a sixth grade pupil was presented at the regular meeting of Lenwil Parent-Teacher Association September 21 in the school cafeteria. Mrs. R. E. Waldrip was moderator, for the skit, which revealed how home problems affect the learning capacity of a pupil with the teacher acting mediator by extra understanding through a working day.

Projects adopted by the P.-T.A. for the coming year include an October Carnival; a January chicken-spaghetti supper and a May ballgame. Proceeds will be used to purchase books, maps and paper cups for Lenwil school. Games, music and refreshments at each event will be under supervision of Mrs. J. O. Boyd.

The devotion by Rev. Cook stressed the importance of parents in furthering the incentive of teachers to remain in the education field.

Arrangements of green ivy with name cards at each table served to introduce the parent and teacher. Registration revealed a high percentage of mothers in attendance.

MISS MARY KATHRYNE MCCAIN

Miss McCain To Become October Bride

Engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Mary Kathryne McCain and Jerry Galloway Loe is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James William McCain of Winnsboro. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood R. Loe of Shreveport.

The wedding will be solemnized on Saturday, October 14 at 7 p.m. in Winnsboro First Baptist church with the Rev. Clarence Young performing the ceremony.

Add Fall Look

Fringe trims and off-center closings give fall '61 look to new sportswear.

STALE BREAD

Grinding stale bread is the easiest way to make a large batch of bread crumbs. A plastic bag attached to the grinder with a rubber band makes a good receptacle for the crumbs and also prevents crumbs from falling.

Lamps Light Home Decor In Range Of Style

Lamps shed light on home decor in an infinite choice of designs, from sofer modern to simplified traditional. They reflect the general home fashion interest in wood, displaying handsome wood bases; however, textured ceramics, white porcelain and brass are important and attractive, too.

Pole lamps extend the variety of their styling, including planter and early American types. Table lamps, ultra-tall for several seasons, are scaled down in size for fall.

Now wall lamps combine elegant mountings with engineered lighting. Among floor lamps, there's an emphasis on styles with trays.

An outstanding fall trend is the return of the chandelier. Especially in hallways and dining areas, chandeliers are finding favor as a mode of gracious lighting. The choice offered is from traditional to early American to modern, in new shapes and colors.

Pressed For Time

Beauty Tricks Lick Doldrums

Capture the bright prospects of the "fifth season," if you want to lick the mid-summer doldrums, make the most of your good looks and sip a foretaste of autumn excitement. For the techniques you'll need to use here are six easy lessons how season-spanning can be used as an active campaign to win more good looks.

1. At the first sign of an ebbing tan, get out your cheek rouge. Instead of touch only on cheeks, use it to restore a golden glow to your entire face. Blend rouge over a larger cheek area than usual. Then add a touch of the color to your forehead hairline and to your chin. Blend and watch your tan become fresh and flattering again.

2. Give your summer duds a lift with one sensational accessory, ablaze with autumn color: a velvet handbag, a plushy beaver hat, a suede sash belted low or tied under the bust, a la the forecasts from Paris. Cue your lipstick to the spot of autumn color by blending in a darker fall shade into your summer pastel shade.

3. Heighten the drama of a little mid - summer black dress by replacing misty eyeshadows with vibrant shades. Try matching your new eyeshadow shade to the color of a big fake jewel pinned to one shoulder.

4. If eyes are washed out by sun - bleached lashes and eyebrows, treat eyes to a frilly pair of fake lashes. Mascara both your on and the added lashes with a darker shade of mascara. Tweese sun - faded eyebrows to compass - drawn cleaness, and color the faded eyebrow hairs with the flat side of your eyebrow pencil before pencilling on an arch.

5. Try a new hair-do for your foretaste of fall style and for a lift to your morale. Angle it for a new side-slanted hat, as dashing as Iris March's, but for styling cues leaf through the fashions of the 30's, and take a long hard look at the side-parted bob of Carole Lombard.

6. To make your skin glow with added radiance for the new rich fashion colors ahead — curry-golds, greens and Flemish primitive reds and blues — arm yourself with a good complexion sponge, and start massaging.

More Effort Said Need Of Christianity

By LOUIS CASSETS
United Press International

The black hair is turning grey. But the eyes are as hypnotic as ever. And he is still one of the most articulate men in the world of religion, whether he's preaching to a huge congregation, or just chatting with a reporter in a hotel room.

"What would you like to talk about?" asked Bishop Fulton J. Sheen after the amenities were over.

I was tempted to say "religion" and let it go like from there. But that's no way to conduct an interview. So I tossed him a warm up question about the state of America's spiritual health.

You can't tell from the area of [illegible] that he was not optimistic about it.

"I can't see any great manifestation of actual religious revival," he said. "On the surface, there seems to be a softening of moral and spiritual fibers in our society."

How so?

MANY SYMPTOMS

"There are many symptoms. One is the decline of participation in the services of God. In the [illegible] when one goes to the others are crowded too."

Is patriotic devotion to one's country consistent with the ideal of international brotherhood which has been strongly expounded by all of the recent popes?

Of course. There's no conflict whatever. Loving the whole does not mean that you must scorn the part closest to you. Patriotism is [illegible] our day must be the love for our forefathers."

"I see a lack of moral fiber in America."

"We've grown rich and have fallen in love with our luxuries. When you put such a tremendous emphasis on material things, spiritual values tend to atrophy."

POTENTIAL STILL GREAT

"I meant that our potential is still great. We have tremendous moral and spiritual reserves waiting to be tapped in our young people. One of the things modern young people are rebelling against is the softness of an older generation which has failed to bequeath them a serious purpose in life. American youth are ready to make great sacrifices if someone will give them a cause to which they can really dedicate themselves."

Before I could ask another question, the bishop smiled and said firmly that it was time we talked about missions. As head of the Catholic missions secretariat in the United States, he spends most of his time these days raising money and recruiting manpower for missions.

I asked whether strong nationalist feelings have become a serious barrier to the spread of Christianity is being denounced as a "white man's export" and is in danger of being rejected along with colonialism in newly emergent nations?

"I hear that frequently from people who have never been in a mission field," said Bishop Sheen. "But I rarely hear it from the missionaries themselves.

A FOLK FABLE

"This notion that anti-Western sentiments have "doomed" Christian missions is a folk fable. Nationalism is a political phenomenon and it has had far less effect on religious attitudes than we attribute to it in the West.

"In the United States, the average number of conversions per priest is less than three a year. In several Asian and African countries that I know of—for example, South Viet Nam, Korea, and Kenya—conversions per priest average more than 100 per year. This shows a great receptivity to the Christian message. What we need are more people to spread that message."

Was he having any success in persuading American Catholics to respond to this need?

"Yes, we are doing better. We now have about 7,000 American Catholics serving in overseas missions, which is three times as many as we had a few years ago. But America, which has one of the largest Catholic populations of any nation in the world, is still providing only 3 per cent of the church's total missionary force. Our record in financial support of missions is somewhat better, but still not nearly as good as that of American Protestants.

"In short, we're not doing enough. We should be doing much more."

He was staring me straight in the eye as he said this. If someone had passed the plate for missions right then, I would have put every dime I had in it. That's the way Fulton J. Sheen affects you.

THE HOME SHIFT

Candle Tree Bloom Scarce

By MILDRED SWIFT

So many people are worried because their candle trees have not bloomed. The plants are large and healthy, but not a single bud. We know very little about this plant because it is tropical. We've only grown them in this area in the last 10 years.

COULD BE

The answer of no blooms could be because we've had so much cool weather this summer and we know the plant must have lots of heat because it grows best in those areas. It could be that the plants were not started early enough in the spring. Yet two gardeners bought their plants at the same time, planted them the same day, on lots adjoining. One plant is blooming its heart out, the other, not a bloom. Can you answer that?

SPIDER LILIES

Red spider lilies are so common that even children recognize them by their name. They may be common, but they are beautiful and spectacular, especially when planted in larges masses. There are other colors of spider lilies, but none as vigorous as the red one. One of the very rarest is a so - called white one. Actually it is a light cream. The yellow lycoris or spider lily is so perfect it is spectacular. Each little floweret is so large that at first glance it resembles a day lily.

Several varieties of pink spider lilies are grown in different parts of the world and here at home, Mrs. B. U. Evans, Ferriday, is growing a number of these.

The spider lily's family is lycoris. Each color is a different species. The red is lycoris radiata; the white is lycoris albaflora; the yellow is lycors aurea. The most commonly grown pink one in this area is lycoris squamigera. Other common names of this family are: surprise lily and hurricane lily. However, botanists say the spider lilies cannot qualify as lilies at all.

HABITS

The foliage of the lycoris family stays green all winter. This appears soon after the flower. At the time the foliage appears is the best time to fertilize them, because the fertilizer is used by the leaves in the production of plant food. Use a mixture of bone meal and 8-8-8 half and half.

The foliage stays green all winter, thus making this a perfect plant for winter ground cover.

In the spring the foliage turns brown, because the plant is going dormant. This is a perfect time to transplant your spider lilies. When doing this job, don't try to force any two bulbs apart. You'll cause and lose them when you force them.

Plant with the necks sticking out of the ground in a well drained spot. Soil should be of good loomy texture. Working bone meal in the soil at planting time starts the bulb off to a healthy life.

ALTHA

Easy to propagate from cuttings is althea, a hardy, semitropical flowering shrub, a cousin to hibiscus. Also known as rose of Sharon. Botanical name hibiscus syriacus.

Althea grows to a height of about 12 feet with a spread of four to six feet. It blooms partially all summer, bearing single or double flowers, depending on the variety. Flower colors are white, deep lavender, pink, red and red and white.

Like the hibiscus this plant does best in full sun. It is not particular as to soil and stands cold well. In old gardens there are altheas that have stood for many years. One in my own garden was rooted and left in that place, 33 years ago. It has never missed a year blooming. It's a pale pink, double and very lovely in arrangements, but not very long lasting.

Hardwood cuttings may be made this month or next. Take a four to six inch piece with the cut made below a leaf node and on a slant. Remove lower leaves. Dip in a rooting medium to hasten the process. These will root in regular soil.

RED SPIDER

There have been some severe infestations of red spider around the parish. Aside from the tell-tale web, which doesn't always accompany the mite, there are two other way to determine whether you have them or not. One is to rub a suspected leaf between the thumb and the index finger. If the finger next to the under leaf surface is stained a reddish brown, you have the red spider.

Another test is to get a piece of white paper, hold under suspected leaf, and shake the branch vigoriously. If the mites are there in any number, they'll fall on the white paper. You'll see them moving around.

One of the best treatments for red spider mites is malathion. Spray with a strong pressure and get the under surface of the leaves, because that's where they stay. Plan to give a second spraying in 10 days.

You can suspect spider mites when you see foliage discoloration. Many plants are affected by this insect, especially the camellias.

MORE WORK

If you plan to carry your hibiscus through the winter, get them up before the frosts came. Transplant them with plenty of soil on the roots, to buckets or pots. These must be kept in a warm place, must be kept watered and placed where they'll get some sun. If all this is too much trouble, just treat the hibiscus as an annual and be satisfied that you have had your money's worth. Next year get more plants. Few can be carried through the cold weather if left outside.

October is a good time to root prune large shrubs such as ligustrum, myrtles, privet hedge. This is done if the large plants seem to be sapping the vitality from the lawn or from other plants. Privet (which should never be used except on very large properties) will take over the garden unless root pruned. Just sharpen the spade - draw an imaginery circle about two feet from the main trunk. Now plunge the spade in the soil as deep as it will go, then pull up. Go all around your circle. You have severed the long roots.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE

There are many forms of fragrance, all of them fun to use, glamorous to wear. These are the more basic types. Perfume, this is the strongest form of scent. A highly skilled blend of precious essential oils combined in just enough alcohol to "carry" the oils. Perfume is the most concentrated and long - lasting form of fragrance.

Toilet water and cologne are dilute versions of perfume. Containing greater amounts of alcohol, they are not as strong as perfume nor will they last as long. This is usually applied lavishly to the skin, then perfume is used as an accent on your "pulse spots."

Bath oil, bath salts, bubble bath added to the water in your tub, make your bath a thing of fragrance. They not only soften the water, they seem to smooth your skin as they scent it, and they fill the bathroom with a luxurious aura of fragrance.

Satchet is fragrance in solid form. It lends a scented atmosphere to your bureau drawers, garments, bags, hosiery and lingerie.

HANDBAGS

Spacious is the word for the leather handbags you'll carry this fall. Even when they are not oversized, they are designed to hold the maximum of those essentials every woman carries. They're done in many leather textures, colored in the same rich hues as fall shoes, and more too. Besides the wide range of the browns and beiges, there are lots of the vintage hues, darkened greens, deep reds and unobtrusive blues.

Shapes range from the long, slim envelope bags to tall, broad-based totes and they look elegant, with their fine hardware or no metal showing at all.

Pigskin gloves are fast regaining the popularity they enjoyed in seasons past. Many of the new ones are shown in the bright autumn hues to go with tweeds.

For the first half of 1961, portable and table model TV sets accounted for 60 per cent of all sales, while 50 per cent of all domestic radio sales were for portables. In the phonograph field, stereo captured roughly 77 per cent of the market. Manufacturers helped sell these items with an expenditure of $8.6 million for national nwspaper advertising in 1960.

Singing Friar Composer Of Catchy Airs

OTTAWA, Ontario (AP) — "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord," says the Psalm—and Father Bernard de Brienne does just that.

The guitar-strumming, singing friar from Quebec Province "serves the Lord with gladness" through self-composed, catchy airs on a religious theme that talk to the teen-age crowd in their own language.

He has appeared twice on the Montreal Hit Parade, and his sales of records in parts of Quebec top those of other "pops" artists. He is a member of the musicians union. The profits on his records go to an education fund for priests and for charity.

The priest, 35, is a member of the order of St. Francis Minor founded by St. Francis of Assisi.

"St. Francis was called God's troubador in his day," says Father Bernard, inspired by the life of the saint.

MUSIC RANGE

Father Bernard plays all string instruments and has a wide musical range. He is also a sculptor and painter and has designed jackets for his own records.

He turned to a contemporary musical idiom as the most practical way of delivering his religious message. The bouncy beat appreciated by teen-agers suits the simplicity of his lyrics in their identification of the Deity with everyday life.

"Preaching appeals to reason—but man is not only mind but body and soul," he said. "If people see a happy man it has a stronger appeal. People should also teach with something they like."

He says his songs, 400 in French and 100 in English, are born the same way as folk songs.

"They are an expression of joys and sorrows and are religious because my way of looking at things is religious."

Father Bernard was born in Montreal of parents who emigrated from France. He entered the Franciscan order at 20.

During his training at university he happened on a story of the life of St. Francis, which decided his future. He also worked briefly in Boston as a dress designer something he once intended as his life work.

CONDUCTOR

He conducted a swing orchestra in college days, and later performed with classical groups. After entering religious orders he obtained his degree from the University of Montreal, and graduated from the Montreal Conservatory of Music and the Montreal Beaux Arts School.

His musical switch to pops happened spontaneously while he was ministering to 200 young workers at Sherbrooke, Que. Knowing of his musical ability, they urged him to preform. But they said they couldn't understand "long hair stuff," so he mastered the guitar and at the same time discovered another musical gift—his voice.

He's been in demand as a performer ever since.

Economy Budget Film Is Success

LONDON (AP) — Keeping pace with the high-cost, hours-long epics is a 12-minute movie which British comedian Peter Sellers made on a shoe-string budget in a field while working on another movie. Called "The Running, Jumping and Standing Still Film," the movie has been jumping since summer at one London theater. It will go on, says the management, indefinitely.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Mrs. Lucia Swackhamer, Whitney Point, N.Y., has made these fine suggestions for which she is being awarded one of my exclusive Tailor Trix pressing boards.

"Dear Eunice,

"Here is a suggestion on shortening the sleeves of children's coats: Remove any buttons on the sleeves. Measure up and mark with pins, the amount that needs taking up.

"Fold sleeve on that marked line, taking up the folded edge only, and pushing the rest of the lower sleeve and lining up into the sleeve. Baste around the sleeve on the new hem line. Carefully pull the lining back down so far that the armhole would draw. Replace the buttons the same distance from finished hem.

"When having coat cleaned before putting away for the season, remove buttons and thread used to hem the lining. Pull back the hem in place as the original."

Mrs. L.S.

HIGH FASHION

"Dear Eunice,

"I made a cape out of some black corded material. I have always wanted a cape, but now I wonder if anyone is wearing them for general wear."

Mrs. R.L.S.

Dear Mrs. R.L.S.:

Most women who dress in extremely "high fashion" would not consider their wardrobe complete without a cape. Normally they would not be worn for general or casual wear, unless they are currently popular.

We are going through a fashion period where capes are extremely popular. You will find them in the most casual tweeds for sportswear, to the most elegant fabrics for formal daytime and evening wear. If you are tall, by all means try one, they're fun to wear. However, tall or short, unless you are on the "slim" side, they can make you look very dumpy.

TIPS FOR HEMS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Will you please write in your column how to hem a coat where the facing becomes so thick and bulky?"

Mrs. G.R.N.

Dear Mrs. G.R.N.:

The method you use for finishing the front faced edges would depend on whether it would ever need to be lengthened, as with children's clothes.

If there is no possibility of lengthening, stitch the coat to the facing across the lower edge of jacket or coat, on the HEM MARKS.

Trim the facing about ¼ inch below stitching line. Then trim the coat fabric itself, about ½ inch from stitching line. Begin trimming the coat fabric 1 inch past the width of the facing, so the cut edge will not show where the facing ends.

SEWING GLOSSARY

Tailor's Hem: After the hem has been turned up, pressed, and cut to 2½ inches, machine stitch about ¼ inch from cut edge. Now pink this cut edge. Baste through the hem and the skirt, about 1 inch from hem. Turn pinked edge back about ½ inch and LOOSELY slip - stitch hem to skirt. Be careful to catch in only a few threads. This type of hem is especialy recommended for heavy fabrics that will not ravel.

Please send me your little "tricks" which we might share with our Sew Simple fans. You may be rewarded by winning a Tailor Trix Pressing Board. Send your suggestions to Sew Simple in care of Monroe Morning World.

If you would like to have my free leaflet on Buttonholes, send a stamped, self - addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of this newspaper.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Show Is Produced By Welcome Club

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

The Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities presented the flower show last week. Mrs. V. S. Garnett is its president.

Three members, Mrs. Luther Branch, Mrs. W. E. Kramer, and Mrs. Oscar Harrell, were responsible for the arrangements in this show which could be termed "spectacular," and "most outstanding."

Mrs. Branch made a very unusual church arrangement using the exotic banana plant buds on long stems to form the over all triangular line.

These she placed in a tall black compote container, sometimes called the Etruscan Cup. The focal area of the design was accomplished by placing five red-violet dahlias low in the center of interest. These were accented by yellow celosia, leaves of the violet aceranthus, and seed pods of the cactus.

SPRAYS

The large voids of the design were filled in with sprays of eucalyptus which had been sprayed red-violet to blend with the dahlias. A cluster of partially ripe pomegranates hung over the rim of the container like grapes from the central area of the design, thus tying the design into the container.

The container, as I mentioned, is the Etruscan Cup. The original Etruscan Cup can be seen in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It is made of bronze. This type container is highly recommended for church arrangements.

Mrs. W. E. Kramer created a very striking buffet arrangement, the very essence of fall. She made a mass vertical design using furled sanssivera for the line. Her container was a most unusual ice bucket, silver and gold metal design on black stand.

Within the line of the design she used five orange-red dahlias These were accented by yellow ornamental peppers and yellow celosia.

A cluster of yellow - orange Japanese persimmons formed the center of interest. These hung partially over the edge of the container. For filler she used the green speckled leaves of the aceranthus. This arrangement would grace the buffet for any fall dinner, and would be long lasting.

WITH TRIMMINGS

Mrs. Oscar Harrell set a tea table, with all the trimmings. She shared with all of us her prized cloth imported from Hong Kong, China. Also, the lovely silver service and other appointments used on the table.

This was a perfect picture of loveliness for the formal tea. To begin, the table was set with informal balance, the silver service on the right side of the table, the flower arrangement, a beautiful pyramid of pink roses in a crystal compote on the lefthand side.

A candelabrum in three tiers was placed in the center of the table. The cloth was made into blocks. One block was cutwork, the other very fine handmade lace. The pyramid of roses, freestanding in design, of course, was a picture of loveliness. The roses were Charlotte Armstrong, deeper shades at the bottom of the design, lighter pink radiance at the top.

The very top was filled with buds of tuberoses. These were placed down into the design for filler. The red barberry leaves were also used as filler throughout the design. This table showed careful planning and the true art of flower arranging was revealed in the pyramid design created by Mrs. Harrell.

VISITS

I'm sure we'll get many visits and calls about this show at the center. It will serve as a challenge to all of us who like to arrange and grow flowers, and will certainly inspire us to work harder to achieve success.

The horticulture was a show within itself. Gourds of all kinds and sizes were on display. Mrs. Luther Branch furnished from her garden an array of lovely dahlias, the colors were maroon, salmon, pale yellow, purple and pink into yellow.

She also sent the hybrid sansivera which is very unusual because of it's size. Mrs. Peggy Garnett sent the large yellow spider lily and the pedelanthus, so nice for the winter house plant since it doesn't shed it's leaves in the house. A ginger lily blossom was sent by Mrs. Richard Matthews, who, by the way, offered to share her bulbs with others who might be interested in having them.

The turban squash, a real conversation piece, was furnished by Mrs. Evelyn Ryan who said it had been grown by her father, E. White, near Cadeville.

Hobo Fades In Wake Of Fast Trains

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) —What has become of the hobo? ,

Clearly this once famous traveler has not been included in the nation's tourism boom.

Hitch-hiking never has been the forte of the knight of the road. Airplanes are difficult, if not impossible, to sneak aboard, especially if one is in hobo uniform.

The railroads traditionally have provided the mode of travel preferred by the homeless wanderer. More exactly, the freight train has offered the most deluxe economy accomodations on engine tenders and brake rods and sometimes inside freight cars.

CHANGED

But all this has been changed with the age of diesel locomotives.

The authority for this is Frank J. Holslag, the Pennsylvania Railroad's chief of police in New York.

Holslag said that actually the steam locomotive was one of the main contributors to the growth of the hobo knighthood.

"Freight trains were the favorites of the hoboes," he said. "They would climb into empty cars—and sometimes get into one not so empty—and would ride blind—that is, behind the tender of the steam locomotive.

"They would climb aboard when the steam engine was slowly pulling the train out of the yards. Others would pile aboard at the many stops for water and coal the train had to make.

"Now with the diesel locomotives, the trains run without stopping between terminals. There no longer are coal and water hobo stops. Gone are the water tanks and coal chutes.

TOO FAST

"Also, the trains pull out much faster, and by the time they have passed the yards, which are patrolled by railroad police, the trains are going too fast for the bums to get aboard. If they do succeed in getting aboard, they're likely to be spotted by railroad tower operators who phone ahead to police.

"Even if they aren't spotted, they find the train doesn't stop until it's in the yards and they find themselves in the arms of the law. So either way, they're the loser."

The railroad police do not want for culprits to pick up despite the decline of the patronage of hoboes. In the New York Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad alone, 273 persons were arrested, mainly for loitering and trespassing, in a recent month, while, 4,720 others were ejected as undesirable.

But not one could be classed as a hobo. Most were just plain bums.

The comic has been considering a musical comedy built around the experiences of a foreign professor who becomes a whiz at coaching college football.

Borge said of many many bids to appear in musicals, this story line is the first to appeal to him.

Also under consideration is another solo White Way appearance for the performer whose one-man "Comedy in Music" wound up a record 849 performances in 1955.

Time To Dig Caladiums

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

Be sure to dig your caladiums before the foliage is completely gone or the tubers will be difficult to locate.

Be careful in digging so as not to cut into the tuber. After these have been dug, you may tie them in bunches and hang in a dry shaded area or you may spread them out after the soil and foliage are dry. Store in cardboard boxes.

You may want to take special care. If so then use vermiculite that has been treated with DDT or chlordane and captan. Cover bottom of boxes with this mixture and spread where they don't touch and pour more of the mixture around and over them to cover. Place in a cool, dry, dark room.

SELECTION

If you, Mrs. Gardener, want daffodils blooming in your landscape over a long period of time, select several varieties. Continuing of bloom is very largely a matter of the proper selection of varieties. It is possible to have daffodils in bloom for weeks. If you want extremely early varieties, select February Gold, March Sunshine, Tunis or Whitefly Gem. For early flowering, you will surely want to include the old popular King Alfred and for others, Fortune, Spring Glory or Carlton. The mid-season varieties are Ben Hur, Lovenest or yellow poppy. Late daffodils may be Moonshine, Dawson City, Red Shadow, or Red Cross.

It is about time for the leaves to begin falling. Remember to rake them and place them in an inconspicuous place in your yard (if you do not have a compost) and place something on them to hold them, then sprinkle a little fertilizer on top and this will be excellent to put in your flower beds after it has decomposed. So, don't waste those leaves.

NEWS IN FOODS

One of the newest in foods and nutrition is the new process of freeze drying. One manufacturer has already used the new process in a line of camping foods. Freeze drying, a scientific breakthrough in food preservation makes it possible to store meats and many vegetables and fruits at room temperature. This process uses extremely high vacuum to remove moisture from food. Food is first frozen and remains frozen during most of the drying process. The cost of these foods will probably be high at first because of the two preservation processes involved.

To cook the food, you'll immerse it in water at room temperature. Then cook as you would fresh food except the cooking time is slightly shorter. So far only meats of about ¾ inch thickness have been practical, thicker pieces such as roasts present vacuum and re-hydration problems. Only lean meat can be freeze dried because fat doesn't re-hydrate successfully.

INTERESTING FACTS

Our food bill rose 15 per cent in the past 10 years or so. A of the increase was in the cost marketing. But at the same time housing rose 32 per cent, a transportation climbed 46 p cent, medical care grew by per cent, and the average ta home pay jumped 59 per cent.

Colchicums In History

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The magic purple colchicums that pop out of the ground at this time of the year — rain or no rain — like so many mushrooms were better known in gardens in the 16th and 17th centuries than they are in America today.

Old John Parkinson, in his wonderful big gardening book published in 1629 (the year after the death of the terrible Duke of Buckingham) shows engravings of 13 different kinds. Why did colchicums come so late to American gardens?

CONFUSED

People down through the ages have always confused colchicums with crocuses because they are the same shape. From Biblical times onward, the best known crocus was, of course, the saffron crocus from which saffron seasoning and dye were derived. In ancient times, slaves gathered the stigmas from millions of flowers to get the greatly prized scented saffron. Even today, if you buy the real thing, you must pay dearly for a product so laboriously come by.

The ancients derive a powerful drug from the corms of colchicums. It was known to be deadly in large doses, but slow enough in smaller doses that slaves among the Greeks would seomtimes take it, knowing that they could cure themselves if they decided against suicide. The Arabs used this drug as medicine in the treatment of gout.

Tragus, in 1552 warned his readers against such use, Baron von Storck of Vienna wr of its efficacy, and colchicine recognized as a valuable d today. To modern plant breed it is a godsend because it all them, through its magic, to r duce new plants from parents t would never have crossed with colchicine.

'STEMS'

The white "stems" on wh the beautiful violet, pink-violet white colchicums arise so quic from the ground are not re stems at all but an elongatio a part of each flower.

This is why they are not gr It is also the reason why col cum flowers do not wilt like ot flowers, but will last a day so without water if they are subjected to drafts or direct light.

Since the corms of these b tiful flowers became common seed stores and catalogues of l dealers some 15 years ago, have learned how the corms flower even without water.

The wearing apparel indu is constantly coming up with styles and fabrics for both m and women's clothes. To let public know about their latest velopments, they spent $10.8 lion for daily newspaper ad tising last year—24 per cent than in 1959.

K. Bloomgarden May Showcase Off Of Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — Kermit Bloomgarden, a leading Broadway producer, may try his hand at off-Broadway showcasting.

Discussing the steady expansion of the experimental — and less expensive — theatrical activity in small playhouses outside the Times Square area, Bloomgarden said he is tempted by the prospect "because I originally came into the theater to have fun."

In today's high - priced, hit-or-flop commercial theater, he noted, a producer cannot do a show for artistic satisfaction only.

Candle Tree Bloom Scarce

By MILDRED SWIFT

So many people are worried because their candle trees have not bloomed. The plants are large and healthy, but not a single bud. We know very little about this plant because it is tropical. We've only grown them in this area in the last 10 years.

COULD BE

The answer of no blooms could be because we've had so much cool weather this summer and we know the plant must have lots of heat because it grows best in those areas. It could be that the plants were not started early enough in the spring. Yet two gardeners bought their plants at the same time, planted them the same day, on lots adjoining. One plant is blooming its heart out, the other, not a bloom. Can you answer that?

SPIDER LILIES

Red spider lilies are so common that even children recognize them by their name. They may be common, but they are beautiful and spectacular, especially when planted in larges masses. There are other colors of spider lilies, but none as vigorous as the red one. One of the very rarest is a so - called white one. Actually it is a light cream. The yellow lycoris or spider lily is so perfect it is spectacular. Each little floweret is so large that at first glance it resembles a day lily.

Several varieties of pink spider lilies are grown in different parts of the world and here at home, Mrs. B. U. Evans, Ferriday, is growing a number of these.

The spider lily's family is lycoris. Each color is a different species. The red is lycoris radiata; the white is lycoris albaflora; the yellow is lycors aurea. The most commonly grown pink one in this area is lycoris squamigera. Other common names of this family are: surprise lily and hurricane lily. However, botanists say the spider lilies cannot qualify as lilies at all.

HABITS

The foliage of the lycoris family stays green all winter. This appears soon after the flower. At the time the foliage appears is the best time to fertilize them, because the fertilizer is used by the leaves in the production of plant food. Use a mixture of bone meal and 8-8-8 half and half.

The foliage stays green all winter, thus making this a perfect plant for winter ground cover.

In the spring the foliage turns brown, because the plant is going dormant. This is a perfect time to transplant your spider lilies. When doing this job, don't try to force any two bulbs apart. You'll damage and lose them when you force them.

Plant with the necks sticking out of the ground in a well drained spot. Soil should be of good loomy texture. Working bone meal in the soil at planting time starts the bulb off to a healthy life.

ALTHA

Easy to propagate from cuttings is althea, a hardy, semitropical flowering shrub, a cousin to hibiscus. Also known as rose of Sharon. Botanical name hibiscus syriacus.

Althea grows to a height of about 12 feet with a spread of four to six feet. It blooms partially all summer, bearing single or double flowers, depending on the variety. Flower colors are white, deep lavender, pink, red and red and white.

Like the hibiscus this plant does best in full sun. It is not particular as to soil and stands cold well. In old gardens there are altheas that have stood for many years. One in my own garden was rooted and left in that place, 33 years ago. It has never missed a year blooming. It's a pale pink, double and very lovely in arrangements, but not very long lasting.

Hardwood cuttings may be made this month or next. Take a four to six inch piece with the cut made below a leaf node and on a slant. Remove lower leaves. Dip in a rooting medium to hasten the process. These will root in regular soil.

RED SPIDER

There have been some severe infestations of red spider around the parish. Aside from the telltale web, which doesn't always accompany the mite, there are two other way to determine whether you have them or not. One is to rub a suspected leaf between the thumb and the index finger. If the finger next to the under leaf surface is stained a reddish brown, you have the red spider.

Another test is to get a piece of white paper, hold under suspected leaf, and shake the branch vigoriously. If the mites are there in any number, they'll fall on the white paper. You'll see them moving around.

One of the best treatments for red spider mites is malathion. Spray with a strong pressure and get the under surface of the leaves, because that's where they stay. Plan to give a second spraying in 10 days.

You can suspect spider mites when you see foliage discoloration. Many plants are affected by this insect, especially the camellias.

MORE WORK

If you plan to carry your hibiscus through the winter, get them up before the frosts came. Transplant them with plenty of soil on the roots, to buckets or pots. These must be kept in a warm place, must be kept watered and placed where they'll get some sun. If all this is too much trouble, just treat the hibiscus as an annual and be satisfied that you have had your money's worth. Next year get more plants. Few can be carried through the cold weather if left outside.

October is a good time to root prune large shrubs such as ligustrum, myrtles, privet hedge. This is done if the large plants seem to be sapping the vitality from the lawn or from other plants. Privet (which should never be used except on very large properties) will take over the garden unless root pruned. Just sharpen the spade - draw an imaginery circle about two feet from the main trunk. Now plunge the spade in the soil as deep as it will go, then pull up. Go all around your circle. You have severed the long roots.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE

There are many forms of fragrance, all of them fun to use, glamorous to wear. These are the more basic types. Perfume, this is the strongest form of scent. A highly skilled blend of precious essential oils combined in just enough alcohol to "carry" the oils. Perfume is the most concentrated and long - lasting form of fragrance.

Toilet water and cologne are dilute versions of perfume. Containing greater amounts of alcohol, they are not as strong as perfume nor will they last as long. This is usually applied lavishly to the skin, then perfume is used as an accent on your "pulse spots".

Bath oil, bath salts, bubble bath added to the water in your tub, make your bath a thing of fragrance. They not only soften the water, they seem to smooth your skin as they scent it, and they fill the bathroom with a luxurious aura of fragrance.

Satchet is fragrance in solid form. It lends a scented atmosphere to your bureau drawers, garments, bags, hosiery and lingerie.

HANDBAGS

Spacious is the word for the leather handbags you'll carry this fall. Even when they are not oversized, they are designed to hold the maximum of those essentials every woman carries. They're done in many leather textures, colored in the same rich hues as fall shoes, and more too. Besides the wide range of the browns and beiges, there are lots of the vintage hues, darkened greens, deep reds and unobtrusive blues.

Shapes range from the long, slim envelope bags to tall, broad-based totes and they look elegant, with their fine hardware or no metal showing at all.

Pigskin gloves are fast regaining the popularity they enjoyed in seasons past. Many of the new ones are shown in the bright autumn hues to go with tweeds.

Singing Friar Composer Of Catchy Airs

OTTAWA, Ontario (AP) — "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord," says the Psalm—and Father Bernard de Brienne does just that.

The guitar-strumming, singing friar from Quebec Province "serves the Lord with gladness" through self-composed, catchy airs on a religious theme that talk to the teen-age crowd in their own language.

He has appeared twice on the Montreal Hit Parade, and his sales of records in parts of Quebec top those of other "pops" artists. He is a member of the musicians union. The profits on his records go to an education fund for priests and for charity.

The priest, 35, is a member of the order of St. Francis Minor founded by St. Francis of Assisi.

"St. Francis was called God's troubador in his day," says Father Bernard, inspired by the life of the saint.

MUSIC RANGE

Father Bernard plays all string instruments and has a wide musical range. He is also a sculptor and painter and has designed jackets for his own records.

He turned to a contemporary musical idiom as the most practical way of delivering his religious message. The bouncy beat appreciated by teen-agers suits the simplicity of his lyrics in their identification of the Deity with everyday life.

"Preaching appeals to reason—but man is not only mind but body and soul," he said. "If people see a happy man it has a stronger appeal. People should also teach with something they like."

He says his songs, 400 in French and 100 in English, are born the same way as folk songs.

"They are an expression of joys and sorrows and are religious because my way of looking at things is religious."

Father Bernard was born in Montreal of parents who emigrated from France. He entered the Franciscan order at 20.

During his training at university he happened on a story of the life of St. Francis, which decided his future. He also worked briefly in Boston as a dress designer, something he once intended as his life work.

CONDUCTOR

He conducted a swing orchestra in college days, and later performed with classical groups. After entering religious orders he obtained his degree from the University of Montreal, and graduated from the Montreal Conservatory of Music and the Montreal Beaux Arts School.

His musical switch to pops happened spontaneously while he was ministering to 200 young workers at Sherbrooke, Que. Knowing of his musical ability, they urged him to preform. But they said they couldn't understand "long-hair stuff," so he mastered the guitar and at the same time discovered another musical gift—his voice.

He's been in demand as a performer ever since.

Economy Budget Film Is Success

LONDON (AP) — Keeping pace with the high-cost, hours-long epics is a 12-minute movie which British comedian Peter Sellers made on a shoe-string budget in a field while working on another movie. Called "The Running, Jumping and Standing Still Film," the movie has been jumping since summer at one London theater. It will go on, says the management, indefinitely.

For the first half of 1961, portable and table model TV sets accounted for 60 per cent of all sales, while 50 per cent of all domestic radio sales were for portables. In the phonograph field, stereo captured roughly 77 per cent of the market. Manufacturers helped sell these items with an expenditure of $8.6 million for national nwspaper advertising in 1960.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Mrs. Lucia Swackhamer, Whitney Point, N.Y., has made these fine suggestions for which she is being awarded one of my exclusive Tailor Trix pressing boards.

"Dear Eunice,

"Here is a suggestion on shortening the sleeves of children's coats: Remove any buttons on the sleeves. Measure up and mark with pins, the amount that needs taking up.

"Fold sleeve on that marked line, taking up the folded edge only, and pushing the rest of the lower sleeve and lining up into the sleeve. Baste around the sleeve on the new hem line. Carefully pull the lining back down so far that the armhole would draw. Replace the buttons the same distance from finished hem.

"When having coat cleaned before putting away for the season, remove buttons and thread used to hem the lining. Pull back the hem in place as the original."

Mrs. L.S.

HIGH FASHION

"Dear Eunice,

"I made a cape out of some black corded material. I have always wanted a cape, but now I wonder if anyone is wearing them for general wear."

Mrs. R.L.S.

Dear Mrs. R.L.S.:

Most women who dress in extremely "high fashion" would not consider their wardrobe complete without a cape. Normally they would not be worn for general or casual wear, unless they are currently popular.

We are going through a fashion period where capes are extremely popular. You wil find them in the most casual tweeds for sportswear, to the most elegant fabrics for formal daytime and evening wear. If you are tall, by all means try one, they're fun to wear. However, tall or short, unless you are on the "slim" side, they can make you look very dumpy.

TIPS FOR HEMS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Will you please write in your column how to hem a coat where the facing becomes so thick and bulky?"

Mrs. G.R.N.

Dear Mrs. G.R.N.:

The method you use for finishing the front faced edges would depend on whether it would ever need to be lengthened, as with children's clothes.

If there is no possibility of lengthening, stitch the coat to the facing across the lower edge of jacket or coat, on the HEM MARKS.

Trim the facing about ¼ inch below stitching line. Then trim the coat fabric itself, about ½ inch from stitching line. Begin trimming the coat fabric 1 inch past the width of the facing, so the cut edge will not show where the facing ends.

Insert Mat

SEWING GLOSSARY

Tailor's Hem: After the hem has been turned up, pressed, and cut to 2½ inches, machine stitch about ¼ inch from cut edge. Now pink this cut edge. Baste through the hem and the skirt, about 1 inch from hem. Turn pinked edge back about ½ inch and LOOSELY slip - stitch hem to skirt. Be careful to catch in only a few threads. This type of hem is especialy recommended for heavy fabrics that will not ravel.

Please send me your little "tricks" which we might share with our Sew Simple fans. You may be rewarded by winning a Tailor Trix Pressing Board. Send your suggestions to Sew Simple in care of Monroe Morning World.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Show Is Produced By Welcome Club

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

The Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities presented the flower show last week. Mrs. V. S. Garnett is its president.

Three members, Mrs. Luther Branch, Mrs. W. E. Kramer, and Mrs. Oscar Harrell, were responsible for the arrangements in this show which could be termed "spectacular," and "most outstanding."

Mrs. Branch made a very unusual church arrangement using the exotic banana plant buds on long stems to form the over all triangular line.

These she placed in a tall black compote container, sometimes called the Etruscan Cup. The focal area of the design was accomplished by placing five red-violet dahlias low in the center of interest. These were accented by yellow celosia, leaves of the violet aceranthus, and seed pods of the cactus.

SPRAYS

The large voids of the design were filled in with sprays of eucalyptus which had been sprayed red-violet to blend with the dahlias. A cluster of partially ripe pomegranates hung over the rim of the container like grapes from the central area of the design, thus tying the design into the container.

The container, as I mentioned, is the Etruscan Cup. The original Etruscan Cup can be seen in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It is made of bronze. This type container is highly recommended for church arrangements.

Mrs. W. E. Kramer created a very striking buffet arrangement, the very essence of fall. She made a mass vertical design using furled sanssivera for the line. Her container was a most unusual ice bucket, silver and gold metal design on black stand.

Within the line of the design she used five orange-red dahlias These were accented by yellow ornamental peppers and yellow celosia.

A cluster of yellow - orange Japanese persimmons formed the center of interest. These hung partially over the edge of the container. For filler she used the green speckled leaves of the aceranthus. This arrangement would grace the buffet for any fall dinner, and would be long lasting.

WITH TRIMMINGS

Mrs. Oscar Harrell set a tea table, with all the trimmings. She shared with all of us her prized cloth imported from Hong Kong, China. Also, the lovely silver service and other appointments used on the table.

This was a perfect picture of loveliness for the formal tea. To begin, the table was set with informal balance, the silver service on the right side of the table, the flower arrangement, a beautiful pyramid of pink roses in a crystal compote on the lefthand side.

A candelabrum in three tiers was placed in the center of the table. The cloth was made into blocks. One block was cutwork, the other very fine handmade lace. The pyramid of roses, freestanding in design, of course, was a picture of loveliness. The roses were Charlotte Armstrong, deeper shades at the bottom of the design, lighter pink radiance at the top.

The very top was filled with buds of tuberoses. These were placed down into the design for filler. The red barberry leaves were also used as filler throughout the design. This table showed careful planning and the true art of flower arranging was revealed in the pyramid design created by Mrs. Harrell.

VISITS

I'm sure we'll get many visits and calls about this show at the center. It will serve as a challenge to all of us who like to arrange and grow flowers, and will certainly inspire us to work harder to achieve success.

The horticulture was a show within itself. Gourds of all kinds and sizes were on display. Mrs. Luther Branch furnished from her garden an array of lovely dahlias, the colors were maroon, salmon, pale yellow, purple and pink into yellow.

She also sent the hybrid sansivera which is very unusual because of it's size. Mrs. Peggy Garnett sent the large yellow spider lily and the pedelanthus, so nice for the winter house plant since it doesn't shed it's leaves in the house. A ginger lily blossom was sent by Mrs. Richard Matthews, who, by the way, offered to share her bulbs with others who might be interested in having them.

The turban squash, a real conversation piece, was furnished by Mrs. Evelyn Ryan who said it had been grown by her father, E. White, near Cadeville.

Hobo Fades In Wake Of Fast Trains

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) —What has become of the hobo?

Clearly this once famous traveler has not been included in the nation's tourism boom.

Hitch-hiking never has been the forte of the knight of the road. Airplanes are difficult, if not impossible, to sneak aboard, especially if one is in hobo uniform.

The railroads traditionally have provided the mode of travel preferred by the homeless wanderer. More exactly, the freight train has offered the most deluxe economy accomodations on engine tenders and brake rods and sometimes inside freight cars.

CHANGED

But all this has been changed with the age of diesel locomotives.

The authority for this is Frank J. Holslag, the Pennsylvania Railroad's chief of police in New York.

Holslag said that actually the steam locomotive was one of the main contributors to the growth of the hobo knighthood.

"Freight trains were the favorites of the hoboes," he said. "They would climb into empty cars—and sometimes get into one not so empty—and would ride blind—that is, behind the tender of the steam locomotive.

"They would climb aboard when the steam engine was slowly pulling the train out of the yards. Others would pile aboard at the many stops for water and coal the train had to make.

"Now with the diesel locomotives, the trains run without stopping between terminals. There no longer are coal and water hobo stops. Gone are the water tanks and coal chutes.

TOO FAST

"Also, the trains pull out much faster, and by the time they have passed the yards, which are patrolled by railroad police, the trains are going too fast for the bums to get aboard. If they do succeed in getting aboard, they're likely to be spotted by railroad tower operators who phone ahead to police.

"Even if they aren't spotted, they find the train doesn't stop until it's in the yards and they find themselves in the arms of the law. So either way, they're the loser."

The railroad police do not want for culprits to pick up despite the decline of the patronage of hoboes. In the New York Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad alone, 273 persons were arrested, mainly for loitering and trespassing, in a recent month, while, 4,720 others were ejected as undesirable.

But not one could be classed as a hobo. Most were just plain bums.

Borge May Try Music Comedy Broadway Trip

NEW YORK (AP) — Victor Borge may make his next visit to Broadway in a show complete with plot, cast of performers, songs and dances.

The comic has been considering a musical comedy built around the experiences of a foreign professor who becomes a whiz at coaching college football.

Borge said of many many bids to appear in musicals, this story line is the first to appeal to him.

Also under consideration is another solo White Way appearance for the performer whose one-man "Comedy in Music" wound up a record 849 performances in 1955.

From Babysitter To Prize Role, Span Of Activity

NEW YORK (AP) —From babysitter to prize role is Janet Margolin's swift span of stage activity.

Miss Margolin, 18, makes her professional acting debut this season in "Daughter of Silence," in a part for which director Vincent J. Donehue screened 200 applicants.

During the summer Janet was a backstage assistant at the Central Park Shakespeare festival. Her chores included painting scenery and baby - sitting for the several tots who performed in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

K. Bloomgarden May Showcase Off Of Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — Kermit Bloomgarden, a leading Broadway producer, may try his hand at off-Broadway showcasting.

Discussing the steady expansion of the experimental — and less expensive — theatrical activity in small playhouses outside the Times Square area, Bloomgarden said he is tempted by the prospect "because I originally came into the theater to have fun."

In today's high - priced, hit-or-flop commercial theater, he noted, a producer cannot do a show for artistic satisfaction only.

Time To Dig Caladiums

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

Be sure to dig your caladiums before the foliage is completely gone or the tubers will be difficult to locate.

Be careful in digging so as not to cut into the tuber. After these have been dug, you may tie them in bunches and hang in a dry shaded area or you may spread them out after the soil and foliage are dry. Store in cardboard boxes.

You may want to take special care. If so then use vermiculite that has been treated with DDT or chlordane and captan. Cover bottom of boxes with this mixture and spread where they don't touch and pour more of the mixture around and over them to cover. Place in a cool, dry, dark room.

SELECTION

If you, Mrs. Gardener, want daffodils blooming in your landscape over a long period of time, select several varieties. Continuing of bloom is very largely a matter of the proper selection of varieties. It is possible to have daffodils in bloom for weeks. If you want extremely early varieties, select February Gold, March Sunshine, Tunis or Whitefly Gem. For early flowering, you will surely want to include the old popular King Alfred and for others, Fortune, Spring Glory or Carlton. The mid-season varieties are Ben Hur, Lovenest or yellow poppy. Late daffodils may be Moonshine, Dawson City, Red Shadow, or Red Cross.

It is about time for the leaves to begin falling. Remember to rake them and place them in an inconspicuous place in your yard (if you do not have a compost) and place something on them to hold them, then sprinkle a little fertilizer on top and this will be excellent to put in your flower beds after it has decomposed. So, don't waste those leaves.

NEWS IN FOODS

One of the newest in foods and nutrition is the new process of freeze drying. One manufacturer has already used the new process in a line of camping foods. Freeze drying, a scientific breakthrough in food preservation makes it possible to store meats and many vegetables and fruits at room temperature. This process uses extremely high vacuum to remove moisture from food. Food is first frozen and remains frozen during most of the drying process. The cost of these foods will probably be high at first because of the two preservation processes involved.

To cook the food, you'll immerse it in water at room temperature. Then cook as you would fresh food except the cooking time is slightly shorter. So far only meats of about ¾ inch thickness have been practical, thicker pieces such as roasts present vacuum and re-hydration problems. Only lean meat can be freeze dried because fat doesn't re-hydrate successfully.

INTERESTING FACTS

Our food bill rose 15 per cent in the past 10 years or so. A of the increase was in the cost marketing. But at the same time housing rose 32 per cent, a transportation climbed 46 per cent, medical care grew by per cent, and the average ta home pay jumped 59 per cent.

It was found that d cleaning was most effective preventing shrinkage, in holdi the original shape of the garme and in keeping the color. D cleaning also retained crease r sistance. Hand washing show less shrinkage, fading and loss body than machine washin Crease resistance was gradua lost by any type of laundering

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

To clean stubborn bits of w from all types of candlestick ho ers, try using a soft cloth mo tened with rubbing alcohol.

A cloth dampened with a monia and placed in the clos warm oven a few hours will lo en scorched food that is stick to the interior surfaces.

Cream of tartar boiled in a colored aluminum pan will brig en it considerably, wash thorou ly with soap and water after treatment.

Iron frying pans will not st if never allowed to stand in w er. Use a mild pure soap, not strong syndet in cleaning yo iron pots.

Colchicums In History

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The magic purple colchicums that pop out of the ground at this time of the year — rain or no rain — like so many mushrooms were better known in gardens in the 16th and 17th centuries than they are in America today.

Old John Parkinson, in his wonderful big gardening book published in 1629 (the year after the death of the terrible Duke of Buckingham) shows engravings of 13 different kinds. Why did colchicums come so late to American gardens?

CONFUSED

People down through the ages have always confused colchicums with crocuses because they are the same shape. From Biblical times onward, the best known crocus was, of course, the saffron crocus from which saffron seasoning and dye were derived. In ancient times, slaves gathered the stigmas from millions of flowers to get the greatly prized scented saffron. Even today, if you buy the real thing, you must pay dearly for a product so laboriously come by.

The ancients derive a powerful drug from the corms of colchicums. It was known to be deadly in large doses, but slow enough in smaller doses that slaves among the Greeks would seomtimes take it, knowing that they could cure themselves if they decided against suicide. The Arabs used this drug as medicine in the treatment of gout.

Tragus, in 1552 warned his readers against such use, Baron von Storck of Vienna wr of its efficacy, and colchicine recognized as a valuable d today. To modern plant breede it is a godsend because it allo them, through its magic, to p duce new plants from parents t would never have crossed with colchicine.

'STEMS'

The white "stems" on wh the beautiful violet, pink-violet white colchicums arise so quic from the ground are not re stems at all but an elongation a part of each flower.

This is why they are not gre It is also the reason why col cum flowers do not wilt like ot flowers, but will last a day so without water if they are subjected to drafts or direct light.

Since the corms of these be tiful flowers became common seed stores and catalogues of dealers some 15 years ago, have learned how the corms flower even without water.

The wearing apparel indu is constantly coming up with styles and fabrics for both m and women's clothes. To let public know about their latest velopments, they spent $10.8 lion for daily newspaper ad tising last year—24 per cent than in 1959.

THE HOME SHIFT

Candle Tree Bloom Scarce

By MILDRED SWIFT

So many people are worried because their candle trees have not bloomed. The plants are large and healthy, but not a single bud. We know very little about this plant because it is tropical. We've only grown them in this area in the last 10 years.

COULD BE

The answer of no blooms could be because we've had so much cool weather this summer and we know the plant must have lots of heat because it grows best in those areas. It could be that the plants were not started early enough in the spring. Yet two gardeners bought their plants at the same time, planted them the same day, on lots adjoining. One plant is blooming its heart out, the other, not a bloom. Can you answer that?

SPIDER LILIES

Red spider lilies are so common that even children recognize them by their name. They may be common, but they are beautiful and spectacular, especially when planted in larges masses. There are other colors of spider lilies, but none as vigorous as the red one. One of the very rarest is a so - called white one. Actually it is a light cream. The yellow lycoris or spider lily is so perfect it is spectacular. Each little floweret is so large that at first glance it resembles a day lily.

Several varieties of pink spider lilies are grown in different parts of the world and here at home, Mrs. B. U. Evans, Ferriday, is growing a number of these.

The spider lily's family is lycoris. Each color is a different species. The red is lycoris radiata; the white is lycoris albaflora; the yellow is lycors aurea. The most commonly grown pink one in this area is lycoris squamigera. Other common names of this family are: surprise lily and hurricane lily. However, botanists say the spider lilies cannot qualify as lilies at all.

HABITS

The foliage of the lycoris family stays green all winter. This appears soon after the flower. At the time the foliage appears is the best time to fertilize them, because the fertilizer is used by the leaves in the production of plant food. Use a mixture of bone meal and 8-8-8 half and half.

The foliage stays green all winter, thus making this a perfect plant for winter ground cover.

In the spring the foliage turns brown, because the plant is going dormant. This is a perfect time to transplant your spider lilies. When doing this job, don't try to force any two bulbs apart. You'll raise and lose them when you force them.

Plant with the necks sticking out of the ground in a well drained spot. Soil should be of good loomy texture. Working bone meal in the soil at planting time starts the bulb off to a healthy life.

ALTHA

Easy to propagate from cuttings is althea, a hardy, semitropical flowering shrub, a cousin to hibiscus. Also known as rose of Sharon. Botanical name hibiscus syriacus.

Althea grows to a height of about 12 feet with a spread of four to six feet. It blooms partially all summer, bearing single or double flowers, depending on the variety. Flower colors are white, deep lavender, pink, red and red and white.

Like the hibiscus this plant does best in full sun. It is not particular as to soil and stands cold well. In old gardens there are altheas that have stood for many years. One in my own garden was rooted and left in that place, 33 years ago. It has never missed a year blooming. It's a pale pink, double and very lovely in arrangements, but not very long lasting.

Hardwood cuttings may be made this month or next. Take a four to six inch piece with the cut made below a leaf node and on a slant. Remove lower leaves. Dip in a rooting medium to hasten the process. These will root in regular soil.

RED SPIDER

There have been some severe infestations of red spider around the parish. Aside from the tell-tale web, which doesn't always accompany the mite, there are two other way to determine whether you have them or not. One is to rub a suspected leaf between the thumb and the index finger. If the finger next to the under leaf surface is stained a reddish brown, you have the red spider.

Another test is to get a piece of white paper, hold under suspected leaf, and shake the branch vigoriously. If the mites are there in any number, they'll fall on the white paper. You'll see them moving around.

One of the best treatments for red spider mites is malathion. Spray with a strong pressure and get the under surface of the leaves, because that's where they stay. Plan to give a second spraying in 10 days.

You can suspect spider mites when you see foliage discoloration. Many plants are affected by this insect, especially the camellias.

MORE WORK

If you plan to carry your hibiscus through the winter, get them up before the frosts came. Transplant them with plenty of soil on the roots, to buckets or pots. These must be kept in a warm place, must be kept watered and placed where they'll get some sun. If all this is too much trouble, just treat the hibiscus as an annual and be satisfied that you have had your money's worth. Next year get more plants. Few can be carried through the cold weather if left outside.

October is a good time to root prune large shrubs such as ligustrum, myrtles, privet hedge. This is done if the large plants seem to be sapping the vitality from the lawn or from other plants. Privet (which should never be used except on very large properties) will take over the garden unless root pruned. Just sharpen the spade - draw an imaginery circle about two feet from the main trunk. Now plunge the spade in the soil as deep as it will go, then pull up. Go all around your circle. You have severed the long roots.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE

There are many forms of fragrance, all of them fun to use, glamorous to wear. These are the more basic types. Perfume, this is the strongest form of scent. A highly skilled blend of precious essential oils combined in just enough alcohol to "carry" the oils. Perfume is the most concentrated and long - lasting form of fragrance.

Toilet water and cologne are dilute versions of perfume. Containing greater amounts of alcohol, they are not as strong as perfume nor will they last as long. This is usually applied lavishly to the skin, then perfume is used as an accent on your "pulse spots."

Bath oil, bath salts, bubble bath added to the water in your tub, make your bath a thing of fragrance. They not only soften the water, they seem to smooth your skin as they scent it, and they fill the bathroom with a luxurious aura of fragrance.

Satchet is fragrance in solid form. It lends a scented atmosphere to your bureau drawers, garments, bags, hosiery and lingerie.

HANDBAGS

Spacious is the word for the leather handbags you'll carry this fall. Even when they are not oversized, they are designed to hold the maximum of those essentials every woman carries. They're done in many leather textures, colored in the same rich hues as fall shoes, and more too. Besides the wide range of the browns and beiges, there are lots of the vintage hues, darkened greens, deep reds and unobtrusive blues.

Shapes range from the long, slim envelope bags to tall, broad-based totes and they look elegant, with their fine hardware or no metal showing at all.

Pigskin gloves are fast regaining the popularity they enjoyed in seasons past. Many of the new ones are shown in the bright autumn hues to go with tweeds.

For the first half of 1961, portable and table model TV sets accounted for 60 per cent of all sales, while 50 per cent of all domestic radio sales were for portables. In the phonograph field, stereo captured roughly 77 per cent of the market. Manufacturers helped sell these items with an expenditure of $8.6 million for national nwspaper advertising in 1960.

Singing Friar Composer Of Catchy Airs

OTTAWA, Ontario (AP) — "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord," says the Psalm—and Father Bernard de Brienne does just that.

The guitar-strumming, singing friar from Quebec Province "serves the Lord with gladness" through self-composed, catchy airs on a religious theme that talk to the teen-age crowd in their own language.

He has appeared twice on the Montreal Hit Parade, and his sales of records in parts of Quebec top those of other "pops" artists. He is a member of the musicians union. The profits on his records go to an education fund for priests and for charity.

The priest, 35, is a member of the order of St. Francis Minor founded by St. Francis of Assisi.

"St. Francis was called God's troubador in his day," says Father Bernard, inspired by the life of the saint.

MUSIC RANGE

Father Bernard plays all string instruments and has a wide musical range. He is also a sculptor and painter and has designed jackets for his own records.

He turned to a contemporary musical idiom as the most practical way of delivering his religious message. The bouncy beat appreciated by teen-agers suits the simplicity of his lyrics in their identification of the Deity with everyday life.

"Preaching appeals to reason—but man is not only mind but body and soul," he said. "If people see a happy man it has a stronger appeal. People should also teach with something they like."

He says his songs, 400 in French and 100 in English, are born the same way as folk songs.

"They are an expression of joys and sorrows and are religious because my way of looking at things is religious."

Father Bernard was born in Montreal of parents who emigrated from France. He entered the Franciscan order at 20.

During his training at university he happened on a story of the life of St. Francis, which decided his future. He also worked briefly in Boston as a dress designer, something he once intended as his life work.

CONDUCTOR

He conducted a swing orchestra in college days, and later performed with classical groups. After entering religious orders he obtained his degree from the University of Montreal, and graduated from the Montreal Conservatory of Music and the Montreal Beaux Arts School.

His musical switch to pops happened spontaneously while he was ministering to 200 young workers at Sherbrooke, Que. Knowing of his musical ability, they urged him to preform. But they said they couldn't understand "long-hair stuff," so he mastered the guitar and at the same time discovered another musical gift—his voice.

He's been in demand as a performer ever since.

Economy Budget Film Is Success

LONDON (AP) — Keeping pace with the high-cost, hours-long epics is a 12-minute movie which British comedian Peter Sellers made on a shoe-string budget in a field while working on another movie. Called "The Running, Jumping and Standing Still Film," the movie has been jumping since summer at one London theater. It will go on, says the management, indefinitely.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Mrs. Lucia Swackhamer, Whitney Point, N.Y., has made these fine suggestions for which she is being awarded one of my exclusive Tailor Trix pressing boards. "Dear Eunice,

"Here is a suggestion on shortening the sleeves of children's coats: Remove any buttons on the sleeves. Measure up and mark with pins, the amount that needs taking up.

"Fold sleeve on that marked line, taking up the folded edge only, and pushing the rest of the lower sleeve and lining up into the sleeve. Baste around the sleeve on the new hem line. Carefully pull the lining back down so far that the armhole would draw. Replace the buttons the same distance from finished hem.

"When having coat cleaned before putting away for the season, remove buttons and thread used to hem the lining. Pull back the hem in place as the original."

Mrs. L.S.

HIGH FASHION

"Dear Eunice,

"I made a cape out of some black corded material. I have always wanted a cape, but now I wonder if anyone is wearing them for general wear."

Mrs. R.L.S.

Dear Mrs. R.L.S.:

Most women who dress in extremely "high fashion" would not consider their wardrobe complete without a cape. Normally they would not be worn for general or casual wear, unless they are currently popular.

We are going through a fashion period where capes are extremely popular. You will find them in the most casual tweeds for sportswear, to the most elegant fabrics for formal daytime and evening wear. If you are tall, by all means try one, they're fun to wear. However, tall or short, unless you are on the "slim" side, they can make you look very dumpy.

TIPS FOR HEMS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Will you please write in your column how to hem a coat where the facing becomes so thick and bulky?"

Mrs. G.R.N.

Dear Mrs. G.R.N.:

The method you use for finishing the front faced edges would depend on whether it would ever need to be lengthened, as with children's clothes.

If there is no possibility of lengthening, stitch the coat to the facing across the lower edge of jacket or coat, on the HEM MARKS.

Trim the facing about ¼ inch below stitching line. Then trim the coat fabric itself, about ½ inch from stitching line. Begin trimming the coat fabric 1 inch past the width of the facing, so the cut edge will not show where the facing ends.

Insert Mat

SEWING GLOSSARY

Tailor's Hem: After the hem has been turned up, pressed, and cut to 2½ inches, machine stitch about ¼ inch from cut edge. Now pink this cut edge. Baste through the hem and the skirt, about 1 inch from hem. Turn pinked edge back about ½ inch and LOOSELY slip - stitch hem to skirt. Be careful to catch in only a few threads. This type of hem is especialy recommended for heavy fabrics that will not ravel.

Please send me your little "tricks" which we might share with our Sew Simple fans. You may be rewarded by winning a Tailor Trix Pressing Board. Send your suggestions to Sew Simple in care of Monroe Morning World.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Show Is Produced By Welcome Club

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

The Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities presented the flower show last week. Mrs. V. S. Garnett is its president.

Three members, Mrs. Luther Branch, Mrs. W. E. Kramer, and Mrs. Oscar Harrell, were responsible for the arrangements in this show which could be termed "spectacular," and "most outstanding."

Mrs. Branch made a very unusual church arrangement using the exotic banana plant buds on long stems to form the over all triangular line.

These she placed in a tall black compote container, sometimes called the Etruscan Cup. The focal area of the design was accomplished by placing five red-violet dahlias low in the center of interest. These were accented by yellow celosia, leaves of the violet aceranthus, and seed pods of the cactus.

SPRAYS

The large voids of the design were filled in with sprays of eucalyptus which had been sprayed red-violet to blend with the dahlias. A cluster of partially ripe pomegranates hung over the rim of the container like grapes from the central area of the design, thus tying the design into the container.

The container, as I mentioned, is the Etruscan Cup. The original Etruscan Cup can be seen in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It is made of bronze. This type container is highly recommended for church arrangements.

Mrs. W. E. Kramer created a very striking buffet arrangement, the very essence of fall. She made a mass vertical design using furled sanssivera for the line. Her container was a most unusual ice bucket, silver and gold metal design on black stand.

Within the line of the design she used five orange-red dahlias These were accented by yellow ornamental peppers and yellow celosia.

A cluster of yellow - orange Japanese persimmons formed the center of interest. These hung partially over the edge of the container. For filler she used the green speckled leaves of the aceranthus. This arrangement would grace the buffet for any fall dinner, and would be long lasting.

WITH TRIMMINGS

Mrs. Oscar Harrell set a tea table, with all the trimmings. She shared with all of us her prized cloth imported from Hong Kong, China. Also, the lovely silver service and other appointments used on the table.

This was a perfect picture of loveliness for the formal tea. To begin, the table was set with informal balance, the silver service on the right side of the table, the flower arrangement, a beautiful pyramid of pink roses in a crystal compote on the lefthand side.

A candelabrum in three tiers was placed in the center of the table. The cloth was made into blocks. One block was cutwork, the other very fine handmade lace. The pyramid of roses, freestanding in design, of course, was a picture of loveliness. The roses were Charlotte Armstrong, deeper shades at the bottom of the design, lighter pink radiance at the top.

The very top was filled with buds of tuberoses. These were placed down into the design for filler. The red barberry leaves were also used as filler throughout the design. This table showed careful planning and the true art of flower arranging was revealed in the pyramid design created by Mrs. Harrell.

VISITS

I'm sure we'll get many visits and calls about this show at the center. It will serve as a challenge to all of us who like to arrange and grow flowers, and will certainly inspire us to work harder to achieve success.

The horticulture was a show within itself. Gourds of all kinds and sizes were on display. Mrs. Luther Branch furnished from her garden an array of lovely dahlias, the colors were maroon, salmon, pale yellow, purple and pink into yellow.

She also sent the hybrid sansivera which is very unusual because of it's size. Mrs. Peggy Garnett sent the large yellow spider lily and the pedelanthus, so nice for the winter house plant since it doesn't shed it's leaves in the house. A ginger lily blossom was sent by Mrs. Richard Matthews, who, by the way, offered to share her bulbs with others who might be interested in having them.

The turban squash, a real conversation piece, was furnished by Mrs. Evelyn Ryan who said it had been grown by her father, E. White, near Cadeville.

Hobo Fades In Wake Of Fast Trains

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) —What has become of the hobo?

Clearly this once famous traveler has not been included in the nation's tourism boom.

Hitch-hiking never has been the forte of the knight of the road. Airplanes are difficult, if not impossible, to sneak aboard, especially if one is in hobo uniform.

The railroads traditionally have provided the mode of travel preferred by the homeless wanderer. More exactly, the freight train has offered the most deluxe economy accomodations on engine tenders and brake rods and sometimes inside freight cars.

CHANGED

But all this has been changed with the age of diesel locomotives.

The authority for this is Frank J. Holslag, the Pennsylvania Railroad's chief of police in New York.

Holslag said that actually the steam locomotive was one of the main contributors to the growth of the hobo knighthood.

"Freight trains were the favorites of the hoboes," he said. "They would climb into empty cars—and sometimes get into one not so empty—and would ride blind—that is, behind the tender of the steam locomotive.

"They would climb aboard when the steam engine was slowly pulling the train out of the yards. Others would pile aboard at the many stops for water and coal the train had to make.

"Now with the diesel locomotives, the trains run without stopping between terminals. There no longer are coal and water hobo stops. Gone are the water tanks and coal chutes.

TOO FAST

"Also, the trains pull out much faster, and by the time they have passed the yards, which are patrolled by railroad police, the trains are going too fast for the bums to get aboard. If they do succeed in getting aboard, they're likely to be spotted by railroad tower operators who phone ahead to police.

"Even if they aren't spotted, they find the train doesn't stop until it's in the yards and they find themselves in the arms of the law. So either way, they're the loser."

The railroad police do not want for culprits to pick up despite the decline of the patronage of hoboes. In the New York Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad alone, 273 persons were arrested, mainly for loitering and trespassing, in a recent month, while, 4,720 others were ejected as undesirable.

But not one could be classed as a hobo. Most were just plain bums.

Borge May Try Music Comedy Broadway Trip

NEW YORK (AP) — Victor Borge may make his next visit to Broadway in a show complete with plot, cast of performers, songs and dances.

The comic has been considering a musical comedy built around the experiences of a foreign professor who becomes a whiz at coaching college football.

Borge said of many many bids to appear in musicals, this story line is the first to appeal to him.

Also under consideration is another solo White Way appearance for the performer whose one-man "Comedy in Music" wound up a record 849 performances in 1955.

From Babysitter To Prize Role, Span Of Activity

NEW YORK (AP) —From babysitter to prize role is Janet Margolin's swift span of stage activity.

Miss Margolin, 18, makes her professional acting debut this season in "Daughter of Silence," in a part for which director Vincent J. Donehue screened 200 applicants.

During the summer Janet was a backstage assistant at the Central Park Shakespeare festival. Her chores included painting scenery and baby - sitting for the several tots who performed in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

K. Bloomgarden May Showcase Off Of Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — Kermit Bloomgarden, a leading Broadway producer, may try his hand at off-Broadway showcasting.

Discussing the steady expansion of the experimental — and less expensive — theatrical activity in small playhouses outside the Times Square area, Bloomgarden said he is tempted by the prospect "because I originally came into the theater to have fun."

In today's high - priced, hit-or-flop commercial theater, he noted, a producer cannot do a show for artistic satisfaction only.

Time To Dig Caladiums

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

Be sure to dig your caladiums before the foliage is completely gone or the tubers will be difficult to locate.

Be careful in digging so as not to cut into the tuber. After these have been dug, you may tie them in bunches and hang in a dry shaded area or you may spread them out after the soil and foliage are dry. Store in cardboard boxes.

You may want to take special care. If so then use vermiculite that has been treated with DDT or chlordane and captan. Cover bottom of boxes with this mixture and spread where they don't touch and pour more of the mixture around and over them to cover. Place in a cool, dry, dark room.

SELECTION

If you, Mrs. Gardener, want daffodils blooming in your landscape over a long period of time, select several varieties. Continuing of bloom is very largely a matter of the proper selection of varieties. It is possible to have daffodils in bloom for weeks. If you want extremely early varieties, select February Gold, March Sunshine, Tunis or Whitefly Gem. For early flowering, you will surely want to include the old popular King Alfred and for others, Fortune, Spring Glory or Carlton. The mid-season varieties are Ben Hur, Lovenest or yellow poppy. Late daffodils may be Moonshine, Dawson City, Red Shadow, or Red Cross.

It is about time for the leaves to begin falling. Remember to rake them and place them in an inconspicuous place in your yard (if you do not have a compost) and place something on them to hold them, then sprinkle a little fertilizer on top and this will be excellent to put in your flower beds after it has decomposed. So, don't waste those leaves.

NEWS IN FOODS

One of the newest in foods and nutrition is the new process of freeze drying. One manufacturer has already used the new process in a line of camping foods. Freeze drying, a scientific breakthrough in food preservation makes it possible to store meats and many vegetables and fruits at room temperature. This process uses extremely high vacuum to remove moisture from food. Food is first frozen and remains frozen during most of the drying process. The cost of these foods will probably be high at first because of the two preservation processes involved.

To cook the food, you'll immerse it in water at room temperature. Then cook as you would fresh food except the cooking time is slightly shorter. So far only meats of about ¾ inch thickness have been practical, thicker pieces such as roasts present vacuum and re-hydration problems. Only lean meat can be freeze dried because fat doesn't re-hydrate successfully.

INTERESTING FACTS

Our food bill rose 15 per cent in the past 10 years or so. All of the increase was in the cost of marketing. But at the same time housing rose 32 per cent, and transportation climbed 46 per cent, medical care grew by 65 per cent, and the average take home pay jumped 59 per cent.

DARK COTTONS

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, want to keep those dark cottons, sometimes referred to at this time of year as "winter cottons," looking like new, then you will want to follow the newest information on laundering. It was found that dry cleaning was most effective in preventing shrinkage, in holding the original shape of the garment and in keeping the color. Dry cleaning also retained crease resistance. Hand washing showed less shrinkage, fading and loss of body than machine washing. Crease resistance was gradually lost by any type of laundering.

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

To clean stubborn bits of wax from all types of candlestick holders, try using a soft cloth moistened with rubbing alcohol.

A cloth dampened with ammonia and placed in the cloth warm oven a few hours will loosen scorched food that is sticking to the interior surfaces.

Cream of tartar boiled in a discolored aluminum pan will brighten it considerably, wash thoroughly with soap and water after treatment.

Iron frying pans will not stay if never allowed to stand in water. Use a mild pure soap, not strong syndet in cleaning your iron pots.

A THOUGHT

The Lord sometimes gives us the little things to do to see how big we really are.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Colchicums In History

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The magic purple colchicums that pop out of the ground at this time of the year — rain or no rain — like so many mushrooms were better known in gardens in the 16th and 17th centuries than they are in America today.

Old John Parkinson, in his wonderful big gardening book published in 1629 (the year after the death of the terrible Duke of Buckingham) shows engravings of 13 different kinds. Why did colchicums come so late to American gardens?

CONFUSED

People down through the ages have always confused colchicums with crocuses because they are the same shape. From Biblical times onward, the best known crocus was, of course, the saffron crocus from which saffron seasoning and dye were derived. In ancient times, slaves gathered the stigmas from millions of flowers to get the greatly prized scented saffron. Even today, if you buy the real thing, you must pay dearly for a product so laboriously come by.

The ancients derive a powerful drug from the corms of colchicums. It was known to be deadly in large doses, but slow enough in smaller doses that slaves among the Greeks would seomtimes take it, knowing that they could cure themselves if they decided against suicide. The Arabs used this drug as medicine in the treatment of gout.

Tragus, in 1552 warned his readers against such use, Baron von Storck of Vienna wrote of its efficacy, and colchicine is recognized as a valuable drug today. To modern plant breeders it is a godsend because it allows them, through its magic, to produce new plants from parents that would never have crossed with colchicine.

'STEMS'

The white "stems" on which the beautiful violet, pink-violet and white colchicums arise so quickly from the ground are not really stems at all but an elongation of a part of each flower.

This is why they are not green. It is also the reason why colchicum flowers do not wilt like other flowers, but will last a day or so without water if they are not subjected to drafts or direct light.

Since the corms of these beautiful flowers became common seed stores and catalogues of bulb dealers some 15 years ago, many have learned how the corms will flower even without water.

The wearing apparel industry is constantly coming up with new styles and fabrics for both men's and women's clothes. To let the public know about their latest developments, they spent $10.8 million for daily newspaper advertising last year—34 per cent more than in 1959.

Candle Tree Bloom Scarce

By MILDRED SWIFT

So many people are worried because their candle trees have not bloomed. The plants are large and healthy, but not a single bud. We know very little about this plant because it is tropical. We've only grown them in this area in the last 10 years.

COULD BE

The answer of no blooms could be because we've had so much cool weather this summer and we know the plant must have lots of heat because it grows best in those areas. It could be that the plants were not started early enough in the spring. Yet two gardeners bought their plants at the same time, planted them the same day, on lots adjoining. One plant is blooming its heart out, the other, not a bloom. Can you answer that?

SPIDER LILIES

Red spider lilies are so common that even children recognize them by their name. They may be common, but they are beautiful and spectacular, especially when planted in larges masses. There are other colors of spider lilies, but none as vigorous as the red one. One of the very rarest is a so - called white one. Actually it is a light cream. The yellow lycoris or spider lily is so perfect it is spectacular. Each little floweret is so large that at first glance it resembles a day lily.

Several varieties of pink spider lilies are grown in different parts of the world and here at home, Mrs. B. U. Evans, Ferriday, is growing a number of these.

The spider lily's family is lycoris. Each color is a different species. The red is lycoris radiata; the white is lycoris albaflora; the yellow is lycors aurea. The most commonly grown pink one in this area is lycoris squamigera. Other common names of this family are: surprise lily and hurricane lily. However, botanists say the spider lilies cannot qualify as lilies at all.

HABITS

The foliage of the lycoris family stays green all winter. This appears soon after the flower. At the time the foliage appears is the best time to fertilize them, because the fertilizer is used by the leaves in the production of plant food. Use a mixture of bone meal and 8-8-8 half and half.

The foliage stays green all winter, thus making this a perfect plant for winter ground cover.

In the spring the foliage turns brown, because the plant is going dormant. This is a perfect time to transplant your spider lilies. When doing this job, don't try to force any two bulbs apart. You'll bruise and lose them when you force them.

Plant with the necks sticking out of the ground in a well drained spot. Soil should be of good loomy texture. Working bone meal in the soil at planting time starts the bulb off to a healthy life.

ALTHA

Easy to propagate from cuttings is althea, a hardy, semitropical flowering shrub, a cousin to hibiscus. Also known as rose of Sharon. Botanical name hibiscus syriacus.

Althea grows to a height of about 12 feet with a spread of four to six feet. It blooms partially all summer, bearing single or double flowers, depending on the variety. Flower colors are white, deep lavender, pink, red and red and white.

Like the hibiscus this plant does best in full sun. It is not particular as to soil and stands cold well. In old gardens there are altheas that have stood for many years. One in my own garden was rooted and left in that place, 33 years ago. It has never missed a year blooming. It's a pale pink, double and very lovely in arrangements, but not very long lasting.

Hardwood cuttings may be made this month or next. Take a four to six inch piece with the cut made below a leaf node and on a slant. Remove lower leaves. Dip in a rooting medium to hasten the process. These will root in regular soil.

RED SPIDER

There have been some severe infestations of red spider around the parish. Aside from the telltale web, which doesn't always accompany the mite, there are two other way to determine whether you have them or not. One is to rub a suspected leaf between the thumb and the index finger. If the finger next to the under leaf surface is stained a reddish brown, you have the red spider.

Another test is to get a piece of white paper, hold under suspected leaf, and shake the branch vigoriously. If the mites are there in any number, they'll fall on the white paper. You'll see them moving around.

One of the best treatments for red spider mites is malathion. Spray with a strong pressure and get the under surface of the leaves, because that's where they stay. Plan to give a second spraying in 10 days.

You can suspect spider mites when you see foliage discoloration. Many plants are affected by this insect, especially the camellias.

MORE WORK

If you plan to carry your hibiscus through the winter, get them up before the frosts came. Transplant them with plenty of soil on the roots, to buckets or pots. These must be kept in a warm place, must be kept watered and placed where they'll get some sun. If all this is too much trouble, just treat the hibiscus as an annual and be satisfied that you have had your money's worth. Next year get more plants. Few can be carried through the cold weather if left outside.

October is a good time to root prune large shrubs such as ligustrum, myrtles, privet hedge. This is done if the large plants seem to be sapping the vitality from the lawn or from other plants. Privet (which should never be used except on very large properties) will take over the garden unless root pruned. Just sharpen the spade - draw an imaginery circle about two feet from the main trunk. Now plunge the spade in the soil as deep as it will go, then pull up. Go all around your circle. You have severed the long roots.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE

There are many forms of fragrance, all of them fun to use, glamorous to wear. These are the more basic types. Perfume, this is the strongest form of scent. A highly skilled blend of precious essential oils combined in just enough alcohol to "carry" the oils. Perfume is the most concentrated and long - lasting form of fragrance.

Toilet water and cologne are dilute versions of perfume. Containing greater amounts of alcohol, they are not as strong as perfume nor will they last as long. This is usually applied lavishly to the skin, then perfume is used as an accent on your "pulse spots".

Bath oil, bath salts, bubble bath added to the water in your tub, make your bath a thing of fragrance. They not only soften the water, they seem to smooth your skin as they scent it, and they fill the bathroom with a luxurious aura of fragrance.

Satchet is fragrance in solid form. It lends a scented atmosphere to your bureau drawers, garments, bags, hosiery and lingerie.

HANDBAGS

Spacious is the word for the leather handbags you'll carry this fall. Even when they are not oversized, they are designed to hold the maximum of those essentials every woman carries. They're done in many leather textures, colored in the same rich hues as fall shoes, and more too. Besides the wide range of the browns and beiges, there are lots of the vintage hues, darkened greens, deep reds and unobtrusive blues.

Shapes range from the long, slim envelope bags to tall, broad-based totes and they look elegant, with their fine hardware or no metal showing at all.

Pigskin gloves are fast regaining the popularity they enjoyed in seasons past. Many of the new ones are shown in the bright autumn hues to go with tweeds.

Singing Friar Composer Of Catchy Airs

OTTAWA, Ontario (AP) — "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord," says the Psalm—and Father Bernard de Brienne does just that.

The guitar-strumming, singing friar from Quebec Province "serves the Lord with gladness" through self-composed, catchy airs on a religious theme that talk to the teen-age crowd in their own language.

He has appeared twice on the Montreal Hit Parade, and his sales of records in parts of Quebec top those of other "pops" artists. He is a member of the musicians union. The profits on his records go to an education fund for priests and for charity.

The priest, 35, is a member of the order of St. Francis Minor founded by St. Francis of Assisi.

"St. Francis was called God's troubador in his day," says Father Bernard, inspired by the life of the saint.

MUSIC RANGE

Father Bernard plays all string instruments and has a wide musical range. He is also a sculptor and painter and has designed jackets for his own records.

He turned to a contemporary musical idiom as the most practical way of delivering his religious message. The bouncy beat appreciated by teen-agers suits the simplicity of his lyrics in their identification of the Deity with everyday life.

"Preaching appeals to reason—but man is not only mind but body and soul," he said. "If people see a happy man it has a stronger appeal. People should also teach with something they like."

He says his songs, 400 in French and 100 in English, are born the same way as folk songs.

"They are an expression of joys and sorrows and are religious because my way of looking at things is religious."

Father Bernard was born in Montreal of parents who emigrated from France. He entered the Franciscan order at 20.

During his training at university he happened on a story of the life of St. Francis, which decided his future. He also worked briefly in Boston as a dress designer, something he once intended as his life work.

CONDUCTOR

He conducted a swing orchestra in college days, and later performed with classical groups. After entering religious orders he obtained his degree from the University of Montreal, and graduated from the Montreal Conservatory of Music and the Montreal Beaux Arts School.

His musical switch to pops happened spontaneously while he was ministering to 200 young workers at Sherbrooke, Que. Knowing of his musical ability, they urged him to preform. But they said they couldn't understand "long-hair stuff," so he mastered the guitar and at the same time discovered another musical gift—his voice.

He's been in demand as a performer ever since.

Economy Budget Film Is Success

LONDON (AP) — Keeping pace with the high-cost, hours-long epics is a 12-minute movie which British comedian Peter Sellers made on a shoe-string budget in a field while working on another movie. Called "The Running, Jumping and Standing Still Film," the movie has been jumping since summer at one London theater. It will go on, says the management, indefinitely.

For the first half of 1961, portable and table model TV sets accounted for 60 per cent of all sales, while 50 per cent of all domestic radio sales were for portables. In the phonograph field, stereo captured roughly 77 per cent of the market. Manufacturers helped sell these items with an expenditure of $8.6 million for national nwspaper advertising in 1960.

"Dear Eunice,

"Here is a suggestion on shortening the sleeves of children's coats: Remove any buttons on the sleeves. Measure up and mark with pins, the amount that needs taking up.

"Fold sleeve on that marked line, taking up the folded edge only, and pushing the rest of the lower sleeve and lining up into the sleeve. Baste around the sleeve on the new hem line. Carefully pull the lining back down so far that the armhole would draw. Replace the buttons the same distance from finished hem.

"When having coat cleaned before putting away for the season, remove buttons and thread used to hem the lining. Pull back the hem in place as the original."

Mrs. L.S.

HIGH FASHION

"Dear Eunice,

"I made a cape out of some black corded material. I have always wanted a cape, but now I wonder if anyone is wearing them for general wear."

Mrs. R.L.S.

Dear Mrs. R.L.S.:

Most women who dress in extremely "high fashion" would not consider their wardrobe complete without a cape. Normally they would not be worn for general or casual wear, unless they are currently popular.

We are going through a fashion period where capes are extremely popular. You wil find them in the most casual tweeds for sportswear, to the most elegant fabrics for formal daytime and evening wear. If you are tall, by all means try one, they're fun to wear. However, tall or short, unless you are on the "slim" side, they can make you look very dumpy.

TIPS FOR HEMS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Will you please write in your column how to hem a coat where the facing becomes so thick and bulky?"

Mrs. G.R.N.

Dear Mrs. G.R.N.:

The method you use for finishing the front faced edges would depend on whether it would ever need to be lengthened, as with children's clothes.

If there is no possibility of lengthening, stitch the coat to the facing across the lower edge of jacket or coat, on the HEM MARKS.

Trim the facing about ¼ inch below stitching line. Then trim the coat fabric itself, about ½ inch from stitching line. Begin trimming the coat fabric 1 inch past the width of the facing, so the cut edge will not show where the facing ends.

Tailor's Hem: After the hem has been turned up, pressed, and cut to 2½ inches, machine stitch about ¼ inch from cut edge. Now pink this cut edge. Baste through the hem and the skirt, about 1 inch from hem. Turn pinked edge back about ½ inch and LOOSELY slip - stitch hem to skirt. Be careful to catch in only a few threads. This type of hem is especialy recommended for heavy fabrics that will not ravel.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Show Is Produced By Welcome Club

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

The Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities presented the flower show last week. Mrs. V. S. Garnett is its president.

Three members, Mrs. Luther Branch, Mrs. W. E. Kramer, and Mrs. Oscar Harrell, were responsible for the arrangements in this show which could be termed "spectacular," and "most outstanding."

Mrs. Branch made a very unusual church arrangement using the exotic banana plant buds on long stems to form the over all triangular line.

These she placed in a tall black compote container, sometimes called the Etruscan Cup. The focal area of the design was accomplished by placing five red-violet dahlias low in the center of interest. These were accented by yellow celosia, leaves of the violet aceranthus, and seed pods of the cactus.

SPRAYS

The large voids of the design were filled in with sprays of eucalyptus which had been sprayed red-violet to blend with the dahlias. A cluster of partially ripe pomegranates hung over the rim of the container like grapes from the central area of the design, thus tying the design into the container.

The container, as I mentioned, is the Etruscan Cup. The original Etruscan Cup can be seen in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It is made of bronze. This type container is highly recommended for church arrangements.

Mrs. W. E. Kramer created a very striking buffet arrangement, the very essence of fall. She made a mass vertical design using furled sanssivera for the line. Her container was a most unusual ice bucket, silver and gold metal design on black stand.

Within the line of the design she used five orange-red dahlias These were accented by yellow ornamental peppers and yellow celosia.

A cluster of yellow - orange Japanese persimmons formed the center of interest. These hung partially over the edge of the container. For filler she used the green speckled leaves of the aceranthus. This arrangement would grace the buffet for any fall dinner, and would be long lasting.

WITH TRIMMINGS

Mrs. Oscar Harrell set a tea table, with all the trimmings. She shared with all of us her prized cloth imported from Hong Kong, China. Also, the lovely silver service and other appointments used on the table.

This was a perfect picture of loveliness for the formal tea. To begin, the table was set with informal balance, the silver service on the right side of the table, the flower arrangement, a beautiful pyramid of pink roses in a crystal compote on the lefthand side.

A candelabrum in three tiers was placed in the center of the table. The cloth was made into blocks. One block was cutwork, the other very fine handmade lace. The pyramid of roses, freestanding in design, of course, was a picture of loveliness. The roses were Charlotte Armstrong, deeper shades at the bottom of the design, lighter pink radiance at the top.

The very top was filled with buds of tuberoses. These were placed down into the design for filler. The red barberry leaves were also used as filler throughout the design. This table showed careful planning and the true art of flower arranging was revealed in the pyramid design created by Mrs. Harrell.

VISITS

I'm sure we'll get many visits and calls about this show at the center. It will serve as a challenge to all of us who like to arrange and grow flowers, and will certainly inspire us to work harder to achieve success.

The horticulture was a show within itself. Gourds of all kinds and sizes were on display. Mrs. Luther Branch furnished from her garden an array of lovely dahlias, the colors were maroon, salmon, pale yellow, purple and pink into yellow.

She also sent the hybrid sansivera which is very unusual because of it's size. Mrs. Peggy Garnett sent the large yellow spider lily and the pedelanthus, so nice for the winter house plant since it doesn't shed it's leaves in the house. A ginger lily blossom was sent by Mrs. Richard Matthews, who, by the way, offered to share her bulbs with others who might be interested in having them.

The turban squash, a real conversation piece, was furnished by Mrs. Evelyn Ryan who said it had been grown by her father, E. White, near Cadeville.

Hobo Fades In Wake Of Fast Trains

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) —What has become of the hobo?

Clearly this once famous traveler has not been included in the nation's tourism boom.

Hitch-hiking never has been the forte of the knight of the road. Airplanes are difficult, if not impossible, to sneak aboard, especially if one is in hobo uniform.

The railroads traditionally have provided the mode of travel preferred by the homeless wanderer. More exactly, the freight train has offered the most deluxe economy accomodations on engine tenders and brake rods and sometimes inside freight cars.

CHANGED

But all this has been changed with the age of diesel locomotives.

The authority for this is Frank J. Holslag, the Pennsylvania Railroad's chief of police in New York.

Holslag said that actually the steam locomotive was one of the main contributors to the growth of the hobo knighthood.

"Freight trains were the favorites of the hoboes," he said. "They would climb into empty cars—and sometimes get into one not so empty—and would ride blind—that is, behind the tender of the steam locomotive.

"They would climb aboard when the steam engine was slowly pulling the train out of the yards. Others would pile aboard at the many stops for water and coal the train had to make.

"Now with the diesel locomotives, the trains run without stopping between terminals. There no longer are coal and water hobo stops. Gone are the water tanks and coal chutes.

TOO FAST

"Also, the trains pull out much faster, and by the time they have passed the yards, which are patrolled by railroad police, the trains are going too fast for the bums to get aboard. If they do succeed in getting aboard, they're likely to be spotted by railroad tower operators who phone ahead to police.

"Even if they aren't spotted, they find the train doesn't stop until it's in the yards and they find themselves in the arms of the law. So either way, they're the loser."

The railroad police do not want for culprits to pick up despite the decline of the patronage of hoboes. In the New York Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad alone, 273 persons were arrested, mainly for loitering and trespassing, in a recent month, while, 4,720 others were ejected as undesirable.

But not one could be classed as a hobo. Most were just plain bums.

Borge May Try Music Comedy Broadway Trip

NEW YORK (AP) — Victor Borge may make his next visit to Broadway in a show complete with plot, cast of performers, songs and dances.

The comic has been considering a musical comedy built around the experiences of a foreign professor who becomes a whiz at coaching college football.

Borge said of many many bids to appear in musicals, this story line is the first to appeal to him.

Also under consideration is another solo White Way appearance for the performer whose one-man "Comedy in Music" wound up a record 849 performances in 1955.

From Babysitter To Prize Role, Span Of Activity

NEW YORK (AP) —From babysitter to prize role is Janet Margolin's swift span of stage activity.

Miss Margolin, 18, makes her professional acting debut this season in "Daughter of Silence," in a part for which director Vincent J. Donehue screened 200 applicants.

During the summer Janet was a backstage assistant at the Central Park Shakespeare festival. Her chores included painting scenery and baby - sitting for the several tots who performed in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

K. Bloomgarden May Showcase Off Of Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — Kermit Bloomgarden, a leading Broadway producer, may try his hand at off-Broadway showcasting.

Discussing the steady expansion of the experimental — and less expensive — theatrical activity in small playhouses outside the Times Square area, Bloomgarden said he is tempted by the prospect "because I originally came into the theater to have fun."

In today's high - priced, hit-or-flop commercial theater, he noted, a producer cannot do a show for artistic satisfaction only.

Time To Dig Caladiums

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

Be sure to dig your caladiums before the foliage is completely gone or the tubers will be difficult to locate.

Be careful in digging so as not to cut into the tuber. After these have been dug, you may tie them in bunches and hang in a dry shaded area or you may spread them out after the soil and foliage are dry. Store in cardboard boxes.

You may want to take special care. If so then use vermiculite that has been treated with DDT or chlordane and captan. Cover bottom of boxes with this mixture and spread where they don't touch and pour more of the mixture around and over them to cover. Place in a cool, dry, dark room.

SELECTION

If you, Mrs. Gardener, want daffodils blooming in your landscape over a long period of time, select several varieties. Continuing of bloom is very largely a matter of the proper selection of varieties. It is possible to have daffodils in bloom for weeks. If you want extremely early varieties, select February Gold, March Sunshine, Tunis or Whitefly Gem. For early flowering, you will surely want to include the old popular King Alfred and for others, Fortune, Spring Glory or Carlton. The mid-season varieties are Ben Hur, Lovenest or yellow poppy. Late daffodils may be Moonshine, Dawson City, Red Shadow, or Red Cross.

It is about time for the leaves to begin falling. Remember to rake them and place them in an inconspicuous place in your yard (if you do not have a compost) and place something on them to hold them, then sprinkle a little fertilizer on top and this will be excellent to put in your flower beds after it has decomposed. So, don't waste those leaves.

NEWS IN FOODS

One of the newest in foods and nutrition is the new process of freeze drying. One manufacturer has already used the new process in a line of camping foods. Freeze drying, a scientific breakthrough in food preservation makes it possible to store meats and many vegetables and fruits at room temperature. This process uses extremely high vacuum to remove moisture from food. Food is first frozen and remains frozen during most of the drying process. The cost of these foods will probably be high at first because of the two preservation processes involved.

To cook the food, you'll immerse it in water at room temperature. Then cook as you would fresh food except the cooking time is slightly shorter. So far only meats of about ¾ inch thickness have been practical, thicker pieces such as roasts present vacuum and re-hydration problems. Only lean meat can be freeze dried because fat doesn't re-hydrate successfully.

INTERESTING FACTS

Our food bill rose 15 per cent in the past 10 years or so. A of the increase was in the cost marketing. But at the same time housing rose 32 per cent, a transportation climbed 46 per cent, medical care grew by per cent, and the average take home pay jumped 59 per cent.

DARK COTTONS

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, want to keep those dark cottons, some times referred to at this time year as "winter cottons," looking like new, then you will want follow the newest information laundering. It was found that cleaning was most effective preventing shrinkage, in holding the original shape of the garment and in keeping the color. Dry cleaning also retained crease resistance. Hand washing showed less shrinkage, fading and loss of body than machine washing. Crease resistance was gradually lost by any type of laundering.

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

To clean stubborn bits of wax from all types of candlestick holders, try using a soft cloth moistened with rubbing alcohol.

A cloth dampened with ammonia and placed in the closed warm oven a few hours will loosen scorched food that is sticking to the interior surfaces.

Cream of tartar boiled in a discolored aluminum pan will brighten it considerably, wash thoroughly with soap and water after treatment.

Iron frying pans will not stay if never allowed to stand in water. Use a mild pure soap, not strong syndet in cleaning your iron pots.

A THOUGHT

The Lord sometimes gives us the little things to do to see just how big we really are.

Colchicums In History

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The magic purple colchicums that pop out of the ground at this time of the year — rain or no rain — like so many mushrooms were better known in gardens in the 16th and 17th centuries than they are in America today.

Old John Parkinson, in his wonderful big gardening book published in 1629 (the year after the death of the terrible Duke of Buckingham) shows engravings of 13 different kinds. Why did colchicums come so late to American gardens?

CONFUSED

People down through the ages have always confused colchicums with crocuses because they are the same shape. From Biblical times onward, the best known crocus was, of course, the saffron crocus from which saffron seasoning and dye were derived. In ancient times, slaves gathered the stigmas from millions of flowers to get the greatly prized scented saffron. Even today, if you buy the real thing, you must pay dearly for a product so laboriously come by.

The ancients derive a powerful drug from the corms of colchicums. It was known to be deadly in large doses, but slow enough in smaller doses that slaves among the Greeks would seomtimes take it, knowing that they could cure themselves if they decided against suicide. The Arabs used this drug as medicine in the treatment of gout.

Tragus, in 1552 warned his readers against such use, Baron von Storck of Vienna wr of its efficacy, and colchicine recognized as a valuable d today. To modern plant breede it is a godsend because it all them, through its magic, to p duce new plants from parents t would never have crossed with colchicine.

'STEMS'

The white "stems" on wh the beautiful violet, pink-violet white colchicums arise so quic from the ground are not re stems at all but an elongation a part of each flower.

This is why they are not gre It is also the reason why col cum flowers do not wilt like ot flowers, but will last a day so without water if they are subjected to drafts or direct light.

Since the corms of these be tiful flowers became common seed stores and catalogues of b dealers some 15 years ago, have learned how the corms flower even without water.

The wearing apparel indu is constantly coming up with styles and fabrics for both m and women's clothes. To let public know about their latest velopments, they spent $10.8 lion for daily newspaper ad tising last year—24 per cent m than in 1959.

Girl Scout News

SILVER WATERS COUNCIL

Girls of Troop 35, held an overnight camp at Pine Wood last weekend. Mrs. Harold Fike and Mrs. Joseph Battaglia accompanied the girls, who have had a rough day and troop camping to take charge of most of the planning and activities.

Aside from fun, the purpose of the trip was to fulfill some of the First Class Requirements in the out-of-doors. Campfire included story telling and paper bag dramatics. The most adventurous experience was the all night watch. Two girls at a time for an hour kept watch, recording positions of the stars and moon. This data was presented in the Leader's magazine last spring and we've been wondering who would be the first to try it. The girls cooked their meals outdoors and made ice cream Saturday.

Girls participating were Mary Battaglia, Wanda Blankenship, Sandra Arthur, Brenda Carter, Vicki Hopp, Valeria Fike, Frances Gossett, Jan Gannaway, Eddie Joy Hollovan and Samora Henry.

Girls of Troop 18 who attended camp are sharing their experiences with other girls of the troop, according to their leader Mrs. J. H. Butler. The group spent a Saturday out of doors testing with the summer campers everything the rest of the troop had learned to earn their Tree Badge. Troop 13 was organized last spring at Claiborne School, sponsored by the P.T.A. Girls and leaders are planning fall and winter programs based on Second Class Rank and a badge of their choice. Mrs. J. W. Sessum serves as Assistant Leader and Mrs. V. Wallace, Mrs. Lawson Floyd, Mrs. E. L. Lewis complete the troop committee.

Many of the girls who flew up from Brownie Scouting last spring are starting on the more advanced Intermediate Scouting. There is no thrill quite like wearing the Girl Scout uniform for the first time. Each of these troops is reported to appear in full uniform, as Troop 7, Mrs. Paul Neal, leader, has stressed correct uniform in every detail and is quite proud of the group's appearance. Working with the Boy Scouts as a project class at school they wore uniforms for a special flag ceremony at Lea Junior School recently.

Troop 7 will be represented by Girl Scouts at the United Givers presentation at the Municipal Auditorium next Tuesday night. Hostesses were Lee Brown, Peggy Neal, Mary Ann Mayo, Vicki Hopp, Mary Ann Arthur, Brenda Carter, Vicki Alexander, Valeria Fike, Frances Gossett, Jan Gannaway, Eddie Joy Hollovan and Samora Henry.

Miss Annie Kate Butler and Miss Mary Ann Arthur are spending the week-end at Eagle, Tennessee, attending a professional staff meeting of Girl Scout and a camping conference.

School Belles Adopt Look Of Mom's Wardrobe

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new clothes for the school set take notes from Mother's notebook.

Designers of children's wear have aped numerous trends from the adult collections for fall and winter. These include the dropped waistline, or no-waistline look, the slightly flared skirts, and shapes "relaxed" instead of closely fitted.

Women's Wear Daily, the trade publication, in its semi-annual roundup of children's wear said the relaxed shapes "enhance the figure contour but never confine." "Mobility is the keynote."

Dresses have free-hanging bodices, some with low flared or box-pleated skirts; coats have a semi-fit or a slight flare even in the smallest sizes.

Best dresses are the sheath or one silhouette in the three to six to 14 range. For older girls there is flare everywhere — capes, coats and dresses — with the flare starting as high as the waistline or as low as the mid-thigh and appearing in circular bias-cut, pleated or gored versions.

Many dresses come in pieces — dress with jacket, vest or pinafore ensembles, or matching over-tops.

Favorite dress fabrics for fall include cotton homespun, slubbed synthetics, cotton tokaine, corduroy, denim, knits and stretch — the latter in the casuals in coats, cotton suede cloth is the leader. Furs, fake or real, show up in pile linings, or on jackets, with saucy, fur-trimmed hoods.

Like their mothers, girls will dress colorfully come fall and winter. Hues include magenta, periwinkle, clear bright blue and green, and the rust to gold tones.

A new project to assist shut-ins was adopted and Mrs. Glen Brown and Mrs. Warren Sellers were appointed to report plans for this project at the next meeting.

A tentative date of December 16 was set for the annual Christmas dance. Mrs. Harry Cooper and Mrs. Joe Agnew were appointed to make arrangements.

Members present were Mrs. Esther Gore, Mrs. Ross Sterling, Mrs. Earl Hester, Mrs. Jack Phillips, Mrs. George Parsons, Mrs. Grady Jones, Mrs. Warren Sellers, Mrs. Glen Brown, Mrs. Earl Taylor, Mrs. Agnew, Mrs. Ed Morris, Mrs. Harold Shepherd, Mrs. [illegible] and Mrs. Mort's Date.

A LIBRARY

A library is more than a shelf of books in a classroom.

The Library Association defined one this way:

"It is a centrally organized collection, readily accessible, of many kinds of materials that, used together, enrich and support the educational program.

"It contains books, magazines, and other printed materials, as well as films and film-strips.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. J. W. Hackworth, Mrs. Hollingsworth, Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. C. D. Byrd, Mrs. Leslie Tipen, Mrs. John Anding, Mrs. Arlan Rawls, Mrs. E. R. Williamson and Mrs. F. M. Graff. The October meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Hackworth, 415 Bawcom St., West Monroe.

Match-ups are gaining favor with younger boys. Shirt and slack sets now also include jackets and sport shirts.

The Renault You Buy Will Stay Lastingly Great . . .

Last week a Service Task Force came from Renault-France to bring us up-to-date on new factory-developed maintenance and servicing procedures. These factory trained specialists were the faculty—every man in our sales and service team was a student. The result of this intensive brush-up course: we are so proud of our parts-and-service facilities now, we guarantee that the Dauphine, Caravelle, or Gordini you buy will be beautifully tuned to perfection to begin with—and we'll keep it that way, month after month, year after year. Renault cars are great cars, backed by a factory 12 month or 12,000 mile warranty (except routine maintenance and tires). And we're better than ever ready to keep them lastingly great! Come on in and we'll prove it.

A LIBRARY

A library is more than a shelf of books in a classroom.

The Library Association defined one this way:

"It is a centrally organized collection, readily accessible, of many kinds of materials that, used together, enrich and support the educational program.

"It contains books, magazines, and other printed materials, as well as films and film-strips.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. J. W. Hackworth, Mrs. Hollingsworth, Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. C. D. Byrd, Mrs. Leslie Tipen, Mrs. John Anding, Mrs. Arlan Rawls, Mrs. E. R. Williamson and Mrs. F. M. Graff. The October meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Hackworth, 415 Bawcom St., West Monroe.

Match-ups are gaining favor with younger boys. Shirt and slack sets now also include jackets and sport shirts.

The Hustler' lated Soon at Paramount

"The Hustler," starring Paul wman and Piper Laurie, opens the late show Saturday at the ramount Theatre.

aul Newman's role of pool rk in the Robert Rossen-20th ntury - Fox drama "The Hust-" is a far cry from his recent characterization of the dedicated soldier in "Exodus."

As Eddie Felson, ambitious pool hustler caught between his obsession with the game and the love desperately offered by a strange young woman, (Piper Laurie), the actor is in a not unfamiliar setting. In 20th's "Long Hot Summer," he was Ben Quick, a drifter who caused unrest in a small southern town. Fox's "From The Terrace," allowed Paul to portray a man without principles, a social climber who ended in self - ruin.

An urge to become champion in the field brings Felson into conflict with the legendary, undisputed champion "Minnesota Fats" (Jackie Gleason). Allowing himself to be exploited by a big-time money man (George C. Scott), Felson loses his girl, his partner (Myron McCormick), and his self respect.

The role of Eddie Felson is important to Newman, because he sees here a figure cut from the fabric of our time.

QUESTION

"With Eddie it's a question of commitment. He is so wrapped up in his drive to win and be somebody, he has no time to give of himself that which others need. It is a disease of our time, both the ambition and the isolation. I want him to be understood."

Realism was added to the tense poolroom scenes, through the expert coaching of Willie Mosconi, world champion of pocket billiards.

The Hustler' lated Soon t Paramount

The Hustler," starring Paul wman and Piper Laurie, opens the late show Saturday at the ramount Theatre.

aul Newman's role of pool- rk in the Robert Rossen-20th ntury - Fox drama "The Hust- r" is a far cry from his recent characterization of the dedicated soldier in "Exodus."

As Eddie Felson, ambitious pool hustler caught between his obsession with the game and the love desperately offered by a strange young woman, (Piper Laurie), the actor is in a not unfamiliar setting. In 20th's "Long Hot Summer," he was Ben Quick, a drifter who caused unrest in a small southern town. Fox's "From The Terrace," allowed Paul to portray a man without principles, a social climber who ended in self - ruin.

An urge to become champion in the field brings Felson into conflict with the legendary, undisputed champion "Minnesota Fats" (Jackie Gleason). Allowing himself to be exploited by a big-time money man (George C. Scott), Felson loses his girl, his partner (Myron McCormick), and his self respect.

The role of Eddie Felson is important to Newman, because he sees here a figure cut from the fabric of our time.

QUESTION

"With Eddie it's a question of commitment. He is so wrapped up in his drive to win and be somebody, he has no time to give of himself that which others need. It is a disease of our time, both the ambition and the isolation. I want him to be understood."

Realism was added to the tense poolroom scenes, through the expert coaching of Willie Mosconi, world champion of pocket billiards.

TODAY

We were riding Ground Monroe and West Monroe, College Southside, and Lakeshore Area, and by sheer chance discovered a lot of nice homes in good communities listed by Irene Reid for sale. You haven't seen them, have you? Well, Irene Reid Realty has always kept a big advertising campaign going, and it's a wonder you didn't make it your business to find out what kind of lovely homes she has listed, and do something about your outdated apartments. We found out that for a reasonable down payment and monthly payments, we can OWN our own 3 bedroom home. Now we will have big closets, glamorous tile baths, snazzy kitchen, AND a yard, AND a garden, AND privacy, AND security. We're going to be property owners, Mr. Landlord.

So, Landlord, Good-by! No hard feelings, but we're telling all our rent-paying friends, our old-old house friends, and our new-in-town friends to go see and buy Irene Reid's listings. They're fabulous and varied. Just any part of Monroe or West Monroe that you're looking for, and say, Mr. Landlord, maybe you ought to call Irene Reid's sales department yourself. The number is FA 3-1679 and FA 5-4373 or FA 5-4374. Ask anybody in her sales department, here they are

LANDLORD GOOD-BYE

We've been paying you $110 a month for this apartment, which has been fine for you, but not so good for us. No closet space. Dinky kitchen. No yard for kids. No garden for the wife. No privacy. No security.

TODAY

We were riding around Monroe and West Monroe, College, Southside, and Lakeshore Area, and by sheer chance discovered a lot of nice homes in good communities listed by Irene Reid for sale. You haven't seen them, have you? Well, Irene Reid Realty has always kept a big advertising campaign going, and it's a wonder you didn't make it your business to find out what kind of lovely homes she has listed, and do something about your outdated apartments. We found out that for a reasonable down payment and monthly payments, we can OWN our own 3 bedroom home. Now we will have big closets, glamorous tile baths, snazzy kitchen, AND a yard, AND a garden, AND privacy, AND security. We're going to be property owners. Mr. Landlord.

So, Landlord, Good-by! No hard feelings, but we're telling all our rent-paying friends, our old-old house friends, and our new-in-town friends to go see and buy Irene Reid's listings. They're fabulous and varied. Just any part of Monroe or West Monroe that you're looking for, and say, Mr. Landlord, maybe you ought to call Irene Reid's sales department yourself. The number is FA 3-1679 and FA 5-4373 or FA 5-4374. Ask anybody in her sales department, here they are:
